Remembering those who have served

First Lt. Colin Browning, a marine currently stationed at Camp Pendleton, spoke of his experiences in Iraq. He shared how four of his comrades died, and how the men under his command grieved and then went back to work. He indicated that their dedication to this country is not unlike the dedication of so many others who have served this country and will serve this country.

Browning thanked the community for its support, but noted that it's not what they send the soldiers that makes a difference, but it's knowing that you have a community like Thief River Falls to come home to. Browning concluded by reaffirming his oath to this nation.

City Council approves bids on improvement projects

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

The Thief River Falls City Council has awarded the low bid for the 2005 Improvements Project, but it has yet to award the bid for improvements near the site of a future Wal-Mart.

At its May 24 meeting, council members approved Mark II's low bid of $403,914 for the project. However, the Fosston firm has not been awarded the low bid for Nelson Drive and Sherwood Avenue improvements near the future Wal-Mart site.

"Unfortunately, we still do not have a copy of the Wal-Mart developer's agreement," Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said about the agreement that would stipulate the responsibilities of Wal-Mart and city leaders pertaining to the project. He noted Wal-Mart still has not purchased the Jake and Anne Barnick property along Highway 59 for the store. As a result, city leaders are still waiting for the developer's agreement.

Under the proposed agreement, Wal-Mart would reimburse the city for Nelson Drive and Sherwood Avenue improvements if time deadlines were met. Given that city leaders and Wal-Mart officials have yet to sign the agreement, time deadlines will be extended for completion of the improvements.

The council will award the other low bid to Mark II if it receives the developer's agreement before June 29.

City Council tabled a motion to approve a traffic signal agreement with the Minnesota Department of Transportation for Wal-Mart access at Highway 59. Under the proposed developer's agreement, the city would be reimbursed by Wal-Mart for those costs.

The council approved purchasing an arena deck ice floor cover from Southwest Arena Supply. Prior to discussion of this matter, Mayor Dale Wennberg stepped down from chairing the meeting as he is the interim Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) general manager. He also abstained from voting for that reason.

The used "dry floor" will cost $35,000 as opposed to $120,000 for a new "dry floor," according to Wennberg. Arctic Cat would transport the floor to Thief River Falls for $2,300.

"We do have money in the 2005 maintenance and equipment capital reserve [for the floor]," said City Administrator Jodie Torkelson.

Wennberg said the floor is approximately two years old, but it has only been used for one year. The arena that used the floor for events, including Houston Rockets games, was sold.

City Council approved rental rates for the Imperial Room of $300 up to four hours, $500 for

Lincoln High School senior Jillian Larson presents one of two messages from the class of 2005 during the 102nd LHS Commencement program, held on Friday, May 27 at the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls. Larson spoke about some of the challenges the class of 2005 faced and overcame during its years together.

Drainage problems bring residents to County Board

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Residents of Country Estates Trailer Court, Smiley Township, appeared at the Pennington County Board meeting on Tuesday, May 24, to continue discussions on how to alleviate drainage problems on public cross roads between 182nd and 184th Ave. N.E. The cross roads are located in Country Estates Trailer Court.

A group of Country Estate residents led by the property's owner, Dale Cloose, presented their case to the board on Tuesday.

At the request of the board, County Engineer Mike Flaagen met with Smiley Township Supervisors to discuss plans for repairing the cross roads. It was determined during a May 23 meeting between Flaagen and the Smiley Township Board that the roads are indeed public roads, despite no government claiming responsibility. The responsibility for maintenance will fall on Country Estates residents.

Flaagen said Smiley Township supervisors took no action at the meeting. They plan to meet with the township's attorney before taking action.

According to Country Estates resident, Duane Anderson, the roads have been impassable for much of the spring. Anderson said he has asked the township to do something about the road's problems for the past six years. He added that township officials have kept the date and time of township meetings secret and efforts to find out meeting information have been met with "none of your business" replies. County Attorney Dave Olin pointed out that the closed meetings were not legal and added that any action taken at such meetings technically wouldn't be official.

Commissioner Bud Comstock

146 students from Lincoln High School graduate

"Knowledge without a good heart is worthless," said Luke Kenner, graduating senior.

At some point during the year, Kenner said he asked classmates whether they would rather be smart or wise. The overwhelming answer, he said, was wise.

Kenner and seven of his fellow Lincoln High School honor students spoke Friday night during graduation at the Ralph Engelstad Arena in Thief River Falls.

A total of 146 students graduated from Lincoln High School this spring. During the ceremony, honor students shared a variety of messages from funny reflections of their journey through the educational process to more serious comments about life and the pursuit of wisdom.

Among the graduates this year were 12 students with a 4.0 grade point average. Lincoln High School does not have a weighted grading system and does not award any one student with the titles of valedictorian or salutatorian. The top 12 students in alphabetical order are: Megan Barry, Jenna Dillon, Kayla Gallagher, Jennifer Grove, Reid Haviland, Elizabeth Hodny, Kristi Joppru, Luke Kenner, Jillian Larson, Michael Lunde, Christina Schneider, and Paul Sjoberg.

Next year, School District 564 is expecting 132 kindergarten enrollees, which doesn't off-set the loss of 146 students, but there are indications that the community is growing and that a decline in enrollment is stablizing.

The 2005 Class Roll, which was approved by the Board of Education on Monday, May 23, include the following students: Beth Aandal, Thain Abrahamson, Maria Alcozer, Amanda Anderson, Joshua Anderson, R. Zachary Anderson, Megan Barry, Katie Barth, Corey Berg, Megan Berg, Angelia Blom, Chase Bosh, Chelsey Bottem, Cory Braastad, Megan Brown, Rachel Bruggeman, Allison Burns, Hugh Campbell, Brandon Carpenter, Harlina Carpenter, Chance Chambers, Kelly Comstock, Parker Comstock, Shane Cullen, Trista Curry, Shane Dale, Allison Dallmann, Dana Dallmann, Tracy Dallmann, Jenna Dillon, Kyle Dobias, Chelsey Drangstveit, Trudy Erickson, Minsheha Fenno, Jaclyn Fossum, Amanda Franks, Kayla Gallagher, Angela Goulet, Kayla Grahn, Jason Grindeland, Jennifer Grove, Nichole Gryskiewicz, Dean Haugen, Joshua Haverland, Reid Haviland, Tricia Heats, Jorde Hemmestvedt, Tyson Hesse, Ana Hibbert, Elizabeth Hodny, Alicia Hoff, Blake Hoglo, Kelsey Hoglo, Alec Holen, Andrew Holmaas, Craig Hruby, Christian Hultgren, Joseph Ihle, Kasey Iverson, Kayleigh Jesme, Corey Johnson, Kristina Johnson, Kyle Johnson, Thomas Johnson, Zachary Johnson, Kristi Joppru, Larissa Kajewski, Sara Kalinoski, Ali Kalsnes, Andrew Kalsnes, Jonathan Kays, Luke Kenner, Billy Kezar, Kory

Police start wearing navy blue uniforms

Starting this week, residents will be seeing Thief River Falls police officers in navy blue uniforms.

Thief River Falls Police Kim Murphy said the change was necessary due to the cost of the department's previous light blue uniforms. He noted fewer police departments have light blue uniforms, meaning his department had to special-order uniforms in the past.

Disorderly conduct reports received

Disorderly conduct: On May 19, police received a report of disorderly conduct at Kum & Go. Brian Charles Holmers, 26, Thief River Falls, allegedly put another man in a headlock. Holmers was cited for disorderly conduct.

Truancy: On May 19, police received a report of truancy at Lincoln High School. A 15-year-old Thief River Falls male has charges pending for truancy.

Disorderly conduct: On May 19, police received a report of disorderly conduct in the 1300 block of Arnold Ave. N. Andrew Joseph Rud, 19, Strandquist, and two 16-year-old Thief River Falls females allegedly egged a vehicle. Rud was cited for disorderly conduct, and the juveniles have charges pending for disorderly conduct.

Theft: On May 20 at 10 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a theft from the 14000 block of Highway 59 N.E. Halogen floodlights, valued at $400, were taken. The incident remains under investigation.

Third degree assault: On May 20, the sheriff's department received a report of an assault in the Pennington County Jail. Kenneth James Goulet, 38, Thief River Falls, allegedly hit another male inmate. Goulet has charges pending for third degree assault.

Fourth degree driving while intoxicated: While on patrol May 21 at 12:40 a.m., police allegedly observed a driver cross the centerline several times and follow another driver closely on Third Street East. Albert Kollie Jones, 29, Thief River Falls, was cited for fourth degree driving while intoxicated.

Assault: On May 21 at 12:31 p.m., police received a report of an assault in the 200 block of LaBree Ave. N. Andres Miguel Carreon, 19, Thief River Falls, allegedly grabbed and pushed a woman. Carreon has charges pending for assault.

Accident: On May 25 at 3:08 p.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Kendall Avenue and Michael Street. A bicycle driven by Violet Mae Pribble, 12, Thief River Falls, collided with the side of a southbound 1995 Oldsmobile Aurora driven by Lisa Kay Nelson of Strathcona. According to the report, Pribble suffered injuries to her arm and side. Nelson's vehicle sustained $500 in damage.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Motorists, pedestrians reminded to use caution

With the recent number of accidents involving pedestrians in the city, Thief River Falls Police Chief Kim Murphy is asking motorists and pedestrians to use more caution. He also reminded pedestrians and motorists to not assume the other person is going to stop.

According to the Minnesota Office of Traffic Safety, increased traffic translates into more serious injuries and deaths this time of year as a result of vehicle crashes involving pedestrians, bicyclists and motorcycle riders.

The Minnesota Safety Council Web site, available at www.mnsafetycouncil.org, provides the following tips:

For adult pedestrians

- Make sure that motorists can see you. Wear fluorescent colored clothing during daylight hours and, if walking when it's dark, make sure you have a flashlight and wear retro-reflective material.
- Know what traffic control signals mean. Do not enter a crosswalk while the "Don't Walk" sign is flashing. Be alert to turning vehicles even if the "Walk" signal is in operation.
- Walk against the flow of traffic. This enables you to see any oncoming traffic. Walking in the same direction as traffic forces you to rely only on your hearing to warn you of approaching vehicles. This also makes you slightly less visible to drivers.
- Joggers are pedestrians, too. Joggers should run on sidewalks or pathways; it is considered illegal to run on roadway pavement if alternatives are available. When no alternative is available, joggers should run facing traffic.

For children pedestrians

It is important to teach children about traffic safety and the proper way to cross the street. Adults often overestimate a child's ability to walk and cross streets safely. Children under age 10 do not always have the necessary skills to judge the speed or distance of oncoming traffic. In addition, their peripheral vision is one-third less [illegible]. Because of their shorter attention spans and cognitive skills, children are often impulsive and behave unpredictably in traffic situations. Here are some tips to keep children safe.

- Find alternatives to playing near streets or in driveways. Children's small sizes make it difficult for a driver to see them. Adults should always supervise when small children are outdoors. Children ages 1-3 are often hit by vehicles that are backing up. Older children should be taught to never dash into the street and to always stop at the curb before proceeding.
- Teach children the proper way to cross the street. Stop at the edge of the road or at the curb. If there are parked cars present, check to make sure they are not about to move (engine running, drivers inside). Proceed past the parked vehicle and stop again. Look left, right and left again to make sure there are no cars approaching. Teach children to fully turn their heads and eyes in those directions. Their limited side vision makes this necessary. If crossing at a corner, teach children to be aware of cars turning the corner. Children should enter the street only if there is no approaching traffic. Continue looking both left and right. If there is a car approaching, teach children to wait and repeat the checking process again before attempting to cross. When preparing to cross in front of a vehicle, children should make eye contact with the driver before proceeding.
- Explain the meaning of traffic control signals such as the "Walk" and "Don't Walk" signs. Never enter a crosswalk when the "Don't Walk" sign is flashing.
- Use retro-reflective material on children's outerwear. Do not allow hoods or umbrellas to block a child's vision.
- Set an example for children. Practice safe pedestrian and street-crossing habits.

As a driver:

- Be aware that Minnesota law requires you to stop for pedestrians in any crosswalk, marked or unmarked, where there are no traffic controls present.
- Follow all posted speed limits. When children are present near schools, the speed limit is usually lower than that of surrounding roadways. In residential areas, be alert for children who may be playing near the street. Children often dart out from between parked cars or shrubbery.
- Be extra careful around school buses. When red lights are flashing, you must stop. Wait a few extra minutes after the bus is gone to make sure there are no children present.
- Elderly pedestrians may not be able to cross quickly or hear you approaching. Give older adults plenty of time to cross the street.
- Be alert when turning corners. If the car in front of you stops at a corner, be prepared for the possibility of pedestrians crossing.

Pedestrian injuries can be prevented. Take care to be a defensive pedestrian and a pedestrian-alert driver.

USDA online

by Flint Daugherty
FBM Instructor, Hallock

Have you ever been working in the evening and wished that you could find out how much you owe on that facility loan you have with the Farm Service Agency? You can now turn to the World Wide Web 24 hours a day, seven days a week to keep up to date on your United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) program information. It doesn't get much easier when you're getting those tax numbers together or eventually wanting to look at your maps. I should note that the map section is not up and running yet but is coming soon.

The USDA has put together a customer statement that consolidates all program information in a summary page. For example, you can view your conservation program contract(s) with information supplied by Natural Resources Conservation Service and Farm Service Agency (FSA). There is a benefit summary section in which you can look up any payments you received from the USDA Agencies. For those of you who have a direct loan with FSA, there is a Farm Loan Program section displaying information on your active loans. Information is also shown as to your local office contact and the information they have on file to contact you.

Where do you find all of this interesting information? You will first need to go to the FSA Web site (www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/). Then choose the customer statement link under FSA eGOV title. At this point, you can view a sample statement or begin taking the necessary steps to create your own login ID and password.

To learn more about or enhance your technical electronic skills, please call 1-800-959-6282 to be put in contact with your local farm business management instructor.

Hunting for Minnesota's state mushroom

According to a story by Mary Hoff on the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Web site, good places to find morel mushrooms are near dead elm and cottonwood trees and in old apple orchards.

Morel mushrooms are two to six inches tall and wrinkled-looking. Their long, pitted caps are hollow inside.

The state mushroom species is the golden-colored Morchella esculenta. Another kind of morel that grows in Minnesota is the black Morchella angusticeps.

Many people consider morels a rare and wonderful tasty treat. Mushroom hunters search for morels in late spring—when oak leaves are the size of a mouse's ears—and take them home to cook. Never eat any mushroom you find outdoors unless an expert tells you it's OK because some wild mushrooms are so poisonous that they will kill you if you eat them.

The morel became Minnesota's state mushroom in 1984. At the time, no other state had an official fungus. It was a Minnesota first!

These Minnesota delicacies, morel mushrooms, were recently picked by John R. Holand of Thief River Falls. Morel mushrooms are easy to identify by their unique hollow structure, many folds and uni-piece stem and top.

The Times' Wedding and Engagement Announcement Policy

When submitting an announcement, please be advised of our policy regarding weddings and engagements:

- Engagement announcements should be submitted at least 30 days prior to the wedding date.

Wedding write-ups will be published as follows:

- If the wedding took place within six weeks from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture, if submitted.
- If the wedding took place from six to 12 weeks before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of wedding and where the couple is residing.
- If the wedding took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief story or short caption under a picture announcing when the wedding took place.
- There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write up within two issues of receipt. Forms are available at The Times office to help in organizing information regarding weddings and engagements.

TRF student studies abroad

Matthew Dimich is one of 125 students currently studying abroad on the May Seminars Abroad 2005 program at Concordia College, Moorhead.

Dimich, a senior, is the son of Tom and Judy Dimich of Thief River Falls. He is participating in the math and computer science seminar titled "Mathematics in Another Light," one of 10 programs offered this year.

Students will see and understand the impact of mathematics and mathematical thinking as they visit cities such as Cairo, Athens, Corinth, Delphi, Rome, Florence, Interlaken, Paris and London. They will experience the civilizations of the ancient Egyptians, classical Greeks and Romans, as well as the Renaissance and the scientific ages. Participants will cross the Nile River to enter the Valley of the Kings, descend into tombs dating prior to 1500 B.C., visit St. Peter's Cathedral, see the Sistine Chapel and trek to Stonehenge.

The philosophical and historical background of these monuments will also be examined while exploring the scientific and religious world-view of the cultures that produced them and the ways in which they still influence the world today.

Local CAP squadron members attend conference

Civil Air Patrol cadets and seniors from the Northwest Minnesota Composite Squadron attended the 58th annual Minnesota Wing Conference held April 29 to May 1 at Breezy Point.

Local squadron members in attendance included Cadet Airman 1st Class Michael Swanson, Cadet Airman 1st Class Mark Paulson, Cadet Airman Brandon Widing and Cadet Airman Daniel Molstad. Senior members Capt. Arlo Rude, Capt. Paulette Odette, Lt. Earl Gibson and Minnesota Wing Group 1 Maj. David Odette also attended.

The annual convention recognizes many of the efforts and accomplishments of its members over the past year. The convention also provides an opportunity for both cadet and senior members to attend seminar training in a number of areas. The convention concludes with an evening banquet and military ball.

Thank You

We would like to thank everyone who remembered our 50th wedding anniversary: our children, Craig, Jerald and Tonia for hosting the "family get-together" at the Evergreen; the ladies of our church who served cake and coffee in our honor after Sunday morning services; and everyone else who remembered us with cards, gifts, phone calls and best wishes. We are truly blessed to have so many friends.

Looking back and moving forward

This is the end of our journey through childhood. We have been through 12 years together—the whole time we have created memories and locked them away in our hearts to cherish for the rest of our lifetimes. Let us go back to the beginning.

"Elementary school, it seems so long ago, yet I can vividly remember many things about it. I remember posing for pictures on the first day of school, all decked out in pigtails and a plaid jumper. I remember waiting at the bus stop, snacks during milk break, and show and tell. My mom loves telling the story of my third day of kindergarten—it's one of her favorites. Apparently, when I woke up on that third day of school, I decided I wasn't going. My mom told me I didn't have a choice and sent me on the bus crying and wailing, "I don't want to go, I want to stay home with you!" My mom said she felt absolutely terrible and called my teacher to warn her I might be a little upset when I arrived."

"The thing I liked best about elementary school was the freedom, maybe not the kind of freedom that we usually envision, but freedom of the mind— being able to turn snow piles into mountains and gymnasiums into jungles. We were all on the same level, and foolishly ready to grow up."

Middle school is the long awaited transition for many. It's a time for lockers, dances, relationships and the first taste of independence. Looking back on the adventures of Franklin Middle School, the memories are both good and bad.

"I remember the first day of middle school. The first thing I did when I walked through the door was get lost. I had no idea how to get to any of my classes. I had to ask the older kids where to go. It didn't take long for me to catch on that it was just four connected hallways."

"I didn't get lost, and I didn't go to orientation. I think the biggest thing that happened was dances. I remember going to my first dance in sixth grade and not having any idea what to do. I had to look at the older kids to figure out how to dance. I'm not sure if I ever figured it out."

"Yeah, back then the big song to dance to was 'N Sync's 'Bye, Bye, Bye'. Everyone would line up and do the arm motions and the jumping. I can't believe we were that dorky."

"We'd change into leather pants, which were really big then, and curl our hair and put on makeup to go to a dance that was at three in the afternoon."

"Well, the worst part of middle school was gym. Remember how we'd have to wear those uniforms?"

"Yes, those awful blue shorts! If we didn't wear them, they'd dock points and get really mad. If you want kids to wear shorts, don't make them run around a football field in the middle of March."

"The part I didn't like about gym was swimming. You would have to walk around in front of everyone in your swimsuits. Not exactly the nicest thing to do to girls at a very tender age!"

"Right! Then, they'd only give you about five minutes to get dressed afterward, and you were all wet and smelling of chlorine for the rest of the day. It was awful if you had gym first hour."

"Well, not all of middle school was awful, there are good memories, too. It's when groups of friends really got established, and people found friends they really liked."

"It was also a time to learn what it was you liked to do when you got to choose your own classes."

"The only part about middle school that I enjoyed was putting my handprint on the wall when I was in eighth grade."

"It was just a little something to remember us by."

"High school is a time for driver's licenses, prom, and having a 'real' relationship-all of which are very overrated. High school, for me, has been four years of wasting all my time. It's so close to the end that I never actually learned anything. High school basically ruined every desire for me to want to go to college."

"High school is when you take a bunch of people that spend middle school trying to be similar to each other, and then realize its cooler to be yourself. Everyone changed in 10th grade, and it was weird looking at people and realizing we are all already who we are going to become. High school has been about building relationships and finding out almost everyone has zzdoor neighbor, the neighbor thing being one of them."

Looking back on high school, it's not the dances, schoolwork or games I remember as much as the people.

"It is strange how one choice in high school can set off a long chain reaction, which may eventually become an essential part of one's character. Personally, my one choice that probably changed the way I have turned out was my decision to join choir. I joined choir because of a girl, and while that relationship never went anywhere, I found myself exposed to a wide variety of real life experiences that I believe were crucial in making me that person today."

Our journey through the school system has, for better or worse, been an integral factor in whom we have become. We have failed and succeeded together for 13 years, and, now, the people who have shared an entire quarter of their lives must step out into a new system, a new playground. When, in the future, we are pushed off of the monkey bars of life and are afraid to climb the ladder again, we can remember young Ted giving us a boost on the real thing so long ago. The memories of our time together, however, few may be remembered, will always remind us of the simpler times.

A hectic schedule slows down

May always flies by too quickly for school people, and I think for many other people as well. It has been very busy in all our schools as many of you know. If you have been following the events in the schools or the classwork and activities of students this past month or so, you realize our students and staff have kept a very hectic schedule.

Late April and the first half of May included many days of testing in our schools. We have received some of these results, but others will not be sent to us until during the summer months. Early, partial returns are encouraging - although they are just coming in this week, so we haven't had time to really sit down and analyze them. We are seeing growth from many individual students on tests that are able to measure that, namely the Northwest Evaluation Association computer-based tests. Other state tests do not allow us that type of measurement, but do give us some "big picture" types of results, which in some cases are also improving. By this coming fall, I hope to be able to give examples of test scores by classes and schools in relation to state averages, national averages, and in comparison to other specific districts.

I won't be able to do that until these test results are in and we have had time to analyze them however. Two other pieces of technology also need to be fully implemented and our administrators and staff need to be trained in their use. These include our new student information system, PowerSchool, and our new data warehouse software, Sagebrush. We have had demonstrations on some of their capabilities, and it is exciting to see the potential uses of these tools to help us deliver education to our students in the twenty-first century.

About 150 seniors are graduating from Lincoln High School this year, and we are mighty proud of them. They have proven to be good students, good citizens, leaders among their peers, talented individuals in a wide variety of arenas, and we wish them much success in their futures. I know that many people in school and throughout the community have enjoyed watching them learn, grow, perform, and mature. They stepped up when it was their turn to be leaders, and they showed their underclassmen how to lead. There are many great role models in this class, and I know they are ready for that next assignment in life. My hope is that we have instilled in them a passion for learning that will serve them throughout their lifetime, and that we have been able to demonstrate for them how to use their faith and hope, along with their increased knowledge, to guide them through the difficult and challenging times that lie ahead.

As I write this, the Legislature is still at work. It seems to be making progress, but there are three major hurdles that they are working on. One of those obviously is K-12 education. The governor has proposed a dollar increase now that is in the same ballpark as what the Senate had originally proposed. The governor, however, has several stipulations that accompany his dollars that are contrary to Senate philosophy. Time will tell how they work that out. At first blush, the dollars proposed appear to be among one of the larger increases that schools have received for many years. When taken in the larger context of a four- or five-year spread, however, with three years of steady or decreased revenue, it is less than the rate of inflation. In other words, the increased dollars may not buy what our school revenue bought five or six years ago. Regardless of all those considerations, we will be appreciative of new dollars devoted to K-12 school revenue and our administration and school board will strive to make good, wise, and conservative decisions regarding the spending of those dollars. As I have mentioned numerous times before, significant resources need to be dedicated to rebuilding our fund balance to aid us in the unknown circumstances awaiting us in the years ahead. The possibility of adding or expanding programs still exists, but that possibility is higher in the second year of the biennium rather than for the 2005-06 school year.

It is unclear also at this time how much of an increase will be in the form of state aid, funded by state tax dollars - income taxes and sales taxes predominantly (but maybe accompanied by a cigarette tax or fee) - and how much will be shifted onto property owners in the form of property taxes. There is a significant philosophical difference between the two parties in this regard as you all know.

During summer, administrators shift the majority of their time to evaluation of curriculum, evaluation of testing and other data, planning schedules and staff development, as well as learning new methods and strategies of teaching, and learning about various pedagogical research. It is in some respects a difficult time to be in education, but it is certainly an interesting, challenging and exciting time as well. I am very privileged to be engaged in this process with a knowledgeable and eager cabinet, school board and staff in a very supportive community. God bless.

Mother's Day, May 8th, Roger and Robbin Mathsen and Reann brought a very tasty roast chicken dinner to Curt & Elaine Thompson's home in honor of their mother Elaine. She received nice gifts, cards and telephone greetings from her son Mark and Barb Thompson, Elaina Rose an Curtis Herman of Moorhead, Sam and Liza Sparhawk and family of Shevlin. In the afternoon, they had ice cream cake and coffee that the Mathsen's brought. They all had a very nice day with family.

Those who came over to celebrate Mother's Day at Hanna Moen's home were Marvin and Betty Moen, Gerald and Elona Moen, Richard and Pat Moen, Giveny Hjellie, Kameron and Kathy Harstad of Grand Forks, Darcene Moen of Cavalier, N. Dak., Kim Fanfulik of Thief River Falls, Natalie, Collen and Beth Moen of Thief River Falls, Kathy Harstad and Diane Nelson brought the delicious meal and also a lovely cake for Hanna.

Raynard Huglen and Volborg Huglen drove out to Harvey, N. Dak. last weekend to visit with friends. They had a very nice weekend.

Give me my widget

My attitude towards salespeople could use some improvement. When I walk into a store and see a salesperson out of the corner of my eye circling like a vulture, I instinctively want to run the other way.

"How are you doing today?" they ask, as if they care. All they really care is that I have a credit card in my pocket with some room left on the limit.

"We have some really neat promotions going on right now," the salesperson adds, dripping with contrived sincerity.

I don't want to hear about it. If there's something I want, I'll pay full price. If there's nothing I want, I'll walk out.

"I am just looking," I say, which is a polite hint to leave me alone. But more and more, salespeople don't leave you alone. They go on and introduce themselves.

"My name is Angela, and if you have any questions, I'll be available." Okay, Angela. Now go away.

"Is this your first time in our store?"

"Yes," I say, while resisting the urge to add that it will probably be the last if she doesn't disappear fast.

"I'll just acquaint you with our company. We have some really neat specials going on right now, and they end on the 31st, so only three days left!"

Okay, Angela, now go jump.

But Angela is persistent. She goes around the corner for about five minutes before slithering over again, wondering if I have any questions. "We really have some neat things on the floor right now. Are you building a new home?"

That's none of her business, but now she's appealing to my vanity, and I fall for it. "Yes, actually, I am," I say.

"Awesome!" says Angela, and I realize that she thinks she has a live one. Now she's going to be tougher to get rid of than a mosquito in a pup tent.

Salespeople are bad enough if you are just looking. They are worse when you actually make a purchase.

That's when they start tapping on their computer and asking personal questions as if they have a right to know. What's your home phone number? What's your email address?

"Okay, if you actually want to get the sale price," Angela informs me after tapping on her computer for 20 minutes, "you will need to mail this coupon in with the serial number and all sorts of other information, and they'll get you a rebate check as soon as they are able to call and verify your purchase."

The promotion is getting less "neat" all the time.

Then comes the extended warranty pitch. Suddenly Anglea makes the thing you just bought because it was so dependable sound as if it is going to fall apart in a year. For an extra hundred fifty dollars, they'll put it back together again for free!

No, I don't want the extended warranty. I don't even want the rebate. Why can't you just give me a widget for the price on the tag and spare me all these games?

Just when I want to throw Angela through the store window, she adds one final pitch: Would you like to save 10 percent on your purchase by applying today for a Melbert's Preferred Customer charge card?

No! I don't want to save 10 percent! I want out! I want to leave! Angela, I am sure you are a nice person who's just trying to buy Gerber's for your babies - but to me, you are evil! You have trapped me here for an hour doing things I don't want to do!

Not only that, but using "no payments, no interest for a year" as an excuse, you have obtained my credit card number, expiration date, phone number, Social Security number, banking information and credit rating!

Of course, I don't say any of those things out loud. Like most Americans, I want my widget - even if I have to sell my soul to get it.

ACTIVITIES

Kite Surprise

Cut a kite shape out of construction paper. Use a hole punch to punch holes all over the kite. (Hint: Gently fold the kite in half to enable the hole punch to reach the middle.) Place the kite on a washable surface. Have your child brush liquid starch all over the kite. Give your child small tissue paper squares to place on top of the liquid starch, covering all the holes. When your child is finished, invite him/her to hold up his/her art to the light to see the kite surprise. After the starch dries, trim any extra tissue paper hanging over the edge of the kite shape. Attach a tissue paper tail to the bottom of the kite and hang it up in a window.

PARENTING TIPS

Sun Safety Tips

Children have tender, sensitive skin that needs protection from the sun's rays. Consider the following suggestions when your child plays outside.

•The sun's rays are most powerful and risk of sunburn is greatest between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. central daylight saving time.

•Use a hat or bonnet for Baby's head or an umbrella for shade.

•Remember that water reflects and scatters the sun's rays, so there is more chance of sunburn when in or near the water.

•Offer liquids often, every 30 to 60 minutes in hot weather. Remember water is the best. You can also try juice and ice cubes made from juice for a treat. Crushed ice and several tablespoons of juice concentrate whipped in a blender becomes a cool fruity slush to sip.

•Health professionals recommend that parents apply at least a 45SPF (sun protection factor) sunscreen to their children 30 minutes before you go outside, to let it soak into the skin. Reapply sunscreen at least every two to three hours, but more often if the child is perspiring or swimming. Sunscreen should also be used under light clothing such as a t-shirt, because the sun's rays can go through that type of clothing. It is also important to wear sunglasses to protect the eyes. The glasses should have a sticker saying "100 percent UV protection." Do not use sunscreen containing Paba for children. Look for a sunscreen that says "broad spectum" which means that it protects against both UVA and UVB rays and works for all skin tones, no matter how light or dark the skin is. It is not recommended to use sunscreen on children under six months. It is best to avoid having them in the sun, if you can.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with your child about the hot sun and the cool shade. Show your child what and where the shade is. Encourage your child to get out of the sun periodically. However your young child is still not capable of doing this on his/her own. It is your responsibility as a parent to protect your child from the sun.

A. Elizabeth Danielson, 91

Karlstad - A. Elizabeth Danielson, 91, died on Sunday, May 29, 2005 at the Karlstad Healthcare Center.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, June 1 (today) at the Karlstad Baptist Church in Karlstad, with Pastor David Ingraham officiating. Casket bearers include Dennis Klopp, Dennis Fish, Floyd Olson, Leonard Veer, Tim Andersen and Ron Anderson. Interment was held at Karlstad Cemetery in Karlstad.

A. Elizabeth Danielson was born August 5, 1913, on the Danielson homestead in Roseau County. She was the youngest of five children born to Edward and Anna (Johannesson) Danielson who had immigrated to Minnesota from Sweden. When she was a child, the family spent a brief time in Washington State and then returned to Minnesota to Kittson County.

She graduated from Karlstad High School in 1929. She was not quite 16 years old. She was accepted to the Union Commercial College in Grand forks and then worked for awhile at the Kittson County Courthouse. Most of her adult life was spent taking care of her parents and running the farm with her brother, Fritz.

She was a lifetime member of the Karlstad Baptist Church, where she served in a variety of capacities through the years. She was a student of nature and loved bird watching and weather-watching. She kept annual records of both until just a few years before her death. She was a seamstress and also enjoyed crocheting. Though her home never had electricity, she had an avid interest in music, listening to the radio, then a battery-powered record player and finally, cassette player. She loved everything from Bach to Willie Nelson.

Around the age of 70, she began taking pictures, mostly of nature. After her parents died, she spent time with family in Charleston, S.C., and Seattle, Wash. She was pleased that she had been able to see both oceans and that she could add shells to her collections of natural things. Since October 2002, Elizabeth resided at the Karlstad Healthcare Center in Karlstad.

Survivors include a nephew and four nieces, John Malmberg of Cody, Wyo.; Mary Stone of Glenwood; Ruth Morrison of Milford, Mass.; Lois Sabol of Union Gap, Wash.; and Sylvia Danielson of Seattle, Wash.; as well as several great-nieces and nephews.

Elizabeth was preceded in death by her parents and her brothers, Ragnar, Jonathon, and Fritz, and sister: Naemie Malmberg. A00003B2005JN01

Charles worked building bridges, while Diane worked for a wigwam store. Together they raised two sons, Rodney and Kelley. The couple returned to St Louis Park, for one winter and then to Crystal, where they lived for 29 years.

Diane worked at Jewelmont Company and later for Curt Carlson Company and retired in 2001 from a drapery company. In 2002, they moved to Oklee, and have been busy renovating the LaCoursiere family home south east of Oklee.

Diane was a member of Salem Lutheran Church, Oklee and taught Boy's Scouts when her sons were active. She loved to sew, shop and she and Charles enjoyed the two winters spent in Texas. She enjoyed going to Mexico and loved her jewelry. She enjoyed her home and the time she spent there.

Survivors include her husband, Charles of Oklee; sons, Rodney (Kelly) of Brooklyn Center and Kelley (Sarah) of Albertville; four grandchildren; and brother, Gene (Wendy) Hegland of Blaine.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her brothers, Ernie, Melford and Burnell Hegland. A00003B2005JN01

Residents of Valley Home have shared writing correspondence with third grade students at St. Bernard's Catholic School through the school year. Third grade teacher Kari Wichterman and Lois Anderson, service coordinator at Valley Home, have exchanged notebooks back and forth until Wednesday, May 25, when they, the students and Valley Home residents met in person. The pen pals played games, and treats were served. It's been a good experience for everyone, and they have enjoyed getting acquainted through correspondence. Plans are to continue the pen pal program for next year and explore ways for residents to see the students in their classroom. (Submitted photo)

St. Bernard's students participate in reading auction

St. Bernard's Catholic School's third through fifth grade students finished their outside reading program with the annual reading auction May 23.

The auction "bucks" earned by the students for pleasure reading during the year gave them anywhere from about $100 to more than $200 to use for bidding. With the help of auctioneer Jason Rominski, bidding was lively on such things as skateboards, basketballs, books, kites and more.

CLC announces 2004-05 graduates

Central Lakes College, Brainerd and Staples, has announced the graduates of degree, diploma and certificate programs during the 2004-05 academic year.

Graduates included Randy Bunker, Thief River Falls, graduating with a diploma in heavy equipment operations and maintenance, and Jonathan Iverson, Thief River Falls, graduating with a diploma as a machine tool technician.

May 18, 19 and 20, Franklin Middle School sixth graders were in Minneapolis. They took in many sights in the days they were there, including Mill City Museum, the Minnesota History Center, Fort Snelling, Science Museum of Minnesota Sibley House, Wabasha Caves, Camp Snoopy and the Capitol, where they met Sen. LeRoy Stumpf. He was taking part in the legislative session the morning of May 19, but took a break to talk to the kids and answer questions they had. (Submitted photo)

City of Thief River Falls

2004 Water Quality Report

The City of Thief River Falls is issuing the results of monitoring done on its drinking water for the period from January 1 to December 31, 2004. The purpose of this report is to advance consumers' understanding of drinking water and heighten awareness of the need to protect precious water resources.

Source of Water

The City of Thief River Falls provides drinking water to its residents from a surface water source; surface water drawn from the Red Lake River.

The Minnesota Department of Health has determined that one or more sources of your drinking water is susceptible to contamination. If you wish to obtain the entire source water assessment regarding your drinking water, please call 651-215-0800 or 1-800-818-9318 (and press 5) during normal business hours. Also, you can view it online at www.health.state.mn.us/divs/eh/water/swp/swa.

Call 681-3809 if you have questions about the City of Thief River Falls drinking water or would like information about opportunities for public participation in decisions that may affect the quality of the water.

Results of Monitoring

No contaminants were detected at levels that violated federal drinking water standards. However, some contaminants were detected in trace amounts that were below legal limits. The table that follows shows the contaminants that were detected in trace amounts last year. (Some contaminants are sampled less frequently than once a year; as a result, not all contaminants were sampled for in 2004. If any of these contaminants were detected the last time they were sampled for, they are included in the tables along with the date that the detection occurred.)

Key to abbreviations:

MCLG - Maximum Contaminant Level Goal: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
MCL - Maximum Contaminant Level: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
TT - Treatment Technique: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.
NTU - Nephelometric Turbidity Unit, used to measure clarity in drinking water.
MRDL - Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level.
MRDLG - Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal.
AL - Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant, which, if exceeded, triggers treatment, or other requirement, which a water system must follow.
90th Percentile Level: This is the value obtained after disregarding 10 percent of the samples taken that had the highest levels. (For example, in a situation in which 10 samples were taken, the 90th percentile level is determined by disregarding the highest result, which represents 10 percent of the samples.) Note: In situations in which only 5 samples are taken, the average of the two with the highest levels is taken to determine the 90th percentile level.
ppb - Parts per billion, which can also be expressed as micrograms per liter (ug/l).
ppm - Parts per million, which can also be expressed as milligrams per liter (mg/l).
N/A - Not Applicable (does not apply).

| Contaminant (units) | MCGL | MCL | LEVEL FOUND |  | Typical Source of Contaminant |
|  |  |  | Range (2004) | Average/Result* |  |
| Fluoride (ppm) | 4.0 | 4.0 | .91-1.2 | 1.23 | State of Minnesota requires all municipal water systems to add fluoride to drinking water to promote strong teeth; Erosion of natural deposits; Discharge from fertilizer and aluminum factories. |
| Haloacetic Acids (HAA5) (ppb) | 0 | 60 | 20.3-74.9 | 43.58 | By-product of drinking water disinfection |
| TTHM (Total trihalomethanes) (ppb) | 0 | 80.0 | 24.3-121.7 | 69.48 | By-product of drinking water disinfection |

* This is the value used to determine compliance with federal standards. It sometimes is the highest value detected and sometimes is an average of all detected values. If it is an average, it may contain sampling results from the previous years.
 Lowest Monthly Percentage of Samples Meeting the Turbidity limits.

| Contaminant (units) | MCLG | MCL |  |  | Typical Source of Contaminant |
| Turbidity (NTU) | N/A | TT | .87% | 1.57 | Soil runoff. |

 Highest Single Measurement.
Turbidity is a measure of the clarity of the water. We monitor it because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of our filtration system. The percentage of Total Organic Carbon (TOC) removal was measured each month and the system met all TOC removal requirements set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

| Contaminant (units) | MRDLG | MRDL | * |  | Typical Source of Contaminant |
| Chlorine (ppm) | N/A | TT | 1.8-2.4 | 2.12 | Water additive used to control microbes. |

* Highest and Lowest Monthly Average.
Highest Quarterly Average

| Contaminant (units) | MCLG | AL | 90% Level | # sites over AL | Typical Source of Contaminant |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lead (ppb) | N/A | 15 | 7.0 | 0 out of 20 | Corrosion of household plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits. |
| Copper (ppm) | N/A | 1.3 | 0.08 | 0 out of 20 | Corrosion of household plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits. |

Some contaminants do not have Maximum Contaminant Levels established for them. These "unregulated contaminants" are assessed using state standards known as health risk limits to determine if they pose a threat to human health. If unacceptable levels of an unregulated contaminant are found, the response is the same as if an MCL has been exceeded; the water system must inform its customers and take other corrective actions. In the table that follows are the unregulated contaminants that were detected:

Compliance with National Primary Drinking Water Regulations

| Contaminants (units) | Level Found |  | Typical Source of Contaminant |
|---|---|---|---|
| Sulfate (ppm) (03/24/2003) | N/A | 96.0 | Erosion of natural deposits |

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metal, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban storm-water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources, such as agriculture, urban storm-water runoff, and residential uses.
Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm-water runoff, and septic systems.
Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) prescribes regulations, which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which must provide the same protection for public health.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer, undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 800-426-4791.

This report is not being mailed to individual customers. However, copies of the report are available by contacting the Thief River Falls Water Department at 681-3809

NMF award recipients announced at May 12 dinner

The Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NMF) knows the important contributions individuals and nonprofit organizations make in every community and recognizes that their dedication and commitment is often unseen and rarely acknowledged. Since 1992, the foundation has reinforced these efforts by annually identifying an outstanding leader, organization and individual in an organization.

This year's recipients have worked toward making northwest Minnesota a better place to live and work. To honor their achievements, recipients select a nonprofit organization in the region to receive an unrestricted grant from the foundation for $1,000.

The 2005 Excellence in Leadership Award went to Mike Carroll of Park Rapids. Carroll was recently named the director of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Northwest Region. He has been employed by the DNR for the past 25 years and is currently the DNR's Forestry Division director. In his tenure, he served in a variety of forestry positions, including area forestry supervisor in Park Rapids, superintendent of the Badoura State Forest Nursery, Forest Resource Management Program supervisor, and regional forest health specialist. Carroll stated that he will draw heavily on his foundation leadership training to reinforce the DNR's role as a neighbor and long-term contributor to the economic, social and environmental health of the region. To be eligible for this award, individuals must have participated in the NMF Leadership Development Program and then returned to their job, their volunteer activities and their community, actively using the skills they learned.

The 2005 recipient of the Individual Excellence in an Organization Award is Patrick Lochwood of Evergreen House, Bemidji. Lochwood is an example of someone who has found his life's work in which personal passions and dreams are integrated fully with the work he does. His dreams of justice, acceptance and joy in living are demonstrated by his own life and in his chosen career. He was recently promoted to office manager of Evergreen House, a human service agency serving youth and families in the greater Bemidji area, where he has worked since 1999. His service as the coordinator of "BemidjiSafe," a program for youth with sexual orientation issues and their families, was a key to its ongoing success and a great benefit to the community. In 2003, Lochwood was given the Community Service Award by the Philanthrofund Foundation for his work in that capacity. According to Lochwood, the foundation's training programs have allowed him to recognize his skills as a team builder, a manager and increased his ability to relate to many diverse types of individuals. This award is given to a staff member, board member or volunteer who participated in a foundation training program and who has contributed significantly to improving the effectiveness of their organization.

Mahnomen Health Center received the Organizational Excellence Award, which is given to an organization or agency whose staff or board members have attended a foundation sponsored training program or received a grant from the foundation and as a result, made changes to significantly improve the organization and/or services to the people of the region. Although the health center has faced numerous challenges, the current administration, together with the city and county have acted collaboratively and cooperatively to achieve great progress in the past year. The mission of the organization is to serve as the access point and coordinator of health care services that improve the quality of life and health of the Mahnomen area residents and visitors. It operates a hospital, clinic and nursing home. The steps that have been taken achieved results to turn the organization around to more effectively serve the county.

Fosston Community Library and Arts Center received the Project Excellence Award, which is awarded to recognize a project that shares the foundation's vision for the region. The criteria for selection includes the overall purpose of the project or activity, the "fit" with the Foundation's mission, collaborations involved in the project's activities and the impact of the project. When volunteer efforts and generous supporters came together in Fosston, a wonderful community success was achieved in the Fosston Community Library and Arts Center project. Driven by a strong organizing committee, who tirelessly promoted its ideas, raised funds, held various events and lobbied in St. Paul, the project was a true collaboration. The building addition and upgraded theater have added enormously to the quality of life in the community, as have the new programs that are presented at the center. It is now in the process of building an endowment through the Foundation for ongoing support of the Center.

The Circle of Vision was awarded to the Hellekson Family/Courage North. Because of the generosity of the Ray Hellekson estate, who made annual gifts to Courage in support of Courage North, the Courage Center Programs and Camps Fund was established with the foundation to provide financial support for programs, projects, activities or services that further the mission of Courage Center, in order to empower people with disabilities to reach for their full potential in every aspect of life. Funding priorities are for activities that are conducted in northern Minnesota, sponsored by Courage Center, that benefit people living here.

The Circle of Vision was also awarded to the employees of TEAM Industries/TEAM Foundation. The Clearwater Health Services (CHS) family of funds has been the beneficiary of the corporate donations and gifts program of TEAM Industries, headquartered in Bagley. They are proudly supporting the Hospice program and have truly made a difference in the level and quality of Hospice care in the CHS service area.

The Circle of Vision was established to recognize those people who see the possibilities of tomorrow by acting today; who believe in their communities, and; who say "yes" when asked to share of themselves and their resources. This award is presented in recognition of current gifts, irrevocable planned gifts or publicly announced will bequests of $100,000 or more made by individuals, families, organizations or businesses in direct support of the NMF or any of its component funds.

Circle of Vision – Leadership Society was presented to Arnold F. Lund, Sr. Lund is the first member of the Circle of Vision Leadership Society, awarded for his contributions to the foundation, a component fund or program. In this capacity, Lund is the initial individual donor, not associated with another foundation or organization, who has reached a giving level of $1,000,000 or more. He has generously supported the development of the Baudette community, the Lake of the Woods Industrial Development Corporation and the Lake of the Woods Humane Society.

The Excellence and Circle of Vision Awards are presented each year at the NMF's annual celebration dinner. This year, the event was held May 12 at the Northern Inn, Bemidji, with over 250 of the region's residents in attendance.

Kristi LaSalle's piano students hold recital

Piano students of Kristi LaSalle held their annual spring recital May 8 at St. Bernard's Church. This year's theme was "Let There be Music in our Hearts!" There were two programs this year, one at 1 p.m. and a second at 4 p.m.

1 p.m. Program

Jon Kays, son of Tom and Dianne Kays, a senior who has studied piano for 10 years, started out the recital performing "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" Op. 3 No. 2 by Sergei Rachmaninoff. He concluded this portion of the recital with a duet with his teacher, Kristi LaSalle. The two performed "Buckeye Mamborama," by David Karp.

Performers included: Katie Aandal, daughter of Don and Diane Aandal; Chelsey Knutson, daughter of Marlon and Peggy Knutson; Mauri Gonsorowski, daughter of Duane and Diane Gonsorowski; Brian Kays, son of Tom and Dianne Kays; Matt Lindquist, son of Dan and Patsy Lindquist; Paige Thune, daughter of Mark and Tammy Thune; Sydney Thune, daughter of Mark and Tammy Thune; Lexi Hjelseth, daughter of Kari Hess; Kris Joppru, son of Rocky and Ann Patel; Alyce Huot, daughter of Andrea Zipprich and Curt Huot; Ann Skalsky, daughter of Bruce and Delray Skalsky; and Lauryn Thune, daughter of Mark and Tammy Thune;

Also, Emily Hebert, daughter of Scott and Darcy Hebert; Jenna Lunsetter, daughter of Gene and Jacki Lunsetter; Chantel Hockert, daughter of Londa Peterson; Christian Aandal, son of Don and Diane Aandal; Isaac Skalsky, son of Bruce and Delray Skalsky; Alyssa Evenson, daughter of Mark and Brenda Evenson; Averi Hamre, daughter of John and Brenda Hamre; Rachael Lindquist, daughter of Dan and Patsy Lindquist; Katie Rook, daughter of Kevin and Colleen Rook; Molly Haugen, daughter of Monte and Sue Haugen; Danielle Simenson, daughter of Chuck and Lisa Simenson; Keaton Joppru, son of Rocky and Ann Joppru; and Janessa Hansen, daughter of James and Julie Hansen.

4 p.m. Program

Andy Yaggie, son of Kevin and Vicki Yaggie, who has studied piano for 12 years, opened the 4 p.m. program with "Precious Lord, Take My Hand" by George N. Allen, arr. by Marilyn Thompson. He concluded the second recital by performing "One Moment in Time," by Albert Hammond and John Bettis, arranged by Dan Coates.

Other students performing during this program included: Michelle Noreen, daughter of Luke and Sharon Noreen; Anne Hook, daughter of Steve and Sharon Hook; Karissa Kaushagen, daughter of Mark and Cindy Kaushagen; Ben Olson, son of Steve and Jennifer Olson; Bailey Sorvig, daughter of Gary and Shelby Sorvig; MacKenzie Kruta, daughter of Steve and Jill Kruta; Sam Olson, son of Steve and Jennifer Olson; Miranda Langevin, daughter of Larry and Robin Langevin; Brook Yaggie, daughter of Kevin and Vicki Yaggie; Grace Thompson, daughter of Gerald and Lisa Thompson; Cooper Sorvig, son of Gary and Shelby Sorvig; Kaylee Eskeli, daughter of Steve and Becky Eskeli; Hannah Brickson, daughter of Pat and Laura Brickson; Richard Sather, son of Richard and Mei Sather; Jonah Kaushagen, son of Mark and Cindy Kaushagen; Morgan Martell, daughter of Kaine Martell and Angie Dalzall;

Also, Anna Johnson, daughter of Kevin and Sue Johnson; Shelby Malmanger, daughter of Paul and Michelle Malmanger; Kyle Possai, son of Dr. Kurt and Kathleen Possai; Matt Eskeli, son of Steve and Becky Eskeli; Amit Patel, son of Dr. Sanjay and Nayan Patel; Sydney Amundson, daughter of Jim and Rachel Amundson; Emily Robson, daughter of Darin and Lisa Robson; Chantel Kuznia, daughter of Ray and Jodi Kuznia; Anish Patel, son of Dr. Sanjay and Nayan Patel; Rebecca Kruta, daughter of Steve and Jill Kruta; Mark Paulson, son of Mark and Michelle Paulson; and Lisa Cox, daughter of Ralph and Mary Cox.

Gold Cup Awards

Several Gold Cup Awards have been presented to students of Kristi LaSalle. Receiving Gold Cup Awards this year were: First Cup for piano solo - Sydney Amundson, Chantel Hockert, Ben Olson and Bailey Sorvig.

First Cup for Theory and Musicianship - Lisa Cox, Keaton Joppru, Chelsey Knutson, Chantel Kuznia, Ben Olson, Amit Patel, Danielle Simenson, Bailey Sorvig, Amanda Sturgeon, Paige Thune and Brooke Yaggie.

Second Cup for Piano Solo - Janessa Hansen, Anne Hook, Chelsey Knutson, Danielle Simenson.

Third Cup for Piano Solo - Lisa Cox and Jon Kays.

St. John School holds closing worship service

St. John Lutheran School held its annual closing worship service at the school on May 26. Pastor Don Kirchner led the service, which was attended by the students, their families and many guests.

The preschool and older students put on a program of songs and humorous skits. Ila Anderson, preschool director, and Delores Kading, school principal, recognized students for outstanding talent in various fields.

Anderson presented awards to preschool students for their contributions to the preschool class. The class performed several songs.

Among those honored for academic achievement were:

- "A" honor roll for fourth quarter: Claire Naslund, Devin Poucher and Emma Halvorson.
- "B" honor roll for fourth quarter: Emily Buck and Josh Halvorson.
- Maintaining an "A" average for the year: Claire Naslund and Emma Halvorson.
- Maintaining a "B" average for the year: Emily Buck.
- Highest academic average: Naslund and Emma Halvorson.

The Paul Binder Scholarship of $100 was awarded to Buck. The scholarship recognizes one student who demonstrates all-around outstanding characteristics in Christian virtues, academics and thoughtfulness to others.

Also honored at the closing worship service were the volunteers who work together to help school staff offer a full program to the students.

Many volunteers help in various ways throughout the school year at St. John Lutheran School. Several volunteers teach classes in their areas of expertise or assist in classrooms with reading and spelling. Others help by serving hot lunch, doing school maintenance or caring for the school lawn. These volunteers were recognized May 26 at the school's annual closing worship service. They included (front row) Jill Buck, Mari Jo Kirchner, Pastor Don Kirchner, Sue Halvorson, Becky Carlson; (back row) Wayne Bjornrud, Ed Nicholls, Lillian Groven, Lois and Cyril Stensrud, John Folland, Chris Schultz, Olive Eckstein, Iola Rokke and Judith Wold. # Drainage problems bring residents to County Board said that townships typically don't keep a lot of money. He added that bonding would probably be necessary for the township to cover the costs associated with road repairs.

Commissioner Skip Swanson recommended that Country Estates residents form a committee that would meet with the township supervisors. No further action was taken.

Engineer's Items

- The board approved the low bid of $28,150 by Thygeson Construction for aggregate shouldering of portions of CSAH 7.
- The board approved the trade-in and purchase of a three-year-old Woods lawnmower for $4,500.

Tax abatement for new residential construction proposed. Mike Moore, Thief River Falls community development director, presented a residential construction tax abatement proposal on behalf of the Midwest Multi-County Community Development Corporation.

The program would only apply to new residential construction. New construction is defined as modular homes, manufactured homes and stick built homes, that are ready for occupancy within two years of acquisition of the undeveloped real property. Also, the program would be limited to single-family dwellings.

The three primary taxing authorities, Thief River Falls, Pennington County and School District 564 would all be required to participate in the incentive program.

Property taxes would be abated for three years, starting after the home is occupied.

According to the proposal, the procedure is that the homeowner pays the property tax. The tax is then paid to the city, county and school and then returned to the property owner in the form of a tax rebate. The MMCDC proposal will be further discussed at the June 14 meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners.

Solid Waste Transfer Station Bids approved. Pennington County Solid Waste Officer Howard Person presented four bid proposals that he had received. Bids were received for two different jobs, the repair of the transfer station's load-out area and roof repair over the office portion of the building.

The board approved the low bid of $8,998.80 submitted by MJS Septic Systems of Thief River Falls to repair the east wall of the transferstation's load-out area. Plans include trenching and removing approximately 26 yards of dirt and backfilling with sand to better drain the water next to the existing wall. MJS also recommended the installation of 80 feet of four-inch field at $8 per foot; to core drill a four-inch hole in the north end of the wall at $50, to allow the drained water to exit across the floor to the existing sump pump; and to reroute all truck traffic away from the wall. The proposal also states that cracks or separation to the exterior wall or roof while the wall is straightened, may also be an issue to be addressed at a later date.

The board also approved the low bid of $13,690 submitted by Robert Finstad of Finstad Construction Inc., for roof repairs. Plans include the installation of a new roof, over the existing roof of the office portion of the building to match the southern portion. Plans call for 12-inch eaves with matching soffit and facia and a 12-foot gable over the east office door.

Commissioner Skip Swanson, the county's representative on the 10-county Hazardous Waste Joint Powers Board (HWJPB), reported that Clearwater County will be selling a portion of its recycling building to the HWJPB. The board approved the HWJPB's purchase. The building, which is located on Clearwater County land, was used by both the HWJPB and Clearwater County for recycling. The HWJPB includes the counties of Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Beltrami, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Cass, Polk and Kittson. The HWJPB's main facility is located on land owned by Clearwater County. A motion supporting the HWJPB's purchase was carried.

Stumpf supports Senate's emphasis on education

With a strong commitment to quality education for Minnesota's children as its centerpiece, the Senate budget for the coming biennium will also place a strong emphasis on fiscal responsibility and holding down property tax increases, according to state Sen. LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer).

"Every classroom in our state will benefit if the Senate proposal is adopted," Stumpf said. "Schools in our part of the state will benefit a great deal without the heavy property tax burden envisioned in the governor's recommendation."

Specifically, the Senate proposal calls for just over $760 million in new K-12 education funding. While Gov. Pawlenty also seeks increased education funds, his plan relies heavily on an anticipated 23 percent school property tax hike next year.

"In the Senate, we rely much less on school property taxes, and we distribute the burden fairly based on ability to pay," Stumpf said. "This is particularly good news for schools throughout northwestern Minnesota."

As chair of the Senate K-12 Budget Division, Stumpf's priorities included restoring cuts to public education made in recent years and enhancing healthy nutritional choices for school meals.

Stumpf's committee finished its main budget work for the coming biennium on April 21, passing the Omnibus K-12 Education Bill with strong bipartisan support.

"Everyone agrees now is the time to invest more in education and our essential public needs so that the state can continue its historically strong economic performance," Stumpf said. "We can accomplish these goals and meet the need in a fair and fiscally responsible fashion."

Morris and Hazel Anderson joined Jim and Cindy Wetterlund and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wetterlund, from the Cities, for dinner in Grand Forks on Sunday. They were house guests at Jim and Cindy's home until Tuesday when they returned home.

We were happy to see Alexander and Rachael Grudem from St. Paul on Sunday morning! Rachael Freeman grew up here in Karlstad when her father was the Pastor of the Assembly of God Church and Mrs. Louis Freeman taught music at Tri-County. Whenever I hear violin players perform I can tell who had taken lessons from her. Lois really had the master's touch on the violin.

Alexander and Rachael Grudem visited Elsie Lofrooth on Sunday. Elsie had crocheted an afghan for them as a wedding gift. Other visitors at Elsie's this week were Marlys and Austin Lofrooth, Gloria Renstrom, and her "Aggravator", Pearl and Myrtle.

Elsie Lofrooth, Hazel Anderson and I drove to the beautiful home of Mark, Sally, Kayla and Kimberly Wagner to celebrate the graduation of Kayla Wagner from Heritage High School. The reception was absolutely superb!

City Council approves bids on improvement projects

four to eight hours and $50 for use of the kitchen with an outside caterer. Wennberg abstained from voting as he is the REA interim general manager.

The council approved electric rate changes. Utilities Director Arlo Rude noted the changes would include eliminating some electric heat rates and adding customer charges to those locations paying industrial and industrial controlled rates. Those customer charges would be $11 per month.

Those paying industrial electric heat rates would also see a change. During the months of July, August, September and October, they would be served on a commercial rate of 6.42 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 1,000 kilowatt hours per month and be charged 5.37 cents per kilowatt hour for any excess kilowatt hours each month.

City Council approved the administration of the 2005 Small Cities Development Grant. The city of Thief River Falls received the $532,300 grant to rehabilitate low-to-moderate income owner-occupied and rental housing along St. Paul, Conley and Markley avenues between Third and Nora streets.

The council approved an ordinance on crematories. Community Development Director Mike Moore noted the ordinance stipulates that crematories must be at least 300 feet from any residence.

Crematories are places where cremation chambers are located. The council considered the matter after city leaders learned Jerry Unruh had noted he would possibly operate a crematory along Main Avenue North, according to information provided to the council. Unruh did not attend the council meeting.

In the past, City Attorney Paul Ihle said, crematories were not allowed in the city.

Subject to the contractor's compliance with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and workers' compensation, the council approved an agreement with TRF Parking Lot Striping for the painting of crosswalks. The agreement also covers the painting of lane markings on the First Street bridge.

The crosswalks are usually painted by Street Department employees, Lindberg said. However, they usually do that work on Saturdays and Sundays, leading to compensation for overtime.

"The net cost would be about $1,000, and if we saw a savings in overtime, that cost would be reduced," Lindberg said.

Regarding the First Street work, Lindberg said Mn/DOT was not able to paint those markings.

The council approved the mechanical fee schedule effective June 1 for commercial systems and Sept. 1 for residential systems. For commercial entities, the inspection fee for heating and/or cooling systems will be 0.0025 times the value of the mechanical system with a $25 minimum. For residential replacement of heating and/or cooling systems, the inspection fee will be $15. For new residential construction, the inspection fee for those items will be $25.

City Council approved a resolution calling for a public hearing on the proposed adoption of a modification to the development program for Development District 1 and the proposed establishment of a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) District No. 1-6. The public hearing will be held July 26 at approximately 5 p.m. Midwest Minnesota Community Development Corporation requested the TIF District for the Meadowlark Estates area, Moore said. That area is located near Cartway Drive. A TIF District enables a developer to pay for infrastructure and provides an opportunity for affordable housing as well.

The council approved a conditional use permit for 212 Third St. for a pet store. It would be operated by Shawn Callahan and Jamie Dallmann. The building formerly housed the Fashion Boutique.

City Council approved a 3.2 on-sale and off-sale malt liquor and on-sale wine license for Roger and Palma Anderson doing business as the Schooner Bar and Grill. The business was formerly known as The Getaway.

The next council meeting is scheduled June 14 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

Colorful costumes and dances were part of the Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park Powwow the weekend of May 28 and 29. Because the dance grounds were too wet, the event was moved to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center on Saturday. It was back out at the casino on Sunday. Thousands of native Americans from throughout the nation and Canada attended the event.

School Board hears city tax abatement program proposal

Students request reinstatement of cheerleading

Monday, May 23, at the School Board meeting, Kasey Dimmen, a junior at Lincoln High School, presented a petition in support of cheerleading.

Cheerleading in School District 564 - Thief River Falls was discontinued this year.

Dimmen said when she was younger she was involved in competitive cheerleading, and ever since has preferred cheerleading over other competitive sports. In fact, she discontinued her participation in other sports so she could focus on cheerleading. Since the activity was discontinued, she said it has left her "sportless."

Kyja Anderson, also a junior, said she had discussed why cheerleading was discontinued with her mother. She explained that her medical condition prevents her participation in most sports, that is except for cheerleading. While she was involved in cheerleading, she said she was more upbeat, more active and engaged. Since cheerleading was discontinued, she said she has noticed that her attitude became worse and she has become less active and engaged.

Tax Abatement?

Mike Moore, city community development director, presented a proposal to participate in a tax abatement program that would create new housing opportunities in the community. Moore explained that the city already has Tax Increment Financing (TIF) districts, which also creates new housing opportunities by using taxes paid by homeowners over a specified period of time to pay for infrastructure, such as water and sewer - costs which add significantly to the cost of a new home. Unfortunately, most local developers are unable to participate in such programs because of the substantial administrative responsibilities associated with such programs. The city's Tax Increment Financing districts are being operated by Midwest Multi-County Community Development Corporation (MMCDC), a nonprofit entity.

Moore said the city and county have already given their tacit approval for a Tax Abatement program - the approval of two of three taxing entities is required - that would allow local developers more opportunities to participate. Moore said three different development sites are being looked at; although there's a current potential of six.

Moore explained that the population of the city is growing. He said there are 7,400 jobs in the city, which is almost a 1 to 1 ratio. There are only a handful of communities in Minnesota that can say that, he said. Signs indicate that job growth will continue. Because the population is growing, demands for housing is increasing. On average, he said, 27 new homes are being built in Thief River Falls each year. (A story that appeared in the May 25 edition of The Times estimated that there is a need for 20 to 25 new homes each year.)

The tax abatement program would operate similarly to a TIF district - taxes would be abated to pay for infrastructure; although, there would be less paperwork and a shorter period of time of abatement. The estimated value of the homes in each development would be roughly $125,000.

Randy Twistol, vice chairperson, asked whether there would be a period at which the taxing entities would re-evaluate the program.

Moore said that was a good question, but that no one had offered that suggestion.

The school board took the matter under advisement and did not consider a resolution on the matter.

Franklin Middle School Update

"I'm pretty darn proud of our students," said Franklin Middle School Principal Bob Wayne.

Wayne and Assistant Principal Shane Zutz presented an update on school activities to the board of education.

"Living Above the Line," the school's theme, has had a profound impact on attitude and conduct at the school.

Wayne and Zutz provided several examples of how the theme has been used to focus on respect and responsibility at the school. Zutz said the plan to continue to use the theme and take it to the next level, which would involve special recognition to students who are outstanding examples of what the theme embodies.

After emphasizing the importance of Basic Standard Tests (BSTs), and providing students with goals, the school's overall BST this year was the second highest in its history. It was not what they expected, but hope to build on that success.

They credited the success to a number of factors, an emphasis on math and reading, providing goals and providing additional motivation for students, but Zutz said, "The hardest thing to pinpoint is what is actually causing the change."

A recent data retreat, said Zutz, showed them what they need to work on. Literal comprehension and problem solving are the two areas that need additional work.

Franklin Middle School will be able to offer archery next year, as a result of a grant and assistance from the local organizations and individuals. Studies show that archery helps students focus.

Zutz and Wayne also noted that student participation in several activities - the sixth grade trip and Kids in the Community Program - all of which resulted in very positive comments.

School Board representative Barb Kalinoski said she thought it goes back to their theme - "Living Above the Line."

Wayne thanked the school board and district staff for their support of Franklin Middle School, and added that, "I'm proud to be a principal there."

In other business, the school board: authorized payment of a stipend of $1,000 each for two staff members to prepare new science kits for the 2005-06 school year; approved a resolution requiring direct deposit for all employees who are being paid through the payroll system effective July 1, 2005; renewed group health care coverage with Blue Cross/Blue Shield through the Northwest Service Cooperative; approved the 2005-2006 athletic eligibility information booklet and the activities policy handbook without additions or corrections; authorized the purchase of a new van; and approved several summer employment positions. The matter of purchasing a new bus was tabled.

The next regular meeting of the board of education is Monday, June 13 [illegible] in the conference [illegible] Service Center.

Sharon Odegaard, American Legion Auxiliary, Post 117, president, and Lois Burstad, VFW Auxiliary president, place wreaths at a memorial dedicated to those who gave their lives in all wars. They placed the wreaths during the Memorial Day Service at Greenwood Cemetery in Thief River Falls on Monday.

Eyabay, considered the best drum group, performed at the Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park Powwow. Eyabay is from Battle River, Manitoba, Canada. Groups and individuals from throughout the United States participated in the powwow. Due to inclement weather, the powwow was taken indoors to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls on Saturday. On Sunday, it was moved back out to the casino.

Hundreds attended the Memorial Day Service in Thief River Falls on Monday, May 30. The guest speaker was First Lt. Colin Browning.

The TIMES

Players poured out of the Thief River Falls dugout and headed to the home plate area to congratulate teammate Jamie Hoglo following her game-ending sixth inning grand slam home run that finished off Little Falls 10-0 in a Thursday North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball tournament game at the Multi-Events Center.

Spuds shut down Prowlers' offense

■ TRF no-hit in 8AAA baseball loss

A no-hitter by Moorhead pitcher Justin Pieterick carried the Spuds past Thief River Falls 4-0 Saturday in North Sub-Section 8AAA high school baseball tournament action at Matson Field.

Pieterick allowed only two base runners. He issued a two-out first inning walk and hit a batter with two out in the sixth – an inning that ended with a pick-off play at first.

"We just couldn't get going offensively," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz. "Pieterick mixed speeds well and kept us guessing."

The Prowlers did make contact at the plate, according to Zutz, but the Spuds played error-free ball behind their pitcher. "We hit four-five ball hard, but right at them," he said. "They made some good plays defensively."

An error put Moorhead lead-off batter Jay Thoreson on base in the first inning and he scored the only run the Spuds would need.

An inning-opening double by Brock Gnadt in the fourth and a one-out sacrifice by Andrew Johnson made it a 2-0 game.

The No. 2-seeded Spuds doubled their lead in the fifth when No. 9 batter Nick Stoltman drew a lead-off walk and Thoreson followed with a single. Base hits by Jake Krause and Gnadt, along with a sacrifice fly by Pieterick, produced a 4-0 scoreboard spread.

It was a route-going performance by Thief River Falls pitcher Justin Brooks, who gave up only five hits and three earned runs. The Prowlers committed just the one error.

"Justin threw well and we played well defensively," offered Zutz. "We need to keep our heads up and regroup."

The No. 5-seeded Prowlers fell to 13-7 heading into a Tuesday loser-out match-up at home against No. 7-seeded Detroit Lakes. The double-elimination tournament continues Thursday and Saturday at Brainerd - the top seed.

It was the third Moorhead win over Thief River Falls this spring. The Spuds won a home-and-home regular season series 1-0 and 11-4.

North Sub-Section 8AAA

Match-up of final unbeaten teams in North Sub-Section 8AAA softball...

Brainerd 7-0 winner over Prowlers

Top-seeded Brainerd took control of the North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball tournament Monday with a 7-0 win over No. 3-seeded Thief River Falls.

The Memorial Day match-up of the final unbeaten teams in the eight-team, double-elimination tournament sends 18-4 Brainerd into the Tuesday finals while Thief River Falls and Bemidji fight it out in the loser's bracket. Both the Prowlers and Lumberjacks faced the prospects of needing three wins in one day to reach the Section 8AAA championship series.

Thief River Falls stayed within 3-0 of Brainerd until the host team scored four times in the sixth to put it out of reach.

Brainerd pitcher Hilary Smith shut out Thief River Falls on three hits, striking out eight and walking two. Only two Prowlers reached second base.

Thief River Falls starting pitcher Megan Berg also turned in an impressive performance, striking out 10, walking none and giving up one earned run in five innings of work. Allyson Helling pitched the sixth.

A fly ball error, hit batsman, passed ball and a bloop single by Alison LeBlanc added up to a 2-0 first inning Brainerd lead.

Abby Rehberger tripled to right-center and scored on a wild pitch in the third inning.

Paige Olson, Kylie Abrahamson and Liz Ellens had sixth inning RBI singles, with another run crossing the plate on a wild pitch.

The loss snapped a seven-game winning streak for the 16-5 Prowlers, who had recorded four consecutive shutouts.

■ Tuesday, May 24 - Brainerd 13, Moorhead 0; Bemidji 11, Fergus Falls 0; Little Falls 3, Alexandria 2 (9 innings).

■ Wednesday, May 25 - Thief River Falls 3, Detroit Lakes 0.

■ Thursday, May 26 - Brainerd 8, Bemidji 1; Thief River Falls 10, Little Falls 0; Moorhead 4, Fergus Falls 3 (Fergus Falls eliminated); Alexandria 5, Detroit Lakes 2 (Detroit Lakes eliminated).

■ Monday, May 30 - Brainerd 7, Thief River Falls 0; Little Falls 10, Moorhead 5 (Moorhead eliminated); Bemidji 5, Alexandria 3 (Alexandria eliminated); Bemidji 10, Little Falls 0 (Little Falls eliminated).

■ Tuesday, May 31 - (at Brainerd) Thief River Falls vs. Bemidji 1 p.m.; (finals) Thief River Falls-Bemidji winner vs. Brainerd, 3 p.m.; second game, if needed, 5 p.m.

Prowlers shortstop Kjelsy Loeffler caught the throw from catcher Kindra Trontvet and was ready to apply the tag on Little Falls runner Jessie Olson before she reached the bag on a stolen base attempt during Thursday's North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball tournament game in Thief River Falls. Olson, hit by a pitch to open the fifth inning, was one of just two Flyers to reach base against Thief River Falls pitcher Megan Berg, who finished with a 10-0 six-inning no-hitter.

Jamie Hoglo was all smiles as she received a handshake from Thief River Falls head coach Matt Okeson while rounding the bases following her walk-off grand slam home run in the bottom of the sixth inning that capped the Prowlers' 10-0 Thursday North Sub-Section 8AAA softball tournament win over Little Falls at the Multi-Events Center. The Prowlers turned a 3-0 lead into a 10-run rule win with a final at-bat outburst. Third-seeded Thief River Falls and No. 1-seeded Brainerd were the final unbeaten clubs in the eight-team, double-elimination tournament. The North Sub-Section 8AAA winner and the South Sub-Section 8AAA representative will meet in a best-of-three championship series June 2 and 3.

Sartell is hosting 8AA boys, girls track meet

Section 8AA boys and girls high school track meet will be held Saturday, June 4, at Sartell.

Thief River Falls will have five entries in the boys' portion of the meet and three entries on the girls' side.

Prowlers advancing through North Sub-Section 8AA competition at Alexandria Thursday were Scott Rakozy, boys 200, 400 meters; Ryan Brummond, boys shot, discus; Aaron Langen, boys 100; Kathryn Walrath, girls 100, 200; and the girls 4x200 relay team of Walrath, Kayse Lee, Dana Ranum, Heather Keogh.

Section 8A tennis names individual, team winners

Team and individual portions of the 2005 Section 8A boys high school tennis tournament are being played in Park Rapids this week.

Park Rapids Area, Crookston, Perham and Thief River Falls were scheduled to compete in the team tournament Tuesday.

The defending champion Prowlers received a bye in the single round North Sub-Section 8A team tournament.

Individual tournament singles and doubles matches take place today (Wednesday).

All four Thief River Falls North Sub-Section 8A individual tournament entries advanced to the sectional tournament, including Justin Pyle and Jacob Engelstad in singles; Michael Forney-Cody Bottem and Joe Ihle-Jon Kays in doubles.

Telander selected regional manager

Paul Telander, a 21-year veteran of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Section of Wildlife, has accepted the regional wildlife manager position in the DNR Northwest Region.

Telander has spent the past two decades at the Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area, most of that time as the area supervisor. During his tenure there, he earned seven special achievement awards and two department-wide awards for his superior talents in fostering teamwork and forging partnerships.

"Paul is very well-prepared to take on the many challenges facing the region and the department at this time," said John Guenther, division director for Fish & Wildlife. "He will be a great addition to both the division and regional management teams."

Telander will be responsible for managing Section of Wildlife operations in all 23 counties north and west of Stevens, Pope, Douglas, Otter Tail, Wadena and Cass counties, north to the Canadian border and west to the Red River. He will also play a key role on the DNR northwest regional management team, helping deliver integrated resource conservation programs in the region.

"The DNR's Northwest Region has an incredible diversity of wildlife resources because it covers all four ecological provinces found in Minnesota-tallgrass prairie and aspen parklands, and broadleaf and mixed forests," said Telander. "People of northwestern Minnesota have a deep appreciation for this natural variety, which makes the job of the regional wildlife manager challenging and rewarding at the same time; challenging when disagreements emerge about how to best manage these resources; rewarding when we can find common ground in our concern for the resources."

Telander began his new role in the northwest regional office, located in Bemidji May 18. He replaced Acting Regional Wildlife Manager Gordy Forester, who was temporarily appointed to the post upon the retirement of the previous regional wildlife manager, Jim Breyen, in March.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

Greenbush Race Park called off its Saturday program due to wet weather.

It was the third straight week track officials were forced to delay their 2005 season opener.

Attempts will be made to get the 2005 season on track Saturday, June 4. Hot laps start at 7 p.m.

Franklin Middle School 2005 summer strength training program is set

Summer strength training program at Franklin Middle School will be offered June 7-Aug. 4.

Open to those who will be in grades 7 and 8 during the 2005-06 school year, the program will be in operation Tuesdays and Thursdays. Session I will begin at 8 a.m.; Session II 9 a.m.; and Session III 10 a.m.

Participation fee is $35. Registration deadline is June 7. Checks should be made payable to Thief River Falls weight room and presented, along with registration material to either Al Buhl or Todd Prickett, program supervisors.

For additional information, call Buhl at 681-5793 or Prickett at 681-5206.

Oklee football reunion will be held on July 23

Organizers issued a reminder recently that the Bobcat Football Reunion will be held Saturday, July 23, at the Oklee Hall.

The event is designed for those who were involved with the football program – players, coaches, managers, cheerleaders and fans – at Oklee High School from the 1950s through the 1990s.

Registration will be held from 3 to 4 p.m. Memorabilia, trophies and other pertinent information will be on display. It will be an informal affair, note organizers, although a brief program will be held at 5 p.m., followed by a supper and a dance.

No formal invitations have been sent. Those involved with the event are hoping word of mouth will get the information out to interested parties.

First run scored during a 10-0 Thief River Falls win over Little Falls in North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball tournament action Thursday came on a delayed double-steal when, on a first-and-third situation, Kjelsy Loeffler broke for home after the Flyers made a throw to second in an attempt to catch Brittni Johnson. Loeffler stepped around Little Falls catcher Kelly Molitor well before the return throw to the plate.

First place entry in Spring Walleye Classic...

TRF resident part of top team

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Thief River Falls resident Todd Prickett teamed up with Kurt Kainz of Fargo to take home first place honors in the 2005 North Star Spring Walleye Classic, headquartered at the Wigwam Resort on the mouth of the Rainy River (Lake of the Woods) on May 20 and 21.

A total of 41 two-person teams from three states and two Canadian provinces competed in the first annual walleye tournament. Each team was allowed to keep up to six walleye per day. All walleyes had to be between 15 and 19.5 inches in length. All fish under 15 inches and between 19.5 and 28 inches had to be released.

Prickett and Kainz claimed the $3,000 first place check with a two-day, 12-walleye catch total 26.16 pounds. The winning duo caught the maximum of six walleyes each day.

Prickett said he and Kainz caught the majority of their fish in the morning each day. On day one, the pair caught five walleyes before 11 a.m., while fishing in 24-29 feet of water. Trolling with Shad Raps, Prickett and Kainz caught their sixth walleye of day one at 4:20 p.m. Having caught their limit, they headed back to the dock about 45 minutes early to weigh in. Their day one total – 17.85 pounds.

"Going into day two, we had about a five pound lead and we were hoping to weigh six fish that day, being that only five full limits had been weighed the day before," Prickett said.

Day two started much like day one for Prickett and Kainz. They reeled in two fish over 26 inches to start the day. The victory would have been cemented however, due to tournament rules, both were automatically released. Prickett and Kainz caught their fifth and sixth fish of the day during the final 35 minutes of the tournament. The last two, a 17-inch and a 16-inch walleye, filled out the 2.6 pound winning margin.

"When we got back to the dock, we heard Doug Erickson and Kevin Rad had brought two eight-pounders to the scale, so that made things even more interesting," Prickett said. "We knew they had a big basket of fish, but as things turned out, they had only one other fish to go with the two big ones.

"We ended the two day event with a 2.65-pound advantage and were very fortunate to weigh six fish both days."

After the first day Prickett and Kainz held close to a five pound advantage over eventual fourth place finishers, Donald Hecht, Grand Forks, and Ronald Galstad, East Grand Forks, who caught four fish totalling 12.83 pounds. Hecht and Galstad managed to catch five walleyes on day two, but their second day catch was less than eight pounds, dropping them from second to fourth.

The second day's biggest catch total went to Doug Erickson of Pillager and Kevin Read of Brainerd, who caught three walleyes, totalling 17.3 pounds. The 17.3-pound catch catapulted Erickson and Read into second after the duo caught three fish on day one that totalled 6.21 pounds. Third place went to Tom Briggs of Baudette and Jerry Riege of Andover, eight walleyes, 20.94 pounds. Rounding out the top 10 were: Tom Stay and Steve Molberg, both of Baudette, 12-17.67; Rob Dorry of Warroad and Jeff Westman of East Grand Forks, 10-15.94; Mike Lindholm of Thief River Falls and Curt Quesnell of Newfolden, 9-15.05; Duane Hell of Minaki, Ontario, Canada and Arleen Sternat, 9-14.77; Sean Westman of Andover and Jamie Gowdy of Baudette, 11-14.27; and Brian Donner and Tony Havercamp, both of Ogema, 9-12.85.

TRF skater picked for Advanced 15 Festival

Tyler Aandal of Thief River Falls has been selected to attend the Minnesota Hockey Advanced 15 Summer Festival June 11-16 at St. Cloud State University.

The Festival features the state's top 102 players born in 1990, as chosen through a Minnesota Hockey selection process at the local, district and state levels.

There were more than 2,500 age-eligible players who were recommended for one of the 480 district-level tryout spots. From this group, 240 players representing a dozen 20-member teams participated in the annual Spring Festival held at the New Hope Ice Arenas April 23-24.

From that group, 102 players were picked to participate in the Summer Festival.

During the Summer Festival, players will be evaluated on and off the ice for the opportunity of being selected to attend the USA Hockey Select 15 Development Camp July 30-Aug. 5 at St. Cloud State.

Guest speakers from NCAA Division I schools and the Minnesota Wild will provide advice and encouragement during Festival activities.

Officials say that during the Festival, not only do the players hone their hockey skills, but they also participate in goal-setting, weight-lifting, dryland training, plyometrics, character building, academic counseling, anti-drug programs and are encouraged to be positive role models and productive citizens in their home communities.

Minnesota records its second highest deer harvest in '04

Minnesota hunters harvested more than 260,600 deer during 2004, the second highest deer harvest ever recorded, according to final numbers announced by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Firearms hunters harvested 230,500 deer while archery and muzzleloader hunters harvested 20,750 and 9,300 deer, respectively.

The record deer harvest of 290,000 was set in 2003.

"The harvest was close to what we predicted and on target in terms of making every effort to manage the herd at responsible levels," said Lou Cornicelli, DNR big game program coordinator.

Cornicelli credits high deer harvests in the past two years to high deer populations, abundant hunting opportunities and regulation changes that made it easier to obtain permits to harvest antlerless deer.

In 2003, regulations were changed to allow hunters to harvest antlerless deer in most of the state without applying for a permit. This past year, hunters were given the opportunity to harvest antlerless deer throughout their zone where bonus permits were authorized.

Given this year's mild winter weather in much of the state, DNR wildlife officials expect ample deer harvest opportunities for hunters again this fall. "We will continue to promote antlerless deer harvest as a population management tool," Cornicelli said.

Winter mortality is expected to be significant in an area north from Duluth to Warroad where deep snow cover lingered into March.

Transportation policy solutions?

From our own experiences, and with a few exceptions, we know that we can get to just about anyplace in Thief River Falls in under-10 minutes. National news media stories of the past few weeks, however, have focused on the growing gridlock on highways in the United States.

A CNN.com story used a Texas Transportation Institute's 2005 Urban Mobility Report, that stated "congestion delayed travelers 79 million more hours and wasted 69 million more gallons of fuel in 2003 than in 2002."

Failing to invest in the nation's highways is beginning to place a heavy burden on our economy. If trucks can't deliver merchandise, or business representatives cannot reach their destinations in time, business is lost. Traffic gridlock also affects the rate of fuel consumption. It is not only an economic issue that affects our economy, it is a safety issue, as well. Poor roads contribute to vehicle damage and traffic accidents resulting in deaths.

The answer may not be as easy as investing more money into our roads. In fact, some experts are arguing that we can't build enough roads to catch up with demand. And as statistics will support, refusing to build more roads doesn't seem to discourage demand, either. Of course, we know that the reality of the situation demands that more money be spent on improving roads, but government policy should also focus on gridlock and safety.

Policy can influence demand for travel alternatives, and influence businesses to offer their own solutions. It's time for Minnesota to take a more aggressive approach to solving its transportation problems. Developing a series of overriding policies would be a great place to start.

Community or state prison systems?

Several cities and communities in our region are considering expansions to their jail systems. Tougher penalties for methamphetamine use and sale and alcohol violations account for the vast majority of the demand for more jail space. Its having a tremendous impact on local budgets. But limitations on space for prisoners is not only a concern for local jurisdictions, it is also a concern for the State. How the state plans to address its space issues might be a concern for local governments.

According to a column written by Minnesota Commissioner of Corrections Joan Fabian for "Minnesota Counties," a publication of the Association of Minnesota Counties, the number of offenders entering Minnesota prisons has increased 45 percent. Her figures also show that the prison population in Minnesota will surpass 11,000 by 2010.

Fabian states, "There is no more room in our 8,500-bed system."

Fabian said the department is exhausting every option to acquire enough bed space for the growing number of offenders entering prison. This includes planning a 1,100-bed expansion at Faribault prison and "renting available bed space from county jails and a private prison in Appleton."

I don't know whether the state or taxpayers have even been given an opportunity to consider whether it is appropriate to house state prisoners with offenders who - for the purposes of this editorial - have committed less serious offenses. Is this really the best place for offenders committed to the state system? County facilities have been housing state offenders for years, but has anyone studied its impact on local economies, whether it provides petty criminals with an advanced degree in crime, whether the state is capable of providing case managers for all these inmates, whether they can provide the training for case workers and jailers, whether they can keep track of all of them located in small jails all across the state, or whether providing jail space for prisoners committed to the state system should be the responsibility of local government?

Consider this: According to Fabian, Minnesota ranks 49th in the nation for its incarceration rate. I found that was very interesting. But she added that it was because of its long history of community-based corrections. She also stated the following: "We lock up fewer offenders in prison than every state except Maine. Minnesota's correctional spending is also extremely low on the national scale - we rank 46th in per capita spending."

Some food for thought: Is state spending low because of community-based incarceration, or because the state has shifted the cost onto someone else? Are our incarceration rates low because of community-based incarceration, or because our penalties are less severe than other states?

Stumpf

Deeply concerned about funding for schools

While Sen. LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) welcomes Gov. Pawlenty's efforts to provide education resources in line with Senate funding, he is deeply concerned with continued shifting to higher local property tax burdens in the governor's plan.

"The good news is public education most likely will be adequately funded when the budget agreement is reached," Stumpf said. "Unfortunately, the governor's new plan has done nothing to curb anticipated school property tax hikes approaching 35 percent over the next two years. This added burden would hit our part of the state very hard."

Stumpf is chair of the Senate Education Finance Division. Earlier this month, his proposal to increase school funding 9 percent in the FY2006-07 biennium gained unanimous Senate support. Now, Pawlenty has proposed school funding similar to the Senate with $241 million in added revenue compared to his earlier proposal.

"In the Senate, we have taken the steps necessary to halt property tax hikes," Stumpf said. "Shifting burdens for education funding back onto local property taxes not only scraps education finance reform, but taxpayers in northwestern Minnesota will be adversely affected."

Stumpf also indicated that he is concerned about under-funding of early education programs. "We know that our investments in young children pay big dividends in the long run," Stumpf added.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Seifert: It's time to push for welfare reform

To the Editor:

It is with great concern that I inform Minnesotans about a recent report that I requested from the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS). Contained in the report is a statistical overview of how many people are moving into Minnesota and enrolling in various welfare programs.

In 2004, over 6,000 out-of-state or out-of-country recipients enrolled in these welfare programs: The Minnesota Family Investment Program (MFIP), the Diversionary Work Program (DWP) and Emergency Assistance (EA). The report also showed over 10,000 out-of-state recipients enrolling in Food Support programs and thousands more enrolling in state health assistance programs.

Minnesota is a small to mid-sized state. We certainly are generous in taking care of our fellow Minnesotans when they face needs, as we should. However, as the welfare budget continues to grow and state-subsidized health care budgets skyrocket, I have had many constituents ask just how many people are moving into our state and enrolling in these generous programs? The answer is clear: Thousands and thousands of people each year are flocking to Minnesota and enrolling welfare programs.

Should we blame individuals for such actions? Of course not. We need to blame the system and urge lawmakers to change the system. Minnesota is a magnet for welfare recipients. This is not a politically correct statement nor is it a false one. The DHS report shows (in order), people flocking in from Illinois, Wisconsin, California and Texas.

As the Legislature deals with skyrocketing costs in health care and welfare programs, perhaps it is time for Minnesotans to demand that we analyze these very generous programs and take action to care for Minnesotans in need. With thousands and thousands of people moving to our state and enrolling in welfare programs, I'd suggest that we cannot ignore fiscal reality. Our budget is in need of prudent management, and a state that exports job creators while importing welfare recipients will face fiscal consequences for years to come.

Call your lawmaker and demand that we reform our welfare system. The size of our state and constraints of our limited budget dictate that the Legislature must act sooner or later.

Sincerely,
Rep. Marty Seifert
House Majority Whip from Marshall

Graduates: What do 50 years tell us?

(Editor's note: The following story, entitled "Fifty Years Later," provides readers - hopefully some high school graduates - with some advice we feel will help them with their future plans. At the end of the story, I'll tell you the "rest of the story.")

by Marcia Ford Hill

Wasn't it only yesterday that we orange and black Tigers proudly donned that cap and gown knowing we were going out to tackle the world and make a difference? Oh, the grandiose visions that drove us to learn, discover, love, create and conquer. If we crouched like a tiger and jumped at the right time, the world was ours for the taking.

The inevitable bumps and hitches along the road happened but we dug our way out and continued the climb. With some, the corporate ladder beckoned, for some, the perfect family, others pursued education, and some a life of fun and laughter. No choice was wrong - just choice. Sometimes the path was covered with rocks and debris but we fought on or changed the course. Either way, in 50 years, we put on a lot of mileage.

Lessons we learned along the way:

When the love of our lives is no longer, the world does not end. If another does not materialize, we move on to something else. Forgiveness is a useful tool because it helps wounded hearts heal.

Our children are of us but are not us. No matter how much we guide, direct or plead, they will lead their own lives and we love them anyway.

Material possessions are fleeting and only good for the moment. The best possessions are friends.

A failed business often leads to a better opportunity, and failed health turns goals in another direction.

What we know today:

In weakness, we draw strength. Our body hurts somewhere all the time - and if it doesn't hurt, it itches.

We've learned to use the complicated technology of cell phones and computers - even if the grandchildren had to show us the difference between "in" box and "out" box and how to "google" someone.

We know everyone makes a difference because of how much we miss those who are longer here. That empty space never goes away.

Happiness may be as elusive as a tiger but it returns again just as day turns to night. The past, its joys, victories and disappointments will always be there and we cannot dwell on only one.

We have as much strength today to face adversity as we had then to tackle the world of wonderful possibilities.

We can laugh at our own foibles such as standing in the middle of the stairs and saying, "Was I going up or coming down?"

At a social event, we might look around and say, "Where is the wrinkled crowd?" then point a finger at ourselves.

Laughter is the best medicine because we never know what manner of tiger lurks around the next corner.

("The rest of the story": This story was directed to high school graduates in Huron, S.D., home of the Huron Tigers, where the author, Marcia Ford Hill, attended school. The author of this story has published two books, was a teacher, and raised four boys, including me. Children - graduates - listen to your parents. Although I know I have little chance of success with this plea, as at your age I rarely listened my parents either, the knowledge shared in this story is priceless.

What the filibuster compromise means to us

by Sen. Mark Dayton

Recently, seven Republican and seven Democratic Senators, acting independently, reached their own agreement to prevent the so-called "nuclear option"— a change in Senate rules that would prevent filibusters, endless debates on the Senate floor to prevent votes on judicial nominees.

The issue underlying the agreement is a critical one: how will the expected Supreme Court vacancies be filled? The agreement is a good faith effort to promote cooperation and preserve Constitutional checks and balances in the Senate. It also seeks to encourage more consultation between the president and the Senate on nominees. Should this fragile agreement hold, it is hoped that [illegible] partisan rivalry on [illegible] bipartisan agreement was more of a surrender than a compromise. The Democratic senators preserved the right to filibuster judicial nominees by promising not to do it, except under "extraordinary circumstances." The Republican senators agreed not to change Senate Rules, but only if the Democrats refrain from filibustering under any other circumstances. Thus, their agreement effectively restricted the use of a filibuster to block judicial nominations. Whether this is a good or bad result depends upon whether you believe those nominees should become federal judges.

Most Republican senators have supported all of President Bush's judicial nominations and have argued that the Constitution requires all of them to receive "up or down" votes by the full Senate. They did not support this principle, however, when Bill Clinton was president. [illegible] his judicial nominees from ever receiving votes by the full Senate.

The best feature of the 14 senators' agreement is that they unanimously urged the president to consult with senators from both parties before selecting his nominees for lifetime appointments as federal judges. The Constitution calls for "the advice and consent of the Senate" in confirming presidential nominations. If this president or any president would genuinely consult with senators from both parties, his or her nominees would be far more easily confirmed.

Perhaps the best reason for preserving the filibuster option is that a nominee needs the support of 60 rather than 51 senators to be confirmed (since 60 senators must vote to end a filibuster). That usually requires a few votes from senators of the minority party. Presidents who need only 51 senators of their own party to confirm their nominees make far more partisan and ideologically extreme choices, and most presidents will be pressured by their activist supporters to do so. Needing support from senators of the other party helps ensure that nominees are closer to the moderate center than either the far left or far right of American society. That moderation is especially important for federal judges, who receive lifetime appointments and who are supposed to be independent of both the president and the Congress.

Again, as the Senate is almost certain to consider nominees for the U.S. Supreme Court in the near future, the Constitutional checks and balances in the Senate will be more critical than ever.

This agreement could easily unravel. That's why I would urge my fellow Minnesotans to get involved by letting your senators know how important it is to confirm nominees who can be fair and who can refrain from using their ideologies to legislate from the bench.

News Items

"The small boy will be very much in evidence now that school has closed.

"A forest fire near Blackduck has been making things interesting for that village this week.

"Mike Anderson was around with cigars and one of those unwashable smiles last Sunday announcing the arrival of a new boy at his house.

"The baseball game here last Sunday between the kid nine of Red Lake Falls and the youngsters of this place resulted in a victory for the home boys, the score being: St. Hilaire, 26; Red Lake Falls, 13.

"Hokan A. Johnson has discontinued his saloon business at Wylie and has formed a partnership with John J. Soll. The new firm is both popular and should make a strong team. Other parties are figuring on the Wylie business and it is probable that they will open there some time this month.

"The sawmill is doing good work these days and a large amount of lumber is being cut.

"They have a log famine down at Crookston and the big sawmill has shut down until the drive comes through. The delay will only be for a few days.

"Dread uncertainty still hangs like a pall of gloom over that nice little brick building on the corner, as Judge Watts has not yet handed down a decision in the tax dodging cases. This suspense is almost unbearable. What if the court says those taxes must be paid? It would be sad, indeed.

"A party of traveling men back from the Rainy River country report that things up north are generally overboomed and that all the property is in the hands of speculators; town lots on the outskirts of town, with 25 feet frontage, are held at $300 apiece. Living is high, eggs selling at 60 cents a dozen or 5 cents apiece, butter 50 cents a pound, oats 70 cents a bushel. Common board is $7.00 a week, day laborers are paid $2 and $2.25 a day and everything in like proportion. The town has a population of about 600 and all the appearance of a frontier village."

We Will Celebrate
St. Hilaire Will Celebrate the Glorious Fourth of July in Old Fashioned Style

Work Commenced
A Liberal Amount Raised and Committees Appointed to Prepare Celebration

"The meeting of the citizens at the village hall last Monday evening to determine whether St. Hilaire should celebrate the Fourth this year was well attended. J. B. O'Brien was chosen chairman and O. F. Post, secretary.

"The sentiment was unanimous in favor of a celebration and Leonard Holmes, Charles Fellman and W. A. Arthur were chosen as a finance committee to canvas the town and report to the adjourned meeting on Wednesday evening. This committee made a very favorable report at the meeting Wednesday evening and it was decided to at once make preparations for the celebration. Beyond the fact that there will be ample funds, little can be said before the committees get at work. It can be safely stated that the celebration will be larger and better than ever before attempted. The following committees have been appointed: Finance: Messrs. Holmes, Arthur, Fellman; Arrangements: O'Brien, Post, Arthur, Holmes, Fellman; Baseball and Transportation: Ives, Iitner, Martin Hoff; Music and Decorations: Lang, Collins, Nelson; Sports: Holmes, Ives, Post; Printing: Soll, C. Johnson, M. L. Hanson; Speakers and Program: O'Brien, Nelson, Cummings; Fireworks: Duntley, Wilson, Arthur; President of the Day: J. B. O'Brien; Marshal of the Day: Christ Hall.

"The bowery will be in charge of the Fire department."

Schools Close for the Summer

"The village schools closed yesterday after a very successful year's work. The enrollment was the largest in the history of the district, being 280 pupils. The average daily attendance was 178 and the average number of days each pupil attended was 115.

"The work throughout the year has been progressive; the teachers and pupils have labored in harmony and, taking all matters into consideration, this has been a year of good results.

"The crowded condition of the rooms makes it necessary to put in a system of heating and ventilation which is to be installed this summer. The following teachers are hired for next year: J. B. O'Brien, principal; Ottila Westlund, 6th and 7th grades; Dorothy Pettengill, 4th and 5th grades; Catherine Pirath, 2nd and 3rd grades; Hulda C. Gigstad, 1st grade; and Mabel Hannay, primary."

New Mail Route

"The post office department is advertising for bids for carrying the mail six times a week between Red Lake Falls and Dorothy by way of Wylie, mail to leave Dorothy at 6 a.m. daily except Sunday, arriving at Red Lake Falls at 11 a.m. and leaving on the return trip at 12, service to commence on July 1st. This without doubt means that the Great Northern will not run regular trains to Wylie after that date and the freight train which now carries the mail will stop going there or make irregular trips."

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • JUNE 1, 1955

Prohibition To Be Voted On Here July 11; Petitions Signed By 1,901

"A special election to vote on the question of whether or not to restore prohibition will be held in Pennington county on Monday, July 11, it was announced late last week by County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr. The auditor's action in ordering the election followed the filing in his office Thursday of petitions totaling more than 120 pages and bearing the signatures of 1,901 persons designated as residents of this county.

"The petitions were submitted by Mrs. Mildred Westacott, district president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU), and Lloyd Crown, and had been circulated throughout the county by members of the WCTU and the Pennington County Social Action association. Each page of signatures bore the acknowledgement of a notary public.

"Rodekuhr explained that the law requires the county auditor to order such an election on petition of 25 per cent of the number of voters who voted for a candidate for governor at the last general election. In the present case, a minimum of 1,253 signers is required, while the number obtained is half again as large.

"The law also stipulates that the election should be held not less than forty, nor more than fifty, days after the date the petition was filed.

"The sale of liquor has been legal in Pennington county since an election was held June 9, 1947, resulting in 2,784 votes in favor of the sale and 2,145 opposed."

1st, 2nd Graders Today Getting Polio Shots

"The Northwestern hospital medical staff last week called a temporary halt to the giving of the Salk polio vaccine to local first and second graders, because of a lack of first-hand information from the Minnesota state board of health and the National Polio foundation, and due to the statement released by the surgeon general, which reads as follows:

"Because of the existence of individuals who may have been infected with poliomyelitis virus prior to vaccination, beginning a course of primary vaccination in areas and during periods of high prevalence, should be undertaken only after careful evaluation of all the circumstances in the particular episode.'

"Now, however, after direct request to the state board of health, said Dr. Dan Greene, city health officer, 'the local medical society has received information which assures us that we can proceed with the vaccinations without undue apprehension.'

"The first and second graders from the schools of St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls, and the Pennington county country schools, will receive vaccinations today, June 1, and June 15 at 9:00 a.m. in the city auditorium in Thief River Falls."

Governor Freeman To Dedicate National Guard Armory Monday

"Formal dedication exercises for the Thief River Falls armory will be held Monday evening, June 6, with Governor Orville Freeman scheduled to deliver the principal address. The program will start at 8:30 o'clock. The dedication will be preceded by a dinner at St. Bernard's church parlor starting at 6:00 o'clock.

"Company F, the Thief River Falls unit of the Minnesota National Guard, was organized early in 1947 and on January 16, 1951, was called into federal service. The building of the armory was a part of an expanded National Guard program adopted following the fighting in Korea and Company F now has 74 officers and men.

"Following the dedication exercises Monday night, there will be a free dedication dance at the armory with Bob Sjulstad and his orchestra providing the music."

Bemidji Crew To Stage Fish Fry At Elks Convention

"An enjoyable feature of the Minnesota State Elks association convention in this city June 9 to 12, will be the staging for the delegates of a fish fry in the Riverside [illegible] park Friday evening, June 10 at 6:30. The fish will be prepared by the famous Bemidji fish fry crew under the direction of Walter [illegible], past president of the state association and retired Bemidji [illegible]

The New Game Law

"One of the provisions of the new game law passed by the legislature last winter will affect local sportsmen as they do considerable hunting in Marshall county. This is the restriction regarding the granting of licenses. Hereafter a hunter can kill birds in his own county without taking out a license, but if he wants to hunt in some other county, he will have to take out a license at a cost of $1. This arrangement permits farmers to hunt around their own farms without taking out a license."

Homesteader Living Fifteen Miles North of Fosston Finds Bones

"Fosston has a mastodon skeleton, the head of which is some three and one-half feet in length and the teeth four inches in length.

"A skeleton was dug up by a farmer fifteen miles north of that place. It was found at a depth of twelve and one-half feet and was a very large one. Though badly decomposed, its general form and size could be clearly made out. The head itself extended from corner to corner of the well and which is about three feet square. The teeth are well preserved and the largest ones are between three and four inches in length, occurring in groups of three or four. The general character of the country where the skeleton was found is hilly. The sub-soil in the locality is sand and gravel, the particular stratum surrounding the skeleton being a black loam.

"Various opinions are current as to the character of the skeleton, but the best informed persons who have seen the bones incline to the view that they are of a mastodon. Dr. McKinnon of that place has in his possession some of the best preserved bones."

It Will Be a Big One
Dobner Brothers and James Meehan to Erect a Large Building South of News Office

"Work was commenced last week on what will be the largest business block in Thief River Falls. C. L. Dobner, H. G. Dobner and James Meehan Jr. are to build a two-story cement block building on the corner of Main avenue and Second street, just south of the News office. The building will be in the shape of an L and will have a frontage of 50 feet on Main avenue and 140 feet on Second street. The front of the building will be 50 feet in width and the rear, 65 feet.

"The ground floor will contain room for four stores, a small office and the First State Bank, which will occupy the corner of Main avenue and Second street. Three of the stores and the small office room will front on Second street, two of the stores being 25 by 65 feet and one 25 by 50. One store will front on Main avenue and will be 25 by 65.

"The second story will contain several offices, and it may be decided to finish up a portion of this for a hall for lodge room purposes, although nothing definite is yet known as regards this. A basement will be built under the entire building.

"Architect Bert D. Keck of Crookston is drawing the plans for the building and it will be one of beauty as well as substantial. The owners hope to have it completed inside of sixty days and a large crew of men will be put to work upon the job." [This building was at the northeast corner of Main and Second, and burned down a few years ago.]

Comes Up on Monday
County Commissioners to Consider the County Seat Removal Petition

"Next Monday the county commissioners of Red Lake county meet at Red Lake Falls and examine the petition for the removal of the county seat. It is not considered at all probable that an election will be called at this meeting, as Red Lake Falls will without a doubt take the matter into the courts, and thus delay action for several months or a year.

"Thief River Falls will be represented before the board by Attorney A. A. Miller of Crookston and Ira C. Richardson of this city. Quite a number of other citizens will go down and watch the proceedings before the board."

A Hot Meeting
Settlers in New Town of Clover Leaf Discuss the Buying of a Road Grader

"The newly elected officers of the town of Clover Leaf met at the residence of Joseph DuChamp last Saturday evening and qualified. The first business to be discussed was the purchase of a grader and was the cause of dividing the newly organized township into two factions.

"Joseph DuChamp, who for years, ruled Numedal Township with an Iron Hand, espoused the cause of purchasing the grader in long and convincing arguments. His eloquence, however, did not have the desired effect upon some of the sturdy settlers of the town, and after Joe had poured forth all the arguments that he could think of between the hours of 7 o'clock Saturday evening and 5 o'clock Sunday morning, he grew impatient. He ejected two of his most obdurate listeners from his audience by force, and the remaining part of his audience went home in a peaceful manner. The grader has not yet been bought and a special election may be held."

High School Notes
Flora McNiven, Editor

"The jury in the case of Tom Lonson, who was brought before a court from the Civic class, disagreed. Tom was accused of forgery in the third degree. The forgery consisted of changing some standings in the record books. Miss Irene Caldwell was prosecuting attorney; Miss Gertrude Meehan, sheriff; Miss Marie Burgess, judge; Miss Olga Kretzschmar, clerk; and Miss Flora McNiven, attorney for the defense. The jury was out fifteen minutes and their verdict was 'two say guilty and ten say not guilty'. Joseph Weeks was foreman of the jury. The case will probably be resumed when court convenes next fall."

Surprise Party

"The sixteenth birthday anniversary of Miss Ruth Bredeson was the incentive for the surprise party given by a group of friends in her honor at her home Saturday evening. Games and a social time were enjoyed during the evening and lunch was served at 11 o'clock by the self-invited guests. Many lovely gifts were presented to the honor guest by her friends. Those present were Ethel Richards, Helen Wassgren, Mary Warner, Elinor Bottelson, Adeline Lindberg, Rhodella Angell, Lucille Bowers, Ruth Cronkhite, Marion Erickson, Stella Ringstrom, Helen Hagen, and Ruth Bredeson."

Theatre Party

"Last Tuesday evening a theatre party was given by the sales ladies of the Oen Mercantile company after which they were socially entertained at the home of Mrs. H. M. Olson. Mrs. Earl Jensen of St. Hilaire was an out of town guest."

St. John's Lutheran Church

"Confirmation class meets Saturday at 10 at the church."

High School Progress
Class of '30 Changes Custom of Senior Day

"The Seniors changed the customs of Senior Day this year by failing to give a program at the High School. The class of '30 decided that as it was a Senior Day and that alone, they would merely decorate the High School leaving the lower classmen to their studies.

"The Seniors spent part of the morning parading around town and then they journeyed to Red Lake Falls, where they spent the rest of the day picnicking."

Red Lake Falls Park is Scene of Class Picnics

"This being the last week of school, the three upper classes have celebrated by staging class picnics. Red Lake Falls was the scene of all three, the Seniors going on Wednesday, Juniors on Friday and Sophomores on Monday.

"The eats were provided by members of the classes and lunch was made possible by a combined donation. As usual it consisted of cake, coffee, sandwiches, pickles, and ice cream."

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota today is just what we can expect for the 16th of may, warming and sunshine. Over 2 weeks, I have been covering and uncovering all of my perennial plants every evening and morning. The warm weather we had the first part of April, awakened them and they just came up and developed real fast. Especially the bleeding heart which is about 6 inches taller than the tallest garbage cans that I placed over the peonies on either side of it to hold up the heavy quilt that I stretched over it to keep it from freezing. When I uncovered them all about noon on Sunday, the thermometer was 50 degrees and it didn't go below 40 since then. It really feels like the middle of May toady and I hope I can begin to paint the foundations this week so they will be nice for Memorial Day. The flower trays that I want to put on the graves are in full bloom now. I planted them a couple weeks ago.

There is something wonderful about summer approaching, giving us energy or at least an expectation of more of it to be able to do all that we have thought of during this strange winter. Many of my friends and relatives were deceased. In fact, I felt compelled to attend five funerals in one week, two in one day. That was very unusual for me who only attends if I'm obligated to do so. Not even my own, unless they carry me to it. I'm so thankful for this nice weather and am just excited to go outdoors and get with the program.

Elsie Lefrooth, who will be having her 94th birthday in just another month, is busy fixing everything from zippers to patching holes on sleeves and knees of clothes or "making them smaller or letting them out" for her friends. She's always busy except when Pearl and I come over to "Aggravate" her which happens right along. But you had better believe, she's not the loser very often. Perhaps, she practices when she's alone. Chris Carrico visited Elsie on Saturday to check on how she could have her porch redone so the water wouldn't collect by her door and form ice in the winter.

Shirley Lefrooth and Marcadene Nelson visited Elsie Lefrooth on Thursday.

A thrush of a kind that I haven't seen around her before, just now seems to be looking over the hedge to see if it would make for a good nesting place. Smaller birds have already taken most places there. It's so nice to see how may are there and listen to their twitter.

Vance and Kelly Lefrooth gave a birthday party for their daughter, Jessica, who became a teenager, on Sunday. Of course, her grandmother Judy Kleinvachter was there and many visitors also. The other guests were Grandpa Vance and Grandma Adrienne Lefrooth, Brad and Dawn Kasprowicz, Brandon and Sara Kasprowicz, Ben, Jacob and Jeremy Kasprowicz, Alan, Joan and Austin Gerhls, Margaret, Alaura and Sara Donaldson, Jim Fredricks and June Kasprowicz. Now that was a house full. Happy birthday and welcome to the "Teens"!

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota refuses to settle down and get in step with the calendar. We used to think if we didn't have the garden planted by the first of May, to just forget it, it wouldn't amount to anything before the frost would be around to kill it. I don't know how to get this typewriter to quit drawing a line under each letter and now it quit? I hope I will be able to finish this article without further trouble. I reset it according to the book. This is a very good machine, thanks to Tony Dorn in TRF, but it's my inability to put my fingers on the correct keys. There are so many that if I just happen to bump one of them that what I want to write is not what happens.

I hung my first tomato plant on my clothes line on Friday evening, upside down! It already has two bunches of blossoms on it, but it looks like it is uncomfortable hanging upside down and is craning around and trying to look up to the sky. It's really an experiment and I hope to plant the purple prudence and the Brandywine tomatoes the usual way this week. We collected almost two inches of rain over the weekend and that may make a difference in the amount to water it.

MSCA announces award recipients

The Minnesota School Counselors Association (MSCA) has announced Dr. Orley Gunderson has received its 2005 Leadership Award and Rep. Bernie Lieder has received its 2005 Legislator of the Year Award.

Dr. Orley Gunderson

Gunderson, president of Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC), is retiring this year. He is the longest serving president of a two-year college in the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system.

Gunderson received his plaque at the annual awards dinner May 2 at the Kelly Inn – St. Cloud Convention Center.

Dr. Orley Gunderson

"Dr. Gunderson is a man of character, and he will be missed for his energy and enthusiasm for moving his college into the future," said Bill Stock, counselor at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls. "He will continue to be a positive influence in whatever circles, programs or activities he chooses to stay involved in."

"His leadership and legislative prowess has brought more than $35 million in government bonding funds, grants and gifts to the college," said Eugene Klinke, NCTC director of enrollment management. "Noteworthy among those funds were the $10 million in funds to develop and expand an aviation campus with one of the nation's top aviation maintenance technology programs. In 1995, Dr. Gunderson led the efforts to obtain $5 million in state and private funds to construct the Multi-Events Center Athletic Complex. From 1995 to 2002, Dr. Gunderson worked to acquire approximately $15 million of state funds to consolidate the Thief River Falls-based technical and community colleges into one physical presence. In 2003, he worked with the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities Chancellor James H. McCormick to build a consolidated college with the campus of East Grand Forks.

"In 1992, Dr. Gunderson won the Vision and Leadership Award from Jobs Incorporated for his tireless effort in forging partnerships between economic development and education. In 1991, he received the Torch and Shield Award for Distinguished Service to Higher Education from the University of Minnesota – Crookston. During his tenure, Dr. Gunderson developed and implemented plans to grow 'his' college's enrollment from 500 students to more than 4,000 at the two campuses."

Rep. Bernie Lieder

Lieder is in his 11th term for northwestern Minnesota. Although he serves on the Transportation Finance Committee, he is also considered a champion in education. Lieder worked the majority of his career as an engineer, which makes him very knowledgeable as a "bridge-builder" by profession and nature.

Lieder received his plaque at the Capitol on May 3. He was unable to attend the dinner May 2 in St. Cloud because he had to be a voice on the Transportation Finance Committee.

Rep. Bernie Lieder

"Bernie can best be described as unassuming, hard working, genuine, honest, industrious, intelligent, compassionate, motivated, a networker, polite and a person with real integrity," said Laurie Wilson, U of M – Crookston counselor. "He has been reelected to his 11th term because he is concerned first and foremost about serving his constituency and using government to contribute for the public good. As far as education goes, Bernie has facilitated bond issues, addressing per pupil unit funding formulas, supporting special education and voluntary full-day kindergarten opportunities, all affirming his enduring commitment to education."

"It is common knowledge that our rural schools have experienced considerable financial difficulty over many years, and as part of the majority in the Minnesota House, Representative Lieder was always vocal in supporting quality education opportunities in this community," said Susan Mills, executive director of Tri-County Community Corrections.

Other recommendations came from Stock, teachers Kim and Dave Davidson from the Crookston School District and Kathryn Bakken-Dryden from Red River Valley Juvenile Center.

Appendix VI
Residential Anti-displacement and Relocation Assistance Plan Under Section 104(d) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 as Amended

A. The City of Thief River Falls will replace all occupied and vacant occupiable low/moderate-income dwelling units demolished or converted to a use other than as low/moderate-income housing in connection with an activity assisted with funds provided under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, as described in 24 CFR, Part 570.606 and 24 CFR, Part 42.

All replacement housing will be provided within three years after the commencement of the demolition or conversion. Before entering into a contract committing the City to provide funds for an activity that will directly result in such demolition or conversion, the City will make public and submit to the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development the following information in writing:

1. A description of the proposed assisted activity;
2. The location on a map and number of dwelling units by size (number of bedrooms) that will be demolished or converted to a use other than as low/moderate-income dwelling units as a direct result of the assisted activities;
3. A time schedule for the commencement and completion of the demolition or conversions;
4. The location on a map and the number of dwelling units by size (number of bedrooms) that will be provided as replacement dwelling units. If such data are not available at the time of the general submission, the City will identify the general location on an area map and the approximate number of dwelling units by size and provide information identifying the specific location and number of dwelling units by size as soon as it is available;
5. The source of funding and a time schedule for the provision of replacement dwelling units;
6. The basis for concluding that each replacement dwelling unit will remain a low/moderate-income dwelling unit for at least 10 years from the date of initial occupancy.
7. Information demonstrating that any proposed replacement of dwelling units with smaller dwelling units (e.g., a 2-bedroom unit with two 1-bedroom units) is consistent with the housing needs of low and moderate-income households in the jurisdiction.

The (jurisdiction) may request the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development to recommend that the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approve an exception to required replacement housing if there is an adequate local supply of vacant low/moderate-income dwelling units in standard condition. Exceptions will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis as described in 24 CFR, Part 570.488(c)(1)(B).

B. The (jurisdiction) will provide relocation assistance, as described in 24 CFR, Part 570.488(c)(2), to any lower-income person displaced by the demolition of any dwelling unit or the conversion of a low/moderate-income dwelling unit to another use in connection with an assisted activity.

C. Consistent with the goals and objectives of activities assisted under the Act, the [jurisdiction] will take the following steps to minimize the displacement of persons from their homes:

1. Providing information and referral services to individuals who may be required to temporarily leave their homes.
2. Planning utility shut-offs for times most convenient to residents.
3. Schedule utility construction and equipment storage to be completed as quickly as possible and at times most convenient to residents

D. Definitions for the purposes of this plan are as follows:

A "low/moderate-income dwelling unit" is a unit with a market rental, including utility costs, that does not exceed the applicable fair market rent for existing housing and moderate rehabilitation, as established under the Section 8 existing housing program.

A "vacant occupiable dwelling unit" is a vacant unit that is in standard condition; or in substandard condition, suitable for rehabilitation; or in dilapidated condition and occupied less than three months from the date of the grantee agreement.

A "occupiable dwelling unit" is a unit that is in standard condition or has been raised to a standard condition from a substandard condition, suitable for rehabilitation.

A "standard condition dwelling unit" is a well-built unit with adequate space for persons living there. There are no major defects in the structure and only minor maintenance is required. Such dwelling will have the following characteristics: reliable roofs, sound walls and foundations, adequate and stable floors, walls and ceilings, surfaces and woodwork that are not seriously damaged nor have paint deterioration, sound windows and doors, adequate heating, plumbing, and electrical systems which don't present safety hazards, adequate insulation for local climatic conditions and is in compliance with local building and housing codes.

A "substandard condition dwelling unit suitable for rehabilitation" will show a lot of deferred maintenance with permanent damage to structural items. Conditions contributing to substandard dwelling include but are not limited to sagging, cracked roofing or leaking roofs, walls, foundations, ceilings, floors, doors, and windows, deteriorated surfaces and woodwork, [illegible] heating, plumbing, or electrical systems which present safety hazards or inadequate insulation. The cost of rehabilitating the unit to a standard condition should not exceed the market value of the dwelling.

Combined Notice
Finding of No Significant Impact and Notice of Intent to Request Release of Funds
Small Cities Development Program
State of Minnesota

May 24, 2005

City of Thief River Falls
405 3rd Street E
Thief River Falls, MN 56701
218-681-2943

TO ALL INTERESTED PARTIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

The purpose of this notice is to identify two separate but related actions to be taken by the City of Thief River Falls.

The above-named local unit of government proposes to request the Business and Community Development Division, Small Cities Development Program, Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, to release Federal funds (see Notice of Intent to request Release of Funds, below) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended (PL 98-181) for the following project:

The purpose of the City of Thief River Falls' Housing Rehab and Rental Rehab Program is to provide assistance to eligible applicants for the rehabilitation of owner-occupied and residential rental units in the target area of Thief River Falls. The "Target Area" is an area between 3rd Street & Nora Street on Conley, St. Paul, and Markley Avenues.

Finding of No Significant Impact

It has been determined such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and the above-named local unit of government has decided not to prepare an environmental impact statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

The reasons not to prepare such statement are as follows:

1) The activities will not affect any known local, state, or national historic resources presently listed or potentially eligible for listing in the National Register of Historical Places.

2) The target area is not located in the 100-year floodplain.

3) Some increase in noise, dust or other nuisance levels may occur during rehabilitation, however, such disturbances will be temporary and will cease on the completion of the activities which cause them.

4) The impact on public health and safety will be beneficial.

5) The positive impacts of the proposed activities outweigh any negative impacts.

An Environmental Review Record respecting this project has been made by the above-named local unit of government that documents the environmental review of the project and fully sets forth the reasons why such statement is not required. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request at the Thief River Falls City Clerk's Office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

No further environmental review of this project is to be conducted before the request for release of federal funds.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the above-named local unit of government to the office of the undersigned on or before June 16, 2005. All comments received will be considered and the local unit of government named above will not request the release of federal funds or take any administrative action on this project before the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Notice of Intent to Request Release of Funds

On or about June 17, 2005 the City of Thief River Falls will request the Business and Community Development Division, Small Cities Development Program, Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended (PL 98-181) for the project described above.

The City of Thief River Falls will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the Business and Community Development Division (BCD) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The above-named local unit of government is certifying to BCD that the City of Thief River Falls and Dale Wennberg in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Thief River Falls may use Block Grant funds and BCD and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objections to State Release of Funds

BCD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the above certification only for one of the following reasons: (a) that the certification was not executed by the certifying officer or other officer of the grantee approved by BCD; or (b) that City's Environmental Review Record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR, Part 58) and may be addressed to Business and Community Development Division, Small Cities Development Program, Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, 500 Metro Square, 121 7th Place East, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101-2146.

Objections to the release of funds for reasons other than those stated above will not be considered by BCD. No objections received after July 5, 2005 will be considered by BCD.

Mayor Dale Wennberg

Wave goodbye to pageant?

Chamber decides to drop Thief River Falls Scholarship Pageant

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

A 60-year tradition is coming to an end this year. The Miss Thief River Falls Pageant will not be held this year, and there doesn't appear to be anyone willing to host it next year.

"There will not be a pageant this year," said Julie Olson, Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce president. "We haven't found an organization to take it over."

For about 12 years, the Chamber has sponsored the pageant, which was previously sponsored by the Jaycees. The Chamber is the only Chamber in the state that organizes a local pageant. Olson noted the pageant may be held next year if an organization decides to sponsor it.

Mya Zutz, who chaired the pageant last year and co-chaired it in 2003, hopes an organization comes forward to sponsor the pageant.

"I'm totally disappointed because I had so much passion for it," said Zutz. "I would do it in a heartbeat if I wouldn't be doing it by myself."

Zutz, along with other committee members, was notified by letter about the Chamber's decision in October to drop the pageant, which would have celebrated its 60th year in 2005. That letter was apparently sent after the Chamber held a strategic planning meeting.

The Chamber felt the pageant didn't meet the mission of the Chamber, Olson said.

After serving as a pageant volunteer for seven years, Zutz was frustrated that she was not invited to the meeting where that decision was made. Zutz added that an invitation to the meeting would have shown her that her volunteerism "meant something" to the Chamber.

The current Miss Thief River Falls, Sarah Zak, noted she doesn't understand how the pageant does not meet the Chamber's mission. She said the Chamber's mission

Counting mosquitoes

On Friday, mosquito counts found an average of about 40 adult female mosquitoes in Thief River Falls, noted City Forester Myles Olson. City employees spray for mosquitoes when those counts are 100 or more and weather conditions are favorable. Favorable weather conditions for mosquito fogging include wind speeds of less than 10 miles per hour and a temperature of 58° Fahrenheit or above.

TRF Community Arts Council presents Disney's "Beauty and the Beast"

Thief River Falls Community Arts Council will present Disney's Beauty and the Beast 7 p.m. June 14-18 and at 2 p.m. June 19 at the Northland Community and Technical College Theater. Reserved seating tickets are now on sale at Kezar Music.

The Council is proud to offer this family musical fairytale as its opening show for the 2005 summer season and is offering a unique experience for groups who purchase 20 tickets or more for a performance night and who notify director Heidi Hoks. The unique is a Backstage Pass. The Backstage Pass is an after-show program that talks about some of the things that went into making the Arts Council's production. A tour of the backstage area and an up-close look at costuming, lighting and set pieces will be some of the highlights. Why do such a thing on this particular production? Because of the work that went into the technical aspects of this show.

The musical version of Disney's Beauty and the Beast is a show that opened on Broadway on April 18, 1994. Because so many people had seen and loved the animated version, it was necessary to produce a Broadway musical that was as enchanting as the animated movie. That involved a huge number of special effects and unique costuming, lighting, set and makeup designs. Producing this musical on a local level, even in a scaled down version, became a huge challenge – and an exciting opportunity for a number of members of the community, according to Hoks.

The Prologue or introduction to the play, sets up the storyline. To make it seem like a fairytale that is being read to the audience, the Art Council show's music director Linda Samuelson pre-recorded the 12 piece orchestra in the college

Relay For Life...

Shari Olson shares her cancer journey

by David Hill
Editor

Shari Olson strongly believes life is a journey; and, her journey just happens to involve cancer and adoption.

Shari had just quit her job at United Tribes Technical College in Bismarck, N.D., and had moved to Thief River Falls where her husband, Rick Nikunen, had a job at Northland Community and Technical College. She recalls that her last day was May 15, 1994, and she had a scheduled doctor's appointment. On June 9, she received a call from her doctor in Grand Forks, N.D., and was told to sit down. She had cancer - endometrial cancer, which affects the lining of the uterus - and they had scheduled an appointment for her the next day with a specialist at the University of Minnesota.

All sorts of things go through your mind, said Shari: life and death, specifically. But Shari said she'd never had surgery or even visited the emergency room of a hospital before, so the prospect of being cut open and having someone conducting exploratory surgery on her was, admittedly, scary.

But Shari said her doctor, Dr. Jonathon Carter, was just the greatest. She said he provided information and explained everything to her. If she had questions, he was very understanding and answered those questions. And because he was so gentle, so knowledgeable, and was a scientist, she had complete confidence in him.

On June 26, she had surgery. Five days later she left the hospital with many things to think about.

The cancer she had is usually a cancer found in older women. There

Shari Olson battled back from cancer and with the help of her husband Rick Nikunen and son Willie, has achieved balance in her life. Olson, dean of Outreach and Innovation at Northland Community and Technical College, will be a co-chairperson of the American Cancer Society Relay For Life in Pennington County. That event will be June 10-11 in Thief River Falls.

Petro Pumper offering E-85 fuel

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The future of the fuel industry arrived in Thief River Falls last week. E-85, a gasoline alternative that is up to 85 percent ethanol, is now for sale at Petro Pumper in Thief River Falls.

E-85 uses the highest ratio of ethanol to petroleum ever marketed. Some of the fuel's features include the ability to reduce ozone forming pollution by 20 percent and greenhouse gases by 30 percent. Additionally, the renewable fuel is produced in Minnesota, using Minnesota corn.

"I just like the idea of not depending on the foreign oil," said Pat Gerszewski, Petro Pumper general manager. "I'm all for using our own product."

Gerszewski said he had received a few requests from patrons to start offering the alternative fuel. With its attractive $1.59 per gallon price, customers have been wondering if it could work in their vehicles.

Currently the use of E-85 is limited to flexible fuel vehicles (FFV). Automobile producers who are currently marketing FFVs include

LHS Class of '40 stays in touch

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Classmates from the Lincoln High School Class of 1940 began a tradition in the 1980s, by meeting on the last Tuesday of each month, as a way to stay in touch with one another.

Thirteen classmates from the LHS Class of 1940 continued that tradition when they held their May 2005 meeting on Tuesday, May 31. That meeting had something extra to celebrate - it was held exactly 65 years to the day they graduated from High School.

According to participants, the origins of the monthly class meeting are somewhat mysterious. Marion (Holman) Wold, who makes phone calls to area classmates to remind them of upcoming meetings, said she couldn't pinpoint a true first meeting. While a classmate of Wold's, Lillie Gebhardt, organizes most of the meetings. She said meetings have been held for over 20 years, starting unofficially as two or three classmates brought lunch together as early as 28 years ago.

Local men receive sentences for separate felony offenses

Two local men were sentenced May 26 in Pennington County District Court on separate felony offenses.

Jeremiah Jacob Altepeter, 19, Goodridge, pled guilty to a felony offense of second degree burglary. He was sentenced to 15 months in jail with all but 85 days stayed for 10 years. That sentence is to be served concurrently with the sentence of another second degree burglary offense. He was given credit for time served. Altepeter was ordered to serve 10 years of supervised probation. He was ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines, and $1,869.42 in restitution. Judge Kurt Marben ordered that restitution be paid jointly and severally among the defendants. Altepeter is the first of the defendants to be sentenced in the case. On Feb. 22, he and another man allegedly went to Dairy Queen. Altepeter broke a door there, and once inside, he stole approximately $40 in change..

Altepeter also pled guilty to another felony offense of second degree burglary. A sentence of 12 months and one day was stayed for 10 years. Altepeter was ordered to serve 10 years of supervised probation. He was ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines, and $902 in restitution. On Feb. 22, he and another man allegedly went to Hardee's. Altepeter broke a glass door and later a door knob with a hammer he allegedly received from the other man. Altepeter then stole money from the business.

Nicholas Donald Aune, 27, Thief River Falls, pled guilty to an offense of felony theft over $500. In a plea agreement, a charge of possession of stolen property was dismissed. He was sentenced to 17 months in jail with all but 180 days stayed for five years. That sentence is to be served concurrently with other charges. Aune was given credit for time served. He was ordered to serve five years of supervised probation. Huber/Sentence to Serve privileges were granted. Aune was also ordered to write a letter to Elite Video and Sound. In July, Aune stole 204 pornographic DVDs and videotapes from Elite. In December, Aune gave the items to another man, telling him Aune received them from Elite Video and Sound in Roseau and asking him sell them on eBay. Once he received the items and realized they were pornographic, the other man decided not to sell the items. After hearing Aune was charged with an offense related to Elite in Thief River Falls, the other man returned the items to the owner, who then notified police.

Numerous traffic offenses and other misdemeanors are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

Thief River Falls Police Department cases: Charles Carnell Edwards, 25, Grand Forks, N.D., giving a false name to a peace officer, 10 days in jail, credit for time served; Brian Charles Holmers, 27, Thief River Falls, disorderly conduct, 31 days in jail to be served concurrently with another charge; Karyl Diane Kveton, 21, Goodridge, 40/30, $110; Shane Michael Drury, 25, Thief River Falls, no proof of insurance, $120; Kari Lynn Hamm, 38, Oklee, no seat belt worn, $95; Lindsay Marie Hardy, 26, Thief River Falls, failure to yield, $170.

Pennington County Sheriff's Department case: Matthew Alan Olson, 20, Thief River Falls, unlawful muffler, $110.

Minnesota State Patrol cases: Cheryl Ann Byrne, 50, Crookston, 40/30, $110; Melonie Joy Vanderplaats, 46, St. Cloud, 70/55, $130;Roger Lee Chaboyea, 29, Trail, 69/55, possession of marijuana, $240; Scott Joseph Hebert, 39, Thief River Falls, 69/55, $120; John Peter Lovly, 55, Goodridge, 40/30, $110; Wayne Dale Stark, 51, Grygla, 65/55, $110; Gary Wayne Stevens, 16, Minot, N.D., 65/55, $110; Cody James Huschle, 25, Thief River Falls, 65/55, $110; Theodore Alan Nelson, 49, Fargo, N.D., no proof of annual inspection, $170; Nathan Alan Rockstad, 19, Thief River Falls, 65/55, $110; Kristina Leigh Schoenborn, 26, Redby, open bottle/passenger, $220.

May traffic crash totals: 25 deaths, 19 serious injuries

The Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS) recently announced that preliminary Minnesota State Patrol traffic crash reports indicate 25 people died in 20 crashes and 19 were seriously injured on the state's roads in May.

The deaths include 22 vehicle occupants, two motorcyclists and one all-terrain vehicle (ATV) rider. Of the 22 vehicle occupants killed, seven were not wearing seat belts, three were ejected from vehicles and it is unknown if six occupants killed were belted. The State Patrol is investigating to determine if alcohol was a factor in 11 of the crashes.

The State Patrol reported 33 traffic deaths in January, 21 deaths in February, 19 deaths in March and 19 deaths in April. To date in 2005, the statewide preliminary traffic death total is 180.

In May, four motorists died in the metro region, and 18 motorists, two motorcyclists and one ATV rider died in Greater Minnesota. There were four deaths in Clearwater County; two fatalities each in Becker, Hennepin and Kanabec counties; and one death each in Benton, Crow Wing, Dakota, Hubbard, Isanti, Kandiyohi, Koochiching, Mille Lacs, Otter Tail, Polk, Scott, Stearns, St. Louis, Wantonwan and Wright counties.

Males represented 17 of the fatalities. People 30 years old or younger represented 12 of the deaths and 10 of those seriously injured.

"When the temperature rises, so do fatalities and injuries on Minnesota roads," said Col. Mark Dunaski, chief of the State Patrol. "In summer, more motorists are on the road traveling at higher speeds, and impaired driving peaks. Your best bet is to slow down, drive sober and buckle up."

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I understand a big change to Medicare is in the works. What is it about?

A: The Medicare Modernization Act of 2003 (MMA) created prescription drug coverage, also called Part D of Medicare, that begins January 1, 2006. The Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), the agency that runs Medicare, is responsible for the MMA but the Social Security Administration (SSA) has a part too. Extra financial help with Medicare prescription drug costs, such as some or all of the monthly premium, deductibles, and co-payments, was built-in to the MMA.

The Social Security Administration role is to take and process applications for this extra help which is based on income, resource and living arrangements. Those known to be eligible for this extra help, including people with Medicare and also receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or state Medicaid, will soon get a letter from CMS telling them so. They will not need to complete any other paperwork with Social Security related to additional prescription drug help but they will need to choose specific prescription drug coverage when the plans become available in the fall of 2005.

Beginning late May through August, 2005, Social Security is mailing people who might be eligible for additional help a letter about the Medicare Prescription Drug Program. Included will be an application for the extra help and a postage paid return envelope to SSA, Wilkes Barre, Pa. Mailings are based on Social Security number, not postal zip codes, so people will get letters at different times even if living at the same address. Not all income or resources count.

The estimated annual value of the full extra help averages $2,100 nationally so it is worth your time to look into this. Note that the application for extra help does not enroll people in a Medicare prescription drug program. Coverage and extra help are separate issues. With or without the extra help, everyone on Medicare can enroll in Medicare prescription drug coverage this fall.

A very important section has been added to the Social Security Web site. Get more details about the additional financial help for Medicare prescription drug coverage at the Medicare section in the center of the SSA homepage www.socialsecurity.gov or go to www.socialsecurity.gov/prescriptionhelp/. A worksheet to help you decide if you qualify for help is https://s044a90.ssa.gov/apps6a/i1020/main.html. Get information about Medicare prescription drug coverage at www.medicare.gov or by calling 1-800-Medicare (1-800-633-4227).

Happy Acres 4-H Club holds April, May meetings

The Happy Acres 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on April 12, at Valhall. The meeting was called to order by Dana Dyrud. The Secretary's report was given by Jenny Grove and approved. Roll call was taken with the response of "My Favorite Food." The treasurer's report was given by Julie Holecek and approved.

Old Business: The club practiced its Share the Fun play after the meeting. Dress rehearsal was held April 16. The Share the Fun Performance was April 17 at the Newfolden Elementary School. A donation of four dozen bars or cookies was asked of club members. A request for Safety Camp counselors, ninth grade and up, for the June 1 and 2 event was made.

New Business: Shania Sele, Erin and Erica Wayne, Kiara, Joshua, Christa and Gianna all participated in the local and regional communications contests. Erica Wayne is advancing to state. May 1 was announced as the deadline to add or drop projects. 4-H animals needed to be identified by May 15. Members must take Quality Assurance and Ethics Training if they plan to show a 4-H animal at the state fair.

A motion to adjourn the meeting was made by Joshua Anderson and seconded by Levi Dyrud.

Demonstrations were given by Dana, Michael, Daniel and Jon Dyrud. Lunch was served by the Swansons and Molskness.

The students in Betty Carlson's second grade class of 25 students at Challenger Elementary School reached a goal of taking 2,316 and passing 2,172 reading quizzes this year. This number of quizzes was passed with a class average percentage of 84 percent. Carlson said no second grade class has ever achieved such a high number of quizzes or high percentage. The class had the help of a volunteer, Jan Milender, who devoted an afternoon a week to help the students. The students and Carlson appreciate all she did to make the Accelerated Reading program so successful for them. According to Carllson, the program provides readers with an opportunity to learn to read for meaning and improves the students' reading comprehension and fluency greatly.

Pictured is Challenger Elementary School fourth grade student Trevor Olson. Olson was selected at the district winner of the Loyalty Day School Contest, sponsored by the American Veterans. He is now entered in the state contest.

NW MN Synodical ELC meeting June 17 and 18

The 18th annual convention of the Northwestern Minnesota Synodical Women's Organization of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America will be held in Crookston on Friday, June 17 and Saturday, June 18.

Registration begins at 3 p.m. on Friday at the University of Minnesota, Crookston and is followed by a banquet with Jo Gast as speaker and the Praise Singers entertaining during the banquet.

Business sessions will be held Friday evening. Saturday begins with worship with Holy Communion presided over by Bishop Rolf Wangberg, bishop of the Northwestern Minnesota Synod.

Pastor Jill Steichen, assistant to the bishop, will lead Bible study and the keynote speaker in the afternoon on Saturday will be North Dakota author Roxanne Henke, whose books include "Becoming Olivia," "Finding Ruth," "After Anne" and "Always Jan."

Questions related to registration may be directed to Norma VanHorn at 218-281-2375.

St. Bernard's Catholic School students in kindergarten through fifth grade met at Floyd B. Olson Park on the afternoon of May 19 for the annual Spring Fling. They danced the macarena, the chicken dance, the YMCA, the hokey pokey and many more as well as participated in balloon-popping relays and limbo contests. Special thanks to the St. Bernard's School Boosters for their energy and talent in arranging this afternoon. (Submitted photo)

Orin Green, who recently passed away, was a special volunteer for the past 11 years in Betty Carlson's second grade class at Challenger Elementary School. Max Anderson, a student in Carlson's class, and his parents, Jane (left) and Murray (not pictured), gave a memorial to Carlson's classroom for books to use with her students in memory of Green. Green's wife, Marge, attended the class' end-of-the-year picnic and read one of the books to the class.

IN LOVING MEMORY
Of our dearly beloved son and brother, David Nordhagen, who was taken from our family circle June 11, 1960:

A ray of sunshine
Has gone from our home,
And a place is vacant today.
And the little boy
That we loved so well
Seems so very far away.
But, we're trying to live
Just day by day,
Trusting the father for light-
Knowing that someday
He'll be with us again
In the home in the City of light.

- If the wedding took place within six weeks from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture, if submitted.
- If the wedding took place from six to 12 weeks before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of wedding and where the couple is residing.
- If the wedding took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief story or short caption under a picture announcing when the wedding took place.
- There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write-up within [illegible] of receipt. Forms are available at The Times office to help [illegible] weddings and engagements.

LHS Orchestra members named to All-State Orchestra

Lincoln High School (LHS) Orchestra members Ben Willis, bassist, and Derek Mosloff, violist, were recently named to the Minnesota All-State Orchestra.

Members of the orchestra are named after a live audition featuring difficult scales, a solo of the student's own choosing, and sightreading. All-State Orchestra members participate in a weeklong summer camp at Gustavus Adolphus College in August, culminating in a performance. They then return to perform for the Minnesota Music Educators Convention in February 2006 at Orchestra Hall in Minneapolis.

Willis, a junior and principal bassist at LHS, started playing bass under the instruction of Derek Druse, Thief River Falls orchestra director, while in his fourth grade year at Challenger Elementary School. He has since studied under Val Buchmeier, bassist and current Crookston orchestra director. Willis is a member of the Greater Grand Forks, N.D., Youth Symphony and also two community symphonies – the Greater Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra and the Bemidji Symphony Orchestra. He was a member of the Minnesota All-State Jazz Ensemble in 2004, and has participated in jazz camps at the Birch Creek Performance Center. He participates in the LHS Chamber Orchestra, LHS Jazz Ensemble under the direction of Bruce Felt, as well as the Thief River Falls Community Jazz Band under the direction of Linda Samuelson.

Mosloff, a junior and principal violist at LHS, started playing the viola in fifth grade under the instruction of Druse. He studied with Jonah Sirotka, violist from the Julliard-trained Chiara Quartet, during his sixth and seventh grade years. He currently studies with Tim Nelson, violist in the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony and director of the Fargo, N.D., South High School Orchestra. He has been a member of the Greater Grand Forks Youth Symphony, serving as principal violist. He is currently a member of the Greater Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra, sitting next to Druse in his section. Mosloff is also a member of the LHS Chamber Orchestra. He has been a member of the 2003 and 2004 Minnesota All-State Orchestras, and has participated in Dakota Chamber Music, a camp for small string ensembles in Minot, N.D. Mosloff also participated at the prestigious East Coast Greenwood Music Camp in 2004, and will return in 2005. He will also participate in the inaugural Red River Music Festival, a chamber music camp, this summer at the University of North Dakota.

Rydell NWR to host Learning at the Lakes series

On Sunday, June 12 at 2 p.m., Rydell National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) will host its first program in its Learning at the Lakes summer series. The program will be held in Rydell NWR Visitor's Center, and is free and open to the public.

Detroit Lakes Wetland Management District Conservation Officer Brent Taylor will describe special opportunities that people all over the state have for taking advantage of the prairie jewels of Minnesota – their Waterfowl Production Areas (WPAs). WPAs are parcels of land throughout the prairie pot-hole regions of Minnesota, managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Taylor will explain about all the recreational opportunities that abound on WPAs and also answer any questions the audience has about law enforcement on federal lands. He will also describe his other duties as a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service law enforcement officer and share some of his experiences he has had throughout his career.

Rydell NWR lies three miles east of Mentor along Highway 2, then south 2.5 miles on Polk County 210. For further information, contact Rydell Refuge at 1-800-841-0172.

A Remarkable Partnership:

On June 18, 1935 Violet Twait became the bride of Lawrence Brown, they are blessed to be celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary this year. Married in Chokio, MN, friends and family thought it unimaginable to travel so far as Itasca State Park for the honeymoon. Not only did they honeymoon, but spent the entire summer camping in the park while attempting to earn a little money selling WearEver Cookware. Sales weren't terrific but the cookware was, they still use several pieces.

High school sweethearts, Violet graduated from Mankato College and Lawrence from Dickenson College, ND. Both were teachers in the Donnelly School system. This began Lawrence's 40 plus year career in education including schools in Herman and Thief River Falls, MN. He enjoyed all aspects of school life including basketball coach, band instructor, Principal, as well as his main focus on the sciences. Violet's teaching career was cut short however, the minute she became a Mrs. she had to relinquish her position; married women were not allowed to teach. So she created her own room of kids, 8 of them in fact. Jerry, the first-born, pre-deceased them in 1978 and is still missed. All the other 7 are graduates of TRF Lincoln High: Bob, Pat, Dick, Ginny, Kathy, Don, and Marilyn. In addition there are 10 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

When Lawrence enlisted in the Navy during WWII, Violet became the anchor on the home front. The Victory Garden evolved to a lifetime partnership, Lawrence producing the bounty and Violet cooking and preserving it. Lawrence has always enjoyed fishing (although Violet caught the big ones), hunting, anything to be outdoors. Why drive a car if he could walk or ride his bike? At 92, Lawrence still rides his bike everyday. And has a hidden talent as a pool shark. Who knew? Notes from his clarinet and saxophone can be heard in the halls even today as he enjoys practice. Violet has remained the anchor. She found time from being an 'at home mom' to flourish in her flower garden and do all things crafty. And creating fabulous birthday cakes - many, many, many of them. She never did abandon her training as a teacher and her roomful of kids benefited as Gillian's poem says "Richer than I you can never be. I had a Mother who read to me." Violet continues to be a voracious reader and is quite an astute political wonk.

Neither has lost the love of nature and camping; they enjoyed many years of retirement traveling the country in their RV. A special delight for all their children and grandchildren has been to navigate the slippery stones at Lake Itasca with Lawrence and Violet - where it all began 70 years ago.

Please join them for a reception to be held at St. Benedict's Community Room on Saturday, June 18 from 2 - 4:30 pm. The address is: 1305 E. 7th Street, Apt. # 150 Monticello, MN 55362

PARENTING TIPS

Playing Together

For children, play is work. For them, it may not be as simple as it looks. In fact, there are several categories of play that can be observed when two or more preschool children are present. In an article from the Growing Together Newsletter, play was categorized as follows.

Onlooker Play - A child is a passive spectator as he watches another child or two play without participating in the activity. Through onlooker play, a child may learn new behaviors or muster up the courage to try a new skill at a later time. Onlooker play often enables a shy child, a younger child or a child who is in unfamiliar surroundings to adjust more easily to a new situation.

Parallel Play - Two or more children will play in close proximity but independently of one another. Although playing alongside one another, each is focused on his or her own activity. Sometimes a child will alternate from parallel play to onlooker play and then later imitate the play of the other child in resumed parallel play.

Next week more on play.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

When playing with a child who is involved in one of these two stages, do not overwhelm the child with lots of talk or questions. It is better to observe and imitate the child's actions and words.

Plummer Auxiliary introduces Girls State candidate and alternate

Plummer Auxiliary Unit 623 choose Molly Hagen as candidate and Angela Paquin as alternate for Minnesota Girls State, which will be held June 12-18 at Bethel College in St. Paul.

The theme for this year is "Catch the Wave" "Patriotism, Participation, Progress."

Girls State provides citizenship training for girls in their junior year of high school to inform them about duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities as a citizen and a better understanding of their government.

Hagen is the daughter of Don and Connie Hagen of Plummer. Molly has been active in church and 4-H activities. She works part-time at Hugo's. She is in band and choir, National Honor Society (NHS), many extracurricular programs such as volleyball, basketball and track. She's participated in one- and three-act plays, speech and knowledge bowl.

She has attended a 4-H trip to Washington D.C., where she met some legislators and was able to see them work. She has recently returned from the state capitol, where she served as a page in a page program.

Paquin is the daughter of Allen and Joyce Paquin and she also attends Red Lake County Central High School. She has participated in many programs including volleyball, speech, theater, band, choir, is a member of NHS, a member of the Catholic Youth Organization and works in the school library.

Both of these girls plan on attending college after graduation.

"We as the Auxiliary are proud of our selection and they will represent us well," said Fern Hesse, Girls State chairperson of the Plummer Unit 623.

MFU to host day camp in Grygla

Minnesota Farmers Union is sponsoring a day camp at Grygla Park from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, June 14. All children from in and around Grygla are welcome. The camp is open to children of all ages. Bring a sack lunch. Beverages will be provided.

At this event, children will participate in classic children's games, such as "Simon Says," and "Duck, Duck, Gray Duck." In addition, they will learn about cooperation.

To register and for more information, contact Norma Hanson at (218) 378-4280.

...Still half crazy - after all these years

Many of us had ancestors who homesteaded in this area. They made their way across the ocean and landed on the shores of this fine country. They crossed mountains, forests and plains to make their way to Minnesota, and came to the northwestern part of the state for some reason or another. Maybe they had kin here, maybe they had been attracted by the newspaper ads offering cheap land, maybe they just wandered up here.

I bet they arrived here as early in the spring as possible and set to work immediately. I'm sure they found the fertile land to be a wonderful thing. They were so busy they didn't have time to think - they broke the land with oxen, horses, mules or manpower and planted crops in the rich soil. They built houses and barns, cared for their livestock, dug wells, planted gardens for food. Then, and only then, did they get a chance to sit down and begin to take a look at things around them.

Once they had time to sit down, they must have noticed the mosquitoes. I'm sure they tried everything to keep them away. No doubt they used mud and other concoctions that those knowledgeable pioneer women knew about. No doubt they burned smudge fires day and night and covered all the openings in their homes so the bugs couldn't get in.

But the mosquitoes must have been terrible. I wouldn't be surprised if they drove some of the settlers half crazy. Heck, even today, with the sprays and lotions we have and all of the fancy bug zappers and citronella candles and potent sprays that can be used, some of us are still being driven half crazy by the mosquitoes.

The mosquitoes are so bad that you can get bitten up just walking to your garage in the morning, or taking out your garbage. The skeeters race in past the dog when I try to let him in the door and fly right past me when I open the door to get the newspaper off the steps. They sit on the screen at night and buzz at me - waiting to get in - somehow.

What good is it to make our city attractive to tourists and visitors? No matter what we do, we are simply making it better for mosquitoes. Why bother with nice parks and walkways and pretty places by the river? Why have good facilities and buildings for activities so that people will visit our town? Why plant flowers and shrubs around our homes and businesses? What are visitors going to do - drive around in their cars with the windows closed and look at the fine scenery and then race from the car into the buildings?

Plaster on the "Off" and take a walk around town, if you can (or get in the car and drive around if you can't stand them). You'll see lovely decks, patios and open porches on houses. Many of them aren't being used. If there is furniture out there, the main table decorations are not flowers and plants. Décor consists of cans of mosquito repellent and those smelly candles that are supposed to scare the skeeters away. And you'll see very few people sitting out there except a few die-hard smokers who make their own smudges (poor things).

No wonder everybody is getting fatter. Who can stand to go outside? Back in the olden days we kids spent most of our summers outdoors, running, jumping, climbing trees, swimming. We would even curl up under a tree and read a book. Who stayed in when there was a sun shining and blue sky? Now kids and grownups stay inside with the TV or video games. If they are outdoors, it is only when they are covered with bug spray and you can't stand to be downwind of them for the smell of it.

It is time to do some spraying, city. We citizens pay plenty in taxes. We should not have to be paying for repellent to spray our own yards so that we can enjoy what little summer we have. Just get the job done, please.

Trust makes small towns great places to live

When trusting small-towners head to the big city, we sometimes realize the need to lock the doors on our car before we remember the even more basic big-city security requirement of taking the keys out of the ignition.

The result: Embarrassed hicks in Wal-Mart parking lots either waiting for the cops, or, to avoid hassle, waiting two hours for somebody to bring down the extra set of keys.

The transition from small-town trust to big-city suspicion almost never goes smoothly, and sometimes it makes for a good story.

A friend of mine went to college only to find that people there lock the doors on their dorm rooms. He thought it inconvenient to have to be around all the time to let people use his room. As a compromise, he put a note on the door which read: "The key is under the mat."

Sometimes a theft or a robbery will cause small-towners to wake up and take basic security precautions, but usually even that doesn't do any good.

A lot of us small-towners are militantly naive. We deliberately ignore warnings from law enforcement to be cautious, even as we know that there are more chemical-crazed loonies than ever on the loose, eager for some cash for a fix.

Instead, small-towners proudly tell stories about small town trust, about people who leave their key under the mat, people who never lock, people who don't mind if you help yourself to a little gas as long as you leave a note.

My grandpa was one of those. As soon as he got a new car, he put the trunk key in the trunk keyhole where it would stay until it rusted in place. He never once got anything stolen - not that he would have noticed if he had.

When I take a trip in the wintertime, I leave the house open so people who go in the ditch don't have to break down the door to get some warmth and find a phone. Twice I have returned to find evidence of midnight visitors. Much better than finding them frozen on the doorstep, I figure.

My favorite small-town-trust story, with the names changed to protect the guilty, also involves winter driving and happened as follows:

About 10 years ago, a carload of college kids home for the weekend were cruising late at night out on some local country roads. They went into the ditch. Quick thinkers that they were, they realized they were only one mile from a high school friend's house.

Eager to solve their problem without the assistance of law enforcement, they ran the mile to the farmhouse. The door wasn't locked. To avoid waking the entire household, they decided to sneak in, wake up their friend and have him pull them out with his dad's John Deere.

Without turning on a light, they crept through the kitchen, past the living room, up the stairs and into the friend's room. One grabbed the friend's toe and said, "Psssst, John, get up."

Except they didn't quite hit it right. A loud voice boomed, "This is his dad." Oops.

But what did Dad do, grab a rifle? Reach for a baseball bat? Turn on the light and chase out the intruders?

No, he almost apologetically said, "We switched rooms last month. John's down the hall," and went back to sleep.

Good grief, if you can't count on people staying in the same bedroom from month to month, how are you going to get the right person to pull you out of the ditch at three in the morning?

Of course times have changed. Of course we should all lock our doors. But if the local folklore is any indication, people long for the days when we didn't have to, and they get a kick out of the people who still think we live in the 1950s.

Let's hope times don't change so much that small-towners who still think people are basically good don't get burned and quit trusting in sometimes hilarious ways.

Trust, after all, is one of the things which makes small towns a great place to live.

TRF church donates quilts to TAPs program

The Community Service Center of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, Thief River Falls has donated two quilts to the Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors (TAPS).

TAPS is an organization for widows, orphans and parents who have lost a loved one in the military. The survivors of eight Army National Guard soldiers founded TAPS in 1992. The survivors realized losing a loved one in the line of military duty, was far different from other types of losses. The eight survivors took pride in their loved one's service to America and wanted to help others with their losses.

...Memorial Day, 2005, was memorable

Here is the column that was supposed to run last week. Cyberspace ate it. Nonetheless, it is plenty appropriate this week because those of you who cared enough to fly your flags on Memorial Day will have another chance to fly them again for Flag Day on June 14. And those of you who don't have a flag or forgot to fly yours for Memorial Day can make amends by buying one and flying it proudly next Tuesday. Just remember, there are terrorists somewhere burning this symbol of our country at this very moment. Don't let them win.

Now, this is what I wrote for Memorial Day:

It was great to drive down the street and see the flags flying on houses this Monday. It is obvious that on this Memorial Day of 2005 many people in our little town are true patriots as they honored all of those who have defended our country with their lives.

Greenwood Cemetery was sunny and beautiful and bedecked in dazzling red, white and blue for ceremonies on Monday morning, with the individual flags on the graves of all veterans making us aware of just how many from our area served their country. Many, many of you citizens turned out to honor those who have made the ultimate sacrifice, hear the heartwarming address by 1st Lt. Colin Browning, U.S. Marine Corps, and take part in the special services. Browning gave our little town quite a compliment and proved what a fine Marine he is.

There was a story about a living veteran in the May 28, 2005, Northern Watch. If you didn't read the interview with L.L. Jones by Scott DCamp, you should. It is the wonderful tale of an interesting man who was a real sailor and true patriot. Jones served his country in the U.S. Navy for 20 years, from the age of 18, taking part in both the Korean and Vietnam wars and serving during some very interesting times. I bet if you see him around town you could get him talking about some of those interesting times, too.

Tradition has it that Memorial Day began in 1863, when widows, sweethearts, mothers and sisters of the Civil War dead in Mississippi began placing flowers on the graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers in the spring. In 1868, a special day to decorate the graves of all war dead was formally established on May 30 with an order by a Union Solders' veterans' organization.

General John A. Logan, of the Grand Army of the Republic (Union Army), retired, stated the original directives to celebrate the special day. He said that flowers were to be placed on the graves of comrades in every "...city, village, and hamlet churchyard in the land." The living were told to "guard (the graves of the heroic dead) with sacred vigilance. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed grounds." Congress later recognized this "Decoration Day" as a formal memorial day to the fallen soldiers. We should remember that the Civil war is still the nation's most bloody war. At least half a million men died from combat, wounds and sickness.

Formerly called Decoration Day, Memorial Day has also become the traditional day of the start of summer, celebrated with picnics, barbecues, parades and other family activities. But it is good to see that many people don't forget the real reason for the day and continue to honor those who have given their lives for our country. It was good to see those flying flags, folks. Don't forget to fly them for Flag Day on June 14, either.

Goodridge High School releases honor roll

Forage production

by Paul Ramsey
FBM instructor, Detroit Lakes

Good forage and economical meat and milk production go together like meat and potatoes. The cost of feed in a dairy cost analysis remains the single most costly item, and the philosophy about how to do this has changed a lot the last few years. We are now back in the place we were 50 years ago for good alfalfa and grass in a cow's diet. As I look through the Spartan ration balancer, I find you can produce 60 pounds of milk with good quality forage, balanced with vitamins and minerals. An 18,000 pound herd average is still very respectable and even more economical when we look at net returns per cow. Another big plus is the cow longevity. Many of the herds I work with have many 10- to 12-year-old cows if their ration is 70 percent plus good forage. Too high energy rations just burn cattle out. With $2,000 or more as the cost to buy a replacement heifer, try to keep "Bessie" around a little longer.

Good quality forage begins with good soil fertility, which definitely includes good soil biology. Some of the soil target nutrients include nitrogen humus. If you increase the organic content of soil from 1 percent to 4 percent, the nitrogen requirement will be met for good forage and the water retention increases from a one inch rain to a 4 inch rain. A good P1 balance would be 25-50 parts per million (ppm) in the soil. For potassium, 140 to 234 ppm is ideal, for magnesium – 173 to 230, for calcium – 1,680 to 1,800, for sulfur – 50, for zinc – 5, for manganese – 20, for iron – 20, for copper – 2.0 and for boron – 2.0.

After you have done the best job you can to put up the best quality forage, it's time to get some good feed sampling and feed tests done. Some of the newer tests are the relative feed quality (RFQ), NDFD48 (neutral detergent fiber digestibility in 48 hours as tested and calculated) and INVTDMD48 (in-vitro total dry matter digestibility in 48 hours). All of these tests are indicating the digestibility of the feed. They are more accurate than some of the old tests. In general, the old relative feed value (RFV) is higher in the poorer feeds than the RFQ measure. With the higher quality forage the RFQ value will be higher than the RFV score. This would indicate that the RFQ score would be a better way to evaluate feed than the old RFV system, especially when dealing with poorer quality feeds. Some good ratios to look for in the feed test are, a close to 1:1 ratio of calcium-to-potassium; this will help reduce milk fever. It has been discovered in recent years that this ratio also helps to produce solid stem alfalfa which increases the nutrient density. A ratio of 10:1 with nitrogen-to-sulfur will help improve the protein quality, which is necessary for efficient animal production. Tie the soil test to the feed test to correct any elemental shortages or "overages."

It is important to use forage blends. Good grasses and other legumes are available today that match alfalfa. They aid in fermentation, soil health and palatability. Different plant species do different things, both in the soil and in the animals that eat them. It is important to cut, store and inoculate your forage crop properly to insure good quality forage. Good quality forage will reduce your feed bill, keep your livestock healthy and help them produce to their genetic potential without lots of expensive supplements.

LIBRARY LINES

Heidi Hoks, Librarian, Thief River Falls Public Library

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

This month is the beginning of the summer library programming. Check out the wide assortment of books for young children while you're in the library or go to our online catalog at http://ils.larl.org - Northwest Regional Library (of which the TRF library is a branch) and the Lake Agassiz Regional Library online catalog – Check out what's available in all the libraries in both regional systems or limit your search to one library. Requests for items can also be placed online. If you see a book or other item you like in the catalog and it belongs to the TRF Library and is checked out or belongs to another library within our catalog holdings, you may either place the request online yourself or ask a staffer at the circulation desk to place a request on it for you. If you are visiting us from your own PC, you may place your request online for those items you see there, or email us the titles of the items you wish. Remember that when we get your item in, we will contact you by phone or – if we cannot reach you the first three times that way – we will mail you a card. Then we'll hold your item for 5 days only before sending it on to fulfill other requests. Please pick up your requested material as soon as possible. For more information, contact the Thief River Falls Public Library at 681-4325 or trfcirc@nwrlib.org.

BOOK REVIEWS

The following are a few of the young children's 2005 award winning books owned by the TRF Public Library:

"Hot Day on Abbott Avenue" by Karen English. Sizzling-hot summer weather sparks tempers between best friends Kishi and Renée, and they experience a "best-friend-breakup day."

"The Turn-Around, Upside-Down Alphabet Book" by Lisa Campbell Ernst. A visually imaginative alphabet book, this reveals images from the ordinary to the unusual if a child turns it clockwise.

"Sidewalk Circus" by Paul Fleischman. Posters advertising an upcoming circus prompt a young girl's exuberant imagination, sitting at a bus stop, she turns ordinary street scenes into acts of death-defying bravery.

WEB SITE OF THE MONTH

http://www.carolhurst.com – Carol Hurst's Children's Literature Site – A plethora of book reviews and professional resources for people interested in getting children excited about reading, this is a goldmine for educators planning curriculums or for parents wanting guidance in choices for their children.

QUESTION OF THE MONTH

Why can't we have a longer time on the computer?

Currently the TRF Public Library has a one hour limit on computer usage per day. Many libraries our size have a 15 minute to 1/2 hour limit. Some have a 1/2 hour limit, but you can extend it by paying for additional time. Other libraries allow you an allotted amount of time and then you need to get off and get back in line for a chance at the computer. The usage on the current PCs has been ranging from 75% usage-98% usage daily. Usage is figured by the number of people on the computer during the day divided by the hours in a day that the computers are available divided further by the number of public workstations. This means these computers are in high demand. Decreasing the time allotment per day has been discussed, but that would be difficult for those people doing research on the computers or taking tests. Since they are so popular, it is oftentimes difficult to get people to give up their PC to the person who has been waiting for it. That means the next person is sometimes shorted of their time when the library closes. Spacewise, the library is at its capacity for PC units and cannot fit any more within the current building to alleviate this problem.

Daniel Johnson, 72

Thief River Falls - Daniel Johnson, 72, died on Monday, May 30, 2005 at his home in rural Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held on Friday, June 3, at Bethany Lutheran Church in rural Thief River Falls, with Rev. Robert Dahlen officiating. Casket bearers included Jon Wilson, Kendall Johnson, Bill Kennel, Bradley Johnson, Brian Johnson and Alex Johnson. Interment was held at Bethany Cemetery in rural Thief River Falls.

Daniel Ray Johnson was born on May 25, 1933 to Bert and Josephine (Lendobeja) Johnson in Thief River Falls. He was baptized and confirmed at Bethany Lutheran Church. He attended country school and graduated from the Northwest School of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota Crookston in 1951. The next year, he spent at Area Vocational School in Thief River Falls studying auto mechanics.

After he graduated in 1952, he took off to Milwaukee to work for Byerus Eric. While in Milwaukee, he worked to supply his street racing habits and spent much of his time at drive-ins. He returned to his parent's family farm in Kratka Township after his dad was injured in a farming accident. The winter of 1956, he packed a suitcase and headed off to Southern California in his '54 Ford. He returned to farming the following spring.

In the early sixties he owned the St. Hilarie Supply Company and continued farming with his dad. On September 18, 1971 he was united in marriage to Kathleen Hanson. Danny said, "What really changed me was to marry a lady with three daughters and then having two more. Five girls, all different!" They made their home next to the Kratka bridge. He retired from farming in 1990. Danny also sold cars through the years at Westside Motors. He served on the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District from 1978 to the present. Danny always enjoyed racing and going fast; whether it be cars, snowmobiles or boats. He spent the majority of his time fixing and tinkering.

"The garage should be bigger than the house because cars take up more space than people," he would say. He was active in several organizations including, NFO, Goodridge Fire Department, Pioneer Village, Al-Anon, Beginning Experience, Single Friends and Street Wizards.

He was very outspoken in things that he believed in and took pride in helping others. He enjoyed going to community events, auction sales and traveling the road less traveled.

He was a non traditional student, who had a passion to learn. For the last 12 years he took classes at Northland Community and Technical College, including auto body, politics, history, creative writing, and philosophy. Danny spent his time doing the things that brought him joy. Danny said, "We are here to live as long as we are alive." He was an active member of Bethany Lutheran Church.

Daniel is survived by five children, Starr (Jim) Crowley of Palmer Tenn., Rose Carpenter of Goodridge, Bonita (Tim) Wayne of Fargo, N.D., April (Tom) Ballard of Baudette, Mandi (special friend Tucker Hibbert) Johnson of Goodridge; the mother of his girls, Kathy Johnson of Thief River Falls; sister of his girls, Sheryl (Dennis) Benz of Mount Iron; 10 grandchildren; one great-grandson; three brothers, Gary Johnson of Goodridge, Robert Johnson of Braham, Richard (Mitzi) Johnson of Burleson, Texas; and many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Daniel was preceded in death by his parents. A00003B2005JN08

Darlene Forsberg, 78

Thief River Falls - Darlene Forsberg, 78, died on Monday, May 30, 2005 at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls, surrounded by her family, after battling cancer for three years.

Funeral services were held on Friday, June 3, at Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, with Rev. Gary Johnson officiating. Casket bearers included Julie Nelson, Mark Forsberg, Randy Nelson, Renae Nelson, Jodi Carter and Brett Carter. Interment was held at the Viking Cemetery in Viking.

Darlene Forsberg was born on April 5, 1927 in Viking, the daughter of William and Minnie (Gustafson) Forsberg. She was baptized and confirmed at Zion Lutheran Church in Viking. Darlene attended Ridgeview Country School through eighth Grade. She also attended and graduated from Newfolden High School in 1945.

Darlene worked for about 35 years, as bookkeeper at Ben Franklin Store and later at Ace Hardware for 20 years, both in Thief River Falls.

She enjoyed crocheting and other handiwork and loved spending time with her nieces and nephews.

Darlene is survived by two sisters: her twin sister, Delores Forsberg of Thief River Falls and Barbara (Dennis) Nelson of Minneapolis; one brother, Winton (Claudette) Forsberg of Thief River Falls; sister-in-law, Betty Forsberg of Van Nuys, Calif.; seven nieces and nephews; and several grand nieces, nephews, and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her parents, William and Minnie Forsberg; and two brothers, Arnold, in infancy and Arland. A00003B2005JN08

Sylvester Johanneck, 92

Red Lake Falls - Sylvester Johanneck, 92, died on Friday, June 3, 2005 at Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls.

Mass of Christian Burial was held on Tuesday, June 7, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Red Lake Falls, with Father Tim Bushy presiding. Casket bearers included Duane Marcotte, Greg Johanneck, Mark Hagl, Dan Johanneck, Luke Johanneck, Erika Johanneck, Timothy Hagl and Don Johanneck. Interment was held at the St. Joseph Catholic Cemetery in Red Lake Falls.

Sylvester, the sixth of eleven children, was born in his family's home to the late John and Elizabeth (Zins) Johanneck in Red Lake Falls. He attended the Busy Bee country school north of Red Lake Falls in Red Lake Falls township.

Sylvester worked at a number of jobs throughout his lifetime. In addition to helping his parents on their family farm, he also worked for area farmers. He later worked various construction jobs in the Red Lake Falls area including the building of Hwy 32. He lived and worked for a short time in Wisconsin when his family moved there during the depression years and later lived in California where he worked as a taxi cab driver in Long Beach.

In the spring of 1942, during World War II, he joined the military and served in the Pacific Theatre. As a top turret gunner on a B-25 airplane, he flew 53 missions as part of a bomber squadron based on the Gilbert Islands. After Sylvester's return from the war early in 1946, he purchased a farm north of Red Lake Falls in Browns Creek township where he lived with his sister Evelyn. Together they farmed and cared for their parents until their parents eventual move to nursing homes. Sylvester raised dairy cows, chickens, hogs and small grains on his farm, together with a few nephews who helped with the summer farm work.

In 1976, Sylvester retired from farming and he and Evelyn moved to a new home in Gervais township. He lived there until May of 2004 when he moved to Sunview Center in Red Lake Falls and then to Hillcrest Nursing Home in May of 2005, where he resided until his death.

Sylvester was a member of St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Church in Red Lake Falls, and the National Farmers Organization. Sylvester will be remembered for his interest in the well being of the family farm and his pride in all he did during his years of service in the army air-force corp.

Sylvester is survived by his sisters, Evelyn Johanneck and Frances Marcotte, Red Lake Falls, brother John (Bernice) Johanneck, Crivitz, Wis.; brother in law John Boughton, Sequim, Wash.; and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brothers, Edward, Raymond and Clem; sisters, Gertrude (Schaefer) Molitor, Eleanor (Dufault) McBride, Agnes Fecteau and Leona Boughton. A00003B2005JN08

Esther Smith, 89

Bremerton, Wash. - Esther S. Smith, 89, of Bremerton, Wash., and formerly of Thief River Falls, died on May 10, 2005 at Belmont Terrace Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Bremerton, from injuries from a fall and complications from surgery.

Red Lake Falls - Gerald Larson, 64, died Tuesday, May 31, 2005 at Veterans Hospital in Fargo, N.D.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 4, at Black River Lutheran Church in rural St. Hilaire, with Rev. Mark Helgeland officiating. Casket bearers included Joe Hanson, Duane Dargon, Rodney Ulrich, Mark Larson, Milton Hoidal. Interment was held at Black River Cemetery.

Gerald Edward Larson was born December 6, 1940 in Polk Centre Township, Pennington County, the son of Roy and Alma (Troland) Larson. He was baptized and confirmed at the Black River Lutheran Church. He attended country school and graduated from Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls in 1957.

Jerry served his country in the United States Army from June 11, 1958 until May 22, 1961. He served in Germany for two years and trained for nine weeks in AAA Remote Control Repair. Jerry then was transferred to the United States Army Reserve where he served until June 10, 1964.

On September 12, 1964 he was united in marriage to Evelyn M. Delorme at the St. Dorothy Catholic Church in Dorothy.

Following his discharge, Jerry worked driving truck. He worked hauling mobile homes around the country until the fall of 2004. He also owned and operated the Gang Plank and Geneva Lodge bars in Alexandria, until the mid-1970's.

Jerry enjoyed old cars, tractors, hunting and fishing and owned several cars to be fixed up. He was a member of the Red Lake Falls Sportsman's Club.

Survivors include two sons, Kevin Larson and Bruce Larson, both of Red Lake Falls; two grandchildren; mother, Alma Larson of Red Lake Falls; brothers and sisters, Darlene (Sy) Lucas of Alexandria, Dionne (Louis) Ulrich of Red Lake Falls, Richard (Phyllis) Larson of Red Lake Falls, and Sharon (Charles) Naplin of Thief River Falls; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his father, Roy; infant daughter, Roxanne, and brother, Leonard Larson. A00003B2005JN08

Wave goodbye to pageant?

centers on the community and community events. Referring to the pageant, Zak said, "It's all about community and community events. That's all that I did."

Olson asked The Times if she could read the article before it appeared in the newspaper. The Times complied with that request. Upon reviewing comments made by other people interviewed for the story, Olson made the following statement, "This difficult decision was reached after thoughtful discussion about the Chamber's goals and how the pageant and other promotions fit in with those goals."

The Chamber has apparently pursued other organizations to host the pageant. Olson said the Chamber has sent letters to other organizations, but none have come forward to sponsor the event. If an organization were willing to sponsor the pageant, Olson said that it can have the Chamber's pageant information and files.

"I wish somebody would take it over, and I would guide it along," said Zutz, who noted she knew of a few girls who would be interested in competing in the pageant.

At least one former Miss Thief River Falls is sad that the pageant is ending. Jane Anderson, Miss Thief River Falls 1979-80, said it was sad that "little girls won't have the opportunity to attend the pageants and dream about one day getting to be a part of it. And I think it's a great growth opportunity for one lucky girl each year to work hard at the chance she may become Miss Minnesota."

"I think it will be disappointing for it to end because it was a huge event for Thief River Falls, and it gave a chance for girls to participate," said Zak, who noted it was one of the longest running pageants in the state.

Anderson noted the pageant helped her grow as a person. "On a local level, the Miss TRF Pageant showed me how kind and supportive this city is of its young people," said Anderson. "I met many people that year, got to know some of them very well and still have those connections."

Zak, who will compete at the Miss Minnesota pageant June 17 and 18, also learned a lot through her pageant participation.

"It's been a great experience, and I've also learned about myself in the process," said Zak, who noted she became more confident and also learned more about her platform of sexual abstinence.

Planning the local pageant and helping the new Miss Thief River Falls after the pageant takes a lot of work. The pageant is a lot of work because Miss Thief River Falls has to be kept in the public eye, Olson said. She noted the Chamber didn't have the time to do that.

Again, upon reviewing comments made by others interviewed for this story, Olson made the following statement, "This required a large time commitment for volunteers serving on this committee. And when volunteer time was not present, the Chamber staff needed to dedicate numerous hours outside of their regular workload toward this project."

The pageant takes a lot of planning, and volunteers helped make it possible. While Zutz has had some volunteers to help her plan the pageant, she said there haven't been many volunteers.

Having a pageant, though, may be beneficial to some contestants. Being a pageant contestant helped Anderson. "It gave me more self-confidence, and it forced me to grow in directions I needed to grow, but had avoided – like interviewing skills and public speaking," she said. "I think the biggest, hardest, perhaps best lesson I learned was how to handle defeat. I, obviously, didn't win the state pageant."

Anderson didn't make it into the Top 10 either at the state pageant, but she won a non-finalist award for talent. "I worked toward that pageant for a year, but I learned that it's okay not to win, people still loved and supported me," she said.

And Anderson recalls what happened after the Top 10 were announced, "I remember being backstage after the Top 10 were announced, and contestants were bawling their eyes out, swearing, and eating burgers and shakes."

Shari Olson shares her cancer journey

wasn't any history of her type of cancer in her family, and no particular reason why she should have cancer. And at 33, she now knew she would never be able to have children.

Shari strongly believes in what some people would call that sort of smarmy circle of life sentiment that Elton John sings about. You know - circle of life, and "never take more than you give." But it's not smarmy to Shari, and when you think about it, life does have a way of finding balance.

Cancer had dealt Shari a blow and she would now find her balance.

When Shari celebrated her five-year anniversary of being cancer free, she and her husband decided to seek adoption. They were "too old" to adopt an infant, so they welcomed five-year-old Willie into their home.

When Shari later thought about it, she realized that Willie had been born almost the day she went into surgery. Eventually, they were allowed to adopt Willie.

Willie is now 11. "He's wise beyond his years," said Shari.

And Willie's presence in her life means more to her than she can express.

"Life through a child's eyes really puts things in perspective," said Shari.

Shari has also focused on education - hers and others. She completed her master's degree in 1991, and doctorate in August of 2004.

That's all Willie has known of his mom - full-time mom, full-time student, full-time dean of Outreach and Innovation at Northland Community and Technical College. Willie recently told her he was glad she was done with her doctorate so they could go on a fun vacation.

Her career in education isn't over, though, Shari has made educating others about cancer a purpose in her life.

In speaking to others about cancer, Shari tells them that annual physicals are very important. Some things, she said, just can't put off, even if they are uncomfortable. It's important because chances of surviving cancer are better if the cancer is caught early.

In Shari's case, the cancer was caught early and she didn't have to go through chemo or radiation.

Shari, Rick and Willie also have sponsored Walk for Cancer Research at Itasca State Park since 1995. Since its inception 10 years ago, $18,000 has been raised for cancer research at the University of Minnesota. This year, they hope an additional $2,000 will be raised at the June 18 event.

Itasca Park is also important to her. It's where they first met Willie, and where she discovered that the peace she found in nature was important to her healing process.

Shari also has been named this year's honorary co-chairperson of the American Cancer Society Relay For Life in Pennington County on June 10-11.

For individuals and families dealing with cancer, Shari offers that they find out everything they can about their cancer. "Listen to your body, and have a conversation with your doctor," she said. Learn as much as possible. Knowledge is empowering and it helps those impacted by cancer to heal, to grieve and find emotional support.

Above all, she says, believe in the power of healing and humankind. Through research and science, she said, new discoveries are being made everyday. Someday, a cure for cancer will be found.

Photographic exhibit of barns at NCTC Friday

On June 10 the summer-long celebration for one of the most unconventional yet familiar exhibits to ever visit Thief River Falls begins. "Barn Again! Celebrating An American Icon," a Smithsonian exhibit about barns is coming to Thief River Falls. In celebration of this event, several activities have been planned, including a slide show about barns on Friday.

The celebration begins with a slide show of barns in Minnesota beginning at 7 p.m. on Friday, June 10, in room 201-203 at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls; and is followed by a tour of area barns on Saturday, June 11.

The slide show on Friday, June 11, will feature Doug Ohman, photographer, and Will Weaver, author of a new book entitled "Barns of Minnesota." The event is free and co-sponsored by NCTC.

Ohman and Weaver collaborated on the book "Barns of Minnesota" that was released in April 2005 by the Minnesota Historical Society. Ohman did the photography and Weaver wrote a fictional narrative that chronicles the parallel lives of a barn and the family that built it. Weaver will do some short readings from the book. Ohman has another book "Churches of Minnesota" that will be coming out this fall, and is working on a "Cabins of Minnesota" book.

On Saturday, June 11, a tour of area barns will be offered from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The cost of this event is $15 per person. The bus trip includes lunch and a tour of 30 barns of various styles. To pre-register, contact the Thief River Falls City Administrator's office at 681-2943.

Petro Pumper offering E-85 fuel

Ford, Daimler Chrysler, General Motors, Isuzu, Mazda, Mercedes, Mercury and Nissan.

Gerszewski was told by E-85 sales representatives that the fuel should only be used in FFVs. According to the same sales representatives, when used in the wrong vehicle, E-85 can lead to temporary emissions problems.

"Right now we are stocking it and selling it," Gerszewski said. "The big problem is that only select vehicles can use it."

Minnesota law states that all mixtures of gasoline sold, other than Grade A, must be at least 10 percent ethanol. E-85 continues the trend toward renewable fuel sources. Because of tax credits, E-85 is available at a much lower cost than gasoline. A forum on fuel costs at www.cleanairchoice.org/outdoor/PriceForum.asp lists that E-85 is being sold for as low as $1.35 per gallon in Worthington and as high as $1.85 in White Bear Lake.

According to the Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance's 2001 Pollution Prevention Report, E-85, when used in a 20-mile per gallon FFV, E-85 emits 77 percent less carbon dioxide and 85 percent benzene than a 20-mile per gallon automobile using regular gasoline over 12,000 miles.

According to American Lung Association director of outdoor air programs, Tim Gerlach, the state of Minnesota, and the metro areas of Chicago, Ill., and Denver, Colo., were selected as pilot markets for the E-85 program in 1998. Since then over 150 stations in Minnesota and 500 in the United States have started offering E-85.

One of the American Lung Association's challenges, is reducing automobile emissions.

"What we try to do is get more stations going, while providing consumer education," Gerlach said. He added that E-85 is a balancing act, that needs stations to sell the fuel and vehicles that can use it.

Currently there are more than 120,000 FFVs registered in Minnesota and more 4 million on the road nationwide. But many, according to Gerlach, don't realize that they have the option to use a cheaper and cleaner fuel.

According to Gerlach, the easiest way for people to tell if they have a FFV, is to look on the inside of the fuel door for the flexible fuels decal. He added that a complete list of FFVs can be found at http://www.cleanairchoice.org/outdoor/FlexibleFuelVehicles.asp.

TRF Community Arts Council presents Disney's "Beauty and the Beast"

music room and then laid the speaking track done by Pastor Philip Schmitz over that. All the rest of the music will be live and so provide a different feel as the audience then enters the world of this story.

In an effort to enhance the storybook effect, a large "storybook" set of flats was built and the cover quilted by Quilter's Guild member Helen Halvorson. The quilting gives the feel of a leather book that has been embossed. Getting the pictures in the book then became problematic. Original artwork had to be created and then projected onto the flats of the book in order to take care of both of these issues. Northland interim art professor Talisha Lerfald worked with one of her classes to create a number of images and graphics which were then transferred by college professor Deb Jacobson into a PowerPoint presentation to be projected. Because of different projection techniques used, Jacobson called on the tech department of the college to assist. Because of the number of images and graphics that were combined into the story, Lerfauld utilized the talents of students including Joel Anderson, Lindsay Anderson, Kris Bossman, Eugene Clark, Melissa Hjelle, Jesse Kruchowski, Matt Langevin, Elliot Lefrooth, Brianna Morrison, Jessica Mutnansky, Amanda Olson, Chad Rosencrans, Jayson Sletten, and Ben Larson.

Costumes were also a challenging issue for the local cast. The Disney images are deeply rooted in people's heads and so costumer coordinator Key Teeters-Asp and costume mistress Leona Muzzy had their hands full in creating feather dusters, sugar cubes, napkins, and a variety of other characters. They did original designs on costumes for over 50 cast members, but still paid some homage to the designs in the animated as well as the Broadway productions. What has resulted is a magical effect. Some costumes bordered on set pieces and were built in tandem with the tech director Philip Hoks. An example is the Wardrobe's costume, which is a wardrobe built specifically to the measurements of the person portraying the Wardrobe in wood and then covered in fabrics.

Some costumes required outside help. For example, Al Aaseby invented a special device to allow the plates to spin on their backs. Yet another example was the Lumiere costume. Other theaters that had done Beauty and the Beast were consulted as to the construction of Lumiere's candlestick hands. The result of the amount of work that has gone into the costuming is a sight to behold and one not to be missed.

Makeup works with the costuming and several masks and wigs will be employed in this production. However, the Beast's makeup was a little different. The people originally scheduled to do the prosthetic for the Beast could not do it. Peter Hoks, with the aid of Magnet Arts instructors Rosaline Groven and Marilyn Adams, created the prosthetics and masks that will be used by the Beast during the course of the show. The wig was a challenge for the Beast also because horns, ears and tusks had to be created and then sewn into the hairpiece. Ben Schmitz, who plays the Beast, spent a great deal of time in hairstyling, under a plaster masking to get a mold of his face, and in makeup. Ben was very amenable throughout this process. He also made a trip to Fargo to meet with a stage combat choreographer to make the Beast/Gaston fight sequence effective. The whole fight sequence takes about 40 seconds, but Ben has spent approximately 20 hours rolling down the staircase and working with Rob Burkel, who plays Gaston.

Approximately 300 individual props are used in this production and they have to be inventoried nightly. The set is built with moving pieces on wheels and even the Beast's 450 pound turret moves (without humans atop it), powered only by cast members. Specialty lighting effects including a custom made gobo of the trademark symbol, use of a confetti canon and bubble machine and many other specialties will also make this show fun and interesting for the audience and in the backstage tour.

Tickets are now available at Kezar Music and if any seats are left, will be available at the door.

Gebhardt said. "Eventually it spread to the whole class."

Wold said the meetings have made classmates closer than they were when they were younger.

"We've been meeting so long, we don't know when we started," Wold said. "We're all pretty close. It's just like a family - a secondary family."

The late Irassia M. (MacKenroth) Noel was the first to suggest making the last Tuesday of each month the official meeting date. The group's earliest meetings were held at Dee's Kitchen in Thief River Falls. Eventually the Lantern Restaurant and Lounge became the official meeting place.

The meetings officially begin at noon, but classmates will arrive at the Lantern as early as 11 a.m. and some will continue their catching up [illegible] after their meals are finished.

For classmates who may not be able to attend meetings, Gebhardt produces a quarterly newsletter. Each letter updates what class members are doing and tells of upcoming events. Gebhardt also uses the newsletters to report other information she has received from classmates.

"They send me letters about what they're doing," Gebhardt said. "Right now its mostly about changes of addresses for people who are giving up their homes."

The Class of 1940 also holds an annual banquet and class reunion in September of each year. The late Rueben Wold started hosting banquets in the fall of each year, before groups would head south for winter. This year's banquet, the official 65th reunion of the Lincoln High School Class of 1945, will be held at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls on Friday, Sept. 30.

Alex Carlson named TRF MVP

Alex Carlson was named Thief River Falls' most valuable player when the Prowlers capped their recently-completed 2005 high school baseball season with a backyard barbecue banquet.

Other awards went to Justin Brooks, Pitcher of the Year; Alec Holen, Offensive Player of the Year; and Wyatt Reed, who received the Prowler Award for dedication and commitment to Prowler baseball.

Carlson, Brooks, Holen and Michael Benedict were selected as All-Great North Conference, with David Lovly earning honorable mention honors. Carlson and Holen were all-conference picks for the second time.

The Prowlers' Shane Zutz was named Great North Conference Coach of the Year.

Athletic letters went to seniors Cory Braastad, Chris Matter, Lovly, Reed, Holen; juniors Jon Drees, Lucas Genereux, Tomas Heaton, Ross Helling, Dan Kaushagen, Ryan Kruse, Drew Kjono, Brooks, Carlson; sophomores Sean Sorteberg, Michael Blix, Benedict; along with student managers Britney Mosbeck and Tracy Dallman.

The Prowlers went 13-6 during the regular season, then lost to Moorhead 4-0 and Detroit Lakes 7-3 in the double-elimination North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament.

"Overall, we had a good year," stated Zutz, who said highlights included winning 13 games and capturing the Great North Conference pennant when most observers made Warroad and Roseau the preseason league favorites. "We were awfully close to winning the Hibbing Wood Bat tournament, too, but just couldn't close the door in one inning," he added.

Number-wise, graduation losses will be minimal, but the departure of upperclassmen is always felt, according to Zutz. "We lose a great group of seniors who did a wonderful job of building a sense of 'team' in everything that we did," he said.

Zutz expects the returning players to again make the Prowlers competitive in 2006. "We return most of our team next year, including all of our pitchers," he pointed out. "We need to get better offensively – where we really fell off during the last six games of the year."

Younger players who will gain additional baseball experience while playing this summer, should add to the Prowlers' overall strength next spring, according to Zutz. "We have some sophomores who will be pushing for playing time next year," he noted. "Once again, VFW and Legion baseball will be extremely important to our success."

Zutz has been the Prowlers' coach for six years. He was co-head coach with Mike Wienen in 2000 and 2001 before the job title went to him, singularly, beginning in 2002.

"This is a tremendous group of baseball players and young men to work with," said Zutz.

Prowlers compete in 8AA meet

Seven Thief River Falls athletes saw their 2005 season end Saturday at the Section 8AA boys and girls high school track meet.

Team titles went to the host Sartell-St. Stephen boys and Moorhead girls.

Thief River Falls entries included four girls in three events and three boys in five events.

The Prowlers' only top-ten place finishes came from junior Scott Rakozy with a seventh in the boys 200 meters and an eighth in the 400.

Junior Ryan Brummond competed in both the shot put and discus; freshman Aaron Langen was in the 100.

Jake Rantanen steps down as MCC coach

Jake Rantanen has resigned as a classroom instructor and coach at Marshall County Central High School in Newfolden.

Named Section 8A Coach of the Year in two of the three seasons he directed the Nordics' boys basketball program, Rantanen took the job following Ron Ueland's resignation after 35 years as Marshall County Central coach at the conclusion of the 2001-02 season.

The Nordics went 7-19 that first year under Rantanen, then improved to 17-10 with a West Sub-Section 8A tournament runner-up finish in 2003-04.

It was a memorable 2004-05 campaign for Rantanen and the Nordics as they went 21-8 and won the Section 8A championship. The first state tournament appearance in the history of the program included a 64-62 double-overtime quarterfinal victory over Sleepy Eye St. Mary's, a 52-44 semifinal loss to defending and eventual Class A champion Russell-Tyler-Ruthton and a 69-60 third place setback at the hands of Cass Lake-Bena.

Rantanen said he enjoyed his stint at Marshall County Central, complimenting the players, coaches, staff, administration and the community for their support. "It was a total team effort," he said.

The decision to leave teaching and coaching, said Rantanen, was based primarily on a desire to spend more time at home with his family, which includes the addition of a daughter born this spring.

"The time commitment to be a head coach is unbelievable," said Rantanen. "I wanted to be home with my wife and my daughter."

Rantanen admitted, too, that an opportunity to return to the banking business – an area where he worked prior to accepting the Marshall County Central job – also influenced his decision to leave his classroom position as a math instructor at the junior high level.

Although he might be little young to compete in the third annual Cody Lundgren Memorial SIDS Golf Tournament, that didn't stop 2 1/2-year-old Alex Lundgren from practicing on his game prior to the fund-raising event named in honor of his brother. Entries are still being accepted for the tournament, scheduled to be played Friday, June 10, at the Thief River Golf Club.

Cody Lundgren Memorial at Thief River Golf Club...

Third SIDS tournament Friday

Three years after its inception, the Cody Lundgren Memorial SIDS Golf Tournament has not wavered from it's original goal. Three goals, actually.

Family members put the event together to a) memorialize a son, grandson, great-grandson nephew and cousin who died Nov. 30, 2000 as a result of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome; b) as a forum for community awareness about SIDS; and c) a way to make a meaningful contribution to the Minnesota Sudden Infant Death Center at Children's Hospitals and Clinics of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

As fund-raising rookies, organizers had no idea what kind of reception the tournament would achieve. No matter, they said when plans were being made for the 2003 outing. It was a way to remember Cody and to help educate the public about SIDS. Whatever money was raised would be considered a bonus.

As it turned out, the response was overwhelming. Golfers showed up, sponsors/donors welcomed solicitations enthusiastically and individuals made the daily mailbox visit a special heart-tugging occasion as checks arrived from non-golfers, or those unable to attend the tournament but nevertheless wanted to contribute.

"It's a good cause," was an often-repeated response from those contacted concerning tournament participation or donation.

Cody Charles Lundgren was born Aug. 11, 2000 in Fargo, N.D., to Charles and Tami Lundgren. He was the first child for the Lincoln High School graduates. A healthy, growing baby, Cody died suddenly and unexpectedly 3 1/2 months later.

After attending school, starting a family and beginning their professional careers in the Fargo area, the Lundgrens moved back to Thief River Falls this past fall. Job opportunities, combined with a chance to raise son Alex, an active 2 1/2-year-old, in a smaller community prompted the home town return – much to the delight of both sets of grandparents who live here: Mike and Shirley Lundgren; David and Karen Kirkeby.

The tournament is a special occasion for family and friends who fondly remember Cody. They hope the event also increases SIDS awareness while offering the public an opportunity to help make a difference through contributions that are used for education, research and counseling through the Sudden Infant Death Center.

Those organizing the tournament express gratitude to those who have helped make the event such a success. They are putting together what they hope will be an enjoyable day at the Thief River Golf Club.

If history repeats itself, the caliber of golfers will vary from "accomplished" to those who play the game only on occasion. There is a competitive edge to it for some,

Kimbrough, Neibauer all-star selections

University of North Dakota-bound Kierah Kimbrough of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, along with Gators coach Tom Neibauer, will be involved in the June 25-26 Minnesota Girls Basketball All-Star Series.

Kimbrough has been selected as a member of the Class A team that will be coached by Neibauer and Gregg Slaathaug of Fulda.

Other area players listed on the Class A roster are Darci Purath and Heidi Matzke of Red Lake Falls, along with Kayla Bagaason of Fosston.

The four-team, four-game event will feature a tournament bracket format at two Minneapolis sites. Saturday semifinals will take place at the University of Minnesota Sports Pavilion. Winners and losers meet Sunday at the Target Center. The rosters feature players who were seniors during the recently-completed 2004-05 school year.

Players will be introduced during a Friday, June 24, banquet and will be recognized during halftime activities of the Sunday, June 26, Minnesota Lynx women's professional basketball game against Seattle at the Target Center.

Minnesota girls Basketball Coaches Association sponsors the all-star series.

The ball was knocked out of the glove of Thief River Falls catcher Michael Benedict on a head-first slide by Detroit Lakes runner Zach Fulmer during the fifth inning of a May 31 North Sub-Section 8AAA high school baseball tournament game at the Multi-Events Center. Fulmer scored from third on sacrifice fly by Jake Kiebke. The Lakers ended the Prowlers' 2005 season with a 7-3 decision.

but it doesn't overwhelm those with the high-number scorecards.

Golfers on either end of the talent spectrum can gain equal satisfaction from participating in the tournament, and the handicap scoring may even help narrow the gap when totals are posted. Remember, too, that golfing ability has no influence on the door prize drawings held during the brief awards ceremony that follows the tournament.

Advance registration is appreciated, but golfers are welcome to sign up on the day of the tournament. Efforts will be made to pair up golfers who are not part of a complete four-person team.

To register, or for additional information, contact Mike Lundgren at 681-7390 or 681-4450.

What Can You Do to Help Lower the Risk of SIDS

■ Always place your baby on his or her back to sleep, even for naps.

■ Place your baby on a firm mattress, such as in a safety-approved crib.

■ Remove soft, fluffy and loose bedding and stuffed toys from your baby's sleep area.

■ Make sure your baby's face and head stay uncovered during sleep.

■ Do not smoke around your baby.

■ Don't let your baby get too warm during sleep.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

Greenbush race season finally underway!

After three consecutive rain-outs to start the season, the Greenbush Race Park beat the odds Saturday night and opened the 2005 season with a full show. Weather conditions were iffy at best with low clouds, a light fog, temps in the mid 60's and rain on the way.

Despite the already saturated conditions, track officials did a great job preparing a competitive track, and outside of a light mist during the Modified heat race, the entire program went off without a hitch.

First feature flag of the season was claimed by Mini-Sprint pilot Dan Wiskow (Roseau), who held off a late-race challenge from Clay Sorteberg and went flag-to-flag for the win.

With double points available in the NOPA Pure Stocks, a great field of cars took to the track and provided one of the more entertaining races of the evening. The feature included four lead changes through 15 laps of action. Derreck Pollack (Winnipeg, Man.) passed Randy Jawaski with five laps to go to pick up the win.

In the NOPA Streets, Phillip Hougard (Karlstad) started on the pole and got a great start leading the pack off the line. He would hold the lead until Lap 13 when Jamen Foss (Greenbush), driving the high line, would pass for the lead and the win. Hougard finished a close second, just ahead of Steffan Snare (Hallock), who had one of the best runs of the night after starting 12th and then meticulously picking of cars lap after lap and issuing the challenge on the final lap.

John Halvorson (Warren) got a great start on the green flag for the WISSOTA Super Stock final. He would need it all, holding off a late challenge from Rick Jacobson (Wilton). Halvorson built an early 8-to-10 car length lead in the race, but Jacobson nibbled away lap after lap to close the gap at the line.

A small but competitive fields of WISSOTA Modifieds were on hand for the opener. In the feature, Rick Delaine (Manitoba) and Nolan Olmstead (Badger) were locked in for a great battle, racing bumper to bumper most of the race. Olmstead made several attempts to get by, but Delaine ran error-free for the win.

The evening's finale was the NOPA 4-cylinder feature. With double points on the line, Les McRae (Winnipeg, Man.) would lead all the way for the win. McRae was quickly into lap traffic and masterfully weaved his way clear of cars and potential trouble. Kurt Smith (Greenbush) and Mark Syvret traded second and third several times through the first 10 laps, before Smith gained the edge.

With the first race in the books, the Greenbush Race Park now prepares to host its first NOSA Sprint Car Special of the season Saturday, June 11. The Northern Outlaw Sprints will be joined by the WISSOTA Mods and Super Stocks, Mini-Sprints and the NOPA Street and Pure Stocks. Hot laps start at 7 p.m. Racing begins at 7:30.

The Race Park is located north of Greenbush on County Road 7.

Alexandria wins crown in North 8AAA baseball

Alexandria beat Detroit Lakes 5-3 Saturday in the North Sub-Section 8AAA high school baseball tournament finals.

The Cardinals were the No. 3 seed behind Brainerd and Moorhead in the seven-team, double-elimination format. The Lakers were the No. 7 seed.

Alexandria meets Sartell-St. Stephen in the best-of-three Section 8AAA championship series that starts with a single game at Alexandria today (Wednesday). The series shifts to Sartell-St. Stephen Thursday – for two games, if necessary. The No. 2-seeded Sabres beat top-seeded St. Cloud Tech in the South Sub-Section 8AAA finals.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Franklin Middle School girls golf team wrapped up its season the third week of May. Most of the practice sessions and meet were conducted in windy conditions, with precipitation in all of its forms being experienced, according to coach Bob Stenson.

The 2005 team included eighth graders Kayla Hickey, Britney Holter, Katrina Peterson, Corissa Kruse and Sara Zaviska; seventh graders Kassondra Jesme and Rachel Benedict; along with sixth graders Shelvby Johnson, Kaitlyn Lund, Averi Hamre and Hailey Johnson.

A four-meet schedule opened with the April 25 Thief River Falls Invitational that drew six teams from four schools: Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Bemidji. The Prowler Blue team placed fourth.

May 2 Crookston Invitational was played at Climax, where Crookston, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls put together a five-team meet. The Prowlers' Corissa Kruse was medalist in the nine-hole event with a 63.

Bemidji Invitational May 9 attracted six teams. The Prowlers' Katrina Peterson was third in the medal standings with an 18-hole 94. Thief River Falls finished fourth.

The schedule was completed at the May 13 East Grand Forks Invitational, where 10 teams from seven schools were on hand. Kruse turned in the Prowlers' top score in the 18-hole event with a 111.

"Even though we did not have a large number of girls out this year, I was very impressed by the loyalty of those who did continue to practice and play in the tournaments," said Stenson. "Hopefully these girls will continued practicing and improving their game throughout the summer. Our golf season is short and there is only so much time for fine-tuning their games. Once the basics are learned, our girls need to put the time in and practice, practice, practice...and get their friends to play the game with them."

Willmar beats Brainerd in 8AAA softball series

Willmar swept Brainerd 1-0 and 5-4 to win the best-of-three 2005 Section 8AAA high school softball tournament championship series. Game 1 was played Thursday; Friday's second game was a nine-inning affair.

Brainerd beat Thief River Falls 2-0 in the North Sub-Section 8AAA finals earlier in the week. Willmar defeated Rocori in the South Sub-Section 8AAA championship game.

Both Willmar and Brainerd were the top seeds in their respective sub-section tournaments.

Class A, AA and AAA state softball tournaments are being played this week at Caswell Park in North Mankato.

Tips offered for National Playground Safety Month

As summer draws near, children will be playing outdoors and on playgrounds. Playgrounds, whether on school or park grounds or in a person's backyard, can be a common site for injuries. Falls from playground visits account for many of Altru Health System's Emergency Department visits each year.

SAFE KIDS Grand Forks, N.D., is fortunate to have a certified playground safety technician on its coalition. That technician, Bill Vasicek, has these suggestions to keep children safe on playgrounds:

- Avoid asphalt, concrete, grass and soil surfaces under playground equipment. Acceptable loose-fill materials include shredded rubber, hardwood fiber mulch or chips, and fine sand. Surfacing should be maintained at a depth of 12 inches and should extend a minimum of six feet in all directions around stationary equipment. Depending on the height of the equipment, surfacing may need to extend farther than six feet. Rubber mats, synthetic turf and other artificial materials are also safe surfaces and require less maintenance.
- Ensure that a comprehensive inspection of all playgrounds is conducted by qualified personnel. Abide by daily, monthly and annual playground maintenance schedules. Ensure that schools and childcare centers have age-appropriate, well-maintained playground equipment and that trained supervisors are present at all times when children are on the playground. Report any playground safety hazards to the organization responsible for the site (e.g. school, park authority, city council).
- Always supervise children when using playground equipment. Maintain visual and auditory contact. Prevent unsafe behaviors like pushing, shoving, crowding and inappropriate use of equipment.
- Ensure that children use age-appropriate playground equipment. Maintain separate play areas for children under age 5. Larger equipment is not designed to safely accommodate children of smaller sizes.
- Remove hood and neck drawstrings from all children's outerwear. Never allow children to wear helmets, necklaces, purses, scarves or clothing with drawstrings while on playgrounds.

I had the cotoneasters removed from around the house and am replacing them with other plants. The bleeding heart looks wonderful and it was worth all that covering I did for about three weeks of cold nights.

It's great to be downwind from the blossoming chokecherry trees and breathe deeply of its "Herbal Essence Shampoo" fragrance. Chokecherries have always been both a blessing and a bane where I was concerned. We had work clothes and school clothes and Sunday clothes when I was growing up. Before the days of "Kleenex", and the rule was to use a handkerchief, our mother always put pockets on our dresses to carry them. Men and boys wore bib overalls and they had plenty pockets. To catch the school bus we had a quarter of a mile to walk or run, as was deemed necessary, through woods loaded with chokecherry trees. They never tasted better than real ripe in September and I didn't seem to develop enough character to go by them with out filling my pockets, brown teeth or no brown teeth. I know the berries were dry when I put them in the pockets, but they always bled and stained my dresses. My mother, bless her memory, tried everything in the book to get the stains out, but with no more results than I learned not to put them in the pocket! I went through similar things when I had my own little girl. I'd given anything to have her around again.

Judy Kleinvachter brought her brother, Alvin Homstrom, who is in the Karlstad Healthcare Center, some doughnuts and spent the afternoon visiting him. On Tuesday, she went to Strandquist with her guest, June Severson, to feast on potato dumplings at Irene's Cafe. Cathy Erickson from Newfolden entertained them by playing her accordion during the noon hour. Visitors at her home this week were June Kasprowicz, Marie Steffen, Pat Larson and Kelly Lefrooth and daughters Amanda and Jessica.

Paul and Shirley Anderson went to Grygla on Saturday for Laura Hagen's graduation from high school.

New Breakthrough Technology in Cataract Eye Surgery

Cataract surgery has become one of the most successfully performed surgical procedures in modern medicine. Now there is a new technique for cataract surgery that makes the experience easier and more comfortable for the patient.

The Clear Cornea technique makes an incision 1/8th of an inch long. The opening is so small, that in most cases, no eye patches or sutures are required.

When making this tiny incision, your doctor uses a sharp diamond blade that causes very little trauma to the eye and allows clearer vision more rapidly than with older techniques. Patients can return to normal activities with minimum interruption in their daily routine.

If you or someone you love has signs of cataracts, such as blurred vision or glare, call or visit your local eye care provider and learn more about this new procedure.

Cemetery thefts

The financial loss of flowers taken from local cemeteries is miniscule compared to the emotional impact it has on relatives and friends. Cemeteries are devoted exclusively to a single use or purpose. As hallowed or sacred ground, the theft of flowers and small memorials inflicts no injury on those who reside there, but serious emotional injury on the living.

Please respect this sacred place.

Best wishes to Sarah Zak

We offer best wishes to Sarah Zak who will be competing in the Miss Minnesota Competition soon. As all Miss Thief River Falls Pageant winners have before her, Zak has served as an ambassador for the community. It's not an easy task.

Local residents have been invited to a send-off party for her at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 9, at the Community Church. This event will provide Zak with another opportunity to model her competition wardrobe and perform her state competition piano piece.

TRF experiences growth problems

Planning hasn't been a problem. Considerable efforts in the past have generated several "noteworthy" plans such as emergency response plans, five-year and 10-year plans, water treatment and use plans, capital improvement plans, and even economic development plans. From so many plans one would obviously conclude that much of the time of government officials is spent in making plans. Yet for all their planning, there is one plan that Thief River Falls really hasn't had to deal with for many, many years - growth.

It creeped up on us. For years, local officials decried the declining population or the population shift from rural areas to urban centers like the Twin Cities. It robbed us of taxes with which to pay for essential services. It hurt business, too. What will it take, they asked, to keep our children from leaving once they've graduated? What will it take, they asked, to keep citizens and business from leaving?

There was a good side. Polluted streams, pot-holed streets, traffic gridlock, sewer and water systems stretched too thin, were issues we really didn't care about because they didn't affect us. Those are or were big-city issues. But because we thought it was the responsible and necessary thing to do, we planned and crafted ways to attract business and help business expand, anyway.

The hoped-for job growth happened slowly. First, we noticed that housing and recreational amenities had become an issue. Some thought that the housing issue was mostly a college student issue, or an aging senior citizen population issue. Recently, we learned that as many as 500 new jobs had been created in the community last year, so it really isn't a student or senior citizen housing issue anymore. We also learned that 25 to 27 new homes are being built every year, and we can expect the population to exceed 9,500 by 2010.

We have also learned that the new growth is stretching resources. We see it in the plans for a new water treatment plant sludge management process; demands to solve drainage and ditch issues; demands for more housing development districts; demands for water and sewer line extensions; demands to repair potholes; and egads, solve traffic congestion.

We need to start educating the public about these new growth issues.

It's reasonable under the circumstances, for the public to be concerned. To local government officials, these topics may be old news or slightly used because they've been reacting to the developments for the past few years already, but to the citizen on the street, it's news now. Future messages to citizens need to be couched in terms they understand and in terms that provide them with an explanation for all these changes and new expenses. They need to know how government will solve all the new problems associated with growth.

What does this growth mean? How will it affect taxpayers? Are there any benefits? Does the city have a plan? Citizens will be demanding answers to all these questions. Perhaps, they won't start demanding answers until they receive a notice that their home may be annexed into the city. Now is probably a good time to begin educating the public about the new issues brought about by growth.

Dayton completes tour to promote E-85 fuel use

Friday, June 3, U.S. Senator Mark Dayton completed his three-day tour of gas stations selling E-85 throughout Minnesota, which included stops in Minneapolis, Austin, Luverne, Mankato, Marshall, Rochester, and Worthington, to promote the 85 percent ethanol-blended fuel, known as E-85. While pumping gas for area residents, Dayton pitched the merits of E-85 fuel as a less expensive, environmentally sound alternative to conventional gasoline. At each of his stops, Dayton also presented a new feature of his official Senate Web site, which allows Minnesotans to determine whether their own vehicles are E-85 compatible and to locate E-85-supplied gas stations in their area.

"Today, I completed a tour across southern Minnesota to promote the use of E-85 fuel," said Dayton. "Any Minnesotan looking to buy a new vehicle should be sure to ask for a flexible fuel engine, which runs on E-85, because the price of gas is going to keep increasing while ethanol continues to be a cheaper alternative. Instead of spending $115 billion yearly on foreign oil, we can put that money back into the pockets of Minnesota farmers by buying this corn-based fuel.

"Minnesotans can buy the vehicles they like to drive and fill up with homegrown fuel that's more energy efficient, more environmentally friendly, cheaper and potentially more beneficial for our rural economy rather than continuing to depend on fuel from foreign countries. It's a grand slam; but, so far, we haven't managed to get to first base."

Last month, the U.S. Senate unanimously passed Dayton's amendment requiring automobile manufacturers to display a decal on the gas tanks and windshields of E-85-compatible vehicles effective in 2007, showing their capability for running on the alternative fuel. Dayton has also introduced two other pieces of legislation, the Freedom from Foreign Oil Act, which would require all vehicles, beginning in model year 2012, to be E-85 compatible; and the Renewable Fuels Standard, which would add eight billion gallons of ethanol to the nation's gasoline supply each year, effective the same year.

Two weeks ago, Dayton traveled to Detroit to visit the manufacturing plants of General Motors and Ford Motors and to meet with vehicle designers and engineers to discuss ways to provide more of America's drivers with the option of using E-85.

For more information on E-85, please visit Dayton's Web site: http://dayton.senate.gov/issues/agriculture/renewablefuels.cfm.

Cemetery thefts upset local residents

To the Editor:

It has been a very sad and depressing week. Thursday night, we went to a funeral home to say goodbye to three of our friends. Then, on Friday, we said goodbye to two more friends at Oklee and on Saturday, a good friend at Goodridge.

Sometimes when we feel sad we go out to the cemetery to weed a little and water flowers. It makes us feel better.

So that's what we did on Friday where we were surprised to come to our plot and find a beautiful plant gone. I kind of know how Mary, the mother of Jesus, felt when she came to the tomb and he was gone. Gone but where?

Now, did some child need a plant to put on their mom's grave or maybe grandma's? If they needed a flower for that, I'd gladly buy one for them.

Or, was it someone who took it and threw it away because they had nothing else to do. Come over to my house, I'll find something for you to do.

Now, maybe it wasn't a child. Maybe it was a grownup who needed a flower for their yard or house. Give me a call. I'd gladly buy one for you.

You see this beautiful flower was bought for a mother and a 4-year-old child - a child that never walked, never talked and never rode a bike.

So, if there is someone out there who knows who took it, let me know. There is a big reward out for it, and I'll see that you get it - or, how about just bringing it back?

I don't know who you are but God does.

I hope the party who stole the planter with flowers from my husband's grave in Greenwood Cemetery over Memorial Day weekend will take care of them and try to enjoy them as if they were their own.

Compromise is key to success in special session

by Rep. Brita Sailer

When I came to Saint Paul, I made a commitment to get the job done for our district and our state. I, like many of the residents of our district and the state, felt that there had been too much partisan bickering and not enough compromise.

Of course as a first-term legislator, I recognized that I was not going to be able to accomplish this task single-handedly. I found that my 'freshman' colleagues had the same desire to see change in the approach at the Capitol to find compromise without the need for extra innings. Early on, we bonded together and agreed not to accept per diem for the duration of a special session.

The major disagreements between leaders in Saint Paul attract quite a bit of attention. In spite of these high profile clashes, bipartisanship does exist at the Capitol, and it often plays a role in passing bills for the good of Minnesota. This will likely continue as a part of a final agreement.

This is not to say that I would not hold firm on the issues of vital importance to the northern Minnesota, the people whom I represent. Compromise [illegible] total capitulation. I [illegible] remain optimistic that the special session will be brief and will adequately address the [illegible] facing state [illegible].

This year, the Republican-led House and the Democratic-led Senate and members from both sides of the political aisle within each body have joined together to pass many major pieces of legislation. We have passed bills that will encourage job creation, invest in our Minnesota-grown economies, and are tough on crime.

The first and arguably best example of a bipartisan success was the passage of the Capital Investment, also known as the "Bonding" bill, which made significant investments in our college and university system, transportation, and other important projects. Most importantly, the bill will create as many as 12,000 good-paying jobs for Minnesotans beginning this construction season.

The governor has signed a bill to increase the state's minimum wage one dollar above the federal minimum, resulting in an improved quality of life for thousands of low-wage workers. We have passed a bill to increase the ethanol content in fuel to 20 percent by the year 2013. The result is an improved quality of life for thousands of low-wage workers and a move from dependence on foreign sources of fuel to homegrown renewable fuels. Both of these bills were [illegible]

[illegible] House has passed [illegible] that takes bold steps to address the growing epidemic of methamphetamine addiction and an Omnibus Public Safety Policy and Finance bill that changes the way that we deal with dangerous sex offenders. We overwhelmingly passed a State Government Finance bill that calls for government to tighten its belt and rewards our dedicated National Guard veterans with tuition reimbursement should they chose to continue their education.

Certainly, legislators across party lines and those representing districts across the state are not always going to see eye to eye. That said, in order to have compromise, there must first be some level of disagreement. There exists genuine differences in vision on many key issues including the role of state government, but in the end, the goal is the same - to improve the state of Minnesota and move its people and economy forward. I will work very hard to continue down that path of compromise that has been so successful this legislative session.

As always, I appreciate your input. Please feel free to contact my office with questions or comments about any issue of state government. I can be reached at 327 State Office Building, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55155, (651) 296-4265 or toll free at (800) 920-5867, or by e-mail at rep.brita.sailer@house.mn

Minnesota model of health care is taking shape now

by Cal Ludeman, Chairperson of the Governor's Health Cabinet and Commissioner of the Department of Employee Relations

Recent announcements that Minnesota's largest health plans will be using a "tiered" approach to grouping providers is evidence that a new "Minnesota model" of health care delivery is taking shape. Educating consumers and empowering them to make decisions about the quality and cost of their health care will transform the marketplace. Affordable health care in the future will be dependent upon consumer demands and Minnesota is leading the way.

Minnesotans spend in excess of $27 billion on health care every year and are feeling the effects of this burden in their day to day lives. However, for as substantial an investment as we make in our health care, we know shockingly little about what we get in return. Most people don't know that there are often stark differences between not only the cost but also the quality of health outcomes from one hospital to the next.

The concept of the tiered provider structure is simple – consumer education and empowerment will drive quality and efficiency. The tiered approach allows health plans to make distinctions between hospitals and clinic systems. Those providers with the capacity to deliver cost-effective and high-quality care are then rewarded with more business. If you knew that your health outcomes would be better and your bill would be smaller at Clinic A, wouldn't you choose Clinic A over others with a less favorable quality-cost ratio?

The state of Minnesota – the state's largest employer – has used a tiered structure since 2002 and has saved taxpayers and employees literally millions of dollars. The tiered structure provides these cost savings in two significant ways. First, money is saved when distinctions are made about the quality and cost of care from different providers. More money yet is saved as consumers then use the tools and education provided by the tiered system to make decisions about whether they really want to pay for an office visit or a certain procedure. Consumers are not denied the care or doctors they prefer – they are simply more informed and have more control over how they utilize their health care.

Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) use the same concepts of quality/cost distinctions and consumer education and take them one step further. When managing an HSA, consumers have every economic and medical incentive to make smart decisions about their health care.

The Governor's Health Cabinet and the private-sector partnerships formed around the "SmartBuy Purchasing Alliance" embrace the concepts of consumer empowerment and a more transparent system as keys to the future success and effectiveness of Minnesota's health care system. While much remains to do, the "Minnesota model" of consumer focused health care is transforming the market and paving the way for an affordable health care system in Minnesota.

Sunday School Picnic

"Miss Lois Oden entertained the pupils of her Sunday school class at a picnic at the O. F. Mellby farm, three miles east of town, Wednesday afternoon. Games formed the diversion of the afternoon and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by the Misses Virginia Quale and Alice Larson. The guests were Arnhild Fjelstad, Corlan Bakken, Effie Angell, Jean Mellby and Dorothy Fowler."

Woolworth Employees Are Crookston Store Guests

"The employees of the local Woolworth store, who were the winners of a sales contest held between this city and the Crookston Woolworth store, were entertained by the losers at a picnic dinner given at the Crookston Park last Friday afternoon. Games and contests formed the diversion of the afternoon and the dinner was attractively served at a table decorated in red and white. Local guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Miller, Merretta Dudley, Lillian Roberts, Gladys Larson, Lillian Knight and Edna Alexander."

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER — JUNE 8, 1905
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Refused to Be Square
Red Lake Falls Takes the Usual Stand in the County Seat Fight

"The county commissioners of Red Lake county met at Red Lake Falls Monday to consider the matter of the county seat removal petition. As usual, Red Lake Falls refused to stand for a square deal.

"Monday and Tuesday forenoon was spent in considering the petition. Red Lake Falls did not present any remonstrance and, on Tuesday morning at about 11 o'clock, a majority of the commissioners, Demann, Sutor and Falardeau, voted that the petition was not a legal one. This was done after the county attorney, a Red Lake Falls man, had, with reluctance, given an opinion to the effect that it was legal. There was positively no ground for these three commissioners taking the stand that they did. At the request of the Red Lake Falls citizens, they refused to stand for a square deal and do their honest and sworn duty by acting fairly."

Looking Us Over
Soo Officials and Twin Cities Business Men Here the First of the Week

"A special car containing General Manager Pennington, Chief Engineer Green of the Soo line, and other prominent Twin Cities business men, arrived here Monday morning. The party left in two large automobiles for a trip from this city to Kenmare, North Dakota, following the line through which the Soo will pass in its western extension. They made the trip for the purpose of looking over the country and also to see how work on the new line is progressing."

Eighteen to 000000000
That Is the Way Thief River Falls Defeated the Detroit Team Sunday

"By a score of eighteen to nothing, Thief River Falls defeated the team from Detroit [Lakes] Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds in this city. It was very evident from the start of the game that Detroit would be defeated, and although they had a fairly good team, it was not a swift enough one to play with the local aggregation. As a matter of fact, Thief River Falls has too good a team to play with any of the clubs in this section and an effort will be made to secure games with some of the Northern League teams. Since playing the game with the Crookston league team, Thief River Falls' club has been greatly strengthened."

Class of '05 Graduated
An Interesting Program Rendered at Evenson Hall Friday Evening

"Commencement exercises were held in Evenson's hall last Friday night. The program for the evening was especially good, as it showed on the part of the graduates careful study and preparation.

"Mr. McGinnis, the retiring professor, who has done much to bring the high school up to its present fine standard, opened the program with an address of welcome. The remainder of the program was as follows:

|---|---|
| Music | High School Chorus |
| Invocation | Rev. C. H. Flesher |
| Essay, 'Settlement Work in American Cities' (Salutatory) | by Mary Gertrude Meehan |
| Vocal Solo | Miss Linda Robbecke, accompanied by Mrs. Hamm |
| Essay, 'Upward Leading' | by Marie Amanda Burgess |
| Oration, 'The Labor Question' | by Joseph Gustavus Weeks |
| Music | Mrs. Hamm |
| Essay, 'Woman and Her Work' | by Olga Augusta Kretzschmar |
| Essay, 'The Ministry of Song' (Valedictory) | by Hazel Joyce Prichard |
| Music Quartet | Mrs. Nason, Miss Helgeson, & Messrs. Anderson and Korstad |
| Presentation of Diplomas | by Mr. Lars Backe |
| Benediction | Rev. C. H. Flesher |

"This is the second class that has been graduated from the new high school, and it is a class to be proud of. Last year there were but two graduates and this year we have an increase of three, with indications of a much larger class next year, probably seven or eight.

"Miss Hazel Prichard, the valedictorian, gained a free scholarship to Hamlin University, but has not yet decided whether to enter that institution or to take a course at the University of Minnesota.

"Saturday evening a launching party was given the graduates by the members of the junior class. The young folks were chaperoned by Misses Phillips and McGrath and Prof. McGinnis. On Monday, in spite of the weather, they were again entertained by the class of '07 at a launching party, which was chaperoned by Miss Edith Prichard and Mrs. Donald McNiven."

Has No Fear

"Casper Weiner was in the city last week and appeared before Judge Bishop to answer the charge of having a moose head illegally in his possession. Mr. Weiner waved examination and the matter will come up before the next jury. To the NEWS, Mr. Weiner stated that the game warden had absolutely no evidence against him and that there would be no doubt about his proving his innocence when the proper time arrived."

A Drink Trough
City Council Should Install One at Some Convenient Place

"Now that the city is to have water works," said a business man to the NEWS, "the city council should provide for a drinking trough at some convenient point. Farmers who come to town during warm weather like to have some place to water their horses and a place of this kind is certainly badly needed here."

"The idea is a very good one and should be acted upon by our city fathers."

"Crops will not suffer for moisture for some time as we have had more than enough rain the past week.

"W. A. Arthur has rented the Hotel Markham for another year, having secured a new lease this week.

"Miss Alma Remington treated about fifteen of the little ones of her Sunday school class to a picnic last Thursday.

"A pick-up team played a game of ball last Sunday on the local grounds with a team from the country and defeated their country cousins by a score of 48 to 6.

"A. F. Lang has been busy the past week taking the census in the village and has the work nearly finished. It is thought that the village will show a population of about nine hundred.

"RED LAKE COURIER: The band of this place has been secured by St. Hilaire for July 4th. It is said that the town to the north of us will have a monster celebration and we assure our neighbors that Red Lake Falls will be represented by a large crowd."

Editorial:

"The Anti-Profanity League of America will soon establish in this state with headquarters at St. Paul. A sub-station could find plenty to do here."

The Fourth of July
Arrangements Being Made for All Kinds of Fun Here that Day

"The committees appointed have been hard at work the past week making arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration and are meeting with considerable success. Red Lake Falls will not celebrate but promises to come here strong and they will bring along their excellent band of 27 pieces.

"Negotiations are now on with the Thief River Falls ball team for a game here, the principal trouble being the difficulty of finding a team strong enough to give them the right kind of a battle. It may be the White Earth Indian team if proper arrangements can be made. We hope to be able to make a more definite announcement next week."

Petition Rejected!
The County Commissioners Refuse to Consider the County Seat Petition
Red Lake Falls Scores
Prospects for a Long Hard Legal Fight -- The Courts to Decide

"The county commissioners of Red Lake county met in special session last Monday to consider the petition circulated by Thief River Falls for the removal of the county seat. After hearing the arguments on both sides of the case, the board passed a resolution declaring the petition as not being in legal form. The vote on this resolution stood: Demann, Sutor and Falardeau in favor of the resolution and Johnson and Shaw against. The RED LAKE FALLS COURIER gives the following reason for the action of the board:

"'It seems Thief River Falls circulated 32 petitions instead of one, as they stated they would in their notice before the petitions were circulated. In their notice published at the beginning of proceedings, they stated that eight persons would circulate a petition. It seems that sixty-four persons circulated thirty-two petitions. It was also found that the notices in regard to the circulating of the petition were not posted in the three most prominent places of this city. For these and other good reasons, the board refused to grant their request for an election.'

"The THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS has the following:

"'To cap the climax, by a prearranged agreement, W. A. McIntyre, a Red Lake Falls attorney, was in Crookston and secured from Judge Watts a mandamus to compel the county commissioners to meet on June 20 and consider the petition. This would give Red Lake Falls the attorneys on both sides of the case, and, as they well knew that Thief River Falls would commence mandamus proceedings, they made the first move in the case.

"'Of course the Thief River Falls attorneys will take action to protect the petitioners in every way. How long the matter will be in litigation it, of course, will be hard to say, but the people of the county are patient and convinced that right will eventually triumph.'

"In the meantime it is up to the courts to decide and while our ambitious neighbors are doing the fighting, it is up to the taxpayers to whistle and dig."

State Elks Convention To Open Thursday; Parade Saturday

"A full program of business sessions and entertainment features has been arranged for the 500 or more members of the Minnesota State Elks association who will participate in their annual state convention in Thief River Falls Thursday through Saturday, it was announced today by Bob Carlson, exulted ruler of the local lodge, and Juel Stadum, chairman of the convention committee.

"Highlights will include an outdoor fish fry to be staged in the Tourist park Friday evening at 6:30; an Elks championship golf tournament Saturday morning; the convention parade Saturday at 1 p.m.; Joppru rodeo at 2:15; and the convention banquet in the armory at 6:30.

"Thursday evening events will include the state ritualistic contest at 7 in the Eagles auditorium, with the St. Paul, Bemidji and Brainerd teams competing; a baseball game at 8 between the Thief River Falls and Warroad teams and entertainment at the Elks club rooms."

Pennington History Society Appoints 18 Secretaries In Townships

"Organization of the Pennington County Historical society proceeded with a meeting of newly-appointed recording secretaries of the townships on Monday, June 6, Miss Katherine Barzen, president, announced, adding that the roster is complete except for Reiner, Kratka and Mayfield townships.

"Judge Paul A. Lundgren instructed the secretaries in their duties. He reviewed what had been done by the society in the 1930's when the society had started gathering data concerning pioneer residents.

"The society disbanded when its historical room in the auditorium was taken over by the city for office purposes. Judge Lundgren spoke of the large space that will be available to the society in the new court house, provided a responsible organization will take care of it.

"Duties of the corresponding secretaries is to get a short history of the original settlers in each township. The society will then catalog this information.

"Township recording secretaries appointed to date include: Sanders, Alfred Wold, Rte. 5, TRF; Bray, August Scholin, Rte. 5, TRF; Rocksbury, Paul Engelstad, Rte. 3, TRF; Polk Centre, Edgar Naplin, Rte. 3, TRF; North, Mrs. Vivian Copp, Rte. 1, TRF; Highlanding, Ernest Swanson, Goodridge; Smiley, James McCrum, Rte. 3; Goodridge, Roy Wiseth, Goodridge; Star, Hans Solberg, Goodridge; Hickory, Mrs. Glenn Tasa, Trail; Deer Park, J. ### Air Raid Warning Alert To Be Heard In City June 15

"Kendall Gustafson, local director of Civil Defense, announced today that an air raid warning signal will be sounded on the fire siren next Wednesday morning, June 15, at about 10 o'clock. He added that the signal will be part of a national and state Civil Defense exercise scheduled for the 15th. It is planned, he said, to repeat the test about once a month."

Rest Home People Thrilled By Visit Of Governor Freeman

"Governor Orville Freeman took advantage of an interval between the banquet and armory dedication program Monday evening to make a tour of inspection of the Oakland Park rest home in company with Donald Brandvold, superintendent.

"The governor was free in his praises of the attractive surroundings and homelike atmosphere of the home. A large number of residents were thrilled by the opportunity to exchange greetings and shake hands with Mr. Freeman."

NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ADJUSTMENTS & APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 152 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Jerome Cota, 820 North Arnold, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, has applied for a Variance to the Zoning Code, which governs the Side Yard Setback Requirement for Non-general Yard Requirements for the General Residential District (R-2). The property is legally described as Lot 11, Block 10 Oakland Park Addition

Mr. Cota proposes to construct a 14' x 30' garage onto the (side) of his existing garage. The existing garage is a detached accessory building located entirely within the rear half of the lot. As a result the interior Side yard Setback requirement is 3'. Mr. Cota has requested approval of a 2' Variance to the 3' Side Yard Setback Requirement of City Code, Section 152.025 (E)(2)(b), for the General Residential District (R-2).

Notice is further given that the Board of Adjustments & Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Request at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, June 20, 2005, in the City Council Chambers, City Hall, 405 Third Street East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. All persons wishing to comment on the Variance Request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Hall, P. O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701, or telephone 218-681-2500.

If you have a disability and need an accommodation in order to attend this Hearing, please contact the undersigned as soon as possible or at least three (3) working days in advance of the Hearing at the above telephone number.

Excess rain delays crops

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Crop planting and growing has fallen way behind schedule in some portions of northwest Minnesota, thanks to an overabundance of rain. In other areas, consistent precipitation may have already lowered the harvest totals of crops like soybeans that favor warmer temperatures.

According to Howard Person, a technical adviser in agricultural production systems for the University of Minnesota Extension, soybeans and large grain crops are hurt the most by the excessive precipitation and cool temperatures. Small grains, according to Person, should do well despite the excess moisture, noting that they typically grow well in cool temperatures.

"Most of the small grain is in, but we've got probably 20 to 25 percent of the soybeans that didn't get planted," Person said. "And it's going to vary a great deal from farm to farm."

Person used farms in the Grygla-Gatzke area as an example. Poor growing conditions, coupled with an early frost and wet fall last year left farmers in that area with little or no harvest. The wet fall kept farmers from harvesting and getting their crops worked back. The same farmers have been slowed by a late and wet spring this year.

Person said he also talked to farmers in the Grygla-Gatzke area who did get their fields worked back following the 2004 growing season. In both cases, the near constant rain during the months of May and June have all-but ended any chance for soybean crops to be successfully planted, grown and harvested.

"They were waiting for the ground to warm up and we started getting these little drizzly rains and they haven't been able to get back in," Person said.

The preventive plant date, June 10, has come and gone for soybeans, which will leave farmers who haven't yet planted with two options: One, collect preventive planting crop insurance; or two, risk planting.

"Most guys are saying, 'I can't afford to pay $2 per gallon diesel fuel costs, $400 per ton fertilizer costs and for expensive seed and only take two-thirds to three-fourths of a crop if things turn out,'" Person said. "There will be very little more that get seeded."

NW Dairy Day kicks off with milking contest

Northwest Dairy Day, June 18, in Thief River Falls will include a cow milking contest between some local dignitaries.

The event, which will take place just outside the dairy cattle barn located on the Pennington County fairgrounds, will feature Rhonda Gust of Strathcona, Beattie Mickelson of Goodridge, Joy Nordby of Grygla, Bob Homme of Goodridge, Allen DuCharme of Red Lake Falls, and Dale Wennberg of Thief River Falls.

This will be a timed event and each participant will receive a special recognition award. Be sure to stop by and watch the fun.

The "elite" milk cow that is participating in this event is named "Lynette" and comes from the Dale Rupprecht Dairy Farm.

This is the 56th Annual Northwest Dairy. Northwest Dairy Day attracts youth from 17 area counties. Organizers expect another good turnout for this year's event, which is open to any youth from kindergarten to one year past high school.

Kiwanis Club raises funds for new playground

Northrop Park to receive equipment

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Living the life of a kid is tough, especially when the nearest playground equipment is located across the city of Thief River Falls.

The Thief River Falls Kiwanis Club is hoping to change that for kids on the north side of the city. "We're trying to raise the money for park equipment," said Barb Natvik, Kiwanis Club president.

The club is hosting a meal and carnival Tuesday, June 21 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Northrop Park to raise money for playground equipment at that park. Hot dogs, chips and beverages will be served. Freewill donations will be accepted. Carnival games, such as a ring toss and stick-horse rodeo, will be offered, and face-painting will be available. Local 4-H clubs and the Pennington County Daycare Association (PCDA) will supervise those activities. Kiwanis Club members will serve the meal.

A lot of daycares are located in that area of the city, said Kelly Taggart, PCDA treasurer, about why the association decided to help with the fundraiser.

Kiwanis Club members hope to raise approximately $66,000 for the playground equipment, ground work and bedding. The club has raised $10,000 so far, Natvik said.

The playground equipment includes swings, a climbing rock and climbing net, according to Natvik. She added that the equipment will also include items similar to those found at Hartz Park. The Thief River Falls Parks and Recreation Department is helping the Kiwanis Club with preparing the area for installation of the equipment. The club will receive volunteer labor to install the playground equipment.

Two years ago, the club did a needs assessment and determined the city does not have any playground equipment on the north side of Thief River Falls. The Kiwanis Club approached city leaders about the need for playground equipment in that area, and it was told the city did not have any money for the equipment and installation.

Elden Winge sets sights on retirement

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

At Elden Winge's retirement party, his colleagues role-played several incidents involving Winge's appearances before the Goodridge School Board. In particular, they role-played the numerous times over the years that he has said, "I'm thinking about retirement."

Well, it's for real this time, and he's actually retiring. Winge, who's celebrating his 40th year in education, will serve his last day as the principal of Goodridge School on June 30.

"I haven't really decided what I'm going to do, actually," Winge said about his retirement plans. If he gets bored enough, he said, he might get another job in education.

Even though he hasn't decided what he's going to do, Winge has some ideas. He intends to spend more time with his family, which includes his wife, Helen; three sons and three grandchildren.

Winge also plans to start using his fishing boat again and the archery equipment he recently bought. Then there's also his small farm to think

Friday, Northwest Manufacturing Inc. in Red Lake Falls, celebrated the grand opening of its new corporate headquarters and the launch of its environmentally friendly WoodMaster Plus furnace.

Northwest Manufacturing, which was incorporated in 1989, now employs 66 people in the community of Red Lake Falls and offers a range of furnaces to heat homes, garages, pools and spas; underfloor heating systems; and replacement parts for all outdoor furnace brands. It produces over 3,000 outdoor stoves annually. On Friday, it celebrated the grand opening of its new corporate headquarters and training center.

The new office building accommodates its business offices and a training center. The training center holds 40 participants and is used for hands-on training as well as classroom instruction. It is equipped with state-of-the-art projectors and computers for displaying training illustrations and graphics.

As Northwest Manufacturing continues to expand, said Steve Larson, manager of sales and marketing for Northwest Manufacturing, said it becomes more important for the company to meet the needs and expectations of its dealers.

"Our training is the most comprehensive in the industry," said Larson. "We prepare our dealers to successfully install and service our products along with running a successful business."

Friday was the company's

Police cite several for underage consumption

First degree criminal sexual conduct: On June 8 at 9:46 p.m., police received a report of an assault in the 400 block of Red Lake Blvd. On June 6, Albert Kollie Jones, 29, Thief River Falls, allegedly forced an adult female acquaintance to engage in sexual intercourse. Jones has charges pending for first degree criminal sexual conduct.

Felony theft: Felony theft charges are pending against Jene Raymond Lenhart, 28, Thief River Falls. Lenhart allegedly sold a king size bed and drawer he had been storing for someone else. The items were recovered. Restitution has been requested for the person who had purchased the items.

Burglary: Burglary charges are pending against Shane Curtis Dahlstrom, 29, Thief River Falls. Dahlstrom allegedly stole approximately $838 from Ace Rental. The burglary was reported June 1.

Underage consumption while driving, no Minnesota driver's license and underage consumption: While on patrol May 28 at 12:46 a.m., a deputy sheriff allegedly observed a vehicle with a defective light on Guinan Avenue in Goodridge. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls female has charges pending for underage consumption while driving and no Minnesota driver's license. Matthew George Lalonde, 18, Thief River Falls, was cited for underage consumption.

Theft: On June 6 at 1:05 p.m., police received a report of a theft at Northern Pride. Three Black Hills gold rings, a purse and a Social Security check were stolen from a locker. The theft loss is estimated at $850. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident: On June 6 at 3:40 p.m., police received a report of an accident at the intersection of Oakland Park Road and Highway 32 South. A 2004 Chevy Silverado driven by Scott Delray Bakken of Grygla and a 1998 Dodge Neon driven by Amanda Lea Noreen of Thief River Falls collided. At the time of the accident, Bakken was stopped and facing north. According to the report, Noreen, who was northbound, rear-ended the Bakken vehicle after she thought the Bakken vehicle was moving and had taken her foot off of the brake. Bakken's vehicle sustained $350 in damage, and Noreen's vehicle sustained $2,000 in damage.

Possession of a small amount of marijuana: On June 6 at 10:14 p.m., police received a report that someone allegedly possessed marijuana seeds in the 400 block of Main Ave. N., a violation of the person's court release. Matthew Kirk Osell, 39, Thief River Falls, was cited for possession of a small amount of marijuana.

Public nuisance: On June 8, police received a loud noise complaint regarding a residence in the 200 block of St. Paul Ave. S. Lindsey Christine Danielson, 20, Thief River Falls, was cited for public nuisance. According to the report, officers were dispatched to the residence June 7 for a similar complaint.

Shoplifting: On June 8 at 4:38 p.m., police received a report of shoplifting at SuperOne Foods. Renae Marie Green, 48, Thief River Falls, allegedly stole Stay Awake tablets valued at $2.44. She was cited for shoplifting.

Consumption under age. On June 11 at 10:30 p.m. a police officer stopped a vehicle for reckless driving. The driver was not the owner and upon finding some alcohol cans in the vehicle that did not belong to the driver, the officer wanted to talk to the owner. While investigating the incident and visiting with the owner, the officer observed that several underage individuals had been drinking alcohol. The following were cited for consumption under age: a 17-year-old female from Thief River Falls; a 17-year-old male from Greenbush; 18-year-old Eric Bernard Ostby of Gatzke; 19-year-old Lars Benjamin Sundberg, Grygla; and 19-year-old Nicolas Duane Olson, Wannaska.

Consumption under age. On June 10 at 5:37 p.m. police received a report from a Kittson County Deputy that he had observed two underage individuals take beer out of the back of a pickup while at McDonald's restaurant in Thief River Falls. An officer investigating the report, cited Ryan Lee Sorenson, 20, Warren, with consumption under age and open bottle; and Benjamin Kevin Hamrick, 19, Warren, with consumption under age, and driving under 21 and allowing open bottle.

Shoplifting. On June 12 at 2:51 p.m. police received a report of shoplifting at SuperOne in Thief River Falls. Beth Ann Limesand, 25, Oklee, was cited for theft after allegedly taking some bug spray and Rolaids without paying.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

May Mobilization leads to 47 citations

Efforts from extra patrols during the May Mobilization results in 119 vehicles being stopped. A total of 47 citations were issued from these stops by the Thief River Falls Police Department and Pennington County Sheriff's Department.

Of those citations, there were 34 seat belt citations, eight speed citations and five citations for miscellaneous violations.

Prior to the enforcement period, informal seat belt use surveys were completed within the city. Pre-enforcement use was 51.3 percent. Post-enforcement use was 69.3 percent.

The next mobilization will start the first weekend in July. Extra patrols will be completed July 1, 23 and 30.

There will also be extra patrols during the Pennington County Fair. This wave will focus primarily on speed violations and impaired driving.

Law enforcement asks that drivers slow down, buckle up and do not drive under the influence of alcohol.

Two injured in work zone accident Saturday

Two people were injured in an accident north of Thief River Falls in a work zone on Highway 59 Saturday, June 11.

Minnesota State Patrol reported receiving a report of the accident at 11:28 a.m. on June 11. According to the accident report, Eugene Homar Finley, 74, Thief River Falls, was driving a 2000 Chevrolet and was stopped at 190th Street Northeast (just north of Petro Pumper) facing west at a stop. Finley then pulled out in front of a 1995 Plymouth Neon driven by Ryan Douglas Hayes, 25, Thief River Falls.

Finley's vehicle was considered a total loss and he was taken to Northwest Medical Center. The State Patrol reported that he was treated and released. He was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident.

The State Patrol reported extensive damage to the Hayes vehicle. Hayes was not injured, but a passenger, Melissa Jeanette Whitesock, 27, (no address given), was taken to Northwest Medical Center. According to the hospital, as of Monday morning, Whitestock was not listed as a patient at the hospital.

Water jet excavating can help assure homeowners and contractors that do not damage previously installed utilities.

Old process takes on new meaning

Submitted by Precision Potholing, Mentor

Sometime in the early 1950s, the construction industry realized that to prevent unnecessary accidents (both personal and equipment), it needed a way to dig into the ground without breaking gas lines, water lines, electric cables or anything else beneath the surface.

During the development of a machine to do this, it was called "daylighting," but soon took on many different names, such as potholing, non-destructive digging and soft excavation, to name a few. The way it worked was air pressure cutting the ground and a vacuum tube sucking the dirt into what is called a spoils tank. This worked effectively for most soil conditions, but a newer innovation was introduced for cutting the ground by means of water pressure. This proved to be a great improvement and much more versatile in numerous types of ground conditions. Both air and water remain the popular choices in the industry depending on a contractor's preference.

Potholing has remained an effective way for contractors to see an underground utility prior to coming in with a backhoe to finish their digging. Many contractors still prefer hand-digging these areas instead of using a pothole machine.

Even though it may seem to be more economical, hand-digging also leaves a lot to be desired. First of all, contractors generally have two or three employees on payroll who may hand-dig these exposure holes. As one knows, any metal object, even a shovel, could damage a television cable or telephone fiber optic cable if the person using the shovel isn't really aware of what damage he or she can do. Secondly, health care and employee benefits play a factor. Thirdly, and most of all, is the safety factor. Why would a contractor, utility company, fence company or any city want to dig mechanically before exposing utilities when all it takes is to hit one gas line, break a water main or cut a fiber optic cable to increase project costs.

All over the U.S., there have been accidents on construction sites. A lot of those accidents could have been prevented by means of non-destructive digging and exposing utilities prior to excavation by heavier machinery. Many states have put into effect procedures and regulations banning the use of any metal object prior to a utility being exposed for visible location. This includes not only contractors, but the individual homeowner. Before putting in a fence, mailbox or any in-ground installation, a hole should first be dug by means of water jet excavating to assure someone does not damage previously installed utilities.

Over the years, water jet excavations have taken on other uses besides non-destructive exposure of utilities. This machine is also useful in cleaning out manholes, culverts and storm drains, pressure-washing driveways, among other things.

The couple will be united in marriage on August 13, at St. Ann's Church in Goodridge.

Guitar workshops to be held this summer

Mark Hendrickson, a luthier, will hold several guitar workshops this summer through Community Education.

Among his workshops are Beginning Guitar, to be held Saturday, Aug. 6 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the District Service Center. The cost is $25. In this "Teach-to-the-Music" course, participants will learn the basics and the fast-track drills that will lead to playing the music they like. A playable acoustic guitar is required.

A blues guitar workshops will be held Saturday, Aug. 6 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the District Service Center. The cost is $25. Everybody gets the blues, and anyone can have fun with this uniquely American art form. During this "Teach-to-the-Music" course, participants will experience a high-tech method of guitar instruction complete with drums and accompaniment. Bring a guitar and riffs to share, or come to listen.

A folk/fingerstyle guitar workshop will be held Saturday, Aug. 6 from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the District Service Center. The cost is $25. Learn the basics of folk/fingerstyle guitar. Participants in this "Teach-to-the Music" course will learn right-hand picking patterns and left-hand techniques aimed at their individual skill levels and styles. For accompaniment or solo playing, this is the quickest and easiest way to pure guitar fun. A playable acoustic guitar is recommended.

Hendrickson is a guitar instructor with over 30 years experience. His method has been to make beginning guitar fun by teaching chordal accompaniment, then going directly into music of the students' choice. For more information, call Stringtime Music at (218) 694-3752.

Stacie Chaplinski named to MSCTC dean's list

Stacie Chaplinski, Middle River, has been named to the Minnesota State Community and Technical College's dean's list for spring semester 2005. Students qualify for the dean's list if they earn a semester GPA of 3.5 or above, with at least 12 earned credits and no incomplete grades.

Learn to play guitar this summer

Learn to play guitar this summer through classes sponsored by Community Education.

Classes will be held Saturdays, June 4, 11, 18 and 25; and July 2 and 9, once a week. The times are to be arranged with the instructor, Bonnie Hallett, by calling her at 681-4931 or 681-8813, extension 144. Classes will be held at Franklin Middle School. The cost is $60.

Individual lessons will be given, and musicians will learn chording and strumming techniques, along with country, folk and rock songs. Some music will be furnished. It is preferred that musicians be willing to sing with their guitars. Bring an acoustic guitar with good strings (not electrified). Adults and students ages 12 and up are welcome.

Pamper yourself at the "Do it Yourself Spa"

Be pampered at the "Do it Yourself Spa" offered by Community Education.

The spa will be held Tuesday, June 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the District Service Center. The cost is $10. It is meant for ages 15 and up. Lori Becker is the instructor.

Come and join in the fun as participants pamper themselves while saving money using natural products. Discover the healthy benefits of natural body care products. Enjoy a hand spa, foot spa and facial during class. Bring a large towel.

To register, go to Community Education, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls.

...Angel on guard?

Sometimes you read a story and you just know there are guardian angels involved. Such stories make your heart happy, despite the other disasters that are taking place.

Last Tuesday's storms hit southern Minnesota hard. Rain caused flash flooding of farms and towns in many southwestern areas. However, there was at least one guardian angel on duty during that flooding.

A Kenyon woman was making her way home from her workplace at Carlton College in Northfield when her car connected with the floodwaters. Mona Boomgaarden was speaking to her husband, Dwight, on her cell phone at the time her vehicle was swept away. He heard a scream and then the phone went dead. "I knew she got washed out by the storm," he said.

Dwight was following reports of the bad storm and had called Mona to check on her progress home. He uses a wheelchair because of a disability, but nonetheless got into his van and hurried to the area where he thought Mona had been at the time the phone disconnected.

Meanwhile, Mona was fighting for her life. Her car had been swept off the road and down a creek. As the vehicle began to fill with water, and even though she didn't know how to swim, Mona knew she had to get out of there. But the car had lost all power and the 50-year-old grandmother was unable to open the power windows.

As she struggled to keep her head above water, the dome light suddenly gave a blink and then, as if by magic, the window lowered. Mona quickly pulled herself out through the opening and floated free, just as the vehicle nose-dived under the floodwaters. That was the guardian angel's first appearance.

Floating on her back, Mona knew she had to find something to hold onto. She tried to grab a tree as she rushed past, but was unable to reach it. Then, in a lightening flash, she saw a fence post, and grabbed hold. It was a post to an electric fence, but Mona had no ill effects. The fence must have been shorted out or not working. That was the guardian angel's second appearance.

Mona decided that now was the time to make noise and she yelled and hollered for all she was worth. Help came two hours later when she was pulled off the fence post by rescuers from the Goodhue County Sheriff's Office and the Wanamingo Fire Department, who were fighting such strong waters that they had to tie themselves together to reach her. That was the angel's appearance number three.

Mona was treated for nothing more than aches and pains at a Faribault hospital and released to the care of her grateful husband. She expressed love and appreciation for her rescuers and said that "continuous prayer" and "a little God-wink" helped her come through her ordeal.

In a story that does not have such a happy ending, a 47-year-old Hayfield man went missing that same Tuesday night as he drove to work in Cannon Falls in a pickup truck. The truck was found in a ditch flooded by a creek leading to the Zumbro River, but there was no sign of the driver. The body of Jeffrey Zelinske was found Thursday morning less than a mile from where his truck went off the road. More than 200 people participated in the search for Zelinske. They were all angels.

Last week's storms caused over [illegible] homes to lose power and caused wind gusts of over [illegible] miles per hour, downing trees and damaging buildings in southern Minnesota.

What's Buzzin' at the TRF Public Library?

"What's Buzzin' at the TRF Public Library" is the 2005 summer library program theme, and a number of programs will be offered at the library as part of that for children and youth. The reading program, special weekly library programs, "Going Buggy" preschool storytimes, a teen reading program, a youth input session and Popcorn Mondays will all be part of the summer's offerings for these age groups. In addition, Anime Club will be offered for high schoolers through adults, and Senior Surf Days will be offered for the retirees.

The reading program will be different this year than in years past and is being based on the highly successful Lake Agassiz Regional Library summer reading program of 2004. Children signed up for the program will keep track of their time spent reading rather than the titles of books they've read. When children sign up (starting June 16), they will receive a reading record, a special green bag for their books and a "What's Buzzin'" reading card.

Children will take their reading records with them and will be responsible for keeping track of their own reading. The reading records are designed with clocks, so children can mark whatever increment of time they read. Parents will keep track of the time they read to their children who cannot read yet by themselves. Children can then bring their reading records into the library to redeem their hours for library dollars. One hour of reading equals one library dollar. Students can spend their library dollars at the Library Store (open everyday) to purchase a variety of reading incentives. Small, low-priced items include stickers, pencil toppers, etc. Larger items include books, bookpacks, etc. Many – but not all – of the prizes in the Library Store will bear the "What's Buzzin'" theme and artwork. Only one clock will be given to each child, and children or their caregivers will be responsible for that time clock.

Children enrolled in the Thief River Falls Public Library summer reading program can participate in raffles for larger prizes. These prizes will be on display at the library during the program.

Children signing up for the summer reading program will receive a "What's Buzzin'" reading card. Children showing their "What's Buzzin'" reading card when checking out a minimum of three juvenile fiction or non-fiction books or six easy reader/picture books will receive a raffle form which the child can fill out and put in the box for the prize of their choice. In addition, children who write up to two book reports, bring them in and discuss the books with a library staffer during the week may be eligible to receive a raffle form. Drawings for these prizes will be held at the final summer reading program on July 21.

The special programming that is scheduled includes favorite returning performers and new performers and is held on Thursdays at 2:30 p.m. in the main portion of the library. On June 23 at 2:30 p.m., the Zoo Man will entertain young and old with his menagerie of animals, reptiles and insects. You never know quite what he'll bring, but it's always a surprise and the Zoo Man imparts knowledge about the creatures in a fun-filled program. The Zoo Man is a regional touring program sponsored by the Northwest Regional Library system. On June 23, a special workshop on clown makeup will be given free of charge for young and old from 1-2 p.m. by Al Jaspher of Clowndimonium. This will be followed at 2:30 p.m. by the program "Reading is Fun" with Sparky the Clown. Children who attended last year's program with Sparky were thrilled with his magic tricks, jokes and general antics. This was a new show last year, and mothers attending the program requested that Clowndimonium be brought back this year.

Perennial favorite Patty Nunn will be the featured performer on June 30 at 2:30 p.m. Nunn brings stories to life with music, string art, jokes and a whole variety of storytelling techniques. On July 7 at 2:30 p.m., Wanda Ulseth will regale the audience with her program "Timber Ridge Tales." Ulseth is from Grand Rapids and has been storytelling in schools, libraries and parks for the past few years. She is a graduate of the Boundary Waters Storytelling Institute and is a member of the Northlands Storytelling Network. A variety of area storytellers will be featured, including author Chee Chee Flicke on July 14 at 2:30 p.m. As a grand finale to the special library programs, magician Courtney Grant will perform a half-hour of close-up magic and illusions on July 21 at 2:30 p.m.

Preschoolers and their parents are invited to join the fun as Preschool Storytime will be "Going Buggy" every Tuesday at 10 a.m. June 7-July 12. Preschool storytimes will include stories, poems, crafts and even some science facts and fun all centered around bugs. An abbreviated reading program will be offered for this age group, but children attending this program can also enroll in the reading program and/or attend the special programming as well.

Teenagers (or soon-to-be-teens) who want to participate in an independent reading program can do so at the library by signing up for the "Tune In @ Your TRF Public Library!" reading program anytime from June 20-July 29. Youth sign up, receive their "Tune In" packet and then fill in the reading review slips inside and return them for weekly drawings for Chamber Bucks. Youth are encouraged to review titles that they feel the library should purchase for its shelves so the library is able to better meet their needs.

Another route for teens and preteens to let the library know what they would like to see for their age group at the library is through the Youth Input Session. This year's Youth Input Session will be held July 6 at 2 p.m. at the library. Many materials and services have been added to the library in the past as a result of these input sessions.

Those people checking out books on Monday afternoons will have a treat in store – popcorn – as the library's Popcorn Mondays serve as a reminder to "Pop In" for a good book. Anime Club will go to weekly sessions on Thursdays at 5 p.m., and Senior Surf Days will continue every Wednesday from 1-5 p.m.

For more information about any of these programs, feel free to contact the Thief River Falls Public Library at 101 First St. E. in Thief River Falls, call 681-4325 or e-mail at trfcirc@nwrlib.org.

The Thief River Falls Education Association gives out two $200 scholarships each year to Lincoln High graduates, with a preference to students pursuing a career in teaching. A Birthday Tribute: June 16

When we all get together,
And it's you we cannot see;
Our hearts are filled with sadness,
Thinking how it used to be;
There is always a face before us,
A voice we would LOVE to hear;
A smile we will ALWAYS remember,
Of a mom we love so dear.
To your grave we sometimes wander,
And place flowers with love and care;
But no one knows the heartache,
as we turn and leave you there!
"Happy Birthday" in Heaven,
We love you,
Your daughters Ivy and Fran, and the rest of the family

In Loving Memory

We thought of you with love today,
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday,
And days before that, too.
We think of you in silence,
We often speak your name.
Now all we have are memories,
And your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part.
God has you in His keeping,
We have you in our hearts.
Your loving family

The family of John Wolbeck would like to thank everyone who helped and supported our family during and after the loss of our loved one John. Special thanks to Clarence, Shirley, Rick, Amy, Tony, Tom, and Rita, who helped so much with Bradan. Thanks to Rev. Frank Rodgers, the Ladies Aid or Circles that served lunches; to Father McGee, Father Rick, the pallbears and Knights of Columbus. Special thanks to the neighbors, relatives and friends. To everyone who brought food, flowers and memorials. Special thanks to Tim, Denise, Kelly and Anderson Funeral Home. Thank you to anyone we may have forgotten. God bless you all.

Excess rain delays crops

Small grain is not real fussy about soil temperature, according to Person. Small grain will sprout when the soil temperature is at 45 degrees and will actually grow best during days with 60 degree highs and 40 lows.

"Most of the small grain went in very early, except in that Gatzke area where they didn't get the ground worked back," Person said. "They just never had a chance."

Soybeans are a different story according to Person. They won't sprout until the soil temperature reaches 55 degrees, and while they will tolerate cooler temperatures, they will grow best in 80 degree highs and lows in the upper 60s to low 70s. Person said soil temperatures had not yet reached 55 degrees in the first part of May, forcing farms to choose between the risk of planting before the soil temperatures were warm enough, or waiting until the soil reach the optimal 55 degrees. Like last year, beans that were planted in cool soil did not sprout until soil temperatures warmed to the appropriate temperature.

"The guys who waited for the ground to warm up, for a good chance to seed, never got back in," Person said. "Or they never got enough good seeding days to finish planting."

Person said the prime time for planting soybeans is typically between May 10 and May 25. Seeding that is done earlier tends to sprout late and have lower yields. When seeding is done after May 25, it can lead to a exponential yield loss.

"Seeding after the 10th of June, your looking at a 25-30 percent yield loss, regardless of what the rest of the year does," Person said. "If you have crop insurance, maybe you just take the preventive plant payment. Most of the guys I've talked to, that's what they're going to do."

Person compared crop insurance to car insurance, saying that like car insurance, crop insurance won't make a farmer come out ahead, but payments are large enough for farmers to pay the bills. Crop insurance pays per acre, depending on the amount and type of insurance purchased.

The reason the planting timetable for soybeans is so crucial according to Person, deals with the amount of sunlight that will be available to the plants. He said when crops sprout, they are in a vegetative state. They do most of their growing during the late part of spring and early part of summer when daylight is at its most abundant.

As the days shorten, crops transition into a seeding state. The worry with planting late is that both portions of the growing season could be cut short. Person said, if they plant late, the amount of time the plants have to grow in a vegetative state is greatly reduced.

Area crops planted in 2004 struggled for much of the growing season. Unseasonably warm temperatures in the fall almost saved the 2004 growing season.

"If we had escaped that August 20th frost, I don't think we would have had a bumper crop, but it would have been a much better crop," Person said. "Seeding now, we need frost free days into September. If we can do that, the beans that are already in the ground, should be pretty decent."

It's painting time this summer

Wet-on-wet oil painting – the "Alexander Technique" – will be taught this summer through Community Education.

The adult class will be held Monday, June 20 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. in the lower level of the District Service Center. The cost is $40 each class, which includes the price of canvas. Ernie Sayler is the instructor.

The adult class is designed for adults or those who have painted in the past. Participants will paint "Mountain Sunset" on a 16 inch by 20 inch canvas.

The beginner class will be held Monday, June 20 from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in the lower level of the District Service Center. The cost is $35 each class, which includes the price of canvas. Sayler is also instructing that class.

The beginner class is meant for youth and adults. Paint a summer island lake on a 12 inch by 16 inch canvas. This colorful lake sunset uses as a focal point an old stump on an island.

To register, go to the Community Education Office, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls.

Annual Dealer Conference. More than 100 dealers and dealer representatives from the United States and Canada attended the event to discuss sales and marketing strategies, gain technical skills, and learn about the company's new products, one of which is the new WoodMaster Plus.

Larson explained that the WoodMaster plus is an environmentally-friendly outdoor wood furnace. While the United States does not have pollution standards that apply to wood stoves, the company proactively looked at Canadian standards. This new stove is well below those standards, he said.

The WoodMaster Plus burns alternative fuels, such as corn and wood pellets.

Company CEO, Charles Gagner, said this was a wonderful time for the company, but it will not stop here. It will continue to move on to a higher level. He said Northwest Manufacturing is pleased to offer American families an independent and self-sufficient lifestyle. He added that they feel its important to help reduce this country's dependence on foreign oil. He said he expects that over the next five years, the company will continue to grow by leaps and bounds.

Larson said the company has demonstrated an annual growth rate that surpasses 20 percent.

Gagner thanked the many visitors and dignitaries for attending the event.

Toni Merdan, senior economic development specialist from Congressman Collin Peterson's office, congratulated the company on its continued growth, stating that this was wonderful news for Red Lake Falls and the entire region.

In a letter to the company, Peterson said, "I have great pride and admiration for the dedicated owners whose commitment has resulted in this project." Congressman Peterson also acknowledged how important businesses like Northwest Manufacturing are to northern Minnesota: "Businesses such as yours are what make rural Minnesota successful."

Winge has worked as the Goodridge principal for the past 13 years. Prior to that time, he worked in various education positions in Minnesota, Illinois and Alaska. In 1965, Winge began his career as a science teacher in Oklee. He worked there for a few years and then became a science and math teacher in Red Lake Falls. After leaving that job, he taught junior high math in the Carpentersville, Ill., area.

Then he went to graduate school and later worked for three years as a counselor and science teacher in Alaska. During that time, he took on some principal duties after the school's principal was killed in a car crash. From there, Winge became a counselor at Red Lake High School. After that, he took the job at Goodridge.

His greatest accomplishment as principal was giving everyone the [illegible] support and [illegible] Winge said. [illegible] know what's expected of them.

What does he wish he would have done as principal? Winge said he wishes he would have helped more people realize their potential and what opportunities they have.

Looking back on his 13 years at Goodridge, Winge said he will miss the staff and students the most.

"Graduation was tough," he said about the last Goodridge graduation he attended as the school's principal.

However, the most difficult event for him after he announced his retirement was the senior breakfast hosted by the school's Student Council. The students gave him a standing ovation, he said.

Winge noted he received a lot of support from students, staff, the community and the school board. "It's such a close-knit group," Winge said about the people with whom he works.

Winge has not only been on the receiving end of support from staff, [illegible] support to teachers.

"I don't know if I could find a better principal to work for," said Goodridge fifth grade teacher Eric Mickelson, who serves as co-president of the school's teachers union. Mickelson added that Winge has been an advocate for teachers.

"He has a calm approach to everything, and he checks out all sides of an issue before coming up with an opinion, which I really appreciate," said Galen Clow, superintendent of Goodridge and Grygla schools. Clow added that he was secure in knowing that Winge was at the school when Clow was working at Grygla.

Mickelson reiterated a comment a fourth grader said to one of Mickelson's colleagues upon hearing about Winge's retirement. The teacher shared the comment with those in attendance at Winge's retirement party. Mickelson recalled Mickelson said, "The fourth grader's comment was 'Gee, I hope the new principal is as nice as Mr. Winge.'"

Summer Latch Key offered

Summer Latch Key will be held until Aug. 12, excluding Monday, July 4. Latch Key will be held from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Franklin Middle School. Participants are to use the south parking lot entrance in back of the pool area.

Enrollment forms are available at Latch Key and the Community Education Office, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls. For more information, call 681-2362 or 681-8711, extension 243.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters sought

Want to spend time with a young child fishing, baking, growing plants, riding bike or building a birdhouse?

Eight boys and six girls between the ages of 6 and 16 are waiting to be matched with a mentor. Mentoring is a proven prevention program. Statistics show that children in a mentoring program are less likely to experiment with drugs, skip school, be aggressive or become sexually active. Being a role model to a child can show the child, by example, how to make positive choices in life.

To be a mentor, a person should be between 18 and 85, enjoy being with kids, handle children well and have eight hours a month or more to spend with a child.

For more information, call Sue Dupree at 681-8711, extension 241.

Go to the BMX/Skate Park

The Thief River Falls BMX/Skate Park is open June through August on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays except July 4 from 1 to 7 p.m. There are no fees for summer 2005.

Helmets and pads are available for use at the park. A liability waiver is required for anyone under 18 and must be signed by a parent/guardian in the presence of the park supervisor.

The park is located at 300 Spruce Ave. S. For more information, call 681-6963.

We think them mad

During the early years of white settlement, an Indian chief was asked what his people thought of the European settlers. He commented on their perpetual striving for gain, their constant activity, their grim, determined faces, and he concluded, "we think them mad."

When I travel to the big city for a couple of days, as I did this past weekend, I am always amazed by the frantic bustle.

How can everybody be in such a hurry as they are on the freeways of the Twins Cities? Where are they all going? Why do the bulk of the people there seem so rushed, so determined, so angry? What are they trying to accomplish? It is tempting to think them mad.

Just as I start delivering speeches in my pickup about the virtues of slow-paced country living, I realize how hypocritical scolding the overstressed suburbanites would be.

In the countryside, it is easier to think we're less busy - but the fact of the matter is, we're merely spread so far apart that we don't run into each other as often as we hustle around in circles.

Humans everywhere are talented at filling their lives with life-and-death matters. We have to keep the stress level up or we don't think we're getting anywhere. I mean, a retired person living far out in the country should be as content as a Zen monk. But let the mail come an hour late and they about lose it!

The comedy of it all hits home when one emerges from the local cuccoon and heads to someplace unfamiliar, like the big city, where people stress themselves out in ways different than what we are used to.

Look at those crazy people drive 10 feet apart at 80 miles per hour! Look at them trample each other at Target the day after Thanksgiving!

But city or country, we all fill our lives with stressful things, just to keep busy.

They fight traffic, we rail against the rain. They strive to buy a new Jaguar. We stretch out our credit for a new John Deere. They fight to climb the corporate ladder. We struggle to pay off our operating loans before taking out new ones.

They take neighbors to court who paint their home the wrong color. We turn the road ditch into lawn for a half-mile and then complain about mowing it.

They try to hold their temper with surly, ignorant clerks in huge stores. We get frustrated when we have to wait for things to come in on Tuesday.

They wait for two hours to get a table at a trendy restaurant. We wait an hour for somebody to wake up in the kitchen.

My favorite perspective on human bustle comes at 30,000 feet, when I look down out the airplane window and see only scant evidence of human activity on the surface of the earth.

If you look real close, you can see little dots moving too and fro. A mother in Nebraska taking her tots to dance lessons. A farmer in Colorado cutting hay. A businessman in Denver rushing to a regional sales meeting. They all look like inconsequential ants.

Perhaps it is the lack of oxygen or the stale pretzels, but at 30,000 feet, I get philosophical and remind myself that in 100 years, the entire batch of human ants down there scratching around will be dead, replaced by a new batch grimly determined to make a few scratches of their own.

Sometimes I even go so far as to remind myself that I should just relax, for I am but one of those replaceable ants, and, from the perspective of 30,000 feet, the few scratches I will make down there on the earth's surface will be pretty puny.

But then the plane pulls up to the gate. I scramble to pull down my carry-on from the overhead bin and rush to be the first out of the plane. I run down the to the baggage claim and fight to be the first to the parking lot.

Yes, it is easy to laugh at those ridiculous gerbils who run furiously on a little wire wheel - until you realize that you are acting like a gerbil running furiously on a little wire wheel.

ACTIVITIES

Father's Day

Father's Day is a great time for children to honor Dad. Many children need help to prepare for this time. To do this, we need to help the child focus on Dad, what he likes, what he does. It is fun to make a "Dad Book." Simply get blank sheets of paper and staple them together to form a book. Then let the child draw a picture of Dad or find one to cut and paste from a catalog or magazine. The next page can have pictures of things Dad likes and next, things he dislikes. The last page can be a picture of what Dad does. For a child this may be different from what an adult sees. For example, this page could be Dad mowing the lawn or fishing instead of his professional job. This little book may also be a wonderful gift from child to father.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need celery, apples, walnuts and mayonnaise.

JOKE OF THE WEEK

Q: Have you seen the fishing website?

A: It isn't ONLINE yet.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls Public Library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Nolen, Jerdine. "Max and Jax in Second Grade." Second grade twins Max and Jax prepare to start the summer off right with a fishing trip and a slumber party.

Minarik, Else. "Father Bear Comes Home." Describes the adventures of Little Bear in which he goes fishing, has the hiccups, looks for a mermaid, and welcomes Father Bear home from the sea.

VIDEO VARIETY

Kids + Fishing = Fun and Instructional fishing tape for the whole family. Professional fishermen, Roger Moore and Gary Klein demonstrate the basics as they take children on their first fishing trip.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Find out all about badgers in the May issue of "Ranger Rick."

WONDERS OF THE WEB

Take a look at the DNR's Web site to find places to go in Minnesota. Learn how your children can become Junior Park Naturalists at any state park they visit. http://www.dnr.state.mn.us/index.html

Remember that the Thief River Falls Public Library will soon begin its summer library program, "What's Buzzin' at your Local Library." The summer special events will be held every Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. from June 16-July 21. Registration for the reading program will start June 16 at 2 p.m., but registrations will be taken all the way until the end of the program on July 21. These programs are open to all ages. Teen program packets may be picked up at the library starting June 20 and running through July 29. The preschool summer storytime, "Going Buggy" will be presented every Tuesday at 10 a.m. June 7 through July 12. Also remember the Youth Input session at 2 p.m. July 6 and Popcorn Mondays every Monday June 13-July 25. PARENTING TIPS

More on Playing Together

Last week we discussed onlooker play and parallel play. This week we will look at two more forms of play.

Associate Play - In this form of play, children as young as three share materials, while each one pursues his or her own goal. They are more interested in exchanging materials than in a coordinated purpose or other direct social interaction. For example, two or more children may organize an activity around a common theme such as "playing store." But each concentrates on his other own "agenda" while they lend and borrow toys.

Cooperative Play - This type of play usually emerges around four years of age and continues throughout the school years. Cooperative play involves organized group play with a coordinated purpose. It can be as simple as building a house with blocks or as complex as playing football, with specific rules for all to obey. Cooperative play helps children to develop better social skills and enlarge their circle of friends.

More on playing with friends next week.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

As children enter the associative and cooperative play stages their need for verbal skills will increase. Provide your child with examples of how to ask for toys and other necessary verbal skills for social interaction.

Batter up at fastpitch softball

Fastpitch will be taught this summer from June 7 through July 28.

Practice will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 10:30 a.m. for 10- to 11-year-olds. Practices will be held at the softball field at Franklin Middle School by the tennis courts. The cost is $40. Tournament transportation will be provided. Matt Okeson and Megan Berg are the instructors. There is no limit to the number of participants, but the number will determine whether there should be one or two sessions. There must be a minimum of 12 participants.

Fastpitch will be taught to any girl interested in learning this fast-paced game. Participants will play several tournaments against other local towns in July on Thursdays. Participants need their own baseball gloves.

To register, go to Community Education, 230 LaBree Ave. S., Thief River Falls.

Mothers and daughters will be learning to knit

This summer, mothers and daughters will be learning to knit in a class sponsored by Community Education.

The class will be held Wednesdays, June 22 and 29; and July 6 and 13 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The class is meant for ages 10 and up, and will be held in the lower level meeting room of the District Service Center. The cost is $30 a team, which includes a "Learn to Knit" pattern book and one pair of U.S. #9 knitting needles and yarn for a small project. Sue Dupree is the instructor.

Together in this class, mothers and daughters will learn to read patterns, knit, purl, cast on and bind off. Children will make a coaster. Adults will make dish cloths. Both will learn how to make boa scarves. Bring or borrow a mother or daughter, and learn as a team.

Anna Schumacher, 95

Thief River Falls - Anna Schumacher, 95, died peaceably on Saturday, June 11, 2005 at Oakland Park Nursing Home, Thief River Falls.

Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, June 17, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Brooks, with Father Tim Bushy presiding. Casket bearers included Tom Pittman, Mike Pittman, Jonathan Sundberg, David Sundberg, Andrew Lallier, Matthew Lallier, James Lallier and Anders Christiansen. Interment will be held at St. Vincent de Paul Cemetery in Plummer.

Visitation will be 4 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 16, at Johnson Funeral Service, Thief River Falls, with a 7 p.m. prayer service and for one hour prior to services at the church on Friday.

Anna Jaeger was born April 8, 1910 in Pierz, the daughter of Joseph and Margaret (Sontag) Jaeger, where she was baptized in the Catholic Faith. The family moved to Plummer, where she was confirmed at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church and attended the Plummer school.

In 1943, while employed as a cook on the Melgaard farm near Warren, she met her future husband, William Schumacher, also employed at the farm. They were united in marriage on February 9, 1944 in Plummer. They made their home near Plummer, had three daughters, and operated a small dairy farm while "Bill" hauled milk to the Plummer Creamery for the area farmers.

In 1965 her husband was stricken with cancer and Anna took over the responsibility of the dairy operation along with taking care of her husband at home until his death six months later. After her girls graduated from high school, Anna sold the cows and went to work as a Nurses Aid at Oakland Park Nursing Home. She worked there 18 years until her retirement in 1987.

Anna spent her retirement years living in her own home on the family farm, with her youngest daughter and her family. She loved to work on hooked rugs and made sequenced and beaded calendars every year for her daughters. Her nephews took her with when they traveled throughout the States. She especially enjoyed the flight around the Statue of Liberty in a small plane, piloted by her nephew. Most of all, she loved staying with each of her daughters and helping with the children, gardening, and cooking, especially when there was another grandchild on the way. She was very proud of her grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Anna returned to Oakland Park Nursing Home in October, 2003; this time as a resident. She was no stranger there. She remembered her co-workers, either still working or they themselves residents. Anna spent her life taking care of other people in their time of need. It is only befitting that she enjoyed good health up until the time she tired and knew it was time to go.

Anna's life was her family and her church. She was a member of St. Ann's Society, Christian Mothers, and was President of St. Vincent de Paul Ladies Guild.

She is survived by daughters, Carolyn (George) Pittman of Goodridge, Susan (Steven) Sundberg of Grygla and Madonna (Louis) Lallier of Plummer; 13 grandchildren; 12 great grandchildren; and sister-in-law, Martha Blake of Devils Lake, N.D.

She was preceded in death by her husband, William; one grandson; one great grandson; her mother and father; sisters, Mary Langer and Barbara Gerardy; brothers, Nick, Matt, Frank, Ted and Gust Jaeger. A00003B2005JN15

Harvey J. Mercil, 90

Crookston - Harvey J. Mercil, 90, of Villa St. Vincent Apartments, Crookston, died Thursday, June 9, 2005 at the Lamplighter Manor in Detroit Lakes, where he had resided for the past three months.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Monday, June 13, at Cathedral of The Immaculate Conception, Crookston, with Father Robert Schreiner officiating, followed by interment at Calvary Cemetery in Crookston.

Harvey was born in Gentilly on July 31, 1914, to the late Amie and Delia (Cote) Mercil of Gentilly. He was baptized and confirmed at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Gentilly. Harvey grew up and attended school in Gentilly.

In his early years, Harvey was a cheese-maker in Brooks and Red Lake Falls and also worked for Wilcox Furniture, Red Lake Falls. In 1961, he purchased and operated the Deep Rock Gas Station in Red Lake Falls, which later became Phillips 66 and then Mobil.

On October 20, 1936, Harvey was united in marriage to Mabel Cota.

He is survived by daughter, Diane (Louis) Seidl of Virginia Beach, Va.; two sons, Darrel (Susan) of Pelican Rapids and Wayne (Kathy) of Fargo, N.D.; eight grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; one sister, Maria (Morris) Reopelle of Thief River Falls.

Harvey was preceded in death by his wife, Mabel; two grandchildren; his parents; and a sister, Maybelle (LaChance).

Harry Kjaer, 89

Red Lake Falls - Harry Kjaer, 89, died on Wednesday, June 8, 2005 at his home in Red Lake Falls.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 11, at Bethany Lutheran Church in Red Lake Falls, with Rev. Gary Graff officiating. Casket bearers included Jason Bregier, Joe Bregier, Andrew Kjaer, Orris Rasmussen, DeWane Kjaer and Melburn Kjaer. Interment was held at Fort Snelling National Cemetery in Minneapolis.

Harry Tilbane Kjaer was born on March 21, 1916 in Barnet Township, Roseau County, the son of Louis and Theoline (Sannes) Kjaer. He was baptized and confirmed at the First Lutheran Church in Lake Park and attended Lake Park Children's Home School.

Harry entered the United States Army in June 1942, during World War II serving as an engineer in Africa, France and Germany. He was honorably discharged in November of 1945. Following his discharge, Harry returned to Roseau and worked for Prior Electric as an electrician.

Harry was united in marriage to Carol Rasmussen on June 30, 1948 in Roseau. They moved to Red Lake Falls in 1963, where he worked for Detroiter Homes as a maintenance man. In 1968 Harry started working for Arctic Cat in the electrician and maintenance department. In 1972 Harry purchased The Spot, retiring in 1977.

He loved woodworking, repairing worn out appliances and making furniture for his family and friends. Harry also enjoyed fishing and photography was his passion for many years.

He was very active in the VFW in Red Lake Falls and was past commander in Red Lake Falls and Roseau. He was also a member of the Cooties and Roseau Drill Team.

Harry is survived by his wife, Carol of Red Lake Falls; three children, Curtis (Julane) Kjaer of Roseau, Shirley (Vern) Bregier of Red Lake Falls and David (Ann) Kjaer of St. Louis Park; seven grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; one sister, Orphie Johnson of Onida, S.D.; sister-in-law, Mabel Foss of St. Cloud; and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brothers, Earl, Leonard, Milford, Orville and Marvin; one sister, Raphannie Johnson; brother-in-law, Arnie Johnson; sisters-in-law, Alta and Minnie Kjaer.

Edward A. Yager, 78

Grygla - Edward A. Yager, 78, died on Sunday, June 12, 2005 at his home in rural Grygla.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. on Friday, June 17, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church, rural Grygla, with Rev. Robert Dahlen officiating. Honorary casket bearers included all of Edward's grandchildren, neighbors and friends. Military honors were provided by Grygla American Legion Post 162. Interment will be held at Our Savior's Cemetery, in rural Grygla.

Visitation will be from 5 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 16, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in rural Grygla, with an 8 p.m. prayer service on Thursday evening and one hour prior to services on Friday.

Edward Alois Yager was born on December 11, 1926 in Fergus Falls, the son of Edward G. and Freida (Hackenmueller) Yager. He attended school in Staples and then went to work on the family farm and on a neighbor's farm.

On March 3, 1945 Edward entered into service with the United States Army at Fort Snelling. He served in the Philippines during World War II. Following his Honorable Discharge on December 7, 1946, Edward returned to Howard Lake, where his parents lived. Edward went to work for Cudahy's Meat Packing Company in South St. Paul.

He was baptized and confirmed at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Ogilvie. Edward was united in marriage to Marjorie Keehr on June 12, 1954 at St. Paul Lutheran Church in Ogilvie. They lived in the Twin Cities until the Fall of 1956, then they moved to Ogilvie, where he farmed and was a butcher. In 1970, the couple moved to Benville Township, near Grygla, and farmed until 1996, when he retired and then continued to help the boys on the farm.

He enjoyed hunting, fishing and gardening, which he passed on to his children and grandchildren. Edward also liked to play cards, with family and friends, especially pinochle, whist and cribbage.

Edward was a member of Our Savior's Lutheran Church and the American Legion Post 162 of Grygla.

Edward is survived by his wife, Marjorie of Grygla; five children, Marilou (Orvis) Byklum of Grygla, Diane Yager of Gatzke, Edwin Yager, Ruby (Paul) Sundberg and Billy (Marita) Yager, all of Grygla; 13 grandchildren; one brother, James (Linda) Yager of Woodbury; and several nieces, nephews, and a host of relatives and friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents; one son, Darwin; two brothers, Donald and Ralph; sister-in-law, Donna Yager; and two brothers-in-law, Charles Melquist and Doug Wysong. A00003B2005JN15

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: A friend told me she gets both her own Social Security retirement and a SSA widow's benefit. Can this be true?

A: You need to understand the fine print but it is definitely possible for a person to receive Social Security benefits through more than one record, such as their own retirement and as a spouse or widow(er), at the same time. With that said, the combined dollar amount received would equal the higher of the two benefits, not all of one benefit plus all of the other. As a rough example, say you are eligible for Social Security retirement benefits of $300 dollars per month from your own work record and SSA survivor benefits as a widow of $400. Your monthly benefit would consist of $300 from the retirement benefit part of Social Security plus an additional $100 from the survivor portion to total $400.

Attention employers: The Social Security Number verification service (SSNVS) for employers has just been improved. As of May 16, 2005, the Social Security Administration began to verify employee names and social security numbers via the internet.

The online service is available at no cost to all employers and third-party wage submitters for wage reporting purposes only. SSNVS allows verification of up to 10 names and SSN's online with immediate results.

Next business day reply methods exist for larger online verification requests plus SSA will continue providing previous methods of verification services. To use SSNVS employers and third-party submitters must register through SSA's Business Services Online (BSO) at www.socialsecurity.gov/bso/bsowelcome.htm. Note that employers or third-party submitters currently registered through BSO will have to request additional access to utilize this new service.

Questions regarding SSNVS or other SSA online business services should be directed to the special SSA employer toll-free number, 800-772-6270, Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., eastern time. This phone number is just for employer related questions. For general Social Security information, call 800-772-1213. Both employer and general questions can be referred to TDD/TTY number 800-325-0778.

Q: Are Social Security rules available to the public?

A: Definitely. The Social Security Act, as amended, as well as related regulations, rulings, and the operating manuals used by employees to process claims for Social Security benefits are all online. Go to "Resources" in the right hand column of the home page at www.socialsecurity.gov. Click on the "Our Program Rules" section, choose what you want, and enjoy some hours of light reading.

Q: Can I complete the application for a replacement Social Security card online?

A: While you cannot submit the Social Security Number (SSN) application online, you can download it for completion. Find form SS-5, the SSN application, at http://www.socialsecurity.gov/online/ss-5.html with instructions. You can also get the form from any SSA office. Actual application can be made either in-person at a Social Security office or by mail to a SSA office. You will need to show current ID, preferably with a photo, to replace your card. See form SS-5 for specific instructions on what is considered acceptable ID but, in general, your ID must include several items of information such as your name, birthdate or age, and a parent's name. Photocopies are not acceptable. All SSN cards are issued centrally and will arrive about 2 weeks after your application is completed. No fee is charged for replacing your SSN card.

Did you know? Recently added to the SSA Web site is the Benefit Eligibility Screening Tool (BEST), a series of online questions to help you learn if you potentially qualify for Social Security retirement, survivors or disability benefits, or Supplemental Security Income program benefits. BEST also quickly screens your eligibility for Medicare benefits. BEST is useful as a self-screening tool but it is not an application for benefits. It provides eligibility information based on the answers you give to the questions. It does not provide estimated benefit amounts nor does it access your personal SSA records. You would need to contact a SSA representative, such as through the national toll-free number, 800-772-1213, or your local office, for more information or to file an application. You can go to the BEST tool from the SSA homepage, www.socialsecurity.gov, in the center column, by clicking on "do you qualify?" or directly at http://www.socialsecurity.gov/r&m2.htm.

Bethany Lutheran Church celebrates 100th anniversary

Bethany Lutheran Church will be celebrating its 100th anniversary beginning with a barbecue park lunch after services on Sunday, June 19, at 10:30 a.m. The centennial celebration began in March with a pancake and oyster stew brunch.

Bethany Lutheran Church, located one and one-half miles east of the Smiley Bridge on the Smiley Bridge road, and one mile north, started in 1905 when a group of women met for the purpose of supporting home and foreign missions. Since that day, the Bethany Aid has been a faithful and influential working organization of this church.

In the early days, the Ladies Aid meeting would be held in homes. The Norwegian language was used exclusively. Charter members of the first group included: Mrs. Albert Narum, Mrs. O.M. Pederson, Mrs. Tobias Skjerping, Mrs. Ole Valtinson, Mrs. Fred Lane, Mrs. Dan Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Wickum, Mrs. Tom Elefson, and Miss Clara Talifson. Mrs. O.M. Pederson was elected as the group's first president. Mrs. Tobias Skjerping was the vice president, and Mrs. Albert Narum the secretary-treasurer.

There were very few social activities, but when someone entertained the "Kvindeforeing," every member made a special effort to be present, even in the winter. Though difficult, members would travel with horses and sleigh, and these pioneer ladies would dress warmly.

The ladies served their first supper at the B.B. Hammer home. At the time, it was necessary to remove most of the furniture from the two-room home to make room for the guests. For their first Church dinner, they purchased a barrel of oyster, and with some new potatoes and fresh cream, they made a stew.

Almost immediately, the group began raising money to build a church, fund a parochial school, and provide aid to foreign and home missions. During that first event, they raised $20, which was a handsome sum in those days.

The church was organized by Rev. John Walseth and dedicated on Nov. 14, 1906.

Of of the earliest events, one that stood out was the congregational picnic held July 4, 1914 at the L.O. Stenseth farm. It was the year that the church was built.

The congregation, along with the Ladies Aid, purchased an altar, altar ring, baptismal font and pulpit, all hand-carved by Albert Angel for the sum of $150. The material was oak, with much of the work done by hand and woodcarving chisels, turning lathe and band saw. The color is weathered oak, with gold tincture trimming. At this same time, the pews were made by the Northern Woodwork Co. of Thief River Falls. All of these beautifully constructed pieces still grace the church today. The dedication ceremony for Bethany Lutheran Church was October 13, 1914.

In these early days, Mrs. O.M. Pederson was the guiding hand in the organization of the church. She always seemed to have the energy and ability to do just a little bit more than usual to keep things running smoothly. Even while busy caring for her home and family, she also answered sick calls in the community.

Bethany has been blessed with many people who have kept the Ladies Aid organization strong.

Some interesting excerpts collected by parishioners from the Ladies Aid reports include the following:

- 1908 - The first baptism in the congregation was that of Theodore Miles Olson on September 20.
- 1910 - The first marriage in the church was that of Pearl Brorby and Gunder Olson on December 10;
- 1914 - Rev. Roseland confirmed the first confirmation of the church;
- 1931 - The church's first organ was purchased from Holstad Music Co.;
- 1934 - During this year, the old tradition of a hostess being able to serve as much as she wanted was discontinued. She could now serve only four things and coffee. She was to also try to serve aid twice a year.
- 1941 - It was decided that each member was to pay 15 cents for lunch, whether they were present at the meeting or not;
- 1944-45 - The floor burned in the church;
- 1945 - The furnace burned wood.
- 1947 - Electricity was brought to the church;
- 1948 - It was decided that a hostess might now serve only three things, not including pickles and coffee;
- 1948 - The first lutefisk supper was served using a gas stove and wash tubs for the dishes. (Remember, all water was hauled for the event.)
- 1949 - During this year, the organization's president introduced the group to the Flower Fund. That is, each member gave a nickel and signed a slip. When all the names were in, one name was drawn and this person received a surprise gift, furnished by the individual who received it the meeting before. The money was used to buy flowers and gifts for members who were sick.
- 1949 - The church was partially destroyed in June by a windstorm, which moved the structure off the foundation. The south and north walls of the basement were almost completely gone. The church was partially held up by the west and east basement walls. The chimney and furnace were badly damaged. Electrical wires were torn loose and shingles were blown from the roof. Jennings Jenson jacked up the church and Art Olson supervised the rebuilding. A new basement was put under it and a new furnace was added. Volunteers did all the work. The blocks of the first basement were used to build the present outhouse.
- During the late 1940's and 1950's, Bethany was famous for its chicken dinners. The chickens were grown locally and butchered for the dinners. Older members remember serving over 400 people.
- 1951 - During this year, the Ladies Aid Chorus was formed with the members being: Mrs. Art Knutson, Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. Robert Pederson, Mrs. S.S. Nelson, Mrs. Walter Aubol, Mrs. Frank Hardisty, Mrs. Gust Homme, Mrs. J. W. Lendobeja, and Mrs. Arnold Hammer. Mrs. Hammer served as director.
- 1952 - The church was given a face lift - varnished, waxed and painted;
- 1957 - It was decided to serve napkin lunches at meetings, rather than the large lunches served in the past;
- 1963 - The women decided to divide into four groups for serving: Ester, Mary, Ruth and Sarah;
- 1965 - Four complete altar cloths made with paramount cloth;
- 1969 - A motion was passed to give 50 percent of the monthly offering to the church, with the exception of December, which would be kept in the treasury;
- 1971 - Indoor/outdoor carpeting was installed in the entry;
- 1973 - An entry with stained-glass windows was built on the front of the church;
- 1973 - Christmas goodie boxes were started. Each member was going to bring two dozen to pack for elderly and bachelors;
- 1978 - Many stewardship projects were done throughout the years, especially for Lutheran Relief. Fifty-five quilts were made.
- 1979 - The basement was remodeled and an improved kitchen built;
- 1980 - Plans were completed for digging a well, installing bath*rooms, running water and a new hot* water heater in the new kitchen in the basement;
- 1981 - the church celebrated its 75th Anniversary with a special morning service and the dedication of its new organ and remodeling projects;
- 1986 - Stained-glass steeple-window was given in memory of Barbara Lendobeja;
- 1987 - The steeple was re-shingled and new windows were put in the basement;
- 1988 - ALCW was changed to ELCW and the church's first recipe book was created;
- 1992 - New flooring was installed in the basement and a wedding reception policy was adopted;
- 1997 - The pews were padded and a matching altar knee-pad installed;
- 2001 - A changed format for monthly hostess to be in charge of events was approved;
- 2002 - The main part of the church was painted;
- 2005 - Plans were made for the centennial, new directory, creating of new altar cloths, and centennial cookbook.

Pastors who have served the congregation of Bethany Lutheran Church include: Rev. John Walseth from 1906 to 1907; Rev. Henry Halvorson from 1908 to 1910; Rev. Adolph Roseland from 1910 to 1914; Rev. O.P. Stavaas from 1915 to 1917; Rev. A.N. Skogerboe from 1918 to 1919; Rev. Erling Tungseth from 1919 to 1920; Rev. L. Gustaf Hanson from 1921 to 1922; Rev. V.O. Aaker from 1922 to 1926; Rev. Martin Ranum from 1926 to 1928; Rev. O.O. Bjorgan from 1928 to 1954; Rev. A.B. Helme from 1955 to 1968; Rev. Bruce Anderson from 1968 to 1977; Rev. Gene Broughton from 1978 to 1986; and Rev. Robert W. Dahlen from 1984 to the present.

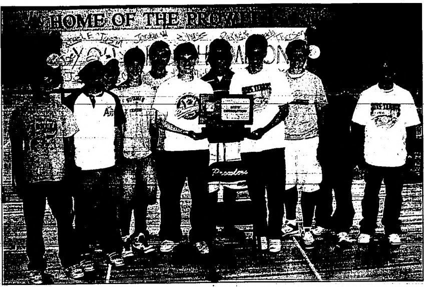
The Thief River Falls TIMES



Class-A boys state high school tennis tournament consolation champion trophy was held by the Prowlers during the welcome home celebration put together Friday upon Thief River Falls' return from the Twin Cities. The Prowlers lost to No. 1-ranked, unbeaten, eventual state champion Mounds Park Academy of St. Paul in the opening round quarterfinals, then beat Litchfield and Virginia in the consolation bracket. Members of the team include, from left, Tom Kalinoski, Jordan Swanson, Cody Bottem, Jacob Engelstad, Corey Horien, Jon Kays, Michael Forney, Joe Ihle, Brian Kays, Chase Haviland and Justin Pyle.

TRF win team, singles, doubles consolation crowns in Class A tennis...

Prowlers sweep consolation titles

Thief River Falls cornered the market on consolation trophies at the 2005 Class A boys state high school tennis tournament.

The Prowlers followed their consolation title in the Tuesday/Wednesday team portion of the tournament with singles and doubles consolation crowns by Justin Pyle and Michael Forney-Cody Bottem in the Thursday/Friday individual competition.

Patrick Hoversten of Hill-Murray beat Pyle 6-2, 6-4 in the opening round of the 16-player singles field. The Thief River Falls junior rebounded, however, with consolation bracket wins over Dusty Antoine of Luverne 6-2, 6-2; Shane Ecklund of Long Prairie-Grey Eagle/Swanville 6-4, 6-0; and Reid Nelson of Minnewaska Area 6-7 (2), 7-5, 7-5.

Forney, a junior, and Bottem, a sophomore, followed the same route as Pyle. They lost a 6-4, 7-6 (5) first round doubles decision to Jens Torgrimson-Matt LeTourneau of The Marshall School (Duluth), then rattled off consolation wins over Ryan Aeikens-Keith Gordon of Montevideo 6-3, 6-4; Charlie Hoemberg-Matt Edin of Staples-Motley 7-5, 0-6, 6-3; and area rivals Derek Kaiser-Kirby Johnson of Crookston 3-6, 6-1, 6-2.

A third Thief River Falls entry in the individual tournament was freshman Jacob Engelstad, who lost a 6-0, 6-1 first match to Bryan Kelly of Mounds Park Academy and fell to Nelson – Pyle's final opponent – 6-1, 6-2 in the consolation round.

Championship matches in both singles and doubles featured a win for The Blake School over St. Paul Academy and Summit School. Nick Lebedoff defeated Matt McCormick 6-3, 6-4 in the singles finals, and Will Hancock-Blake Nicholson got by Will DeBruyn-John Wight 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 in the doubles finale.

Thief River Falls' team trophy path began with a 4-3 quarterfinal loss to Mounds Park Academy that was followed by 6-1 consolation round wins over Litchfield and Virginia.

The Prowlers' opening round loss came at the hands of the No. 1-ranked team in the Class A polls. The Panthers completed the season as unbeaten state champions under coach Michelle Olson, a 1985 Lincoln High School graduate and daughter of long-time Prowlers tennis coach Whitey Olson.

TRF boys earn academic honors for Class AA golf

Thief River Falls has been named academic state champion in boys Class AA high school golf for 2005.

The Prowlers compiled a 3.758 team grade-point average to earn the state honors. Team members included senior Paul Sjoberg; juniors Corey LaSalle, Kyle Lunke, Matt Nordhagen, Brady Stanley; and sophomore Lee Peterson.

A state tournament qualifier, Sjoberg was named to the Class AA all-state team.

Sjoberg finished in a tie for 21st in the two-day state tournament at Bunker Hills in Coon Rapids. He shot a two-over par 74 on Day 1 and had a second-day 80 for a 154.

"He could have easily been under par the first day, but his putts did not drop," reported Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler.

On Day 2, Sjoberg was three-over par going into No. 16, and was looking at shooting a 75, explained Tyler. But late-round problem knocked him down the final individual standings.

"Paul blocked his tee shot and it barely went into the lateral water hazard," pointed out Tyler. "After a penalty drop, he buried his next shot under the lip of the sand trap. He took a penalty drop in the trap and finished the hole with a triple-bogie."

Sjoberg bogeyed No. 17 and 18 to finish the round.

"Paul had a great high school career," said Tyler. "One hole killed his chances. Pars on the last three holes would have placed him in a tie for sixth."

Two area youth wrestlers place in regional tourney

Jacoby Bergeron of Thief River Falls and Trent Sovde of Greenbush both had a pair of top-four place finishes during the USA Wrestling Northern Plains Regional Roman Greco and Freestyle Championships last week in Rochester.

Bergeron, wrestling in the 70-pound Schoolboy Division, finished fourth in the greco competition and second in freestyle. Wrestling as a 145-pound Cadet, Sovde placed third in both events.

The competition drew over 700 wrestlers to the Rochester Community and Technical College Recreation Sports Center. Place finishes in their respective state tournaments were needed to qualify for the regional event that drew 9-to-16-year-olds from Nebraska, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Bergeron started the Roman Greco portion of the tournament Thursday when he beat two wrestlers from Wisconsin, then lost to opponents from Wisconsin and

Twenty-one teams golf in SIDS event

Schedule an outdoor event and you are at the mercy of the weather. Months of planning and preparation can be lost if Mother Nature doesn't cooperate. An extended wet spell in northwestern Minnesota had organizers of the Cody Lundgren Memorial SIDS Golf Tournament on edge, but Friday's fund-raising event for the Minnesota Sudden Infant Death Center at Children's Hospitals and Clinics of Minneapolis and St. Paul was once again rain-free.

To be 3-for-3, weather-wise, since the tournament was first played in 2003, has strengthened the faith of those who put the event together. Each year threatening weather has retreated at tee time. Coincidence, plain dumb luck, or divine intervention? Lets go with the latter. Saturday, the day after the 2005 tournament, rains returned. An already saturated course became even more waterlogged and rising river water forced the Thief River Golf Club – site of the Cody Lundgren SIDS Tournament – to shut down operation.

Twenty-one teams registered for the four-person scramble event. Using California handicap scoring, the best round of golf was turned in by Stan Sjoberg, Paul Sjoberg, Marv Carlson and Roy Lee with a 53.9.

A close second was Tom Williams, Gordy DeLap, Rick Reierson and Jim Barry at 54.4.

The winning team featured players with four Thief River Golf Club Tournament titles to their credit: Carlson (1985), Stan Sjoberg (1995, 1998) and Paul Sjoberg (2004). At age 85, Lee was the oldest golfer in the tournament, but he wasn't along just for the ride; his game belied his age.

Final numbers are still being computed, but the family of Cody Lundgren expect proceeds to be on par with figures in 2003 and 2004 that realized a two-year contribution of over $11,000 to the Sudden Infant Death Center.

Those who put the tournament together expressed their deep appreciation and gratitude all those who contributed to the continued success of the event: the golfers; those who did not golf but nevertheless made a financial donation, hole sponsors, businesses and individuals supplying prizes for the drawings, and to the lunch items from Evergreen Eating Emporium, Jopprn Meats, SuperOne Foods and Metz Bakery Company. A wide assortment of dessert treats made by personnel at Dakota Clinic Surgery Center added immeasurably to the lunch that preceded the golf, and made the clubhouse turn a tasty stop throughout the day for the participants.

Jason Koch headed for Black Hills State

Jason Koch of Thief River Falls will take his basketball game to South Dakota this year after signing a national letter of intent with Black Hills State University in Spearfish.

Koch helped the Prowlers win 24 games in 2003-04 when he earned all-state honorable mention honors. He finished his high school basketball career as a member of the 1,000-Point Club.

The 5-10, 165-pound Koch played at Northland Community and Technical College in 2004-05. With Koch at point guard, the Pioneers reached the Minnesota Community College state tournament and he was named to the MCCC All-Northern Division team.

It was a one-year stay at Northland for Koch, who will join three community college transfers and six incoming freshmen as the first Black Hills State recruiting class for new Yellow Jackets coach Paul Sather.

TRF Baseball Association dinner is Thursday

Second annual Thief River Falls Baseball Association fund-raising steak/chicken dinner will be served Thursday, June 16, from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Elks.

Cost is $10 for a steak or chicken dinner.

The meals will be served by players involved in the Thief River Falls summer baseball program – from the Cal Ripkin to Legion levels.

Those attending the dinner will be eligible for door prizes that include three sets of four Minnesota Twins tickets and three rookie baseball cards for the Twins' Joe Mauer.

Illinois.

In Friday's freestyle competition, Bergeron registered an 11-1 technical fall over Dylan Loos of Wisconsin and out-scored Terry Ward of Illinois – who beat him the day before in the greco event – 9-6.

Those wins moved Bergeron into the Saturday championship round bracket. A bye moved him into the semifinals, where he edged Jordan Kingsley of Minnesota 3-2.

Wisconsin's Justin Muddlaff defeated Bergeron 12-1 in the title match.

Sovde, meanwhile, posted a 5-0 third place match win over Zach Delong of Minnesota in Roman Greco and a 5-1 third place win over Matt Holt of Wisconsin in freestyle after losing to eventual freestyle champion Matt Mauseth of Minnesota.

Bergeron headed to Indianapolis this week to wrestling in the National Schoolboy Duals for 13-14-year-olds.

State auditor calls for local governments to submit reform resolutions

Legislation recently signed by Gov. Tim Pawlenty will give local units of government the opportunity to propose reforms of state mandates. The legislation, originally sponsored by State Rep. Mark Olson (R - Big Lake), allows cities, counties, townships and school districts to file resolutions objecting to, or identifying potential reforms of, state mandates. Under the law, the state auditor is required to post these resolutions on the office's Web site.

State Auditor Pat Anderson supported this legislation as a way to increase communication between the state and local governments.

"The state often has good reasons for requiring local governments to perform a service, but it doesn't always provide appropriate funding to perform that service," said Anderson. "Hopefully, this new mechanism will spark important debates about the appropriateness of some state mandates."

Local governments are encouraged to consider those state mandates they believe are in particular need of reform or repeal. They should then submit resolutions to the State Auditor's Office for posting. It is hoped that the auditor's Web site will help legislators identify those mandates that are of particular concern to local units of government across the state.

"I encourage local units of government to submit resolutions to the State Auditor's Office," said Anderson. "If legislators are made aware of widespread opposition to a specific mandate, they are more likely to carefully examine the unintended consequences of that mandate."

Anderson has pledged to advocate on behalf of those local governments with a compelling case regarding state mandates.

"If local governments can demonstrate that a mandate is unnecessary or especially burdensome, I pledge to bring the item to the attention of the Legislature for reform," said Anderson.

Local governments wishing to file resolutions can access the required form and instructions for submission online at www.auditor.state.mn.us.

Digi-Key, Arctic Cat hold successful blood drives

The employees of Arctic Cat recently held a successful blood drive. During Arctic Cat's May 20 blood drive, 70 people volunteered to donate, 57 were able to give and 69 units were collected. Nine donors gave blood for the first time.

Digi-Key Corporation has once again hosted a very successful blood drive. According to Lisa Moellenkamp, donor recruitment representative at United Blood Services, "They had an outstanding turnout. Out of 183 people volunteered to donate, 147 were able to give and 173 units were collected. There were 38 people who donated for the first time."

The availability of blood is dependent on the success of blood drives held at many area business and community blood drives. The continued participation of Digi-Key Corporation in the area's program is vital to meeting the challenge of providing this life saving community service.

Do you want to help your teen avoid sex? Read on

What is the most important influence in a teenager's decisions about sex and early sexual activity?

According to Child Trends, a research organization based in Washington, D.C., studies consistently find that parents are a critical influence in the lives of their children. In various studies, good parent-child relationships are linked often to mental, social and emotional well-being in young people.

"Having a good connection with your teen may be the best defense against teen sexual activity," said Ellen Zaeske, clinical director for counseling services at Lutheran Social Service.

Zaeske says that, while parents may feel squeamish about discussing such a sensitive topic with their teens, kids need to know where their parents stand.

"Children have a deep connection with their parents, and what they say about their values really matters," said Zaeske. "While what you say about the mechanics of sexuality is important, expressing your values on the issue is even more important."

Along with teen pregnancy, an increase in sexually-transmitted diseases in Minnesota is another worry for parents to consider. According to the Minnesota Department of Health, sexually-transmitted diseases increased by 19 percent in 2002 followed by a 6 percent increase in 2003. Moreover, teens and young adults are at the greatest risk for diseases such as chlamydia, gonorrhea and syphilis. Left untreated, chlamydia and gonorrhea can cause infertility. Untreated syphilis can lead to blindness, brain damage, heart problems and even death. Sexually-transmitted diseases, in general, can also increase the risk of becoming infected with HIV and spreading it to others, and increase the risk of cervical cancer among women.

Zaeske offers these tips for parents:

- Be present: Make it a point to be with your child before and after school, at mealtimes and bedtimes. These are great opportunities to connect with your child. Devote at least a few hours a week to your child, without interruptions.
- Listen well: Kids need a sounding board during their teen years, which can be fraught with complex and emotional issues. Parents can be there for their teen by not being judgmental, being a good listener and supporting them in making wise decisions.
- Share your values: Let your teen know that you disapprove of early sexual activity. If you believe that your child should wait until marriage, say so. Be honest with your teen about your own decisions regarding sexual activity as a teen and whether, in retrospect, you would have behaved differently and why.
- Set high academic expectations: This will help your child aim high and achieve goals that will help them build self-esteem and self-confidence, which are both important in making good decisions about sexuality.
- Stay connected: Be involved in your child's world. Get to know their friends and be genuinely interested in their activities.

Whoooo! Red Lake County American Cancer Society Unit did it again! On Friday night at Oklee with a large crowd and wonderful entertainment, may vendors, hamburger stands, whatever you wished for-fish pond went well and silent auction sale-even the weather held off. It was clammy, but thank you Lord, no wind and bugs. The donations from friends, family, relatives, business places to help fight costs; the progress to fight and cure cancer. I lost two children to cancer and one had breast surgery and is surviving. The amount so far taken in was $57,000+++. It is amazing how generous everyone was and it is very much appreciated. We will win yet!

Initial claims for unemployment benefits increase

The number of initial claims for unemployment benefits filed in May rose by more than 3,700 from one year ago — an increase of 20 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis – mainly due to a calendar effect, according to Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development Commissioner Matt Kramer. This May had four Mondays and the Tuesday after Memorial Day, all typically heavy claim days, compared to last May's four Mondays only.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the number of initial claims filed in May increased over the prior month by 1,152 initial claims to more than 26,000.

Manufacturing plant shutdowns account for over 60 percent of the increase in initial claims filed. New claims due to permanent separations from employment are up by 340 over May of last year.

"I am optimistic that the manufacturing industry in Minnesota will come around and offset the temporary industry closures," said Kramer. "On a positive note, permanent layoffs are down slightly from last year."

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota has been holding up on the sunshine for almost three weeks, until we are beginning to feel sort of soggy. Today, it started by sunshine and the puddles on the street were drying out and all of a sudden, the clouds came and we were back to square one again. (Here my ribbon ran out and I had to go to TRF for that. Also, learned what some of these buttons are intended to do!)

Good morning. That was thunder we just hear! The sun is shining above the clouds again. I hope it draws the moisture out of them to deposit some other place. If we are what we eat, some discouraged folks must have eaten "Mad cow beef". Don't say I blame you, many have their whole year's work going down the drain. Even my tomatoes look like they are sinking into the ground, they were so tall, blossoming and looking well yesterday and today too wet and with the leaves hanging down.

Last week was more than a holiday for me. Sunday was the big celebration for Pearl Thompson's 90th birthday held at the Heritage School because the Community Center was rented to a group who were having their high school graduation reception there. All Peter and Pearl's children and their children sponsored the event; David Thompson, LaVonne Johnson, Sherry Stewart and Becky Johnson. Lloyd and Alyce Vagle from Big Lake and Pearl Thompson are the remaining immediate family of Ole Vagle. It was a big celebration with so many of the children and their offspring of the Vagle family. Happy Birthday, Pearl from all of us that were there or wished they were there!!!

Memorial Day was a sunny day for which we were grateful. Jeff and Roberta Nyquist were guests of Danny and Gloria Renstrom while they attended the graduation of Kayla Grahn in TRF. Early Monday morning, Roberta came to help me put flowers on the graves of our friends and relatives in Karlstad. In the evening, Gloria and I removed them and put them away until next year.

David and Jenny Janssen of New Ulm, with Bethany and Nathaniel, spent Memorial Day weekend at Paul and Shirley Anderson's. Sunday, Paul and Shirley attended Pearl Thompson's 90th birthday party and also the graduation parties for Philip Schauffhauser in Karlstad and Becky Bjorgaard in Newfolden.

Supper guests at the Anderson's were Kristopher Anderson, Kenrick Anderson and friend Julia of White Bear Lake; Eva Bernard, Bill Nelson and Rick Wadholm. Monday David, Jenny and Nathaniel Janssen returned to New Ulm.

Shirley Anderson, Kristopher and Kenrick Anderson and Julia and Bethany all attended the Memorial Day services in Strandquist.

Morris and Hazel Anderson visited the Janssens on Saturday to get acquainted with little Nathaniel Janssen. They were supper guests at Paul and Shirley Anderson's with Eva Bernard Monday evening.

Elsie Lefrooth was invited to go to Irene's Cafe for dumplings on Tuesday by Virgil and Louise Erickson from the Cities and Shirley Lefrooth, whose house guest they had been for a few days. After a delicious meal, they all decided to visit Elphie Adlis and spent a nice afternoon with her.

I will continue this news next week.

FROM THE PAST ECHOES

Out in Society

From the Thief River Falls Times
June 12, 1930

Lawn Party

"A lawn party was given by Mrs. B. O. Norby on Wednesday afternoon of last week when she entertained the members of her Sunday school class at her home. Games formed the diversion of the afternoon after which a lunch was served by the hostess. The guests list included Vivian Ward, Celeste Crown, Ardith Larson, Edna Lee, Lois Clausen, Ora Mouslette, Sylvy Hanson, Cecelia Holland and Helen Tweten."

Birthday Party

"Miss Colletta Reller was the honor guest at a picnic given Monday evening at the Tourist Park by a group of friends in celebration of her birthday. An 8 o'clock supper was served. The guests were the Misses Colletta Reller, Esther Crown, Emma Schertvete, Hilda Bugge, Lillian and Rose Erickson, Grace Mostue, and Hilda, Betsy and Esther Ness."

Baptist Church
Markley Avenue

"A daily vacation Bible school with an attendance of 40 is being held in the church each morning from 9 to 12 with Minnie S. Nelson and Atola Benson as teachers. Gospel meetings continue each evening at 8 o'clock. On Sunday there are three sessions: 10 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Rev. E. Lindholm and Miss Nelson of St. Paul will be the speakers. There will be baptism both afternoon and evening. You are most heartily invited to worship with us."

Church of the Lighted Cross
(Methodist-Presbyterian)

"Sunday, June 15: Service at 11 a.m., including the annual Children's Day program.

"The Sunday school will meet at 10:30 preparatory to the 11 o'clock service.

"Evening service at 8 o'clock.

"Mr. H. Logan will preach from the theme, 'Gog and Magog.'

"Dr. Grays will be away at Hamline university, but will be present to conduct the services June 29.

"The East side group will meet with Mrs. G. Biddick, Friday, the 13th.

"You'll like the Church of the Lighted Cross. Try and get in Sunday."

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

St. Hilaire, Red Lake County, Minnesota June 17, 1905

News Items

"Cloudy weather and rain seem to be the prevailing thing lately.

"Billy Bennett's tent show was here for three nights the first of the week. They drew a fair sized audience each evening.

"Cook and Clark, the new Thief River Falls attorneys, have a card in this issue of the SPECTATOR. We do not hesitate to recommend these gentlemen to any of our readers who have legal business. Give them a call if you need legal advice.

"That dread uncertainty and fearful anxiety still prevails and the tax dodgers do not yet know whether they or their neighbors will have to pay those sidewalk taxes.

"A. F. Lang brought us in a sample of oats which he took in River Falls that is fully two feet in length, which indicates that the crops are growing even if the weather is cold.

"The semi-annual election of officers in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows Lodge last week resulted in R. H. Duntley being chosen for Noble Grand; O. F. Post, Vice Grand; J. B. O'Brien, secretary and Henry Peterson, trustee.

"The county commissioners are scheduled to meet again next Tuesday, June 20th to reconsider the county seat petition, but it is thought that the board will not meet, but have the matter come up in court in July.

"Manager Pettibone is feeling good over the fact that he has nearly enough logs now on hand to last the season. The logs have been coming in very rapidly lately and it is thought that there is nearly ten million here at present.

"The Neils sawmill at Cass Lake claims the biggest log of the season. It was a white pine, 16 feet long and produced 1,140 feet of 1 1/2 inch clear lumber. The log came from the Leech Lake reservation and is said to be the biggest yet found in that part of the country.

"The Thief River Falls ball team, which is recognized as a good one, will play a game here the Fourth of July with the White Earth Indians. The teams played at White Earth last Wednesday, the score being 4 to 2 in favor of Thief River Falls, but the Indians are strengthening their team and are coming up here on the Fourth with blood in their eye looking for scalps. It will be a great game! You can't afford to miss it. Come."

Old Landmark Gone

"In 1882 when St. Hilaire was scattered along the river for three or four miles and additions were platted in every direction, Christ Olson built a hotel and called it the 'Central House.' For a time it was 'central' between the present townsite and Crocker, Cundy & Nelson's additions [east of Kruse ln, on the banks of the river], but for the past twenty years it has been about a half mile from the business part of the village. It has long been one of the landmarks of the town but it has seen its day and served its purpose and is now being torn down for fire wood."

Editorials

"Hunt and Singer will move the GULLY SUNBEAM to Highlanding July 1st. This will make seven newspapers in Red Lake County." [Thief River Falls News and Press, Red Lake Falls Courier and Gazette, Plummer Pioneer, St. Hilaire Spectator and the Sunbeam.]

"The attorney general decides that the city of Thief River Falls has not the power to lease their city hall for county purposes. Now would be a good time for the upriver citizens to get together and make things lively by offering a brand new building to the county free of charge."

Going to Extend

"While no official announcement is made by the Great Northern, it is said that work will be commenced upon building the proposed extension of the road from Greenbush to Roseau in a month or two and that work of securing the right-of-way has already been commenced, says the THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS. The fact that the Soo or an independent line would build into Roseau is said to be the cause of the Great Northern activity."

Organize Tonight
Modern Brotherhood Lodge Will Institute This Evening

"Organizer D. D. Horton, assisted by Director J. H. Miller of Grand Forks and lodge members from Crookston, Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls, will institute a lodge of the Modern Brotherhood of America here this evening. About thirty members will be initiated, after which the members and their friends will indulge in a social dance to be followed by a supper at the Hotel St. Hilaire. The Red Lake Falls orchestra has been secured and a large number are expected from the neighboring towns. The lodge starts under favorable circumstances and should prove a success."

Bought Boats

"The Thief River Falls, Grand Forks and Crookston Lumber companies last week purchased the two gasoline boats known as the 'Dan Patch' and the 'Red Lake Flyer' at Thief River Falls. The boats will be run under the management of Ole Peterson from Thief River Falls to Oak Grove and return. One or more boats will leave Thief River Falls each Monday to take freight and passengers to points along the Red Lake river. They have reduced the price of carrying freight from 35 to 25 cents per 100 and will carry passengers for 50 cents each, to any point as far as Little Oak Grove. Return trip will be made from Little Oak Grove on Wednesday and the boats will be at the disposal of pleasure parties or special trips the balance of the week."

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

The News, John W. Eastman, Publisher June 15, 1905
Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota

Knox's Latest

"C. J. Knox last week platted a new addition north of town. It will be known as Excel addition and the fact that Thief River Falls is getting rather large and extending up somewhat near the Marshall county township by that name, is said to have something to do with the selection of the name. In all there are now some eighteen different additions to Thief River Falls and more will follow."

Contract is Let

"The committee having charge of the building of the Masonic building has let the contract to Contractor Kriglin and work upon the same will be rushed from now on. When completed, it will be one of the handsomest buildings of Thief River Falls and one in which all will take pride."

A Free Ferry

"Through the efforts of a number of business men and farmers, a free ferry is to be established across the Red Lake river just a mile or two north of town. The ferry will run between J. A. Willis on the north side of the river and Andrew Stenseth on the south side. It will be free and can be crossed at any time from 5 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. It will prove a great accommodation to the settlers living on the north side of the river. The city council has donated $150 towards the expenses."

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

County Girl Crowned Northwest Dairy Princess

"Miss Barbara Droppo, who last fall reigned as Lincoln high school homecoming queen, extended her empire to ten counties at Dairy Day in Thief River Falls Tuesday, when she was crowned Northwest Dairy Princess from a field of 27 aspirants.

"Barbara, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Droppo of St. Hilaire, will compete this fall at the state fair for the title of State Dairy Princess, now held by Miss Eleanor Maley of Grand Meadow, who was here yesterday to share in the coronation ceremony.

"Selected as Barbara's attendants were Glorianne Audette of Red Lake Falls and Betty Kitchell of Ada. The naming of Miss Droppo as princess marks the first time in the six-year history of Dairy Day that a Pennington County girl has been chosen as princess."

Crowd Enjoys Smorgasbord On Dairy Day

"Favored by perfect weather conditions, the smorgasbord in Riverside park Tuesday evening for participants in Northwest Dairy Day proved to be in an enjoyable affair. The food was prepared by Jack Edmiston and was served by a group of businessmen volunteers.

"Charles Christianson, Roseau county superintendent of schools, presided over the program. Rudy Mehlhoff, chairman of the Dairy Princess contest, introduced the aspirants for the title and the winner, Miss Barbara Droppo, whom he presented with a matched set of luggage. Miss Sonja Sharpe of Shelly, 1954 princess, spoke briefly, as did Miss Eleanor Maley, Princess Kay of the Milky Way."

Lifeguards Are On Duty At Swimming Pool

"Quentin Jones, who, again this year, is serving as waterfront director and swimming instructor at the Tindolph park pool, announced today that lifeguards went on duty Monday, June 13, and will serve each day except Sunday from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

"Jones added that Red Cross swimming instructions will get under way next Monday, June 20. As in past years, children will be transported by bus from St. Hilaire and Goodridge on Thursdays and Fridays.

"Serving as lifeguards this season, in addition to Jones, are Philip Beadle and Miss Beverly Wegge."

3,000 Fans Attend Rodeo Here Sunday

"A record-breaking crowd of 3,000 rodeo fans were in attendance at the R.C.A.-sponsored rodeo at Melvin Joppru's farm northwest of the city on Sunday afternoon as the third annual Thief River Falls rodeo concluded its two-day stand. Jim and Tom Tescher were the high-point contestants in the six-event program. Jim Tescher, with 372 points, was the winner in the saddle bronc event, with Tom Tescher second with 369 points. In the bareback riding event, John Mitchell, with 361 points, was the winner, with Jim Tescher having 346 points for second place."

Ardis Anderson Crowned Miss TRF Saturday Evening

"Miss Ardis Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson of Rosewood, was crowned Miss Thief River Falls by last year's title-holder, in the presence of 300 guests at the state Elks convention banquet in the armory Saturday evening.

"Ardis, who was sponsored by Elaine's and is employed at the local telephone office, was selected from a field of 15 aspirants in the contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"Following her selection, she will receive a free trip to the Minneapolis Aquatennial in July, where she will compete for the title of Queen of the Lakes, and will also be given a $50 wardrobe allowance by the Jaycees.

"Other contestants included Pat Zachar, Charlene Erickson, Helen Gullingrud, Doria Pic, Cherry Johnson, Dorothy Anderson, Pat Lofberg, Elody Kulseth, Esther Hendrickson, Carol Gilbertson, Nita Bakke, Marilyn Johnson, Gloria Cloutier, and Linda Wold."

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Discouraging words ignored

You know the refrains to Home on the Range. Almost all of us do, but there is one in particular refrain that I'm referring to. You know..."where seldom is heard a discouraging word."

During the past week, hardly a day didn't go by that someone didn't offer a discouraging word. There were complaints about mosquitoes, complaints about long grass, complaints about air travel, and complaints about traffic. It seems that no matter what people did or where they went, the journey gave them something to complain about. That's not typical of our residents. Generally, not a discouraging word is heard, especially from our stoic Scandinavians. Of course, several days and weeks of rain and clouds will influence a person's attitude - at least, we'd like to think that's what was causing all the unpleasantness or malaise. With all the rain, accompanying thunder and matching grumbling during the past week, organizers of two particular events may have entered gloomy forecasts in their journals. But, area residents surprised them.

Last year, the Pennington County Chapter of the American Cancer Society raised about $22,000 during the Relay For Life. This year, organizers reported that on Friday they raised roughly $40,000. Admittedly, 2004 was a first for local organizers. That it took place at all was due to a lot of last minute planning. In contrast, planning for the 2005 Relay For Life event began almost the minute the 2004 event ended. Nevertheless, we cannot say the planning expended by volunteers for 2005 was "better" than the effort expended by volunteers the previous year, just more thorough. So what was the reason for the success? Other than the occasional "Wow," uttered by surprised, and even stunned organizers, the difference - roughly $20,000 - was simply due to greater interest among potential participants and the generosity of local and area residents.

The second event, which was no less important than the Relay For Life, was the Cody Lundgren Memorial SIDS Golf Tournament. The event is named after Cody Lundgren who died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) on Nov. 30, 2000. In 2003, seeking some way to help researchers find a cure for SIDS, his family spearheaded the organization of a golf tournament. Last year's event was a little damp, but golfers raised about $5,300 for research into a cure for SIDS. Last Friday, golfers raised about $6,000. Again, it's obvious that organizers put in a tremendous amount of effort into organizing the event, but they give credit for their success to the generosity of citizens in the community.

Both events took place on Friday. Hopefully these events mark a watershed (pun intended) in the attitudes and feelings of residents. Quite simply, the outpouring of concern and support for these worthy fundraising activities was a refreshing contrast to recent rain-soaked attitudes. We should also thank the organizers. Though they would rather hide in the shadows of the light they created, people like the Lundgrens and Kirkebys and all those who assisted them in organizing the SIDS tournament, and Jane Anderson and members of the American Cancer Society Relay For Life committee, deserve our respect and admiration for going the extra mile for others.

Support teachers

At the end of every school year, we focus on graduates and their parents. As so many have said, "It is the time and place we set aside to recognize and celebrate the accomplishments of our students," and then we usher them through several celebrations and into the next phase of their life. But I think, that as time separates us from these events, we realize that we should also recognize the influence of teachers on our accomplishments.

Not a school celebration goes by for me without thinking about the teachers in my past whose impact contributed to who I am today - the English teacher, the band director, the coach, and many others. I believe this is true of others as well, and I sincerely hope that recent graduates will also recognize it too.

Teachers play vital roles in shaping the direction of many lives. Their hard work, dedication, enthusiasm for learning, and amazing and uncanny ability to work with many children of varying levels and abilities at the same time, mean they play important roles in the development and education of every child.

Because of their role, good teachers in every classroom should be an important public policy goal. In fact, how we do that has recently become a public debate. To a large extent, the continuation of support for professional development is essential to assuring that we attain this goal.

Change is a constant in education. Change - new rules, new goals, new equipment and new challenges demand a response from us. That response should be to treat teachers and administrators with respect, and provide professional development opportunities and incentives to meet our expectations. Providing this support might just be what we need to ensure that parents and schools will continue to proudly usher thoughtful and informed young men and women into society.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of The Times encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in The Times exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified.

Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Keep your nose out of my...grass

To my "Concerned Neighbor":

Thank you for watching my grass grow. The next time you are worried about my grass, instead of complaining to the city, please call or ring the door bell. I will be glad to answer either one. Instead of tattling to the city, perhaps you should get a hobby or a job. How petty.

Shelva Johnson
Riverdale Drive
Thief River Falls

(Johnson explained that she received a letter from the city demanding that they either mow their lawn or the city would mow it for them and send them a bill. She didn't believe her grass was too long. She said she does not know who complained, but said they obviously are not aware that her husband has heart problems, and that her son mows the grass for them when it isn't raining.)

Don't steal from my Dad's grave site

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to our less than honorable citizens. My dad was a wonderful, kind and gentle man. He loved his family, his job, his church and his country. He also loved red geranium. Since his death in 1996, Ida, his wife of 58 years, has lovingly tended to his gravesite. And, each year she places a red geranium there. Once again, someone has taken Dad's geranium. How morally bankrupt must a person be to rob anything from someone's grave?

If you're that person(s), and are reading this, though somehow, I doubt you're the type of person to read the newspaper, I have a request: next year, when you have that urgent desire for a red geranium, call me and I'll send you the money to purchase one from a store. Just leave my Dad's gravesite alone.

Saundra Nordvall Martin
Prescott, AZ

Thank you for helping

To the Editor:

Thank you to all the county and city police for their quick response to the accident Tuesday, May 31. Also a special thanks to all the neighbors for their assistance and quick response as well in the 600 block of Horace Ave. N. My daughter and I greatly appreciate all the assistance.

Marnie and Gretchen Berglund
Thief River Falls

Encourage senators to support bill

To the Editor:

As Commissioner of Education, I am deeply committed to ensuring that all Minnesota children receive a quality education, and that our public school system is strong and healthy. It is because of this commitment that I am calling on parents and educators to support Governor Pawlenty's K-12 education funding proposal, and urge their local legislators to do likewise and bring closure to the Special Session.

The governor's plan, which increases education funding by $867 million over the next two years (more than the Senate plan of $797 million) would be the largest increase in state history if passed. The Thief River Falls School District would receive approximately $1.8 million in total new revenue. Also included in the proposal is additional equalization aid, which benefits districts that have less property wealth, and direct equity revenue that reduces funding disparities among districts.

The highlights of the proposal, however, are the exciting reforms that Governor Pawlenty has put forth. The QComp plan would transform the teaching profession by creating career paths, providing a strong evaluation process and rewarding teachers based on additional responsibilities and performance. It would also provide meaningful staff development. Districts in Minnesota that are piloting a similar program (the Milkin Foundation Teacher Advancement Program) are already seeing real change and success. If the Thief River Falls School District were to opt-in to QComp it would receive an additional $1,051,601.

Finally, the Governor's plan also includes the Get Ready, Get Credit proposal, which will provide high school students with more opportunities to obtain college or postsecondary credit in high school. It will also provide students with greater access to Advanced Placement and International Baccalaureate courses.

Governor Pawlenty has come more than halfway with his global budget solution. It is time for the Senate to step up and meet the governor and reach a final agreement. Districts are struggling to put together budgets for next year, and accepting this generous proposal will help them as they plan the services our students need.

Sincerely,
Alice Seagren
Commissioner
Minnesota Department of Education

Remember to give your Dad hugs

To the Editor:

Father's Day is on Sunday and I've thought a lot about this lately.

My dad was born Dec. 26, 1937. He grew up in a farming family sharing everyday responsibilities. He went to school until the eighth grade and then quit to help his father farm. He also had lots of odd jobs throughout his life. He married my mom, and they had five children. It didn't matter that all five were girls. We knew just as much about farming as any boy.

There were so many things that had to get done around our farm, we didn't do a lot of fancy family things. When we did do something, it meant so much more to all of us.

Growing up, Dad was always there, but wasn't a real talker about life, so it was hard to get to know him. Even though he didn't talk a lot, I now realize that I got many of my values about life from him. Don't get me wrong, I learned those values from both of my parents.

A few years back, Dad had some medical problems and was forced to slow down. During the two and one-half years he faced these difficulties, he probably did some things that he should not have been doing. A second surgery left him paralyzed from the waist down, but he never gave up or felt sorry for himself. What do farmers do when faced with adversity? Keep farming!

During this time, we all started to think about the simple things we take for granted. Dad seemed to handle being paralyzed, but the severe nerve pain he dealt with every day was, at times, unbearable for him, but he put up a good fight. There were two days that he did not have pain. The first day was Christmas Day. He awoke in the morning on that day like nothing had happened to him. He had an awesome day. He would always refer back to that day when he struggled with the bad days. The second day took place last summer. On that day he was outside all day pulling nails out of some old boards. I learned later that his 30-day supply of pain medication had been used up in about 12 days.

During this time, our whole family became real close. I became incredibly close to my Dad, spending a lot of time at his house, and going to doctor's appointments. I cherish all the time I spent learning and listening about his life, and sharing my life with him.

Dad taught me about people and about never giving up. Like the song goes "God wouldn't make mountains you can't climb." My Dad gave it his best shot. He always said, "I am going to walk again."

Dad was lucky he lived in a small community, which I believe is the best place in the world! There weren't too many days that someone did not come around for a visit. Most days, the dining room table was full of men sitting around, drinking coffee and visiting with him. I believe that if only we could have so many friends and family, there would be no hate in the world.

Father's Day is just a few days away, but this Father's Day my visit will be different. I won't be bringing the normal gift of a fishing rod, cooler, and a new shirt. This year, I will visit him at the Goodridge Cemetery with flowers. He passed away on October 21, 2004. Remember to give your Dad hugs, kisses, talk, and listen. Remember to say, "I love you," and "thank you." I was so lucky to have that with my Dad these last years. I miss him terribly, but I have no regrets what-so-ever.

Happy Father's Day Dad
Love,
Sheila Tharaldson
Goodridge

Higher Ed bill won't stop cuts or tuition increases

by Rep. Bernie Lieder

A recent Letter to the Editor chastised me for voting against – as the writer put it – the University of Minnesota-Crookston. He was referring to my vote against the Omnibus Higher Education Bill on May 20. I see it differently. I voted against that bill because it won't prevent another round of tuition increases and it will make it harder for students and families to afford college.

Under the bill, tuition at the University of Minnesota will increase somewhere between six and nine percent in each of the next two years. Frankly, I don't think students and families can afford another round of double-digit increases, mainly because tuition has already increased by over 80 percent increase over the past four years. The bill also rearranges the student loan program in a way that will exclude a number of students, pricing them out of college entirely.

The "funding increases" in the bill are also an accounting gimmick and represents just over half of the amount cut from the University's budget in the previous biennium. Two years ago, the University's base budget was cut by $387 million. This year's bill restores just $212 million, leaving a gap of $165 million.

In addition to the shortfall, this year's bill also includes initial funding for a University of Minnesota campus in Rochester. That funding comes out of same pot of money that funds all of the University's campuses, including Crookston. That means some money that might otherwise be headed to Crookston will instead be used toward building a new campus in Rochester instead.

Another item also changes the way a person is appointed to the University's board of Regents. The net effect of the change will relegate more power to the governor in the final selection of a Regent, allowing the Governor to stack the board and diminish the influence of rural legislators in the process. That is a matter of grave concern for a coordinate campus such as the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

I believe that our institutions of higher education need sufficient state funding to ensure students access to an affordable education to attract and retain top faculty, staff and students and to sustain excellence in teaching research and public service. The more we continue to under-fund higher education, the more we stand to lose in the economic arena.

The year's higher education bill continues a disturbing trend in this state because it doesn't come close to meeting the real needs of students and their families. Because of that, we're in danger of damaging one of the most important economic engines in this state. That's why I voted against it.

City approves tax abatement proposal

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Thief River Falls City Council became the first of three local government entities to approve the Thief River Falls Tax Abatement Proposal. The proposal was unanimously approved by the Thief River Falls City Council at its June 14 meeting.

Community Development Director Mike Moore said that housing studies have indicated that there is a fairly desperate need for new housing in Thief River Falls. Right now Midwest Minnesota Community Development Corporation, a non-profit organization operating out of Detroit Lakes, is the only major developer.

Moore said this proposal is to allow local, private developers the opportunity to participate through tax abatement. The program will be limited to developments of at least six lots. Eligible lots must be connected to city infrastructure.

Under the proposal, special assessments for the cost of city infrastructure will be assessed to the developer. The developer will in turn pass special assessments on to the property owner who purchases the lot. At that point, the property owner will have two years to build a permanent home on the lot.

Once a home is constructed and it is certified that it has been occupied, the property taxes based on the value of the home will be returned. Property taxes from all three governmental entities, the city of Thief River Falls, Pennington County and School District 564, will be returned to the homeowner for a three-year period.

Moore said the incentive for the program is to get more people to build houses. He presented the same tax abatement proposal to the S.D. 564 School Board and the Pennington County Board of Commissioners, but neither board has taken action.

"No other entity has given thumbs up or approval, though it appears that it is being viewed favorably," Moore said.

The good, the bad and the ugly...

What housing growth means for Thief River Falls

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Thief River Falls leaders haven't consulted their psychics, but they are thinking about the future and they're making plans.

A recent housing study commissioned by the city of Thief River Falls projected the need for 20 to 25 new homes per year between 2003 and 2009. If those homes were to be constructed, a number of issues would arise.

An increase in housing construction may lead to annexation. In annexation, a city adds one or more properties to its city limits and tax rolls.

In the past, according to Community Development Director Mike Moore, the city of Thief River Falls annexed property if the township and city agreed that the property could be annexed. Due to pending state legislation, Moore is not sure whether the city will continue to annex properties in that manner.

The construction of more houses may also lead to other issues. Depending on where housing growth occurs, the city may have to pay Red Lake Electric Cooperative to provide electricity to those homes.

In the past, the city and cooperative have had agreements for that purpose. A past agreement did not lead to an increase in electric rates because existing working capital was used, Utilities Director Arlo Rude noted.

Despite the potential for the construction of more housing in the city, it doesn't appear that the city will need to look for a new water source anytime in the near future. "We've got growth there for several years," said Rude, who noted that the water plant is working at 50 percent capacity.

Additional sewer lines and lift stations may also be constructed. A consultant is looking at a trunk sewer line and lift stations to serve residents as the city continues to expand to the south, according to Public Works Director Ron Lindberg. It is important to get that

County accepts resignation of sheriff's deputy

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

During its June 14 meeting, the Pennington County Board of Commisioners accepted the resignation of full-time sheriff deputy Jim Jesme.

According to Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby, who presented the letter of resignation, Jesme is resigning to accept a teaching position at Northland Community and Technical College. That job begins Aug. 15.

Jesme's final day as a full-time sheriff deputy will be Aug. 14. Hruby would like to keep Jesme, a 15-year employee and trained K-9 owner/handler, on the department's payroll as a part-time deputy, to cover shifts during summer vacations and to work during K-9 searches. Hruby added that Jesme is experienced in running fire arms certifications.

Hruby said his intention would be to hire Jesme as a part-time deputy and hire a full-time deputy from within. The board approved the resignation of Deputy Jim Jesme, effective Aug. 14. The board will approve the re-classification of Jesme at a later date.

Board approves law enforcement grants. The board approved two law enforcement related grants. The board approved a $40,000 increase, from $200,000 for work release grants, effective in fiscal year 2006.

The board also approved an annual management grant for homeland security, totalling $9,232. All funds received in the grant must be matched by the county.

Budget reductions hurting School District Title programs

NWEA test results at Challenger show tremendous growth

by David Hill
Editor

Title programs in School District 564 need help. Monday, June 14, Judy Lindquist presented a warning about the direction the Title program is taking in the District to the School District 564 Board of Education. Lindquist, Title I director, said that while test results show students in Title programs have been meeting goals, because of federal funding cuts to Title programs, the District will have to cut two positions this year.

Data from Lindquist showed that allocations to all Title programs – Title I, Title II, and Title V – have experienced funding cuts in the past four years. Title I funding, for example, has decreased from $349,421 during the 2002-03 school year to $235,881 for the 2005-06 school year. Lindquist also reviewed data that showed that students have generally been meeting growth targets. But data also showed that the number of students who were not able to be served because of funding cuts has been increasing. In fact, next year, Lindquist, said providing reading services is "problematic."

"We're definitely seeing a diminishing of services," said Carol Ihle, curriculum coordinator.

Two Title positions will no longer be able to be funded next year because of the funding cuts. Ihle noted that they have been able to avoid cuts in the past, but no longer. In the future, she said, the District may need to use general fund District dollars to help respond to the need in the District.

(Title I is designed to support state and local school reform efforts tied to challenging state academic standards in order to reinforce and amplify efforts to improve teaching and learning for students farthest from meeting state standards.)

Stellar Test Results

While discussion about Title programs may have provided the Board of Education with some bad news, results from Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA) exams gave them something to smile about.

Ihle said that results have been very good, and a lot of that has to do with the work that's taking place in the schools.

NWEA assessments begin with a test in the fall and are followed up with tests in the spring. This growth model assessment provides teachers with data that allows them to provide individualized instruction.

Teacher Tom Schafer said that it allows teachers to modify their lessons and focus on weak areas and strong areas. Because teachers are able to make lesson plan changes earlier in the year, he said they can help students at all levels, go further.

The data is also shared with parents, and together with teachers, students are provided goals.

Troy Bates, School Board representative, wondered whether

Three sentenced on felony charges

Felony sentences were handed down in a Ninth District court in Pennington County last week for Matthew George LaLonde of Thief River Falls, Kyle Allen Larson of Warren, and Augustine Robert Medrano of Thief River Falls.

LaLonde was sentenced on a charge of felony terroristic threats. The charge against Matthew LaLonde, 18, Thief River Falls, stems from a March 26, 2005 incident in which he pointed a gun at a man and woman from a vehicle and threatened them. Judge Donald J. Aandal sentenced LaLonde to 90 days in jail, placed him on supervised probation for five years, and ordered him to pay a fine and fees totaling $270. In addition, he was ordered to have no contact with the victims, not consume any alcohol, and be subject to random tests and searches.

Larson, 19, Warren, was sentenced on a felony charge of controlled substance crime in the fifth degree. The charge against Larson stems from a March 3, 2005 incident in which he was found in possession of methamphetamine. The drug was passed to him in a cigarette box while police officers were present. Aandal sentenced Larson to 15 years in jail with all but 120 days stayed for five years, and placed him on supervised probation for five years. He was also ordered to pay a fine and fees totaling $170.

Medrano, 21, Thief River Falls, was sentenced on a felony charge of burglary in the second degree. The charge stems from an April 9 report of a burglary in Greendale Trailer Court. According to the criminal complaint, the victim reported that several items were taken, including a microwave oven, vacuum, plastic stand, playpen, circular saw, drill, and several other items. Gang graffiti was also painted on the building. Medrano allegedly admitted to the burglary. Aandal sentenced Medrano to 18 months in prison with all but 120 days stayed for five years, and placed him on supervised probation for five years. He was also ordered to pay a fine and fees totaling $170 and make restitution in the amount of $597.

Alcohol violations listed among law enforcement reports

Alcohol violations were among the most frequent violations listed in news from the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center last week.

Domestic assault. On June 14 at 1:38 p.m. police received a report of an assault. Charges for fifth degree domestic assault are pending against a 15-year-old female from Thief River Falls after she allegedly punched another woman.

Shoplifting. On June 13 at 4 p.m. police received a report of a theft at Pennington Square. A 12-year-old male from Thief River Falls allegedly took two candy bars valued at $2.11.

Consumption under age. On June 16 at 1:39 a.m. police received a report of a loud party in the 300 block of North Atlantic. Charges for consumption under age are pending against the following: 18-year-old Samantha Jo Sheridan, Thief River Falls; 18-year-old Vanessa Sheri Norris, Naytauwaush; 19-year-old Heather Dawn Ironbear, Thief River Falls; 20-year-old Amanda Jay Ironbear, Thief River Falls; 19-year-old Nikki Lynn Olson, Newfolden; two 16-year-old females from Thief River Falls, and a 15-year-old female from St. Hilaire.

Contributing. On June 16 at 1:39 a.m. police investigating a party call in the 300 block of North Atlantic, have charges pending against Cedric Antonio Smith, 20, Thief River Falls for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Driving while intoxicated. On June 16 at 10:15 p.m. police pulled a vehicle over on a routine traffic stop. Charges of driving while intoxicated in the third degree and refusal to test are pending against Jared Paul Bjerk, 23, Grand Forks.

Hit and run. On June 16 at 7:19 p.m. police received a report of a hit-and-run accident in the Kmart parking lot. Michael Arvid Sten, Bagley reported that while backing his 2002 Pontiac Grand Am out of the parking lot it collided with another vehicle that was also backing out of a parking space. The driver of the other vehicle then drove the vehicle from the scene. Damage to the Sten vehicle has been estimated at $800.

Criminal damage. On June 16 at 6:20 p.m. police received a report that a vehicle parked in the south parking lot at Lincoln High School had been vandalized. Damage was estimated at $2,000. A CD and radio were also taken from the vehicle. Theft loss was estimated at $275.

Bike thefts. On June 16 police received three reports of stolen bikes. Although the three reports may not be related, police did find one of the bikes and are conducting an investigation.

Thefts. On June 16 six juveniles face charges for their participation in the theft of at least five bikes. All five juvenile boys are age 13 and reside in Thief River Falls.

Driving after revocation and DWI. On June 19 at 12:44 a.m. a police officer on routine patrol allegedly observed a individual driving a 1997 Oldsmobile drive through a stop sign. Taken into custody for driving after revocation and allegedly second degree driving while under the influence, was Justin Lee Lane, 29, Thief River Falls.

Consumption under age. On June 11 at 1:19 a.m. a sheriff's deputy was dispatched to a residence in Goodridge. Three youth were observed to have been drinking alcohol. One youth, 19-year-old Trace Joseph Hegel, Thief River Falls, was allegedly so intoxicated he was taken to Northwest Medical Center. Charges of consumption under age are pending against Hegel, a 16-year-old male from Goodridge, and a 14-year-old male from Goodridge.

Disorderly conduct. On June 13, the law enforcement center received a complaint from Soo Line Credit Union about Daniel Eric Dahlin, 40, Thief River Falls. Dahlin had allegedly made some threats against staff. A charge of disorderly conduct is pending against Dahlin.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Coalition for Hwy. 75 submits annual report

When the Highway 75 Coalition asked to have the "King of Trails" designated as a scenic byway one of the conditions was to be responsible for sending the Minnesota Scenic Byway Commission an annual report. To neglect this obligation means to lose the designation.

Betty Popkes of Lake Benton, and the chairman of the Highway 75 Coalition, submitted the annual report, which may be of interest to readers who live along the highway.

The international historic Highway 75 "King of Trails" Coalition is the sponsoring organization for the "Historic King of Trails Scenic Byway." It was formally organized and a board of directors elected in 1998 as a result of volunteer efforts by a group of concerned citizens who saw the need to cooperatively promote their communities along U.S. Highway 75 if they were to remain viable and grow. They saw the potential for economic growth by promoting their assets and received recognition by getting highway 75 designated by the Legislature as the Historic King of Trails. Then, each town bought signs for their north and south entrances along the highway. In 2004, the King of Trails Coalition was thrilled when the Historic King of Trails was approved as an official Minnesota Scenic Byway.

For the past year, the organization has continued to host annual spring and fall conferences, special board meetings as needed, and distributed a newsletter to its members, as well as improve its Web site, www.highway75.com.

The organization is expanding its inventories for attractions, sites, events and traveler-related services to include the entire county for each of the 13 counties that include Highway 75. Some youth organizations and 4-H clubs are providing assistance.

On Sept. 11, 2004, the organization held its second annual Fall Marketplace. More towns and vendors participated in the event. Representatives look forward to Sept. 10, when the organization will host its next Fall Marketplace.

According to the annual report, the organization attempted to develop an improved brochure with Midwest Gateways publications but due to their business problems, the brochure was not completed.

The King of Trails Coalition continues to strengthen its partnerships with chambers of commerce, economic development administrations, historical societies, and other interested organizations, businesses and individuals.

Several meetings have been held during the past year. A board of directors meeting was scheduled to take place in Moorhead with Dave Bergman and Mark Anderson. The purpose of the meeting is to develop a "road map" to assist the organization with its promotions and marketing endeavors.

Members of the organization are also looking forward to the Biannual North American Solar Challenge. Highway 75 was selected as the scheduled route for the event, which will take place between July 17 and 24. It will start in Austin, Texas, and pick up Highway 75 just north of Dallas. On July 21 they will enter Minnesota at LuVerne and finish in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, on July 24. There are about 50 solar-powered cars in the event. In 2001, they traveled Route 66.

Two TRF students named to Mayville State dean's list

Dr. Gary Hagen, vice president for academic affairs at Mayville State University announces that the following students have been listed on the dean's list for spring semester 2005 at Mayville State University: Rhandi Jo Halvorson of Thief River Falls and Justin Marc Skjerven of Thief River Falls

Funding for area projects included in appropriations bill

Senator Norm Coleman has announced that $8,557,000 in funding for 14 key Minnesota projects has been included in the FY 2006 Energy and Water Appropriations bill. Funding will be used to complete Minnesota energy and flood control projects.

"I am pleased that these funds for Minnesota have been included in the FY 2006 Energy and Water Appropriations bill," said Coleman. "Just this week, I spoke to the mayor of Roseau, Jeff Pelowski, and he described how crucial this funding will be to his city. This appropriations funding will go a long way toward improving the infrastructure throughout our rural communities. I will continue to work hard to make sure that important Minnesota projects, such as this one in Roseau, receive the funding they need."

Funding for Minnesota projects are as follows:

- $160,000 for the Blue Earth River Aquatic Ecosystem Restoration
- $125,000 for Crookston, Minnesota Flood Control
- $244,000 for Roseau, Minnesota Flood Control
- $1,500,000 for Flood Control, Red River of the North, Breckenridge, Minnesota
- $100,000 for the Canisteo, Minnesota Outflow Project
- $500,000 for the Minnesota Center for Renewable Energy
- $2,828,000 for the Montevideo, Minnesota Flood Control Project
- $100,000 for Rockford, Minnesota Flood Control
- $400,000 for Riverbank Stabilization of the Red Lake River
- $150,000 for Minnehaha Creek Watershed Study
- $200,000 for Minnesota River Basin
- $200,000 for Wild Rice River
- $2,000,000 for L&D 3 Navigation Safety and Embankment Reevaluation
- $50,000 for Painter Creek

Play t-ball with Community Ed.

T-ball will be offered for ages 5 and 6 this summer through Community Education.

Participants must be 5 by Sept. 1. The cost is $25, which includes a t-shirt. Indicate the size when registering. Sample t-shirt sizes are available at the Community Education Office. T-ball will be offered at Franklin Middle School. Shane Zutz is the instructor.

The class will be held Wednesdays, June 15 through Aug. 3. Practice will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. or 7 to 8 p.m. Game times will be held 6 to 7 p.m. or 7 to 8 p.m. Game times will not always be at the time for which the child registered. A schedule will be made after the teams are formed. The last session will be a family game night.

Introductory lessons will be offered on performing the following skills: throwing, catching, base running, batting, fielding and rules of the game. Children should bring their own gloves, and wear tennis or other athletic shoes. Games will be scheduled. Each class is limited to 48 participants. Parents will also be a part of practicing with their children (throwing and catching).

Reading in Goodridge is going to the dogs

by David Hill
Editor

The best listeners are often the ones who don't say a word. Storm is a good listener. In fact, Storm was such a good listener that Goodridge Elementary School hired him this year to help students learn how to read. By all accounts, he did a good job, even though his students said he never said a word. He mostly listened, they said, but sometimes he fell asleep, and sometimes he gave them a licking.

Even though there were reports of lickings, Goodridge school was pleased, too. You see, he didn't demand a high salary, just an occasional doggy treat, and lots of petting, of course.

Storm is a one-and-one-half year old black labrador retriever being trained by Danette Jensen of Goodridge.

Jensen explained that as a certified service dog, he will someday go to a New York Mills child with autism.

Goodridge Principal Eldon Winge said Danette Jensen came to them with information about reading programs utilizing dogs. "I was a little taken aback at first," said Winge.

Winge said they looked at the information she provided, contacted the children and parents who might be involved in the program to get their approval before going ahead with the program. Later, Winge said, staff thought about rotating different students through the program, but the children liked it so much they didn't want to quit.

Jensen, who has been training dogs professionally since 1996, said that while doing some research a year or so ago, she came across information about dogs being used in reading programs and thought it looked interesting. She said she has since learned that Crookston and at least one other community in the area uses dogs in reading programs.

The benefit, said Jensen, is that there's no pressure on the children, or criticism or fear of criticism from their peers. As a result, the children are more comfortable.

After a time, Jensen said she witnessed the growth research said would happen. As they read to Storm, they gradually became more comfortable and confident.

In her research on the subject, she said they thought it showed that it was possible to bring a child up a full reading grade level.

At Goodridge, the program involved Storm and Danette visiting the school once a week. Teachers would provide students with some reading material and each student would spend about 15 minutes reading to Storm.

Val Laidley, a sixth grade teacher at Goodridge School, said she did see some improvement in the two students from her class that participated in the program. She said she had never seen a program like this before, but that it seemed effective.

The children enjoyed reading to Storm, she said. She added that as they read to the dog, it built up their confidence and in general, improved their verbal skills.

Erick Mickelson, fifth grade teacher at Groodridge, said the two students from his class that participated in the program really enjoyed it. Originally, he said, he wasn't clear about the purpose of the program and randomly picked two children from his class. As his knowledge of the program grew, he said he really developed a positive feeling about it. He added that it certainly reinforced students' reading skills.

To be fair, he said that he knew Danette from before and had complete confidence in her from the beginning. He said if it were offered again, he would encourage students to participate in it.

Jensen said that it was her impression that teachers thought it helped the children. In the future, she said she thought it might be more beneficial to have younger children involved in the program. Older children, she explained, know the dog doesn't understand what they reading to him. Younger children also seem to develop a stronger connection.

Jensen said she would like to see more of these programs in schools in northwestern Minnesota. Although it isn't physically possible for her to visit all schools, there are other trainers out there, and she believes these programs could really benefit children who are having difficulty catching on to reading.

Jensen may have a good point. With all its success, the program seems to demonstrate quite clearly that "going to the dogs" doesn't have to be such a bad thing.

Danette Jensen (standing, left) and Storm, a one and one-half year old black labrador, visited Goodridge Elementary School on Monday, May 23, to present awards to students. For the past school year, Storm has been a reading coach for several students at the school, including Tony Horacek, who is pictured receiving a licking from Storm, Kayla Anderson, standing next to Danette Jensen, and Katelyn Tharaldson. Not present Monday was Jasmine Stein. The children received a certificate, a role of candy, and a book, which featured dogs, of course

Stephanie Jenkins, Thief River Falls, holds a snake that "Henry the Nature Guy" from Wild Animals with Class, brought to a fun event for participants of the Little Brothers and Little Sisters program in Thief River Falls. The event was on June 7 at the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club. Also during the event, Sportsmen's Club members cooked and served an Art Heinze "Cream Can Dinner."

Dayton urges borrowers with student loans to consolidate debt

U.S. Senator Mark Dayton has urged borrowers with student loan debt to immediately determine whether they are eligible to consolidate their federal school loans. Consolidation is necessary to avoid an impending interest-rate increase of 2 percentage points, which will take effect on July 1.

On that date, loan interest rates for borrowers with Stafford loans will increase to 4.7 percent for borrowers who are in school or in a grace or deferment period and increase to 5.3 percent for borrowers in repayment or forbearance for any loan disbursed on or after July 1, 1998. For those with PLUS loans, rates will also increase, from the current 4.17 percent to 6.10 percent. The rate increase will be the first in recent years for student loans.

"It is financially wise for many students with student loan debts to lock in lower-interest rates, by consolidating their federal student loans now," said Dayton. "Student loan interest rates will increase on July 1st, so I urge Minnesotans with student loans to find out quickly whether they can consolidate their loans and whether they would benefit from doing so."

Under current law, the interest rate for most loans is capped at 8.25 percent or 9 percent, depending on the type of loan. Not all types of loans are eligible for consolidation and certain other restrictions apply.

To determine your eligibility for consolidation, please contact the Department of Education at 1-800-557-7392, or your lending institution.

Tieman named to Hamline University dean's list

Vanessa Renae Tieman, Thief River Falls, was named to the dean's list at Hamline University's College of Liberal Arts for the spring term of the 2004-05 academic year. Members of the dean's list achieve a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale.

Tieman, a graduate of Lincoln Senior High School, is the daughter of Curtis and Lois Tieman of Thief River Falls.

Helping sad or troubled kids

by Gillette Children's Specialty Healthcare staff

Christopher, 10, stops doing his homework and complains of headaches and stomachaches that cause him to miss school. He no longer seems to enjoy playing soccer or being with friends.

Sara's mother notices that her 15-year-old daughter eats and sleeps more than usual and spends most of her spare time alone in her room. Sara tells her mother, "I hate myself and wish I'd never been born."

Matt is irritable and can't seem to sit still. He comes in past curfew and stays up late at night. His parents suspect their 15-year-old son is experimenting with drugs or alcohol.

Doug, 16, was easygoing until he started hanging out with a new group of friends. Now when he is home, he's either on the computer or playing video games. He talks little to his parents and often behaves aggressively toward his younger brother.

If your child or teenager seems sad or troubled, it's only natural to worry. Should you seek professional help? Is the problem serious or just a passing phase? Does your child need to see a psychologist?

Depression and kids

Mood disorders – which range from simple sadness to major and manic depression – affect one in five young people at any given time. These disorders might be brought on by divorce, a move to a new community, abuse or other stressful events. They also can result from problems with friends, confusion about sexual orientation, difficulties in school and concerns about attractiveness. Before puberty, boys and girls are equally likely to develop depressive disorders. After age 14, however, girls are twice as likely as boys to have major depression. Often, children with depression also struggle with anxiety, inattention, hyperactivity, disruptive behavior, learning disabilities and eating disorders. Many depressed adolescents have drug or alcohol problems as well.

The two most common mood disorders affecting children and teens are major and mild depression. Major depression affects 2 percent of preadolescent children and up to 8 percent of teenagers. Although the recovery rate from a single episode of major depression is quite high, episodes are likely to recur.

Recognizing and diagnosing major depression in children and teens can be difficult, in part because symptoms vary by age and developmental stage. In addition, young people who suffer from depression might have difficulty articulating what they're feeling. Instead of communicating how they feel, they often act out, and their behavior is interpreted as misbehavior or disobedience. A child or teen with major depression can have all or some of these symptoms:

- Persistent sadness
- Irritability
- Loss of interest in activities
- Significant changes in appetite or body weight
- Abnormal sleep patterns (too much or too little)
- Loss of energy
- Feelings of worthlessness
- Difficulty concentrating
- Recurrent thoughts of death or suicide

Five or more of these symptoms must persist for two weeks or more before a diagnosis of major depression is indicated.

Mild depression is a less severe, yet typically more chronic, form of depression. It's diagnosed when a depressed mood persists for at least a year and is accompanied by at least two other symptoms of major depression. Mild depression typically doesn't disable young people, but it keeps them from functioning well or feeling healthy. And the ongoing nature of the condition can severely impair development. Treatment, however, might prevent more serious depressive disorders from developing.

Young people who have depressive disorders are at an increased risk for illness, substance abuse and, in severe cases, suicidal behaviors. Early diagnosis and treatment are critical to recovery. But what does such treatment entail? And exactly what do psychologists do anyway?

"Our role is to figure kids out," said Adrienne Barnwell, Ph.D., L.P., and lead psychologist at Gillette. "We evaluate and assess children and teens and then communicate the results of those assessments with parents, teachers and other people in a young person's life."

"We do that by acting as scientist, detective, teacher, mentor, coach and cheerleader – sometimes all at once," said [illegible] afolean, Ph.D., L.P.

Psychologists use the results of evaluations to teach and manage behavior. Often that means setting age-appropriate expectations, preparing children for their teen years or helping them deal with stress after traumatic events.

State reports good news regarding MN drinking water

The results of monitoring for the past year once again reveal only rare contamination problems in Minnesota's 966 community water systems, according to the 2004 annual report on the status of drinking water recently released by the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

None of the systems exceeded current federal or state standards for pesticides or industrial contaminants. Water samples from those systems were subjected to more than 19,000 separate tests for more than 100 potential contaminants.

"Once again, we are very pleased with these test results," said Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach. "The overall quality of Minnesota's drinking water continues to be among the best in the nation.

"Minnesotans should know that they can continue to have confidence in the safety of their drinking water."

The report includes test results for 720 city water systems throughout the state. Also included were 246 non-municipal systems that provide drinking water to people in their place of residence – in locations such as manufactured home parks, apartment buildings, housing subdivisions, colleges, hospitals, prisons and child care facilities.

Among the other highlights were:

• Detectable levels of coliform bacteria were found in 18 community water systems, including 10 municipal systems. While not all coliform bacteria cause illness, they provide an indicator of possible contamination in the system. Systems with coliform problems are routinely disinfected, flushed and re-tested to ensure that the contamination is gone before being returned to normal service. The process typically takes less than a week. All but two of the affected systems served fewer than 1,000 people. The municipal systems that tested positive for bacterial contamination were Darfur, Milan, Cold Spring, Dumont, Pine River, Kasota, Wanamingo, Delavan, LaPorte and Ceylon.

• Two community systems, including one municipal system, exceeded the nitrate standard in 2004. The affect municipal system was Cold Spring, which has discontinued using the well that had the elevated nitrate levels.

• Thirteen community water systems, including 12 municipal systems, exceeded standards for naturally occurring radiological contaminants in 2004. The affected municipal systems are Anoka, Coon Rapids, Goodview, Hamburg, Isanti, LaCrescent, Lucan, Medford, Norwood, Red Wing, Spring Lake Park and Wyoming.

• Two municipal water systems exceeded the standards for total trihalomethanes in 2004. The affected communities are Mora and Askov. Trihalomethanes are a by-product of the disinfection process. Prior to 2003, only surface-water systems were monitored for these by-products. However, all community water systems that chlorinate are now checked. Askov has modified its treatment process and is back in compliance. Mora continues to investigate ways of lowering the level of trihalomethanes in its water. Both systems have informed their residents of the situation.

• Three systems continue to exceed the federal standard for lead, out of 87 that exceeded the standard when testing for lead and cooper first began in the early 1990s. However, two new municipal water systems, McGregor and Lansing Township, exceeded the action level for lead in 2004. Lead levels have been lowered substantially in the other three systems that still exceed the standard.

• No systems exceeded current federal standards for inorganic chemicals – a group that includes antimony, arsenic, barium, beryllium, cadmium, chromium, cyanide, fluoride, mercury, nickel, selenium, sulfate and thallium. Many of these chemicals are naturally present in groundwater.

In addition to results of testing required by the federal Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA), the report contains a look back at significant dates and events in the history of drinking water treatment in Minnesota. December 2004 marked the 30th anniversary of the federal SDWA, the first national program to protect the quality of the country's drinking water systems. Although SDWA has been around barely more than a quarter century, the protection of drinking water in Minnesota goes back more than 130 years.

"Protecting the safety of our drinking water is a continuing challenge," said Patricia Bloomgren, who leads the Environmental Health Division at MDH. "It requires the efforts of dedicated professionals – at the state health department and in communities all across the state."

The 2004 report and those from previous years are available online at the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us/divs/eh/water/com/dwar/report04.html).

Henry the Nature Guy holds a scorpion he brought to an event for participants of the Little Brothers and Little Sisters program in Thief River Falls. The event was on June 7 at the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club. Also during the event, Sportsmen's Club members cooked and served an Art Heinze "Cream Can Dinner."

Over 60 area residents attended a lecture on Minnesota barns presented by Will Weaver, author, and Doug Ohman, photographer, on Friday, June 10, at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. In celebration of National Preservation Month, which was the month of May, the Minnesota Historical Society Press recently released a book, titled "Barns of Minnesota," which features the writing and photography of Weaver and Ohman. This event was listed as one of the many events to help to showcase the Smithsonian traveling exhibit on barns called "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" that will be visiting Thief River Falls beginning July 3.

Four area students awarded BSU Campus Honor Scholarship

Four area students have accepted $1,000 Campus Honor Scholarships to attend Bemidji State University. They include Nicole Haugen of Goodridge, Amanda Schmitz of Plummer and Elizabeth Hodny and Matthew Stuckey of Thief River Falls.

Haugen, a freshman majoring in biology, was active during high school in volleyball, knowledge bowl, band, choir and the National Honor Society. She also received the state ExCel Award, the Outstanding Computer Science Student Award and the Outstanding Music Student Award.

Schmitz, a freshman, is interested in studying mathematics and music at BSU. During high school she was active in band, choir, student government, basketball and the National Honor Society.

Hodney is a freshman majoring in special education. Stuckey is a freshman majoring in business administration with a minor in exercise science.

The Campus Honor Scholarship is a one-time award available to all high school graduates who rank in the top 15 percent of their class, with an ACT composite score of 23 or higher.

In total, Studio One won a record 54 awards for the 2004-05 academic year.

Be hypnotized for weight loss and/or to stop smoking and chewing tobacco

Group hypnosis is offered again this summer through Community Education. The clinic is offered to help people lose weight and/or stop chewing tobacco or smoking.

The clinic will be held Wednesday, June 22 in the District Service Center boardroom. Check-in is at 6:30 p.m. The introduction for both hypnosis sessions will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. From 7:45 to 8:30 p.m., the weight loss hypnosis session will be held. At that time, the smokers will take a 45 minute cigarette break off school grounds. From 8:45 to 9:30 p.m., the stop smoking/chewing hypnosis session will be held. The cost is $50 or $95 for both sessions. No discounts apply. The fee includes a reinforcement tape ($10) and a card which allows participants to attend future seminars for free if reinforcement is desired. Dr. Mary Fischer, D.C.H., C.H.I., is the instructor.

Bring a pillow, blanket, sleeping bag or bean bag chair for added comfort.

Canoe and kayak race planned for Crookston event

A canoe and kayak race will once again be part of Crookston's 16th Annual Ox Cart Festival, Aug. 18 through 21. The race is set for Saturday, Aug. 20, beginning at 1 p.m.

The race will include both a 7.2-mile race as well as a 2-mile fun "run." Both the 7.2-mile and the 2-mile events will start upstream. The Red Lake River has a modest current, no rapids in the race section, sand bars, and a meandering channel to challenge navigation skills. Competitors can elect to participate solo, female/male team, or a co-ed team. Both racing and standard watercraft are welcome.

The race will begin and end in Central Park. The entry fee is $10 per watercraft if registered by Aug. 13, 2005. Entries after Aug 13 will be $15 per watercraft. Registration will also be held in the park on the day of the race.

For complete details and registration information, go to www.visitcrookston.com, and click on Ox Cart Days, email crkchamber@rrv.net or call the Crookston Area Chamber of Commerce at (218) 281-4320.

Steps to a kinder and gentler nation

A hapless presidential candidate a few years back ran on a program of a "kinder, gentler nation." Of course, he lost - to somebody who believed in kinder, gentler White House interns - but it was a nice idea.

And, it made me wonder: What would a kinder, gentler nation look like? What steps can we take as a nation to foster kindness and gentleness?

One idea would be to eliminate the AM radio dial. It is mostly static anyway, and if you do find a station, all you get is a whole lot of complaining from talk radio hosts whose only purpose in life seems to be to stir people up.

Sometimes anger is justified, but most of the time it is a waste of time and energy. Angry people are neither kind nor gentle. AM radio takes people who are already angry and riles them up even more. Let's get rid of it.

Second step to a kinder, gentler nation: Amend the Constitution to ban telemarketers. You say, is a constitutional amendment really necessary? Shouldn't we avoid cluttering up the venerable document with trivial amendments?

I say in reply: A nation whose breadwinners can't even sit down to break bread without getting hassled by special magazine offers is neither kind nor gentle. When you sit down to dinner or sink into your recliner after work, that is a sacred time which deserves protection.

I mean, just as you settle in with a six pack in one hand and the remote in the other, the phone rings. You jump up and throw out your back. You miss 19 weeks of work. Your chiropractor bill heads into five digits.

Who pays for that? We all do.

Yet, when somebody tries to pass a law to ban salespeople from hassling you in the privacy of your own home, the telemarketer lobby rattles on about the First Amendment. Freedom of speech, they say, and the crazy courts with those loony liberal judges back them up every time.

I say we need to strip telemarketers of their First Amendment rights, and it's going to take a constitutional amendment to do it. The sanctity of the dinner table and the recliner is at stake.

While we're banning things, I think it is time to get rid of cell phones. There is nothing kind or gentle about them. They disturb the peace wherever they ring. Their users are rude. And they are dangerous.

See a car weaving down the street. See another car sitting at an intersection without moving even though it has the right-of-way. Are the drivers drunk? No, they are invariably on a cell phone. When it comes to driving, cell phones are worse than booze.

Cell phones are also just as distracting as telemarketers. Every day I run to pick up my office phone only to find that somebody's signal faded and there is nobody on the other end. They call back in two minutes with same result.

By the time the cell phone user finally gets through, I have spent five minutes running to the phone for no reason. My contribution to the economy during that time is minimal. Multiply that event by millions, add a few telemarketer calls in between, and you wonder how anything gets done at all in this country.

There are those who say the problem will take care of itself as habitual cell phone users get brain tumors and disappear from the gene pool, but I say let's not wait for nature to take its course - ban them now before it is too late.

This is just a start. Achieving greater kindness and gentleness will take time - and we haven't even touched on automated phone answering systems, waitresses who announce "I will be your server," unfunny forwarded email jokes, mass-produced personalized Christmas cards, car horns that start honking in parking lots, and other modern evils.

PARENTING TIPS
Playing Together with Friends

Many preschool children enjoy combining cooperative play (as discussed last week) with pretend play to form what is called social fantasy play. In this type of play, each child is assigned a specific fantasy role (firefighter, nurse, super hero, mom) in a game with a specific fantasy theme (a trip to the moon).

Through social fantasy, children assume leadership roles, learn to better manage their own feelings and to be more understanding of others.

As children progress through the various stages of play, it is apparent that play is very important in their development. It is how they learn about the world around them. Parents and care givers need to be aware of all the things that are going on when a child plays and provide for it. Play is important work for children.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Encourage your child's pretend play. Your child will enjoy it if you join in the fantasy with him/her.

...The Perfect Purse

The females in our family have a little thing about purses. (Call them "purses," call them "bags," call them anything you want - we call them "purses," probably because my mother and her mother before her called them that.) Anyway, we buy a lot of them. Most of us buy one every time we go shopping. Some of us have closets filled with them.

It has become a running joke with the men in the family. Too bad, so sad. I think they are just jealous because they don't have any such wonderful place to carry all their "stuff" except their pockets.

There is a reason why we buy purses every chance we get, and it is not because we have lots of money or because we love to buy purses so much. The reason we buy so many of them is because we can't seem to find "The Perfect Purse."

You see purses are very well engineered little (or big) things. There are all sorts of special things that purses have that make them different from one another and just right for each person. Each of the women in my family must find "The Perfect Purse" with every special thing she needs. Some of us need lots of pockets for things like telephones and keys and such. Some of us are extremely neat and need little purses inside of our big purses so we have our cosmetic-type stuff in one, our credit cards and other important cards in one, aspirin and mints in one and so on. Some of us just need lots of capacity for papers and lunch and a water bottle and all of those things.

I've noticed that a woman's needs in a purse change during her life. When women are young, all they need is a small purse with room for a comb, a tissue and a little mad money. During college a purse becomes extremely large because that is the time a woman needs to carry everything with her in case she won't get back to her room all day. Her purse often looks like a book bag - and sometimes is one.

Once women have children, their purses get even bigger - after all, sometimes they are carrying around everything the entire family needs. Working women need purses that can take them through a day of work and sometimes an evening of fun. But as a woman ages, she needs nothing but a little bitty purse again. You might say it is back to the comb, tissue and mad money.

The odd thing about us having all of these purses is, when you see us walking around town, we are usually carrying an old, beaten up one. There is a reason for that, and I will tell you about it.

The reason we women carry around our ratty old purses even though we have closets filled with new ones is that the old ones are "The Perfect Purses." They are the ones that have just the right amount of space for us, no matter what time of life we are in. We keep buying and trying new ones, but, just like a favorite pair of shoes or a good man, an old purse is always the best.

TRF blood drive June 29 and 30

Nothing says summer like a baseball game. Thief River Falls area residents can donate blood and register for a chance to win a pair of Minnesota Twins tickets. All donors are invited to register for a pair of tickets that will be given away each week from June 1 through Aug. 26, at the Thief River Falls blood drive scheduled for Wednesday, June 29, from 1 to 7 p.m. and Thursday, June 30 from 7 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Armory.

Lisa Moellenkamp of United Blood Services said, "Everyone who tries to donate at the blood drive on either day, will be able to register for a pair of Minnesota Twins baseball tickets. Not only could you win tickets for a great summer event, more importantly, you will be helping our blood supply during the tough summer months when donations decrease."

The ticket giveaway is part of the June theme, "Donating Blood: As American as Baseball and Apple Pie," and the games are 2-3 weeks after each drawing date to allow winners ample time to make arrangements to attend the game.

To make an appointment to donate blood, please call Lorraine at 681-2829 or Lois at 681-1338. The blood drive is faciliated by United Blood Services and sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary. Donors must be 17 years of age or older, feeling generally well and healthy and weigh at least 110 pounds.

Dak-Minn Blood Bank reports shortage of O-positive, negative

The Dak-Minn Blood Bank is still running critically low on O-positive blood and now is in need of O-negative blood as well. Anyone with either of these blood types that is eligible to donate, please contact the blood bank at 780-5433 or email blooddonations@altru.org to schedule a time to donate. The blood bank is open 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

The Dak-Minn Blood Bank is a not for profit volunteer community blood center, that has been providing donated blood for area patients since 1974.

Morris A. Stenberg, 83

Thief River Falls - Morris Alton Stenberg, 83, died on Wednesday, June 15, 2005 at Northwest Medical Center, Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held on Sunday, June 19, at Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls, with Rev. Mel Sich and Pastor Kari Krankkala officiating. Casket bearers included Morris Stenberg Jr., Mark Stenberg, Dennis McCullough, Wayne Dahl, Gerald Schulte and John Krankkala. Interment will be held at Greenwood Cemetery, Thief River Falls.

Morris Stenberg was born September 17, 1921 in Halstad, the son of Andrew and Martha (Ostebee) Stenberg. He was baptized at First Lutheran Church, Fargo, N.D. at the age of 12 and accepted Christ as his personal Savior in adulthood. He grew up and attended school in Hendrum.

On December 12, 1943, Morris was united in marriage to Jean Lois Bucholz. Early during their marriage they operated a milk route in Grygla. They later moved to International Falls, where he initially worked at the paper mill and later owned Cities Service Station.

In the 1950's Morris and Jean moved with their family to Prescott, Ariz., where they built and operated Hassayampa Trailer Park and Morrie's Drive-Inn. In the early 1960's they owned Morrie's Grocery in South International Falls. They moved to Thief River Falls in 1963, where they have since resided.

Morris was a man of many talents and enjoyed working with his hands. He worked on cars and built several homes and businesses. He loved children and enjoyed spending time with his family.

Survivors include his wife, Jean of Thief River Falls; six children, Sharon (Dennis) McCullough of Thief River Falls, Nancy (Wayne) Dahl of Maple Lake, Morris (Karen) Stenberg Jr. of Plymouth, Gloria (Gerald) Schulte of Thief River Falls, Cindy (John) Krankkala of Thief River Falls and Mark (Kathy) Stenberg of Park Rapids; 15 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents; five brothers, Alvin, Elmer Sr., Joseph, Arnold and Edgar; and four sisters, Sophia Dullum, Clara Christopherson, Mabel Seabold and Marian Ruud.

Violette Kroening, 82

Fosston - Violette "Vi" Kroening, 82, of Fosston, died on Wednesday, June 15, 2005 at First Care Nursing Home in Fosston.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 18 at Hope Lutheran Church in Fosston.

Violette Adeline Amberson was born on February 26, 1923 in rural Fosston, to parents Carl and Hannah (Fjerstad) Amberson. Violette attended rural school and graduated from Fosston High School in 1941. While in school, Violette enjoyed playing the piano and the clarinet.

Violette was united in marriage to Roy G. Kroening on September 23, 1944 at Hope Lutheran Church in Fosston. They resided in Sletten Township, raised five children and farmed until 1988 when they moved into a new home in Fosston, which was built by their children. She was baptized and confirmed at Hope Lutheran Church and was a long-time member of the First English Lutheran Church in Fosston. Violette and Roy later became members of Hope Lutheran Church.

She was involved in church activities her entire life. Violette enjoyed working at the Polk County Fairs and served many years of service on the Intercounty Community Council Board.

Violette's many hobbies were gardening, baking apple pies, playing cards and making colorful quilts.

Violette loved being around family and friends. She enjoyed showing her many friends and family her garden and many quilts.

Violette is survived by her children, Richard (Julie) of Fosston, Karen (Rob) of Bemidji, Dr. Judy Olson (Duane G.) of Fosston, Jack (Faye) of Bemidji, Gary (Dawn) of Bemidji; grandchildren; great-grandchildren; one brother; two sisters; several nieces, nephews and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Roy; her parents; brother, Clifford; and twin infant brother and sister.

Otto Seng, 87

Hallock - Otto Seng, 87, died at the Kittson Memorial Healthcare Center in Hallock, on Saturday morning, June 18, 2005.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 21, at Collins Funeral Chapel in Karlstad, with Mr. Arnold Kaml officiating. Casket bearers included all of Otto's Grandchildren. Interment was held at Lundeby Cemetery in Karlstad.

Otto Seng, the son of the late Samuael and Emelie (Hergett) Seng, was born on July 12, 1917, in Danube. As a child, he moved with his family to Kittson County, where he attended school and grew to manhood. He was employed by Ted Kimbrough in Strandquist and by Norman Bogestad Farms.

On March 4, 1945, Otto was united in marriage to Doris Hodge in Halma. Following their marriage, they made their home in Omak, Wash., for a year, then returned to the Karlstad community where they had since resided.

Otto was employed as the projectionist at the Karlstad Theater for 20 years, and as both a carpenter and doing concrete work for Leonard Thompson Construction.

In later years, he owned and operated Otto's Fixit Shop in Karlstad. He had been in failing health for the past several months, and passed away at the Kittson Memorial Healthcare Center in Hallock, on Saturday morning, June 18, 2005, at the age of 87 years, 11 months, and six days.

He is survived by his wife, Doris; two sons, Wayne (Mary), of Grafton, N.D. and Steven (Laurie), of Red Lake Falls; one daughter, Betty (Tony) Blaze of Hallock; 12 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; in addition to several nieces, nephews, and other relatives.

Experts announce plan to fight state's leading cause of death

In the fall of 2003, the Minnesota Health Department announced that cancer had become Minnesota's leading cause of death. Today, following nearly two years of planning, community meetings and in-depth study involving more than 300 health-care professionals and community members, a new guide is available to coordinate cancer control and prevention activities in Minnesota.

According to Steering Committee Chair Dr. Brian Rank, medical director for HealthPartners, "Cancer Plan Minnesota 2005-2010: Recommendations for policy-makers, planners, providers and advocates," is the result of an 18-month planning process funded in part by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and supported by volunteers and resources from more than 80 organizations in Minnesota.

"Minnesota was the first state to see the emergence of cancer as a leading cause of death. With this plan of action, we will distinguish our state as a leader in fighting this disease by comprehensively addressing cancer - from prevention and detection to treatment and survivorship - across all sectors, while setting priorities and developing partnerships to move this plan into action," Rank said.

The reasons for the plan's development are clear. According to the American Cancer Society, nearly 23,000 Minnesotans will be diagnosed with cancer in 2005 and more than 9,000 will die from the disease. In addition, the number of people who survive after a cancer diagnosis is also increasing. According to the Minnesota Department of health, an estimated 156,620 Minnesotans, or 3.2 percent of the state's population, were living with a history of cancer as of January 2000.

"A health problem of this magnitude demands considerable resources, but coordination and a common approach are also necessary to help organizations throughout the state determine how to work together, to share resources and information and to ultimately save lives," Rank added.

To ensure that issues of concern to all Minnesotans were voiced during the planning process, 10 forums were conducted around Minnesota in 2003 and 2004. Work groups incorporated information gathered during those forums, as well as state-based data and evidence, into strategies to meet Minnesota's needs, which were then prioritized into four areas of action for the first year of the plan:

- Promote policies that will reduce the use of tobacco,
- Reduce disparities in screening and treatment,
- Increase colon cancer screening, and
- Improve patient access to information.

Cancer Plan Minnesota will officially hit the ground running with an April 28 meeting in St. Paul. After a brief recognition ceremony of the Plan's leaders, attendees will divide into groups based on priorities to begin to assemble action plans. For more information, log on to www.cancerplanmn.org.

According to Dr. Ken Joslyn, quality improvement director at Medica, "The initial priorities are more than recommendations, they are actionable aims we are going to achieve. These will be the seeds of more formal partnerships and collaborations that will be developed in the coming months and years."

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: My wife and I are planning a long trip that will take us out of the country next year. For our Social Security and Medicare benefits, what do we need to consider?

A: For starters, sign up for direct deposit of your benefits to your financial organization. Over 80 percent of Social Security benefits are already sent using electronic fund transfer and you can easily enroll by calling the SSA national toll-free number, 800-772-1213, your local SSA office, or through where you do your banking.

You will need the bank treasury routing number and your account number, both readily available on the bottom of your checks. Depending when you begin the process, it can take up to two months for direct deposit to start because of computer processing time frames.

You should also check your medical coverage. Medicare does not generally pay for hospital or medical services outside of the United States except for limited emergency services in Canada and Mexico. See www.medicare.gov for Medicare information. If you intend to be outside the country for over 30 days, or be employed, other rules may apply.

See the booklet "Social Security: Your Payments While You Are Outside the United States" available online at www.socialsecurity.gov. Go to the "Publications" section and then to "Subjects of Special Interest." The booklet is also available through the above national phone number and local offices.

Did you know? Each year, Social Security posts the most popular baby names based on all Social Security card applications for children born the previous year. Emily and Jacob are again the national top baby names for 2004. Nationally, Emily has been the most popular female name each year since 1996 while Jacob has been the top male name since 1999. Information about top male and female names is available by individual state, by decade, and by popularity.

All names are from Social Security card applications for births that occurred in the United States after 1879. For fun, look up how often the name "unknown" was in the "top 1000" names used for any given year. To locate this information go to www.socialsecurity.gov and click on the "popular baby name" link in the left column or go directly to http://www.socialsecurity.gov/OACT/babynames/. Whether looking up your own name or getting ideas for future use, see Social Security information for parents and guardians linked from the baby name page. Non SSA sites of interest also link from that page.

driven by Deputy Nelson was submerged in a road ditch while responding to a party call near Pembina Trail. While submerged the Crown Victoria's engine took on water and stalled. The engine has since been flushed, but now knocks while running.

According to Hruby, the department's insurance company offered to pay half of the cost of a new engine. The county's share would be $2,000. Hruby said that some of the car's electronics got wet during the submersion.

Hruby said he doesn't have room in the budget for a car, but feels that is the way he needs to go. Commissioner Comstack agreed to an extent, saying that the potential for failing electronics is too great to justify the purchase of a new engine.

Hruby said, based on the age of the department's fleet, that he was going to ask for the cost of two new squad cars to be included in the 2006 budget. A motion to allow the law enforcement committee to research and purchase a new squad car was unanimously carried.

New water plan coordinator Andrea Hedemann introduced to board. Hedemann began working as the Pennington SWCD's water plan coordinator earlier this month. Hedemann, a graduate of Wisconsin Stevens Point has bachelors degrees in biology and resource management, with a minor in water resources. Hedemann's duties include working with septic systems, shoreland ordinances and water quality.

Diane Robson, program coordinator of LSS caregiver support and respite care programs gave a presentation to the board. Our objective, said Robson, is to help out families who are caring for a loved one. She said caregivers often feel like they have to do it all and the programs are intended to change that thought.

Robson described some of the programs LSS currently offers that deal with caregiver support and respite care, focussing on two of the newer programs, Morning Out and Respite Plus.

Morning Out is a program that offers time off for caregivers and a time for social and recreational activities for care receivers. The main criteria for eligibility is that the participants must be over 60 years of age and take own medication.

For care receivers who are unable to leave the house because of health problems, LSS offers a program called Respite Plus. Like traditional LSS Respite Care, Respite Plus offers caregivers a chance to take a break to attend to errands or go out to lunch with friends. The difference, Respite Plus is geared more toward who need the care of a health professional rather than a volunteer.

All three programs are available to residents of Pennington County. When participants sign up for the program, an in-home assessment will be done to determine a sliding fee.

Engineer's Items

- A special County Board meeting was held on Wednesday, June 1, for the specific purpose of opening bids for a county-wide cracksealing project CP57-05-06. A total of six bids were received. The board approved the low bid of $71,925 by TRF Parking Lot Striping.
- Rural Goodridge resident Leon Iverson appeared before the board to discuss drainage problems with a ditch that was draining into his fields rather than into Judicial Ditch 18. To stop water from flooding his fields, Iverson plugged the ditch, which has led to the rural Goodridge resident taking some heat from the city of Goodridge. A motion to clean a portion of J.D. 18 on the north side of Section 19, Goodridge Township, was carried.
- The board approved a quote of $10,560 from Bergstrom Electric for the installation of intersection lights at the intersection of CSAH 3 and U.S. Highway 59. As was previously reported in The Times, Pennington County will be responsible for the installation of lights at the intersection, while Mn/DOT will be responsible for providing light standards and luminaries and Red Lake Nation will cover operating and maintenance costs.
- A bid of $47,832, submitted by WSN for Highway Department project SP 57-628-04, was approved. The project includes portions of Pennington and Marshall counties. Pennington County's portion of the project $29,706.

Other Items

- The board approved a plat of Barnick's Third Addition to Thief River Falls.
- The board received a letter from the Pennington County Fair Association, in which it offfered its full support of Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc.'s plan to construct a building located on the Pennington County Fairgrounds. The building would be used to store transportation vehicles at the fairgrounds. The letter also offered support for Tri-Valley's efforts to obtain a federally funded grant to help with the project.
- The board approved a resolution to establish a "No Net Gain Acquisition Policy" for DNR and USF&WS. Under the resolution, no new lands may be acquired unless an equal amount of land is sold back to private ownership.
- The board carried a motion to supply up to $6,000 worth of class-five to be used in a Pennington County Fairground parking lot that is adjacent to the Ralph Engelstad Arena.

The next meeting of the Pennington County Board will be at 5 p.m. on June 28.

TRF City Council approves tax abatement proposal

The program will include a five-year review, at which time, the governing bodies may choose to discontinue it. Three-year abatements granted during the five-year review will run their course, even if the program ends.

"It's not a real sophisticated program in terms of tax abatement," Moore said. "It is supposed to be much simpler than the TIF (tax increment financing) process and the purpose is to provide some sort of mechanism for local dollars."

Moore explained that special assessments can't be directly abated – so property taxes will be abated as a way to return dollars to the property owners.

Concern was raised by Councilwoman Harriet Worker, for the individual homeowner who already has a piece of property that has not been developed.

Moore responded, if they are building a lot where there is already infrastructure, then they wouldn't have to pay the infrastructure costs.

A new stipulation was added to the proposal during Tuesday's meeting, that all homes constructed under the proposal be attached to a fixed and permanent foundation that meets the state's building code. Originally the program was to include all new construction, defined as modular homes, manufactured homes and stick built homes.

Another stipulation that was clarified before action was taken, was that each of the minimum six properties of a given development must be from the same parcel of land.

The Tax Abatement Proposal must be approved by all three governmental boards before it can become effective.

Council approves lease with Shefland Aviation Inc. Public Works Director Ron Lindberg on behalf of the Public Works Committee, recommended that the council approve a one year lease because of talks that Shefland Aviation may be purchased by a third party. Lindberg noted that if a third party purchased the aviation company, a new lease would be needed anyway.

Mn/DOT – Wal-Mart traffic signal agreement remains tabled. The traffic signal agreement remained tabled because Wal-Mart has not yet signed a purchase agreement. Under the proposed developer's agreement, the city would be reimbursed by Wal-Mart for costs incurred during the construction of store access at U.S. Highway 59.

Council approves stump grinding, clean-up and fill quote from Jared Wilde. A total of two stump removal quotes were received. Wilde submitted a quote of $1.25 for grinding, clean-up and fill. All stumps must be ground to 12 inches below ground level.

The council approved a mass dispensing agreement for Inter County Nursing Service for the use of the Ralph Engelstad Arena and Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Under the agreement, the two facilities would be used by Inter County Nursing to care for patients in the case of a major catastrophe.

Other items

- The council approved the transfer of frontage road at proposed Wal-Mart site to Barnicks.
- The council approved a letter of support for the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc.'s grant application. Using the grant, Tri-Valley plans to construct a storage building located west of the existing band shell on the Pennington County Fairgrounds.
- The council approved the June 14 consent agenda.
- Council purchases lawn mower for airport. The mower was purchased using airport funds. Lindberg said the mower will be used to mow around the more than 700 obstructions that exist there.

The next meeting of the Thief River Falls City Council will be June 28 at Thief River Falls City Hall, beginning at 5 p.m.

Budget reductions hurting School District Title programs

teachers had the tools they needed to help higher-performing students.

Schafer responded that they had ordered supplemental materials.

Schafer and other teachers responded that because of this data, they have become more focused on meeting student needs. Shafer added that they could not compare what's happening now, with what was happening in the schools five years ago because they have so much more information now.

Steve Young, chairman of the School Board, said the cultural change in the District has been substantial since going with NWEA.

According to NWEA test results presented at the meeting, achievement among local students attending Challenger Elementary School is significantly above nationwide norms in mathematics and reading.

Challenger Elementary School Principal Patrick Marolt, Vice Principal Mike Wienen and Teacher Tony Greene were expected to give a presentation on the success at Challenger at an NWEA Conference, June 29, in Portland, Ore. The title of their presentation is "An Xtreme-Makeover School Edition."

New Science Teacher?

Shafer and other teachers were not at the meeting to provide testimony about the success of the NWEA assessments; the teachers, who represented the science department, were at the meeting to request funding for a full-time science teacher at Challenger Elementary School.

Challenger has had a part-time science instructor at the school for several years. Some of the responsibilities for this individual have included providing assistance in preparing hands-on science project kits. The outdoor environmental lab and emphasis on science at the school has been "phenomenally successful." Teachers reported that over 200 students participate annually in the school's Science Club. In addition, participation in the science festival at the school has grown, too. Last year, about half of the students at Challenger participated in the science festival.

In arguing for a full-time instructor, the teachers pointed out that state science standards are changing, and that in two years, Minnesota Comprehensive Assessments (MCAs) will include testing on science standards. During the 2007-08 school year, all students will be required to take MCAs for science. The teachers said without assistance, a considerable amount of their time would be used in preparing science labs and class preparation rather than teaching.

They said that some of the cost of making the position full-time would be outweighed by savings from duplication taking place in the science kits.

Literacy Collaborative

Several donations from groups and individuals that would support the Literacy Collaborative were acknowledged by the Board of Education.

The Literacy Collaborative, a trademarked program of Ohio State University, is a long-term professional development program designed to provide a comprehensive, school-wide approach to literacy instruction in the primary and intermediate grades. The goal of this program is to raise the level of achievement for all students.

Although the School District did receive a grant for the program, there were additional costs that were not covered by the grant. Donations announced Monday night, amounted to $37,000 of the initial $40,000 cost to the School District. Among other things, funds collected for the Literacy Collaborative will be used to purchase leveled books.

Mayo Medical Laboratories to perform Dakota's lab tests

Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls announced on Wednesday, June 15, that it had entered into an association with Mayo Medical Laboratories, the national reference laboratory for Mayo Clinic, which is located in Rochester. Dakota Clinic will now have immediate access to complex tests performed by Mayo Medical Laboratories to supplement its in-house laboratory.

"We are excited to enter into this partnership with Mayo to further enhance the quality of care to our patients. The Mayo affiliation is a perfect example of how we are striving to provide world class care for the region with all of our medical services," said Richard Heinrichs, medical director.

There will be no change in lab staff at Dakota Clinic. Dan Olson, chief operating officer, said having Mayo perform certain lab tests will improve quality and turnaround time.

Mayo Medical Laboratories, a medical center based, physician-led organization, is internationally known for its team of consultative experts that focus on the needs of the patient. The mission of the collaboration has been to consolidate reference testing, improve turnaround time, and strengthen Dakota Clinic's efforts to provide exceptional laboratory services and patient care to the Thief River Falls community and the broader region.

Certain specimens taken at Dakota Clinic will be transported via air to Mayo Medical Laboratories, with test results often available through a computer interface as early as the following day. Mayo Medical Laboratories pathologists and scientists in every specialty laboratory will be available to consult with Dakota Clinic physicians regarding test selection, utilization, and methodologies and result interpretation. Access to these physicians and scientists are through Mayo Medical Laboratories' arrangements with Mayo Clinic practice entities.

Mayo Clinic's Department of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology is one of the largest clinical laboratories in the world, with a highly skilled team of pathologists, physicians, scientists, medical technologists, medical technicians, lab assistants, biologists, chemists, microbiologists, geneticists, and other specialists.

Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls, has entered into an association with Mayo Medical Laboratories in Rochester. As of Monday, June 20, certain tests will be sent from Dakota Clinic to Mayo Medical Laboratories. This arrangement will supplement Dakota Clinic's in-house laboratory. The announcement was made on Wednesday, June 15. The regional manager for Mayo Medical Laboratories and the regional service representative visited Dakota Clinic Wednesday. Pictured from left are: Linda McDowell, regional manager, Sue Pederson, laboratory director at Dakota, Dr. James Langland, and Twila Henning, regional service representative for Mayo Medical Laboratories.

Spike in syphilis cases concerns state officials

State health officials are concerned about a repeat rise in syphilis cases among gay and bisexual men in 2005, according to new data released by the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

After a drop in syphilis cases last year, a preliminary review of 2005 data shows infectious syphilis cases have nearly doubled compared to 2004. As of June 1, there have been 47 infectious syphilis cases reported so far compared to 25 cases during the same time period in 2004. Ninety-one percent of these cases are among gay and bisexual men.

"The increase in cases is partly due to the heightened awareness that our previous campaigns have created within our medical community and among gay and bisexual men," said Kip Beardsley, director of the sexually-transmitted disease (STD) and HIV section at MDH. "Our local physicians are doing a better job screening for syphilis, and more of our gay and bisexual men are coming in for testing. These actions are important, but we need to alert both groups that the actual rate of syphilis infection is climbing again."

Health officials noted that cases among males in 2005 have ranged in age from 18 years to 61 years with the majority of cases occurring among men ages 30 to 49. Eighty-seven percent of the cases have occurred in the Hennepin and Ramsey county areas. About 28 percent of the cases among gay and bisexual men were also infected with HIV.

"Other reasons for the recent increase in syphilis cases may include the reported increased use of crystal methamphetamine and people letting their guard down when it comes to safer sex practices," said Beardsley. "The higher rates of syphilis in the gay community highlight the ongoing need for gay and bisexual men to make decisions to protect their health and the health of their partners."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has cited recent research that shows an increase in unprotected sex among some groups of gay and bisexual men due to a relaxed attitude or burnout toward safer sex practices. These attitudes may stem from the fact that the country is in the third decade of rigorous safer sex guidelines coupled with the belief that treatment advances have made the threat of HIV a lesser concern. CDC also reports that syphilis outbreaks are continuing in other large cities around the U.S.

"The increase in syphilis clearly indicates the need to have sustained programs and messages that are specifically designed to reach gay and bisexual men," said Beardsley. "Whether we are talking about diet, exercise, seat belts or safer sex, behavior changes must be supported with a long-term and targeted strategy like the ones that have been so critical in stemming new HIV infection."

Health officials point out that practice of safer sex and getting tested for syphilis remain critical as untreated syphilis can lead to serious long-term complications and even death. Condom usage can also decrease the likelihood of getting or spreading HIV infection.

"It is also critical to know that, unlike HIV, syphilis can be easily spread by unprotected oral sex," said Beardsley. Latex condoms, when used consistently and correctly, can reduce the risk of syphilis if the condom covers the infected areas during anal, vaginal or oral sex.

State health officials are encouraging gay and bisexual men to be checked for syphilis or other STDs if they have had unprotected sex, including oral sex with multiple partners.

Physicians are encouraged to follow the current syphilis screening guidelines from the CDC, assess the sexual risk in all their male patients and provide annual screenings for syphilis and other STDs. For gay, bisexual and other men who may have had sex with men, the guidelines also recommend more frequent STD screenings, every three to six months, for those at the highest risk.

The first (primary) stage of syphilis may begin with a painless skin ulcer or chancre that shows up 10 to 90 days after exposure in the genital area, anus, mouth or throat. Left untreated, the disease can progress to its secondary stage that may include a non-itchy rash. These symptoms will go away, and the infection remains hidden unless detected through screenings.

For more information, call MDH at (612) 676-5414 or go to its Web site (www.health.state.mn.us). The current CDC treatment guidelines for STDs are available online at www.cdc.gov/STD/treatment/default.htm. People can call the Minnesota Family Planning and STD Hotline at 1-800-78-FACTS for confidential information about the prevention, testing locations and treatment of STDs.

What housing growth means for Thief River Falls

sewer line and the lift stations in the right location for future growth and also for it to be cost-effective for developers to build nearby, he said.

Streets may also need to be constructed or improved as a result of housing construction in the city. Under city policy, benefited property owners pay 60 percent of the cost for street improvements, and the city pays 40 percent of those costs. Lindberg noted that state aid may be used in some cases to lower the 40 percent paid by general taxpayers.

Property owners will also be paying for water, sewer, service lines, driveways and storm sewers. For a 100-foot wide residential lot, Lindberg said that it would cost a property owner a total of approximately $10,000 for water, sewer, storm sewer, street improvements, a service line and a driveway.

Besides infrastructure, city leaders are also looking at creating bike and walking paths in the city.

"The city is also taking the opportunity to look at that while looking at the Comprehensive Plan," said Lindberg, who noted the city has to consider bike and walking paths before new subdivisions are built in order to plan for right-of-ways.

City leaders have already planned for at least one walking path – along the future Greenwood Street bridge.

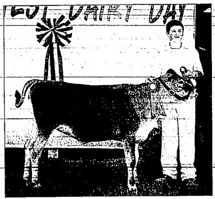
Future planning related to the construction of new homes may cause headaches. Despite that, at least one city department leader thinks fondly about city growth.

"It's just plain good to have the city grow," said Rude. "We look forward to it."

Polly Bakken was recognized for her contributions to the Northwest Dairy Day committee. Bakken and her family, formerly of Angus, are moving to the Little Falls area. Bakken also won a contest at the 56th Northwest Dairy Day on Saturday to guess the one year lactation of a cow. The cow, "Lucy," a registered Ayrshire, produced 16,349 gallons of milk in one year. Bakken guessed 17,923 gallons. The award was presented to her by Lew Wallace. Wallace announced that the committee has an open invitation to anyone interested in serving on the Northwest Dairy Day committee.

Mark and Jan Lee of McIntosh were presented the Outstanding Dairy Family of the Year award during the 56th Annual Northwest Dairy Day, which was held in Thief River Falls on Saturday, June 18. The Lees have been in the dairy industry for over 20 years. Both Mark and Jean grew up on farms. They milk 42 cows and farm 450 acres. They have three children. On June 18, the family hosted the annual Breakfast on the Farm. They served 850 to 900 people, cleaned up and then drove to Thief River Falls to see the 56th Annual Northwest Dairy Day. The award was presented to the Lees by Norma Hanson (right), secretary/treasurer of the Northwest Dairy Day committee.

Sheldon "Snooky" Erickson (right) of Badger was honored at the 56th Annual Dairy Day, which was held in Thief River Falls on Saturday, June 18. Erickson was recognized for his exceptional job of promoting the dairy industry. Erickson, who has been involved in the dairy industry for his entire life, has participated in nearly every dairy promotional industry in northwest Minnesota, including the Minnesota Dairy Association and American Dairy Association. Erickson remarked on how the quality of dairy cattle in the region has improved over the years. Erickson participated in the first Northwest Dairy Day, and all 10 of his children worked on the farm and showed cattle. He is retired, and his son has taken over the dairy operation. Cows have been milked on the farm for over 100 years. Erickson said that while the number of dairy farms in the region has decreased dramatically, the quality of dairy cattle in the region has improved. It has improved so much, he said, that the grand champion award won by one of his cows years ago, would probably only get a red ribbon if it were entered in competition today. Lew Wallace (left) presented the award. Wallace was the master of ceremonies at the event, but is also the president of the Northwest Dairy Day committee.



Marcus Wallace of Middle River won the Junior Showmanship grand champion award at the 56th Annual Northwest Dairy Day, which was held in Thief River Falls on Saturday, June 18. The reserve champion was awarded to Max Cloose of Solway.

The Stuart McLeod Award, which recognizes an individual who demonstrates sportsmanship and patience at the Northwest Dairy Day, was awarded to Amy Cloose of Solway.

Sexually transmitted diseases increase 4 percent in 2004

New data released by the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) shows that reported sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) in Minnesota rose another 4 percent in 2004, following a 6 percent rise in 2003 and a 19 percent rise in 2002.

A total of 14,703 reportable STD cases of chlamydia, gonorrhea and syphilis were recorded by MDH in 2004 compared to the 14,111 cases in 2003.

"This year's increase is due solely to the increase in chlamydia," said Dr. Harry Hull, state epidemiologist and director of the Division of Infectious Disease Epidemiology, Prevention and Control at MDH. "Chlamydia rates have doubled in our state since 1996."

MDH data show that there were 11,601 chlamydia cases reported in 2004 compared to 10,714 cases in 2003, an 8 percent increase. Nearly seven out of every 10 cases occurred in teens and young adults. Rates remain elevated among communities of color, and one out of three chlamydia cases occurred in Greater Minnesota.

"One of the reasons chlamydia is so wide spread is that three out of four women and one out of two men initially do not have any symptoms," said Hull.

Health officials noted that if symptoms do occur, they develop within one to three weeks after exposure. Early symptoms in women can include vaginal discharge or a burning sensation during urination. Men may experience a milky discharge from the penis, pain during urination or swelling of the testicles.

"When left undetected and untreated, chlamydia can be dangerous," said Hull. Untreated chlamydia can lead to pelvic inflammatory disease in women, causing one in five to become infertile. Chlamydia can also be passed to newborns during childbirth, causing blindness or pneumonia if not treated. Untreated chlamydia can also cause infertility in males.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that sexually active adolescent women and women in their early 20s be screened for chlamydia every year. Chlamydia can be spread through vaginal and anal sex and less frequently through oral sex. CDC advises that the use of latex condoms, when used consistently and correctly, can reduce the risk of getting chlamydia.

"The other STDs we closely monitor are gonorrhea and syphilis," said Hull. "Although our overall gonorrhea and syphilis cases dropped slightly last year, we are still seeing higher infection rates among specific communities and geographical areas."

MDH data shows that gonorrhea dropped 8 percent from 3,202 cases in 2003 to 2,957 cases in 2004. Teens and young adults account for nearly six out of every 10 cases, and infection rates remain elevated among communities of color. About 84 percent of the gonorrhea cases occurred in the seven-county metropolitan area.

"Although we have seen a slight drop in gonorrhea cases, we now have seen a five-fold increase in the number of antibiotic-resistant strains of gonorrhea since 2002," said Hull. "We need to continue to alert our doctors and clinics about the situation, so they can do the proper assessments and provide alternative antibiotics to assure that these cases get the appropriate treatment."

Health officials noted that the majority of infections from antibiotic-resistant strains of gonorrhea have occurred among gay and bisexual men. Clinicians are advised to do sexual histories with their patients and to follow the CDC amended treatment guidelines for antibiotic-resistant strains of gonorrhea.

In 2004, there were 145 cases (all stages) of syphilis reported. Syphilis has remained concentrated among gay and bisexual men in the Minneapolis and St. Paul areas for the last three years. Eighty-one percent of the early syphilis cases among males were gay and bisexual men. Thirty-two percent of the early syphilis cases among gay and bisexual men were also infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

Health officials warn that persons at increased risk of getting syphilis include those who meet their sexual partners primarily through the Internet. Other cases have been linked to meeting partners at bars, at nightclubs and on phone chat lines. Alcohol and methamphetamines have also been connected to some of the cases in the last couple of years. All of these situations may be associated with people who are more likely to engage in riskier or unprotected sex.

Gonorrhea and syphilis, like chlamydia, can be spread through unprotected oral, anal and vaginal sex. Once detected, these diseases can be treated and cured with antibiotics. If left untreated, gonorrhea can cause infertility. Untreated syphilis can lead to blindness, brain damage, heart problems and even death in men and women. STDs can also increase the risk of getting infected with HIV or spreading it to others due to increased inflammation or the presence of sores or blisters.

To combat the epidemic, the MDH Partner Services Program provides follow-ups to both people with STDs and their sexual partners who may need examination and treatment. In addition, MDH has supported chlamydia and gonorrhea screening efforts with eight clinics serving areas with the highest rates of infection.

People can call the Minnesota Family Planning & STD Hotline at 1-800-78-FACTS for confidential information about the prevention, testing locations and treatment of STDs.

TRF resident earns masters degree

Mark DaParma, Thief River Falls, has completed his master's degree in Management Information Systems. He attended the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, graduating cum laude from the university's honors program.

The college required that all participants show proof of honors status in their undergraduate degrees to be considered for admission to any of the university's honors only program. The program brought students from all over the world together using state of the art technology and the latest in good business practices.

As part of the program, student teams collaborated, creating solutions in technology for targeted businesses. DaParma participated in creating an innovative technology solution for a hospital located on the East Coast.

"It was a grueling program, and I'm glad it's behind me," said DaParma. "I'm celebrating this milestone by taking a week in the Caribbean to get my Captain's license on a beautiful sailboat – another of my lifelong dreams."

He and his wife, Gail, live in Thief River Falls. DaParma is the founder of Teach ME!, a Learning Club.

Minnesota gains 2,800 jobs in May

Minnesota added another 2,800 jobs on a seasonally adjusted basis in May to bring total job growth in the first five months of 2005 to 10,300. About 90 percent of these new jobs were added in April and May. The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate rose to 4.3 percent in May following a drop to 4.0 percent in April. Minnesota's unemployment rate remains below that of the nation, which fell slightly to 5.1 percent in May.

The education and health services industry sector was the state's top jobs gainer with the construction, professional and business services, and financial activities sectors also adding a substantial number of new jobs this month. Seasonal hiring lagged previous years in leisure and hospitality this month, resulting in a decrease of 1,400 jobs in that sector.

"These strong job-creation numbers in the first two months of this quarter are a marked improvement over the first quarter and suggest that the economy is moving in the right direction," said Matt Kramer, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development.

Minnesota House passes public safety omnibus bill

Taking a tough stance against sexual predators, the Minnesota House recently passed its 2005 Public Safety Omnibus Bill, which includes several measures designed to keep "the worst of the worst" off the streets and increase public safety spending by nearly 16 percent over the last biennium.

The $1.681 billion bill increases sentences for sex offenders by providing life without release for the worst sexual offenders and enhances penalties for the remaining offenses.

"Without public safety, very little else matters in government," said Rep. Steve Smith (R-Mound), chairperson of the Public Safety Policy and Finance Committee. "This bill is aimed directly at the worst of the worst of sexual predators – those that go back out into society after being released and strike again. We believe those people should be incarcerated for life."

The bill further tightens the predatory offender registry by requiring homeless offenders, civilly committed individuals and out-of-state offenders to register, lengthening supervision, and providing polygraph tests and monitoring bracelets for offenders.

Bill co-author Kurt Zellers (R-Maple Grove) said the tougher sentencing penalties were needed to keep victims safe from criminals who should never have been released.

"Current law does not allow the criminal justice system to adequately deal with the most violent sexual offenders," said Zellers. "Most of the time, these are people who should never be released in the first place. This measure will finally allow judges and juries to do what the public has demanded for far too long – lock up these violent predators, who prey on our most vulnerable, for life."

The bill highlights several other needed public safety measures, including funding for methamphetamine enforcement, treatment and supervision; continuing a felon DNA database; providing arrestee databases, and establishing a Gang and Drug Oversight Council and a Financial Crimes Task Force. Penalties for several crimes are also heightened, including those for strangulation, murder of a child, assault of facility personnel, gang crimes against children, prostitution, fleeing officers, interference with ambulance personnel, false reporting and identity theft.

"Public safety and protecting our communities ought to be a top priority. We must do everything that we can to help keep our families, children and communities safe from those who would do them harm," said House Speaker Steve Sviggum (R-Kenyon). "This legislation stops the revolving door between prison and crime. Those who commit the worst of the worst offenses will no longer be free to commit them again."

The bill was amended during the floor debate, adding several initiatives that include the use of prison workers to pick up litter along roadsides and highways, a study to examine the reinstatement of the parole board, voluntary chemical castration for convicted sex offenders who prey on children under the age of 13, and special markings on driver's licenses, state identification cards and license plates for sex offenders.

"We have a bill here that provides solid funding to match solid public protection measures," said Smith. "This bill sends a strong message to anyone who seeks to attack the innocent: Commit a violent crime, and you will spend the rest of your life behind bars."

The Minnesota Senate has not yet passed its public safety bill. Once the bill is passed, Minnesota state senators and Minnesota state representatives will review the respective public safety bills and determine which initiatives will become law.

TRF is 2-3 in EGF weekend tourney

It was a 2-3 showing for Thief River Falls at the annual East Grand Forks Classic American Legion baseball tournament played Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Stauss Park.

Coach Courtney Skjeven's Post 117 squad went 2-2 in round-robin pool play with wins over Wheaton 4-3 in nine innings and Munich (N.D.) 9-4, along with losses to Pelican Rapids 9-8 and East Grand Forks 14-5.

Thief River Falls played in the Sunday consolation finals and fell to Crookston 5-1.

Host East Grand Forks beat Wheaton 6-2 in the championship game.

Post 117 scored in the bottom the ninth for the extra-inning Game 1 win over Wheaton – a team that went on to reach the tournament finals.

Pelican Rapids gave up four runs in the top of the seventh to fall behind Thief River Falls 8-7 in Round 2, but answered with a pair of runs in the bottom of the inning for the win.

East Grand Forks pushed nine runs across the plate in the first inning and went on to 10-run rule five-inning Game 3 decision.

A three-run first inning led Thief River Falls past Munich in the final round-robin match-up for Post 117.

Scoreless for five innings, Crookston used a five-run sixth in the consolation final.

Thief River Falls took a 5-6 record into a scheduled Tuesday doubleheader at home against Detroit Lakes. A second straight weekend tournament awaits Post 117 starting Friday – the Perham Invitational.

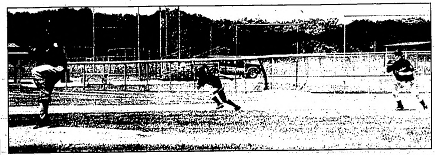
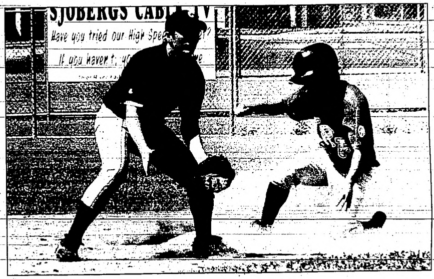
Offensive highlights - (TRF) Alex Carlson, 1/3, double, RBI; (PR) Chris Hasbrouck 1/3, double, 2 RBI; Isaac Peralta 1/3, double, RBI.





With Crookston pitcher Matt Grove still in his wind-up, Thief River Falls Blue runner Sam Mattison took off for second on a stolen base attempt during Friday's action in the Thief River Falls Elks Invitational baseball tournament for 14-15-year-olds. He arrived at second (below) well before the ball got to shortstop Cody Holtman. First baseman on the play is Marcus Brekken. Tournament results will be published in the Saturday, June 25 Northern Watch.

VFW baseball team starts season with three twinbill splits

First three starts of the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls VFW baseball team has resulted in three doubleheader splits.

The Thief River Falls 16-year-olds opened the year June 7 at home against Moorhead, losing 9-8, then winning 24-14.

A June 9 trip to Bemidji featured a 3-1 Game 1 loss and a 6-3 Game 2 win for Post 2793.

The Shane Zutz-coached team opened a June 16 twinbill against Detroit Lakes with a 7-2 win, but the visitors took the nightcap 7-5.

Games Friday at Perham and Monday at Fergus Falls were called off due to weather and/or field conditions.

Thief River Falls' 2005 VFW baseball roster includes Alex Yaggie, Patrick Barry, Ben Carlson, Cole Hunt, Eric Blix, Michael Blix, Sean Sorteberg, Michael Benedict, Cody Bottem, Ben Espeseth and Spencer Johnson, along with Matt Nelson and Seth Schmitz from Red Lake Falls. Babe Ruth 15-year-olds fill roster spots when needed.

A four-run first inning carried Thief River Falls to the Game 1 win over Detroit Lakes. It started with a triple to right-center by Hunt, a walk and stolen base for Sorteberg and a two-run double by Barry. Schmitz and Michael Blix followed with RBI singles.

Schmitz singled with two out in the third, stole second and scored on a base hit by Michael Blix for a 5-0 cushion.

Two fourth inning runs clinched it as Yaggie singled to left, stole second, advanced to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a passed ball. A single to right-center by Sorteberg made it 7-0

It was a four-run Detroit Lakes Game 2 sixth that prevented a Thief River Falls sweep.

Both teams scored in the second inning, with back-to-back doubles by Michael Blix and Johnson plating the Thief River Falls run.

A lead-off double by Sorteberg, an RBI single by Nelson and a run-scoring error added up to a 3-1 Thief River Falls lead in the third.

After giving up single runs in the fourth and fifth innings, Thief River Falls regained a two-run edge in the bottom of the fifth when Sorteberg singled and scored on a double by Barry, who later crossed the plate on a wild pitch for a 5-3 difference.

However, two hit-batsmen, two walks, three hits and two errors led to the four Detroit Lakes runs in the sixth for the win.

Jacoby Bergeron of Thief River Falls spent last week competing at the Warren Central High School Fieldhouse in Indianapolis as a member of the Minnesota Skeeter squad for the National Dual team youth wrestling tournament for 13-14-year-olds.

It started with Greco Roman wrestling Thursday when Minnesota posted wins over New York 44-33, Wyoming 61-16, Indiana Blue 58-19 and Michigan Blue 54-29.

After securing Greco Roman All-America team status the day before, the Skeeter squad was back on the mat Friday for a 55-20 win over Illinois and a criteria-deciding victory over Washington. With the two teams tied 40-40 on the scoreboard, the first criteria is most wins – an area where Minnesota had a 10-9 edge.

Minnesota's winning streak ended with a 51-27 semifinal loss to eventual champion Wisconsin. New Jersey beat Minnesota 45-32 in the third place match.

Bergeron beat opponents from Wyoming and Michigan Blue, while losing to wrestlers from Washington and New Jersey

Luke Vaith of Hastings and Charlie Janssen of Forest Lake were Minnesota wrestlers named to the Greco all-tournament team, with Janssen earning MVP honors.

Freestyle portion of the tournament began Saturday. Minnesota fell to Indiana Gold 48-27 in first round action, but bounced back to beat Washington 42-34, Virginia 69-10 and Wyoming 66-12.

A 3-1 record in pool action left Minnesota five points short of advancing to the medal round.

In the consolation bracket, Minnesota won a 66-14 Saturday night decision against Michigan Gold, then posted Sunday wins over Virginia 76-0 and Ohio 40-36 to reach the consolation final – a hard-fought contest won by Wisconsin 44-33.

Bergeron was unbeaten in freestyle with wins over Indiana Gold, Wyoming, Virginia and Ohio wrestlers to finish with a 6-2 overall tournament record.

A member of the Thief River Falls Take-Down Club, Bergeron earned a spot on Minnesota's national dual tournament team during individual regional competition earlier in Rochester.

ROCKET SPEEDWAY

Rocket Speedway opened its sixth season Sunday night on the legendary half-mile track located at the fairgrounds in Hallock. Conditions were hot and humid by race time, and severe weather threats earlier in the day may have kept a few racers and fans from the track. But those who made it were treated to an entertaining night.

NOPA Street machines opened the feature racing with a carbon copy finish from the previous night's action at the Greenbush Race Park. Jamen Foss (Greenbush) took the lead on Lap 2 and led the rest of the way to pick up the win. Roger Bernstrom and Steffan Snare, both from Hallock, finished second and third, respectively. In fact they ran in those positions for most of the race. Snare on several occasions pulled up next to Bernstrom, but was unable to make the pass for second.

WISSOTA Super Stock field was small but tight on the track as the line-up ran caution free, led by defending Rocket points champion Mike McCaughan (St. Francois Xaiver, Man.) to the finish line. McCaughan led flag to flag for the win. George Balcaen (Winnipeg, Man.) finished second with John Halvorson (Warren) third.

NOPA Pure Stocks provide most of the excitement during opening night. There were several caution flags and three lead changes before the checkered flag dropped. The first caution flew on the opening lap, when the axle broke on Randy Jawaski's car on the front straightaway. As Jawaski's car bounced off the front guard rail, Jonathon Cole drilled him in the left rear. Neither driver was injured, but the collision sent both vehicles to the pits. Mike Peterson (Lancaster) led most of the race, but late caution flags caught up with him. Meanwhile, Travis Beito (Middle River), who started 14th, was able to use the cautions to improve his track position and put himself in position to challenge for the lead. With just three laps to go Beito was able to get by Peterson for the win. Peterson finished second and Justin Osowski (Hallock) was third.

NOPA 4-Cylinder class wrapped up the evening with first time visitor Doug Krause (Winnipeg) racing to the win. Krause built a comfortable lead over the second and third place cars of Dustin Wahl (Greenbush) and Lee McRae (Winnipeg).

The Rocket Speedway is looking for entrants for its new Road Hog division – a "team" class, where one person steers the car while another runs the accelerator. Information, rules and regulations are available on the Rocket website at www.wiktel.net/rocketspeedway.com

Next action at the track will be during the Kittson County Fair, Thursday July 7.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

from Bob Hultgren

Racers and Fans were treated to a warm and windy night of action as the Greenbush Race Park got its second race of the season off the ground Saturday, June 18. The night's races saw a few repeat winners and at least one first time feature winner.

Dan Wiskow's 2005 season is off to a great start, and early indications are that he may be the driver to beat this season in the Mini-Sprint class. For the second consecutive race the Roseau driver led flag to flag for a feature win. Dennis Rantanen (Thief River Falls) finished a strong second, with Clay Sorteberg (Greenbush) third.

NOPA Pure Stocks were 22 cars strong and the field was set for a first time winner at the Race Park. Despite a couple of wobbles over the final two laps, Bryce Cornelisuson held off the pack to win his first feature race. Cornelisuson led flag to flag for the win. It was another strong run for second place finisher Justin Olson (Thief River Falls).

It has been tough to beat the competition level brought to the track each week in the NOPA Street Class. Jamen Foss (Greenbush) continued his early season success with a flag to flag win. But Foss must have felt the pressure with veteran racer Roger Bernstrom and young gun Steffan Snare in chase throughout the race. The two Hallock drivers finished second and third, respectively.

It took three attempts to get the first lap in the books for the WISSOTA Super Stock feature, but when the race finally got going, so did Scott Ripplinger (Warroad), who jumped out front and led all the way for the win. Bryon Berger (Badger) had a strong showing as he held off a late charge to finish second ahead of Gary Nelson Jr. (Blackduck) – third for the second consecutive race.

WISSOTA Modifieds were light in numbers Saturday. After a few early lap passes, the Mod fell in line for a run to the finish line. Nolan Olmstead (Badger) led all the way for the win. Manitoba racer Rick Delaine finished in second with Mike Tiani (Newfolden) third.

The evening concluded with the NOPA 4-Cylinder Stock feature, where Dustin Wahl (Greenbush) picked up his first win. Wahl did a good job working through lap traffic to keep his car out front. Lee McRae (Winnipeg, Man.) started eighth in the line-up and quickly worked his way in the second position, but was unable to catch Wahl. Doug Krause (Winnipeg), making his first track appearance, finished third.

Next up for the Greenbush Race Park is the Northern Late Model Special Saturday, June 25. A strong contingent of Late Model racers have made the trips to the Greenbush track in the past and this week's line-up has the potential to be strong and fast.

The NLRA Late Models will be joined on the program by the Wissota Super Stocks, Mini-Sprints and the NOPA 4-Cylinders, Pure Stocks and Streets. Hot Laps start at 7 p.m.

Marathoners give Grandma's high marks

Over 6,800 runners completed the 2005 Grandma's Marathon (26.2 miles) race in Duluth Saturday, June 18. Among the participants, were several local runners.

Wesly Ngetich of Kenya won the 29th Annual Grandma's Marathon in a time of 2:13:18. Halina Karnatsevich of Belarus finished first among women in a time of 2:28:42.

Thief River Falls Marathoner Chris Wright said the weather was just about perfect with a light breeze coming off the lake from the east and slightly behind runners. He said temperatures, at least for the early part of the race, were in the 50s. Under sunny skies, Wright, who cruised to a 3:30:05 finish, said the first half seemed effortless.

Of course, it's the last six miles that weigh heavily on marathoners. Nevertheless, Wright who on Monday was feeling the weight of those miles in his quadriceps, said he's planning to start his training this week for his next marathon, the Twin Cities Marathon, which is in October.

Another remarkable feat was accomplished by Russell Sorenson of Roseau. Sorenson competed in the Boston Marathon in April. He then ran a half marathon in Fargo in May, and then topped it all off with a 3:18:29 in Grandma's. That time would qualify him to compete in the Boston Marathon again, if he were to choose to do so.

Recycling encourages innovation and economic growth

by Rep. Brita Sailer

This week marks the 35th Anniversary of "Earth Day," which was started in order to raise awareness about environmental issues and find a place for conservation in the nation's political agenda. Over three decades later, we are still working to ensure that recreational and economic opportunities created by our waterways and other natural resources are preserved for future generations.

The growth in recycling has encouraged the creation of innovative products made from recycled materials, and many of these products have been developed right here in Minnesota. Companies such as Master Mark Plastics in Albany, which used 30 million pounds of used milk jugs last year to produce plastic lumber, and Practiv in Moorhead, which turns tons of newspaper into egg cartons each year, creates $2.98 billion in economic activity and thousands of good jobs for Minnesotans. Team Industries, with locations in Bagley and Park Rapids, not only recycles tons of steel scrap, but uses recycled steel and other materials in their power trains for ATVs, snowmobiles and other recreation and utility vehicles.

This year, the legislature is focusing on two distinct pieces of legislation focused on addressing challenges within our natural environment. The first is the "Clean Water Legacy" Act, which came together as a result of work of various business and agricultural interest, environmental groups and state leaders and focuses on identifying and cleaning up Minnesota's "impaired" waters in order to conform to the federal Clean Water Act. Of the Minnesota waterways that have been tested, 40 percent are polluted with human and animal waste, phosphorus, mercury or other pollutants.

Clean water is vitally important to our tourism industry and the recreation and enjoyment of our families in northwestern and northcentral Minnesota. In addition, a failure to fulfill clean water requirements spelled out in the federal Clean Water Act could result in a moratorium on new development and potentially economically devastating restrictions on business and communities.

The second major piece of legislation deals with the growing problem of electronic waste. This waste, largely from computer monitor components, televisions, wireless phones and laptops, contains toxic metals that are a threat to ground water should they remain in landfills.

Dialogue between manufacturers, state and local government, the U.S. EPA, retailers, recyclers and national environmental organization have worked to reach agreement on how to establish and fund a national program for the recovery, reuse and recycling of used electronics. The dialogue, however, has found a split on how to approach the problem. Some believe that the cost should be borne by the electronics manufacturers. Others believe that the best approach would be a fee-based approach where the consumer pays at the time of purchase. As the house bill currently stands, the funding would come from manufacturers, not directly the consumers. This "producer responsibility" approach appears to be the better option for our rural counties.

This Earth Day, it is good to consider that the benefits of recycling in Minnesota are so much more than just saving trees-by recycling, we save landfill space, conserve energy and create jobs for Greater Minnesota.

As always, I appreciate your input on this or any other issue of state government. I can be reached at 327 State Office Building, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55155, (651) 296-4265 or toll free at (800) 920-5867, or by e-mail at rep.brita.sailer@house.mn.

What is the American Cancer Society Research Program?

The American Cancer Society (ACS) Research Program supports beginning investigators who focus on targeted research areas with the potential to have the greatest impact in the fight against cancer.

The facts

- ACS began its research program in 1946 and has since devoted nearly $3 billion to life-saving cancer research, establishing ACS as the country's largest non-governmental source of cancer research funds.
- Currently, ACS is providing funding to innovative scientists at more than 150 leading medical schools, universities and research institutions across the country.
- ACS is currently funding 37 research grants at nearly $22 million throughout Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and Wisconsin.
- ACS has funded 38 scientists who have gone on to receive Nobel Prizes, the highest accolades of scientific achievement.
- Researchers supported by ACS have contributed to major advances in cancer research that have had a significant impact on cancer detection, treatment and prevention. For instance, chemotherapy has contributed to a childhood leukemia survival rate of more than 75 percent. The Pap test has contributed to a more than 70 percent decrease in cervical cancer deaths. The link between cigarettes and lung cancer formed the basis for the surgeon general's report. Mammography has contributed to a breast cancer early detection rate of more than 90 percent. Tamoxifen has contributed to a more than 20 percent decline in breast cancer deaths in women since 1990. The prostate specific antigen test has contributed to a prostate cancer early detection rate of nearly 90 percent. Gleevec has been extremely successful in treating chronic myelogenous leukemia in adults, with 68 percent of patients experiencing complete remission.
- Since 1999, ACT has awarded $36 million in research grants targeted to reduce the disproportionate cancer burden on medically underserved and diverse populations.

Minnesota's salary survey shows how wages stack up

The semi-annual update of Minnesota's largest and most comprehensive salary survey is now available on the web – with information on wages and employment by occupation for the states, substate regions and the nation.

The highest-paying occupational groups statewide continue to be those in management, legal and medical fields where most jobs pay over $30 per hour. Personal care and service (e.g. hair dressers, childcare workers, home care aides) and food preparation and serving occupations remain the lowest paid, with median wages under $10 per hour.

The statewide median wages was $15.58 per hour during first quarter 2005. By this measure, Minnesota is the 10th highest paying state nationwide with a median wage that is 11 percent higher than the national median wage of $14.07. In fact, over 74 percent of Minnesota's occupations are better paid than the nation.

The five occupations that employ the most people in Minnesota include retail sales (83,710); office clerks (73,540); cashiers (63,800); food preparation and serving workers (49,780); and registered nurses (48,220).

Current occupational employment and wages, including projected future employment over 750 detailed occupations are available at www.deed.state.mn.us/lmi/tools/oes/. Comparable current wage and employment data for the 50 states and 330 metro areas nationwide can be found at www.SalarySurvey.org.

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota reminds me of the old victrola when the needle got stuck and continued to play the same thing as it went around and around until someone would hurry and lift it out of the rut so we could hear the rest of the song! Week after week, we may get a few hours of sunshine, but we can rest assured that it become overcast and some rain will fall in each 24-hour period. It is difficult to finish the work that needs to be done outside.

In spite of the weather, the birds are busy building nests and some are already setting on eggs and only the male birds are singing. A new bird that I have never seen before has joined the numerous small birds that have made their abode in the hedge. The first time that I saw it, I thought it was a striped gopher laying on a branch of the chokecherry tree. It is a bit smaller than a robin, has stripes on its upper side in quite bright orange-ish brown and dark stripes on white on its breast. They have been busy building near the chokecherry tree. Perhaps the robins are not the only birds that feed their young, green cherries. There won't be too many berries this year on this tree due to the hard frosts during the blossoming time.

Jan Hilton and daughter Ketarie and granddaughter Sofia Hilton from Florida, visited Elsie Lefrooth on Friday. They returned to Florida on Monday.

Last Saturday, Isaac and Betsy Thompson had the usual group over to their house for "Kumpa Kalas", because LeRoy and Pearl Lundell from Minnetonka had come for the weekend. It certainly takes a lot of dumplings to fill them up when we all get together. Jim and Cindy Wetterlund came all the way from Grand Forks to feast with us. There was none left to take home with us to fry in he morning. Boo-hoo.

On Saturday, Elphie Adlis, and daughter, Kim Kraft and her daughters, Annika and Amanda Kraft from Minot, N. Dak. brought Elsie Lefrooth some chocolate cake and rhubarb dessert before they went to George and Joyce Wikstom's for the afternoon.

Saturday, Paul and Shirley Anderson were among those attending the Jessica Braff-Brandon Clark wedding. Many happy years to you Jessica and Brandon!!!

Kristopher Anderson was home on Sunday to visit with the Janssens. Supper guests at the Anderson's were Dusty Swanson, Corey Wallin, Morris and Hazel Anderson and Eva Bernard.

Betsy Thompson and Pearl Thompson helped Elsie Lefrooth lay out the blocks for a "Trip Around the World" quilt on Friday. On Tuesday, they came for the sewn together blocks and finished the quilt at the church for her.

Happy 7th birthday Austin Lefrooth!!! He and Greg Lefrooth spent time a Grandma Elsie's house on Saturday. She gave him the old Aggravation board that Alfred Carlson had made for Elaine Lefrooth Grovum for her 10th birthday. I gave Elsie a new one that Roy had made.

I was so pleased to see that Jennifer Jorgenson was the recipient of the 2005 Recognized Dietetic Technician of the Year Award given by MDA. Jennifer prescribes the best cranberry salad at the hospital in TRF. I wish I had the recipe for it.

Happy birthday, Lois Kleinvachter!! Judy Kleinvachter held a birthday party for her. Her guests were Kaye Turnwall, Dustin and Joan Gerhis, June, Kerry and Marcus Kasprowicz. Other visitors were Marie Steffen, Laurina and Paulina Berggren, Tracy Folland and Matt Hammer.

The lilac bushes didn't hang on to their blossoms very long this year. The nursery owner told me to prune the bushes shortly after they were done blooming so they could prepare for the next blossoming time. It is very important to prune them or they do a poor job of it next time. When I was very young, there was a nice big lilac bush that bloomed every spring right behind the house. Mother kept it pruned by ordering whoever needed it to fetch a switch from that bush. Boy! I was glad when I became too old for corporal punishment!!

Lyle [illegible] Ardis Haugen spent a few days with the nephew of Art's and Ardis' niece. On Monday and Tuesday, they went for a nice drive around the country and on Sunday they enjoyed a nice visit while eating their tasty dinner at the Argyle Cafe. Later they visited with Dale and Evald Clausen for a while and enjoyed coffee. The spent Wednesday with Minnie Haugen and left for home later that day. They enjoyed such a nice visit while up here looking at the [illegible] countryside.

Sunday evening Marvin and Rose Nelson stopped in to visit with Curt and Elaine Thompson after they had been to the E.F. Church. They had some good singers and we enjoyed our visit with Marvin and Rose also when they got back.

Sunday, June 12th, Kathy and Kameron Harstad came with dinner for Hanna Moen. They also called Gwen Hjelle and she came after.

Playing with fire: safety is key to happy 4th

In 2002, certain types of fireworks became legal to purchase and use in Minnesota. Sparklers, snakes and other non-aerial, non-explosive fireworks are now in common use. They make July fourth celebrations more fun and colorful, but according to State Fire Marshal Jerry Rosendahl, they also make the fun more dangerous.

"The number of people injured by fireworks jumped from 20 in 2001 to 94 in 2002," he said. "Those are emergency room numbers - they don't include the minor incidents."

Rosendahl points out that injuries usually result from lack of information. "Children are most vulnerable. A burning sparkler can reach 1,800 degrees, but people hand them to little kids. And some circumstances can delay combustion. People who try to relight a device can lose eyes or fingers when it does light up."

Fireworks laws have some limitations. You must be at least 18 years of age to purchase consumer fireworks, and retailers are required to check a photo identification. Fireworks may not be used on public property such as parks, roads, alleys, schools or any government property.

"It takes only one incident to cause irreversible damage - and it's not hard to avoid those things," Rosenberg said. "It just takes a few precautions to be confident about the safety of your children, your neighbors and your property. Then you can really enjoy the holiday."

More information about fireworks safety tips and laws can be obtained at www.dps.state.mn.us.

Look inside and outside the home to solve moisture problems

Spring is the perfect time to prevent summertime moisture problems, advises the Minnesota Department of Commerce State Energy Office.

Moisture problems are usually created by an assortment of causes and often require a combination of efforts to eliminate. One moisture symptom can have several sources, and one moisture source can create a number of seemingly unrelated moisture symptoms.

Some common moisture symptoms in the home include:

- Discoloration, staining, texture changes. Mold and mildew, often seen as a discoloration, may be white, orange, green, brown or black and usually indicates some moisture damage, no matter what the material. Peeling, blistering or cracking paint is a sign of moisture intrusion. Fungus can spread over moist or dry wood and is found under carpets, behind cupboards, on framing, between subfloors or on concrete foundations.
- Rot and decay. Wood rot and decay indicate advanced moisture damage. Look for any type of rot, soft wood or mushroom-like growths.
- Crusty, powdery, chipping concrete and masonry. Concrete or masonry may show signs of deterioration after moisture has moved through it. Freeze-thaw cycles speed the process of deterioration, causing chipping and crumbling.

Common outdoor moisture sources and solutions are:

- Poor drainage. Precipitation, humidity, soil moisture content, surface water, ground water table and outdoor water use can all change seasonally, creating problems that show only at certain times in the year. Some solutions: slope the ground around the foundation so that water drains away from the house, seal cracks in the foundation, check for blocked downspouts and gutters, install rain gutters where necessary.
- High outdoor humidity. Consistently high outdoor humidity can cause a variety of problems, particularly constant mold, mildew and decay. Do not ventilate basements, crawl spaces and interior living spaces and high-humidity outside air in the summer, which can aggravate existing moisture problems or cause new ones.
- Blocked exterior air circulation. Closely planted foliage or items stored next to the house, such as firewood, can block air circulation causing localized areas of high humidity. Cut back foliage to allow for circulation and moved stored items away from the house to avoid reducing circulation. Keep intake and exhaust vents clean.

Common indoor moisture sources and solutions are:

- Inadequate interior ventilation. Install externally venting fans in kitchens and bathrooms. Provide circulation and ventilation by opening windows. If a significant amount of ventilation is needed, a central exhaust fan or energy recovery ventilator should be considered.
- Air conditioners, dehumidifiers. Set the thermostat at 75-degrees Fahrenheit or higher. Periodically turn off the air conditioner and ventilate the house when there is low humidity outside. Drain air conditioning condensation to the sewer system or the outdoors, not the crawl space. Make sure new air conditioners are properly sized - an oversized until will chill the air but do a poor job at removing humidity. Use a dehumidifier only when needed and for a short period of time, and make sure it's an Energy Star qualified product.
- Plumbing leaks. The best way to check the drainpipe is to run each part of the system for 10 to 15 minutes while watching for leaks. Check all accessible connections. Leaking pipes may be buried in a concrete slab floor or hidden in walls and floors. Add pipe insulation to cold water lines to stop condensation.

Before giving, ask questions

The charity of area residents has been recognized several times in this space. Local and area residents, it seems, are always willing to offer assistance when needed. Sometimes there are so many requests it's hard to know which charity to contribute to, and there are some people out there who are willing to take advantage of our generosity.

The Minnesota Attorney General's Web site offers some helpful tips to residents contemplating a donation to a charity:

- Don't judge a charity solely on its impressive sounding name;
- Ask how the charitable purpose will be accomplished;
- Ask how much of your contribution will pay fundraising and overhead costs;
- Ask whether your contribution is tax deductible;
- Don't be unduly swayed by emotional appeals;
- Don't be pressured. Ask for written information. If convinced, send a check later; and,
- Contribute by check. Cash donations are impossible to trace and difficult for the charity to protect.

Several private agencies evaluate charities. The following private agencies monitor the activities of charities, establish guidelines which they believe charities should meet, and provide ratings of different charities.

Take care while driving on our roads

Don't know whether we should knock on wood or not, but it does seems that summer-like temperatures have finally arrived in northwestern Minnesota. In addition to summer vacation plans, the "much needed" improvement in the weather is just one more inducement for residents to make travel plans. A news release from the Minnesota Department of Public Safety last week, however, should serve as a warning to motorists to use caution when they do travel on our roads and highways.

As of Friday, June 17, Minnesota Department of Public Safety (DPS) had recorded 201 traffic deaths. That's a significant increase from the 176 traffic deaths that had been recorded by this time last year. Aware of the necessity and right to protect its citizens, DPS and law enforcement throughout the state participated in a program called "Click It Or Ticket." The program promotes the use of seat belts.

According to safety statistics, seat belts are the most effective safety devices in vehicles. In potentially fatal frontal crashes, they increase your chance of survival by 45 percent in a car and 60 percent in a light truck.

You might argue that you're only going to the store down the street so why should I have to wear a seat belt? According to statistics, the majority of crashes occur close to home at speeds of 45 miles per hour or less. Without wearing a seat belt, a 35 mile per hour crash is the equivalent of falling from a third-story window.

I don't know how many area residents could survive a fall from a third-story window. Most would probably suffer some kind of injury. So it just makes common sense. But wearing a seat belt is also the law.

Minnesota has a mandatory seat belt law that was first enacted in 1986. The seat belt law is the only traffic law in Minnesota that is considered "secondary" in nature; meaning that an officer must first witness a moving violation before a citation can be issued for noncompliance.

The "Click It or Ticket" crackdown exercised from May 23 to June 5, generated more than 10,000 seat belt citations. The purpose of the enforcement program is not to harass citizens, but to reduce traffic deaths and serious injuries. Not only does wearing a seat belt help you avoid serious injury, it also benefits society, in general. Americans are paying $26 billion per year in injury-related costs for people who don't wear seat belts.

So when you head out on roads and highways this summer, one way to improve your odds of surviving a traffic accident and help society, in general, is to wear seat belts while in a motor vehicle.

To the Editor:

You know how some people say, "some of the best gifts are priceless." Well, I gave my dad a Father's Day gift that costs nothing, but was totally amazing.

This last Father's Day I wanted to go out on the boat and do some fishing and/or knee boarding. We went fishing first.

Mom, Dad, my little sister and I were down at the river, about a mile and one-half when my dad got a bite on his line. He had this little, kiddy, $12 rod and three-year-old line. His hook was a little ice fishing jig and a worm as bait.

Anyway, he got the bite and right away we knew it was going to be a fair-sized fish. We didn't have a net with us on the boat and the reel my dad was using had didn't have drag. We thought we were out of luck.

My Dad was trying to tire out the fish for about 15 to 20 minutes before he was finally able to bring the fish up close enough for us to see it. It was a huge walleye. Within the next second, my dad reached his arm in the water, grabbed the walleye by the gills and threw that fish in the boat.

The fish looked to be about eight pounds so we figured we should bring it home. My mom and little sister stayed with the boat while Dad and I went to take the fish home to put it on ice or something.

When we got home, we measured it and it was 30 inches long. "Wow," was the first thing that came to my mind. When we weighed it, it weighed 11 pounds. That's the biggest walleye I will probably ever see.

All of us decided that we had better have that fish mounted. It's amazing to get such a big fish like that with such a small rod like that, and coming from the Red Lake River in Thief River Falls.

That was a fun Father's Day for me even though I'm just the daughter who witnessed it. By the way, I did go knee boarding, and that was the highlight of my day.

Special Legislative Session

Some things are worth fighting for

by Sen. LeRoy Stumpf

The Minnesota Legislature has been locked into a special session for a number of reasons, including the desire to see our children receive a quality education to help them be competitive so they can succeed in this ever-changing world. To accomplish this, the Senate has backed work done in my funding division, significantly increasing the state's public education funding.

We should invest in early childhood education so every child enters school ready to learn. We believe that teachers should not juggle classrooms of 35 students. Nor should parents pay extraordinary fees so their children can participate in school activities. And, finally, we believe that providing a top-notch education should not fall onto the backs of property tax payers.

A lot is at stake during this special session. Lawmakers and the governor need to think long and hard about what kind of Minnesota we want to live in.

Senate Democrats are committed to reaching a compromise. In the past four weeks, we've greatly reduced the level of health care spending from our original proposal, accepted a portion of the governor's new revenues but dedicated them to health care, lowered our proposal for closing corporate tax loopholes, and reduced the proposed temporary tax rate on the highest-income Minnesotans.

The Senate will listen to any constructive dialogue intended to resolve the special session. At the same time, the Senate DFL will continue to stand for increased education funding and health care coverage for working Minnesotans because these are our values.

Focus of legislature remains on schools health care and quality for each

by Rep. Bernie Lieder

Nearly four weeks into the special session, the focus of the budget debate remains where it was at the beginning – on our kids' education and health care and how to pay for each. As frustrating as it is to watch, this is an important debate we're having in St. Paul. These issues strike to the very core of who we are and what our state is going to look like a year, two years and a decade from now.

Excellence in public education has been a mainstay in our state. We have always taken pride in the success of our students and believed that by investing in our schools, we could continue that pattern of success into the future.

Unfortunately, we've been going backwards for the past few years. Two years ago, we made the first cut to education funding in the history of our state. That resulted in layoffs, closings and elimination of classes and activities, as well as higher property taxes. Because of policies pushed by the administration and House majority, our "status quo" of excellence in education is rapidly fading.

There seems [illegible] recognition of that from [illegible]. That's a big reason [illegible] Pawlenty's recently proposed a big increase in school funding. The sticking point, however, is over how we're going to pay for it. The governor has proposed we pay for new school funding through an increase in the cigarette tax, higher property taxes and through accounting gimmicks that shift the cost for paying our kids' education into the future.

The Senate, on the other hand, has proposed paying for any increase in school funding by increasing the state income tax rate on income above $250,000.

In the end, we're probably going to see some type of combination of those two proposals.

The other main point of contention is over health care. Reaching agreement here will probably be more difficult. That's because the governor and the House majority see this issue in different terms than most of us do. For them, the state's health care costs are merely an expense.

However, when you consider the innovation we've built into our health care system, much of the state's costs have been an investment in lower health care costs for everyone. We worked to make health care available to all, recognizing both the human need and the economic benefit.

A recent report by Families USA, a health care consumer group, bears that out. In their report, they estimated the cost of uncompensated care at over $900 per family in the U.S. However, because of innovative programs like MinnesotaCare, Minnesota has fewer uninsured residents than most states. As a result, the cost for uncompensated care for the average Minnesota family is around $350.

That, however, is changing. Since 2001, the number of uninsured in Minnesota has risen by 30 percent, with another thirty thousand to be cut under the governor's current plan. As more Minnesotans lose their insurance, the cost for uncompensated care will continue to rise for all of us.

So that's where we stand right now during the special session. Bridging the differences over the next couple of weeks is going to require real leadership. However, I do remain confident that we will eventually work this out. Our state has a rich tradition of compromise, with leaders working together to find common ground.

I think we can find common ground in good schools, affordable health care and a thriving economy. Those are priorities we can all agree on.

Rural Priorities

Business attraction and retention

Local business development that includes household supporting wages ranks as the most critical rural community issue, according to nearly 1,700 rural Minnesota community leaders surveyed in April and May by Blandin Foundation.

Eighty-nine percent of respondents indicated that local business development is the most urgent issue that needs to be addressed by rural communities. Of the 89 percent, 52 percent of respondents said "attracting businesses to my region" is most important; 26 percent said "retaining existing businesses" is most important and 11 percent said "supporting local entrepreneurs."

In citing business development as the most critical issue, the survey indicated several specific development goals including economic diversity, funding for business development, downtown revitalization, high-speed Internet availability and support for small businesses and family farms.

"Increasing the number of jobs that pay household supporting wages and benefits that support families and retain young people comes through loud and clear," said Jim Krile, director of the Blandin leadership programs.

"Community leaders not only identified business development that is inclusive, but nearly 300 of them explicitly said it is what they will work on in the coming three to five years, Krile said.

The other critical issues community leaders said they want to address include:

- The increasing cost of health care and insurance and accessible quality care (35 percent of total responses)
- Quality K-12 education (34 percent of total responses)
- Reducing illegal drug use (26 percent of total responses).

Wilder Research of Saint Paul conducted the survey of 1,690 alumni of the Blandin Community Leadership Program (BCLP).

The survey and a series of eight alumni workshops are part of the Foundation's 20th anniversary observation of the nationally-acclaimed BCLP, which has served about 250 rural Minnesota communities.

"The results will be analyzed at the regional BCLP alumni workshops this summer, where alumni will outline the steps they will take to move forward," Krile said. "The survey and the workshops are calls-to-action."

"The survey pinpoints the issues of most concern to rural community leaders," Krile said. "It is one way for community leaders to identify, give voice to their concerns and tells us about how they see rural communities."

In addition, Blandin itself will use the survey and the workshops to draw public attention to critical rural issues, focus its public policy and engagement initiatives, and inform the Foundation's grant making. Annually the Foundation awards nearly $12 million to strengthen rural Minnesota communities, especially in its home area, Grand Rapids.

"Rural leaders are proud of their communities," Krile said. "In fact, 92 percent of them said they recommend their community as a good place to live – and they have a record of working hard to strengthen their communities – which is a powerful affirmation about them and their communities as they go forward."

Survey responses were organized according to the six Minnesota Initiative Foundation regions, which also corresponds to the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED) regions and the regions of the Regional Economic Development Group (RED), of which Blandin is a cofounder.

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER JUNE 22, 1905
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

May Be Wanted
Minnesota Scandinavians May Be Called to Fight in Case of War

"The break between Sweden and Norway is being watched with great interest in this country, where so many Scandinavians have located. Those who have neglected to take out their citizens' papers are especially concerned with the probable effect of a war upon them. The MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE says that thousands of Scandinavians in Minnesota have not been naturalized and that they are all liable to be drafted by the governments of their respective countries. Should war come to pass, both countries would want to bring their armies up to full strength and every citizen liable to army service would be called upon to enter the army. It is said, so says the TRIBUNE, that the governments, through their many consuls, are looking up their subjects and that their presence will be demanded soon at home. The government of Scandinavia keeps good track of its citizens in foreign countries. The law of the Scandinavian countries permits a subject who has become a naturalized American to inherit property there, but the party forfeits the property if he fails to respond to defend his former country if called upon to do so. This fact complicates the situation in hundreds of cases and altogether the trouble between the countries has caused great interest and anxiety in this country."

To Start Track Laying
Steel Gang Commences Work This Week on Western Extension

"The steel gang on the western extension of the Soo line will commence work this week and, as they lay two miles and a half of track a day, the city will soon have direct railroad communication with the country to the west. The material yards are filled to overflowing with steel rails, ties and other equipment for the road and nothing will delay work after it is once commenced.

"The Soo has one of the best equipped track-laying outfits in the United States, and it is a sight well worth seeing to witness the work.

"As soon as the line is completed as far as the Red river, train service between this city and Warren and other points will be established and extended from time to time until the road is completed."

A Full Count
Citizens Should Take an Interest and See that We Have it

"Alex A. Sweaas, who is taking the census of Thief River Falls, is now at work on the east side of the river. He reports that he is having all kinds of trouble in his endeavors to secure a full count and doubts very much if he can secure all who make their home in this city. All should take enough interest in the matter to see that he is given every possible assistance. If he has not counted you or your family, inform him of the fact. Thief River Falls should show up a population of considerably more than 3,000."

Again Put Off
Red Lake Falls' 'Control' of the County Commissioners is Absolute

"Acting under instructions issued from Red Lake Falls, three of the county commissioners, Demann, Sutor and Falardeau, refused to meet Tuesday to consider the county seat removal petition and, as a result, there was no quorum, only commissioners Johnson and Shaw being present.

"The matter now comes up before Judge Watts on July 14, and no matter which side wins an appeal will be taken to the supreme court and the matter will be decided at the fall term. There is no question but that Thief River Falls will be successful in the matter, and that in the end a vote will be ordered. The Thief River Falls attorneys have intervened and will conduct the case in district and supreme court. In the end the taxpayers will have to pay the bills."

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

Tindolph Park Now Provides Lots Of Fun

"A wide variety of recreational activities are currently in progress at Tindolph park, and, with the advent of warm weather, are attracting increasingly large numbers of participants.

"Quentin Jones, director, is giving beginners' swimming lessons and Al Adams is teaching diving and advanced swimming lessons each morning 9 to 12 Monday through Saturday, with Beverly Wegge giving advanced swimming lessons to girls the same days from 10 until noon. Life-saving lessons are given by Miss Wegge and Philip Beadle on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

"Grade school swimming competition for the Bjorkman trophy is now under way, Beadle announced, adding that grade pupils who can swim or are learning can earn credits for their school by passing the swimming test at the pool. The contest between the four local grade schools is based on the percentage of swimmers in relation to enrollment.

"Al Adams, Lincoln high school basketball coach, stated that that basketball will be played at the park Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock, and he invited all interested persons, including high school graduates, to participate.

"Jones stated that the Rotary club has donated ten putters for use on the golf putting layout at Tindolph park. Donations of used golf balls also will be appreciated.

"Morris Owen, scoutmaster of Troop 60, will give a demonstration at the park Thursday afternoon [illegible] on how to pack a bicycle for an overnight camping trip."

TRF Marine Flies Over This City In Jet Plane Sunday

"One of those two jet planes that roared over Thief River Falls shortly after noon Sunday was piloted by Marine Corps Captain Robert C. Olson, son of City Treasurer Hazel C. Olson.

"Captain Olson had telephoned his mother late Sunday morning from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where he stopped to refuel, that he would fly over this city at 12:45 and she was watching for the plane as it arrived right on schedule.

"It kicked up a loud racket as it flew over at the minimum altitude prescribed by regulations. Needless to say, Mrs. Olson was thrilled. Her son has been a member of the Marine Corps for seven years."

Brownies Day Camp Set For Next Week

"All Brownie Girl Scouts who wish to attend day camp which will be held in Birch Lane all next week, are urged to get their registrations in before Friday so that the camp director, Mrs. Orin Green, can make arrangements for them.

"Registrations may be taken mornings to Mrs. Frank Clinton, 203 Duluth North, or Mrs. Gunder Legvold, 325 North Tindolph.

"In the event of unfavorable weather, the campers will meet in the arena. There are a few openings for the established camp at Squaw Lake Itasca Park, and Girl Scouts are urged to get their reservations in at once if places are desired.

"Health cards can be picked up at the bath house at Tindolph Park or from the above women."

Art Dicken Sets Grand Opening In His New Location

"Art Dicken, proprietor of Northland Produce, announced today that the establishment will hold its grand opening Friday and Saturday, June 24-25, in its roomy new quarters at 416 Atlantic avenue North on the Soo right-of-way. The firm was formerly located on East Third street. Free lunch will be served to those visiting the new quarters, and several valuable prizes will be awarded, in addition to which, candy and balloons will be given to children accompanied by their parents."

Out in Society

From The Thief River Falls Times
June 19, 1930

Picnic Breakfast

"In honor of A. J. McGuire, general manager of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., who arrived here Sunday morning, a picnic breakfast was held at the Tourist park on the above day for the purpose of getting employees of the local branch acquainted with the 'Father of Land O'Lakes' as he is sometimes called. After the breakfast, Stuart McLeod, director of this district, introduced Mr. McGuire, who spoke on the topic of co-operation."

Farewell Surprise

"A farewell surprise party was given Tuesday evening at the Tourist park by a group of friends, complimenting Miss Vivian Aaseby, who is leaving soon for St. Paul. The evening was spent dancing and roasting wieners and marshmallows over a camp fire. Miss Aaseby was presented with a fitted leather traveling case as a gift of remembrance from her friends. Those participating were Vivian Aaseby, Agnes and Lillian Rupprecht, Edna Windsness, Florence Gulrud, Bernice and Margaret Granum, Grace Robarge, Dorothy Erickson, Margaret and Ethel Patten, Gertrude, Judith and Lydia Lockrem, Ruby Burstad, Marie Hendricks, Melvin Simonson, Glenn Engen, Bobby Simonson, Joe Poppenhagen and Leon Johnson."

Trinity Lutheran Church
R. M. Fjelstad, Pastor

"Morning worship in the English language at 11 o'clock followed by the annual Sunday school picnic at Squaw Point. Arrangements will be made for transportation for those who do not have cars. Ice cream for the children and coffee and cream furnished free of charge.

"Wednesday, June 25th, marks the 400th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession and will be extensively observed both in Europe and America. Recognition of this important event will be given at a brief service next Sunday morning. In an age when it seems to be popular to belittle creeds, it is of importance to be reminded of the definiteness of the teachings of God.

"Trinity Ladies Aid meets June 26th and will be entertained by Mesdames Ernest Yonke, Iver Bugge and Martin Owen.

"The pastor expects to leave on a short vacation next Monday. Services will however be conducted in his absence according to future announcements in the Times. Always a hearty welcome!"

Augustana Lutheran church
Aner O. Bloom, Pastor

"Morning worship in the American language at 11 a.m. Sermon theme: 'The Value of a Human Soul.'

"Sunday school at 10.

"Evening worship at 7:45. Sermon theme: 'The Life which is Life Indeed.' The confirmation class will meet at the church Saturday at 10 a.m.

"Ladies Aid will be entertained Friday, June 20, by Mrs. John Holmgren, at the church parlors."

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

ST. HILAIRE, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA JUNE 24, 1905

News Items

"If the past week would have been in April, the weather would have been seasonal, but rather wet.

"Henry Miller has invented and built a well-drilling machine which is doing good work west of here. It is quite a simple affair but appears to do good work.

"There was a very light frost on Thursday morning, but from what we can learn very little damage was done.

"W. A. Gould, the logging superintendent for the Crookston Lumber company, was here yesterday. Mr. Gould informed us that most of the driving was finished for the season and that all of the mills had a big supply of logs on hand.

"A number of articles have disappeared in the village lately and it seems to be the general opinion that a gang of boys of the village are the thieves. If a few were sent to the reform school, it would probably have a good effect on the others. Something should be done.

"RED LAKE COURIER: A work train for the Great Northern railroad arrived in this city Saturday and a large force of men were employed the first of the week taking dirt out of the new cut south of the depot. Twenty-five carloads were taken out each day for three or four days, but it is said that the bank caved in about as fast as the dirt was taken out. The company has been to a great expense with this stretch of track and the end is not yet.

"Commencing next Monday a new train service will be inaugurated on this branch of the Great Northern. The passenger train will run from Crookston to Greenbush and return instead of laying over at Thief River Falls. So far it has not been announced that there will be a change of time. The freight will also run to Greenbush, daily, going up one day and back the next, taking two crews. There has been no announcement in regard to the Wylie service. The Great Northern will not carry mail there after July 1st and it is not known what train service they will give the people."

Norwegian School

"Commencing next Monday in the Norwegian Synod church, Oscar Sponheim will start a six weeks' term of school in the Norwegian language."

Trains to Red Lake Agency

"Trains will be running on the new Wilton & Red Lake railway October 1, and the road will run directly into the present agency.

"At Island Lake, seven miles south of the agency, a town will be platted which will probably be called Island Lake. It will be in the center of a very excellent country where there is already a large settlement of practical farmers. The country abounds in hardwood and considerable dairying is already carried on.

"From Spaulding to Island Lake is a distance of 14 miles and a town will also be platted midway between these two points. The distance from Wilton to Island Lake is 31 miles and most of this has been graded. Some steel has been laid out of Wilton, the iron used being unusually heavy. Track laying now awaits the arrival of additional steel.

"Major Scott is said to heartily approve of the entry of the road into the agency, being convinced that the railroad is one of the greatest factors in the civilization of the Indian."

Destroying Trapping

"Ole Dahlgren of Roseau county, one of the oldest trappers in Northern Minnesota, says trapping as a trade in the wilds of the northern section of the state is being destroyed by the ravages of the foreign and domestic hunters and that before long the lone backwoods trapper will be a thing of the past.

"Mr. Dahlgren, according to the CROOKSTON TIMES, stated that the past winter has resulted in a fair amount of profit to him from his work in the big timber country. During the season of 1904-05 he secured four bears, 30 lynx and a large number of minks and muskrats. In all during the past twelve years, Dahlgren has bagged 63 full grown bears. Last winter's catch was worth for the hides secured just $800 and that is the amount secured by Dahlgren for his work."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

THE RIGHT TO VERIFICATION OF THE DEBT AND IDENTIFICATION OF THE ORIGINAL CREDITOR WITHIN THE TIME PROVIDED BY LAW IS NOT AFFECTED BY THIS ACTION.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That default has occurred in the conditions of the mortgage dated June 1, 2001, executed by Brandeis J. Ohlberg and Dean A. Ohlberg, husband and wife, as mortgagors, to Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, a corporation, as mortgagee, recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Pennington County, on June 1,2001 as Document No. 182894, which mortgage conveyed and mortgaged the following described property, situated in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota:

That part of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section Twenty-four (24), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North of Range Forty-two (42) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian described as follows:

Commencing at the Southeast corner of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4); thence in a westerly direction along the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 1,290 feet to the point of beginning; thence in a northerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 1,000 feet; thence in an easterly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 160 feet, thence in a northerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 600 feet, thence in a westerly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 560 feet, thence in a southerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 600 feet, thence in an easterly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 300 feet, thence in a southerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) to the point of intersection with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4); thence in an easterly direction along the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) to the point of beginning.

That said mortgage was assigned by written assignment recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Pennington County, Minnesota as follows: Assignor: [illegible] State Bank of Thief River Falls, Assignee: Minnesota Housing Finance Agency.

That the original principal amount secured by said mortgage was $57,000.00; that there has been compliance with any condition precedent to acceleration of the debt secured by said mortgage and foreclosure of said mortgage required by said mortgage, any note secured thereby, or any regulation or statute; that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; that there is claimed to be due upon said mortgage and is due thereon at the date of this notice, the sum of $55,698.06.

That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the above described premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Pennington County, Minnesota, in the lobby of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center, 102 First St. West, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County on August 9, 2005, at 10:00 AM, at public auction to the highest bidder, to pay the amount then due on said mortgage, together with the costs of foreclosure, including attorneys' fees as allowed by law, in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage. The time allowed by law for redemption by the mortgagors or the personal representatives or assigns of the mortgagors is 6 months from the date of said sale.

THIS COMMUNICATION IS FROM A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT. ANY INFORMATION WILL BE USED FOR THIS PURPOSE.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
May 9, 2005
6:30 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A regular Meeting of the Independent School District #564 School Board was held on Monday, May 9, 2005, in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center. Chairperson S. Young called the meeting to order at 6:30p.m.

The following Board members were present: Steve Young, Randy Twistol, Barb Kalinoski, Mike Spears, Jenni Erikson-Lane, Troy Bates and Jon Lindgren. Also in attendance was Superintendent Irv Peterson. Clerk Barb Kalinoski affirmed that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by M. Spears and seconded by B. Kalinoski to approve the agenda as amended. Motion carried unanimously.

Irv Peterson has been named an Administrator of Excellence by the MN Association of School Administrators (MASA). Irv was honored at a statewide recognition ceremony at the MASA/MASE Spring Conference on April 21st.

Border State Bank donated $252.00 to the Activities Program. The money was made through the 3-Point Promotion at the boys & girls basketball games.

Patrick Marolt, Mary Forney and Nancy Totte updated the Board on the Targeted Services Program. The mission of the program is to provide an intervention/prevention program to assist students in becoming successful and remaining in the traditional setting. The focus is on social/emotional skill building & remediation. Students must be in K-9th grade. It is a year round program.

Tom Hunt and Scott Brekke gave a LHS update. Forty-nine students were recently recognized at the Scholarship Awards Program. Enrollment at the high school will remain steady for the next couple of years, currently around 650 students. Reviewed the mission statement of the school. Many of the high school programs were reviewed. Graduation will take place on May 27th – 7:30 p.m. at the Ralph Engelstad Arena. There are 146 graduates this year.

Troy Bates reported on the MNSHSL. They met last week. Discussed state tournament ticket sales & prices and admission fees for spring activities.

Jenni Erikson-Lane and Barb Kalinoski reported on the curriculum committee. Connie Stock reviewed the Arts Program. Alice Hofstad reported on the library/media programs in the schools and ADawn Melbye discussed a Flom Culture Program, which would be new to the district.

Harry Nelson reviewed several resolutions on the agenda.

Irv Peterson discussed the data retreats that have been attended by committees from each school for the new Sagebrush Program. A presentation will be made to the Board this summer. Irv reviewed several resolutions on the agenda. Updated the board on the legislative actions. It is still too early to tell what will happen there, things are pretty much in the air at this point. Several staff members will be attending a QComp meeting in Bemidji tomorrow.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to approve the Minutes of the April 25 regular Board meeting as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to approve the bills as submitted and on file in the School District Business Office. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of Tiffany Harbott effective May 13, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of Cortney Christensen, Cross Country Coach, effective April 20, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of Jeff Mumm, Freshmen Girls Basketball Coach, effective April 26, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of David L. Peterson, 8th Grade Girls Basketball Coach, effective April 8, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of Amy Brandt, Assistant Varsity Girls Basketball Coach, effective April 21, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by B. Kalinoski and seconded by T. Bates to accept the resignation of Peter Tri, Teacher, effective April 29, 2005. Motion carried unanimously.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
May 23, 2005
6:30 p.m.
S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A regular Meeting of the Independent School District #564 School Board was held on Monday, May 23, 2005, in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center. Vice Chairperson R. Twistol called the meeting to order at 6:30p.m.

The following Board members were present: Randy Twistol, Barb Kalinoski, Mike Spears, Jenni Erikson-Lane, Troy Bates and Jon Lindgren. Also in attendance was Superintendent Irv Peterson. Clerk Barb Kalinoski affirmed that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by M. Spears and seconded by B. Kalinoski to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Marilyn Adams and Kyle Lunke presented a student art pencil drawing to the board. Kyle a junior at Lincoln High School drew the picture which will be purchased by the district and displayed at the District Service Center.

Kasey Dimmen and Kyja Anderson spoke to the board about the importance of cheerleading to them. They delivered a petition to the board with several signatures.

Mike Moore addressed the board regarding a tax abatement program that the City/County is looking at implementing. They would like to see the School District also support this program. It would apply to new residential, single family homes. The abatement would be in effect for three years. They would like to hear from the district by the end of June.

Bob Wayne and Shane Zutz updated the board on happenings at Franklin Middle School. They have had a great year. The FMS students and staff are still "Living Above the Line". The theme continues and they work to reinforce respect and responsibility from all students. They are looking for some new ways to recognize those students who continue to set good examples. BST scores this year were the second highest they have ever been. Students set reading and math goals at the beginning of the year. They reviewed those goals before the spring testing session. A more specific goal of staff this year will be working on literal comprehension. Franklin will be adding archery to the physical education curriculum next year. The 6th grade class trip went wonderful this year. Kids had exemplary behavior on the trip. "Kids in the Community Day" went great. They had 310 students participate, 39 staff and 16 volunteers. Bob & Shane thanked Jerry Prickett & Staff for their hard work on the new outdoor basketball court. They said it is used daily. Barb Kalinoski thanked Bob & Shane for caring so much about our kids!

Harry Nelson reviewed several resolutions on the agenda. Starting July 1, 2005 ALL staff will be required to use direct deposit for their payroll checks. Reviewed new health insurance rates, which increased 13.3% this year. Reviewed credit agreements with Northern State Bank.

Irv Peterson talked about the upcoming graduation. Board members are asked to be at the REA by 7:15. Irv reviewed several resolutions on the agenda.

A motion was made by M. Spears and seconded by T. Bates to approve the following: Whereas the school board elects to borrow sufficient funds when needed through the use of a line of credit agreement with a financial institution pursuant to M.S. 123B.12(b), and

Whereas Superintendent Irving Peterson has a verbal understanding, pending school board action and bank acceptance, with the Northern State Bank to enter into a line of credit agreement and to make loans to the district from time to time thereunder,

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the school board authorizes the superintendent to execute on the district's behalf a line of credit agreement in the form presented to the school board for approval, a true copy of which shall be attached to this Resolution and made a part hereof, and the board also authorizes the treasurer to borrow from time to time thereunder when necessary to pay any bills approved by the board, and

Be it further resolved that the treasurer or the business manager shall cause all promissory notes issued pursuant to the line of credit agreement to be properly completed and executed, and

Be it further resolved that the notes are designated as qualified tax exempt obligations pursuant to Section 265(b)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and

Be it further resolved that the treasurer maintain a register of all notes issued, and

Be it further resolved that the principal amount of said notes outstanding at any time shall not exceed $1,423,000, and

Be it further resolved that interest shall be payable on the notes at two and one-half percent (2.50%) simple interest from the date of issuance to the date specified thereon, which shall not be more than 45 days following the date of issue, and

Be it further resolved that the notes issued pursuant to the line of credit agreement are to be bank qualified indebtedness, and to that end the treasurer shall not invest any proceeds of such notes in such a manner as to cause them to be arbitrage bonds and shall execute and deliver such certificates and returns to the Internal Revenue Service as are deemed necessary or desirable for such purpose, and

Be it further resolved that the school district pledges state and local taxes it receives to the payment no later than April 30, 2006 of all outstanding notes issued pursuant to this Resolution, and

Be it further resolved that if an authorized officer of the Northern State Bank does not sign the line of credit agreement and return it to the school district on or before June 2, 2005, within 10 days, then this Resolution shall be rescinded without further action of the Board.

Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by T. Bates and seconded by J. Lindgren to approve the following: This Line of Credit Agreement is made and entered into as of May 23, 2005 by and between Independent School District 564 (the "School District") and Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls (the "Lender").

Whereas the School District has duly authorized its superintendent, Business Manager or treasurer to borrower pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 123B.12(b), and the Lender has agreed to consider making loans to the School District from time to time on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this agreement. Now therefore, in consideration of the premises and of the mutual covenants herein contained, the parties agree as follows:

The Lender is willing to grant the School District a discretionary line of credit of up to $1,423,000.00 Dollars (the "Line of Credit") whereunder the Lender may, in its sole and complete discretion, make advances to the School District from time to time from the date of this Agreement to and including April 30, 2006 in an aggregate amount outstanding at anyone time not to exceed $1,423,000.00 Dollars. The School District may borrow, prepay and reborrow under the Line of Credit, but borrowings and reborrowings will always be at the sole discretion of the Lender.

NOTHING IN THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE INTERPRETED AS A PROMISE BY THE LENDER TO MAKE ANY ONE OR MORE ADVANCES, AND JUST BECAUSE THE LENDER MAKES ANY ONE OR MORE ADVANCES DOES NOT MEAN THAT THE LENDER IS WILLING OR COMMITTED TO MAKE ANY OTHERS.

Each advance must be in the amount of $50,000.00 Dollars or more. Advances will be disbursed by check payable to the order of the School District, or in such other way as the Lender and the School District may agree.

2. The School Districts obligation to repay each advance under the Line of Credit shall be evidenced by a separate note executed on behalf of the School District by its treasurer, its Superintendent or its Business Manager, in each case in the amount and dated as of the date of the advance (each reference herein to a "note" applies to each note issued to evidence advances). Each Note shall be substantially in the following form:

Promissory Note

The undersigned, Independent School District 564 (the "School District") hereby promises to pay to Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls (the "Lender") at the Lender's office in Thief River Falls, Minnesota the sum of ____________Dollars plus interest on the unpaid balance hereof From time to time at the rate of 2.50% per annum, calculated based on actual days elapsed in a 365-day year. Principal and interest shall be payable on___________20_, and this Note may be prepaid in full without penalty or premium at any time at the election of the undersigned.

The School District hereby waives presentment, protest and notice of non-payment and dishonor and agrees to pay all costs of collection, including reasonable attorneys' fees, in case any payment shall not be made in accordance with the provisions of this Note. This Note shall be governed by the laws of the state of Minnesota.
By Its Business Manager"

3. All the payments of principal and interest under each Note shall be made in immediately available funds.

4. This Line of Credit Agreement and the Notes (collectively the "Loan Documents") shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the state of Minnesota. No failure or delay on the part of the Lender in exercising any right, power or remedy under the Loan Documents shall operate as a waiver thereof. The Loan Documents shall be binding upon hand shall inure to the benefit of the School District and the Lender and their respective successors and assigns; provided, however, that the School District shall not have the right to assign any rights here under without the prior written consent of the bank. This Agreement may not be amended except by writing executed by duly authorized representatives of both parties. The Loan Documents take the place of any preliminary discussions between the Lender and the School District and supersede any previous written agreements or understandings between the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties have executed this Line of Credit Agreement as of the day and year first above written.

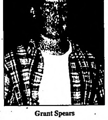
Spears brothers speak at Elks Flag Day event



Grant Spears

Elks Club 1308, Thief River Falls, conducted its annual Flag Day ceremony at the club rather than outside in Elks Park. While rain may have been dampening spirits, Elks Club members urged the public to rededicate themselves to the principles of the flag. The purpose of this annual event is to honor this country's flag.

Among the speakers participating in this ceremonial event, were 11-year-old Devin Spears and 13-year-old Grant Spears. Winners of an essay contest that charged aspiring young writers with a responsibility of writing about "What Old Glory Means To Me," the two brothers read their winning essays. Their essays are as follows:

by Devin Spears

I feel free and safe when I think of Old Glory. Our flag is a symbol of a free and brave country. Even though the flag that we fly today is different than it was when William Driver first named it, it still stands for the same things. He flew that flag proudly, and kept it from being destroyed by the enemy. Our country is also proud and I know that our enemies will never be able to destroy or country or what we stand for.

We live in a free land, where everyone has the same rights, and an equal voice, which are some things many other countries do not have. Old Glory makes me feel secure and safe. Also when I think of Old Glory I think of God and greatness. And when I think of God I think of praising and singing which is what we do for our flag. We all stand at attention and honor our flag and that shows how much it means to our country and its people. Most of all, I feel pride in my heart.

Essay by Grant Spears

When I think of the phrase "Old Glory," it makes me think how glorious our country is. We have so many more rights than other nations. And because we are a free country we can make our own decisions. We can speak freely, choose where and who to worship, and choose our leaders.

Old Glory is another name for our country's symbol that flies everywhere people go. Whenever we go to sporting events and such we honor Old Glory by singing our national anthem. At school, kids are required to say the Pledge of Allegiance at the beginning of each day. Many organizations, such as the Boy Scouts of America, also recite the Pledge at the beginning of their meetings. The glorious thing about the Pledge of Allegiance and the National Anthem are that they are done before anything else, and it emphasizes the respect that the American people have for their country, and we address our symbol, Old Glory with that respect.

Old Glory makes me feel secure to know that as long as it is still flying, I am safe living in a strong, brave and free land.

The Republican budget is a raw deal for rural America

by Congressman Collin Peterson

Where I come from, deals are made with a handshake and a promise, not with hearings and complicated legislation. But no matter how it is made, a deal is a deal, and whether it is an agreement between neighbors in Minnesota or between Congress and American farmers, you are only as good as your word.

In 2002, the president and Congress made a deal with American farmers that was laid out in the 2002 Farm Bill. It was a bipartisan agreement that made improvements in nutrition, conservation and rural development initiatives, as well as in farm commodity programs. Republicans and Democrats worked with representatives of a broad range of groups to create a strong Farm Bill to help make farmers and ranchers more competitive and to start leveling the playing field for American agricultural products in world markets. When that bill passed, it was a promise to farmers and rural Americans that the programs and funds outlined in the Farm Bill would not be changed until it was time to write a new Farm Bill in 2007.

And since a deal is a deal, many farmers and rural Americans made plans for the future based on the promises made in the Farm Bill. Now, two years before Congress writes a new Farm Bill, the President and Republican leadership in Congress want to go back on those promises and cut funding for agriculture in the Federal budget.

In the years since we passed the 2002 Farm Bill, friends of agriculture in both parties in Congress have defended the deal we made in the Farm Bill. Just last year, my colleague, Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob Goodlatte said, "The (2002) Farm Bill was a very carefully negotiated agreement, and once you reopen it, it essentially becomes a piggy bank susceptible to the whims of others." I strongly agree and hope to work with Congressman Goodlatte to keep the Farm Bill intact.

Now, the President and Republicans leaders in Congress have said that American farmers understand the need to cut federal spending and want to do their part to bring the deficit under control. What they don't say is that the 2002 Farm Bill has cost $15 billion less than we thought it would cost when we passed the bill. When was the last time that you heard of a government program spending less than expected? American farmers are already doing their part to control federal spending, but farm spending programs are still being attacked in the budget debate.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and National Farmers Union have worked hard to educate Congress about the problems that will come about if they break the promises made in the Farm Bill. They point out that the changes to farm programs proposed by the President and Congressional Republican leaders would leave Americans vulnerable at a time when foreign countries are increasingly using unfair trade practices against U.S. farmers.

And the Farm Bureau and Farmers Union are not alone. Members of more than 200 other organizations have joined them, including groups representing conservation interests, religious and charitable organizations, rural community advocates and farmers who produce all of our nation's major crops. They are all asking the same question: Why is agriculture now being singled out for cuts – cuts that are proportionally higher than what is expected from any other spending category?

The budget also turns its back on the critical needs in rural America for access to health care and other critical needs. The House Republicans' budget would cut Medicaid by up to $20 billion over the next five years, which would have a devastating impact on the 60 million children, elderly and individuals with disabilities who really need this program. In rural areas where high quality health care is more expensive and more difficult to find, these cuts would have a devastating effect.

Support for the current House and Senate budgets in Congress is so weak that the House budget passed by only four votes. Democrats and Republicans alike recognize that the budget is a bad deal for America because it is neither fiscally nor morally responsible. The President and Congressional Republicans need to start over. There is still time before the new fiscal year starts for Republicans to reach out to Democrats and write a responsible federal budget that honors the promises made not only to American agriculture but to all Americans.

The American people want cost-effective programs that work, and they want a balanced federal budget. We can have both. It will require cooperation and hard work, but Americans expect those things from their elected representatives. The American people deserve better than a budget that cuts agriculture and short changes rural communities.

Peterson brings CAFTA testimony to Ways and Means

In testimony Thursday before the U.S. House Committee on Ways and Means, Congressman Collin Peterson (D-7th District) addressed concerns with the Central American Free Trade Agreement and its impact on American agriculture.

Excerpts from his remarks follow:

Thank you Mr. Chairman. While we are here today, the Secretary of Agriculture has been visiting farmers in the Red River Valley of Minnesota to try to address concerns about the CAFTA agreement. So far, the feedback I have received about his efforts from the farmers there, is that he just doesn't seem to get it.

America's agricultural imports have soared in recent years, while the U.S. agricultural trade surplus has plummeted. For the first time in 46 years, the U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that in 2005, the U.S. will import as much as it exports. So, a surplus that once peaked at $27 billion in 1996 is now projected to be zero this year. Many economists feel poor trade deals like NAFTA have played a significant role in this alarming trend. Yet in the face of these facts, U.S. trade negotiators continue to pursue new, faulty trade agreements.

During the debate on NAFTA, Administration officials promised that the agreement would add 170,000 jobs in the first year alone. According to more recent estimates, the total number of jobs lost because of NAFTA in its first 10 years is about 880,000. This is not surprising if you consider that in the agricultural sector alone, USDA statistics show that our agricultural trade deficit with Canada and Mexico has almost tripled from $5.2 billion to $14.6 billion.

Part of the problem has been the failure of our negotiators to focus adequate attention on the potential downside of trade agreements. An obvious example is the recent decision in the Brazil - U.S. cotton case. Another is the sugar side letter in NAFTA.

When NAFTA was passed, the U.S. and Mexican governments assured U.S. sugar growers that Mexico would remain a deficit sugar producer, as it had been for the five years leading up to NAFTA implementation. But when the Mexican market opened up to US high fructose corn syrup, and the Mexican soft drink industry began to substitute HFCS for sugar, Mexico began to export all of that displaced sugar to the U.S.

Under the side letter, access was limited to roughly 35 times traditional Mexican access for sugar and the definition of surplus producer was changed to protect U.S. growers from imports of this displaced sugar. Mexico has renounced the side letter, and the Administration has abandoned it, leaving us with the current uncertainty for U.S. producers. In the midst of this uncertainty, the Administration has piled on by proposing new access for sugar imports under CAFTA: This is a horrible precedent for future trade agreements. The total sugar export availability (production minus domestic consumption) of potential U.S. Free Trade Agreement candidates is 27 million metric tons, compared with U.S. sugar production of eight million metric tons. NAFTA remains the only example of a free trade agreement between major sugar producing countries to include sugar. The disaster that has resulted is a clear reason we should reserve for the WTO all negotiations on sugar, which is a commodity that is heavily subsidized around the world.

Another part of the problem is lack of enforcement. Since implementation of the U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement in 1988, the U.S. potato industry has sought relief from unfair and discriminatory market access barriers in Canada.

Canada's Standard Container Law prohibits the importation of U.S. fresh potatoes to Canada in bulk quantities (over 50 kilograms), unless a special Ministerial Exemption is granted. The exemptions are granted on a case-by-case basis and only if "there is no domestic (Canadian) production" to supply the order. Because of the restrictive provisions of the law, there must essentially be a shortage of potatoes throughout Canada before an exemption will be granted. The law is applied to potatoes shipped between Canadian provinces in a much less trade restrictive manner, and is in violation of Canada's obligation to treat imports no less favorably than domestic products. Canada also continues to apply artificially high dumping margins based on old data on potatoes from the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

A 1997 investigation by the International Trade Commission of the competitive conditions between the U.S. and Canadian potato industries confirmed the existence of several trade-distorting Canadian practices that continue to disadvantage U.S. potato growers and processors. Despite numerous U.S.-Canadian bilateral discussions on the issues, many at high levels, there has been no meaningful relief. The U.S. industry estimates that these and other trade restrictions have cost them $87 million annually in lost business to low-priced Canadian imports, and has cost them a potential annual export market worth $25 million.

CAFTA promises

Estimates that forecast sizable trade gains for U.S. farmers and ranchers under CAFTA are even more delusional than the gains predicted from NAFTA. Compared to NAFTA nations' population of over 138 million and GDP purchasing power parity of $1.9 trillion, the CAFTA countries have a combined population of approximately 46 million people and a combined GDP purchasing power parity of only $205 billion. That's one-third fewer people with less than one-ninth of the total purchasing power that NAFTA offered.

Given the poor income distribution in CAFTA countries, it is highly unlikely that there will be resources available for increased purchases of agricultural products from the U.S. (such as expensive hotel grade beef). According to the CIA World Fact Book, Nicaragua, for example, has an income distribution that is worse than the countries in Sub-Saharan Africa.

This lack of potential is reflected in the International Trade Commission (ITC) report on CAFTA, which predicts no gains for U.S. wheat and only minimal gains for U.S. rice, corn, and beef. Meanwhile, both the ITC and Farm Bureau predict a huge cost for the U.S. sugar industry. The ITC cites a study predicting a 4.67 percent drop in U.S. market prices for sugar. The Farm Bureau predicts losses of $80 million for the sugar industry.

This concludes my oral testimony, but I would like to include additional information for the record. Thank you Mr. Chairman.

Smoking costs Minnesota $1.98 billion annually

Each year, smoking costs Minnesota $1.98 billion in health care costs – $393 for every man, woman and child in the state – according to a new analysis by Jeffrey Fellows, a nationally-known health researcher from the Center for Health Research at Kaiser Permanente Northwest.

Put in another perspective, annual smoking-related health care costs are about the same as the 2002 Minnesota state budget for the departments of Public Safety, Transportation, Agriculture, Employment and Economic Security, Natural Resources, the Pollution Control Agency, higher education, veterans' homes, early childhood education, child care programs and children's services grants, combined.

"Rising health care costs are a top concern for the state, employers and families alike," said Mark W. Banks, M.D., president and CEO of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Minnesota, which commissioned the study. "Tobacco use is a huge burden to our state. To reduce this burden, we must adopt effective strategies to reduce tobacco use, such as smoke-free workplaces, education and prevention efforts, and increasing the price of tobacco through a tax."

The report was recently unveiled by a broad coalition, including legislators, Blue Cross, health care interests and health advocacy organizations.

Smoking-related health care costs approach $2 billion annually, 12 times greater than Minnesota's annual cigarette tax revenues that total only $172 million. Minnesota has not raised its cigarette tax since 1992, and its current 48-cent-per-pack tax ranks 37th nationally. Tobacco tax proposals have been introduced this legislative session with bipartisan support.

"Raising the cigarette tax will not only reduce smoking, it will also help offset the extraordinary health costs of smoking that Minnesotans bear," Banks said.

Minnesotans support raising the cigarette tax, according to a recent poll by the Minnesota Star Tribune, which found a cigarette tax the most popular of all potential new revenue sources. In addition, public opinion research conducted last summer by Blue Cross found that 67 percent of Minnesotans favor a $1 tobacco tax increase.

Health care costs from smoking include payments for physician services, hospital care, prescription drugs and nursing home care. The amounts for each are shown below:

- Physician and other health professional services – $546 million
- Hospital care – $291 million
- Prescription drugs to treat smoking-related illnesses – $191 million
- Nursing home care – $788 million
- Other personal care – $156 million
- Neonatal care attributable to smoking during pregnancy – $6 million

According to the study, smoking was responsible for the deaths of 5,689 Minnesota adults and eight infants whose mothers smoked. Smoking causes disease and illness ranging from cancers of the lung and throat, to cardiovascular and respiratory diseases, to perinatal conditions, such as low birth weight and respiratory distress.

Unemployment in Minnesota drops to 4 percent

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for April was 4 percent – the lowest rate since September 2001, according to figures recently released by the Department of Employment and Economic Development.

Seasonally adjusted total employment grew by 5,000 in April to just over 2.7 million – the third highest gain in the last two years. The leading gainers are professional and business services (+2,700), leisure and hospitality (+2,600) and construction (+1,600). On an unadjusted basis, over-the-year job gains stood at 25,196 – a 0.9 percent increase. Minnesota has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the country, outpacing the national unemployment rate of 5.2 percent.

Gov. Tim Pawlenty said job growth and the drop in unemployment indicates that the state's commitment to economic development and job creation is paying off.

"We're clearly moving in the right direction," said Pawlenty. "This news should remind us that we must continue to stay focused on making Minnesota a more competitive place to do business and create good jobs."

Proper tire pressure, lighter axle loads help reduce soil compaction

by Jodi DeJong-Hughes
University of Minnesota Extension Service

As you start heading back into the fields this spring, try to think about reducing your soil compaction. As the weight of farm tractors and field equipment becomes larger and heavier and as the annual precipitation increases in Minnesota, there is a growing concern about soil compaction.

Soil compaction can be associated with a majority of field operations that are often performed when soils are wet and more susceptible to compaction. Heavy equipment and tillage implements can cause damage to the soil structure. Soil structure is important because it is the number one defense the soil has against compaction, and it determines the ability of a soil to hold and conduct water, nutrients, and air necessary for plant root activity.

There are two wide spread myths about compaction. One is that freeze-thaw cycles will alleviate a majority of soil compaction created by machinery; the other says "what compaction 'Mother' Nature' does not take care of, deep tillage or subsoiling will alleviate." For details on why these myths aren't true and other aspects of soil compaction, see www.extension.umn.edu/cropenews.

One of the most important factors for decreasing the potential for soil compaction is staying off the soil when it is wet. Since farmers have a small window of opportunity for planting their crops, this is not always possible. Other effective strategies are to maintain proper tire inflation rates and decrease axle loads. Radial tires can be inflated as low as six to eight pounds per square inch. Check with your dealer to establish the proper tire pressure for your tractor. Before using any equipment in the field make sure to check your tire pressure. Not only does this help reduce soil compaction, it also improves tractor efficiency.

Your soil is one of the most important factors when growing a healthy crop. Preventing soil compaction will increase water infiltration and storage capacity, timeliness of field operations, decrease the stress on plant roots, and decrease disease potential. By simply inflating your tires to their proper air pressure, you can reduce surface soil compaction and by reducing axle loads, it will reduce the depth of compaction in the soil.

If you have any questions regarding soil compaction, see www.extension.umn.edu/cropenews or contact Jodi DeJong-Hughes at the Marshall Regional Extension Office at (507) 337-2800.

NW Service Cooperative responds to investigation

State Auditor Pat Anderson recently released a special investigation on health insurance provided to Minnesota school districts and other public entities through service cooperatives. Service cooperatives were created by the Minnesota Legislature to perform planning on a regional basis, and to provide programs for local governments that they cannot economically provide on their own.

There are eight regional service cooperatives that provide health insurance to their members, one of which is the Northwest Service Cooperative (NWSC), headquartered in Thief River Falls. Service cooperatives' members include public school districts, cities, counties, other governmental units and some nonprofit entities. They are largely funded with taxpayer dollars.

Each of the service cooperatives has BlueCross/BlueShield ("the Blues") as its insurance carrier. Over 700 school districts, cities and other local government entities received health insurance from service cooperatives in 2004. Nearly 59,000 individuals received health insurance from the arrangement. According to 2003 year-end settlement statements, service cooperatives had approximately $370 million in completed claims.

"Due to an apparent conflict of interest and a cozy relationship with BlueCross/BlueShield, taxpayers may not be getting the best deal for health insurance for local government employees," Anderson said.

The investigation revealed that service cooperatives' use of consulting contracts, diversion of administrative fees, and entanglement with BlueCross/BlueShield may be resulting in higher healthcare costs for school districts, employees and taxpayers.

"This audit confirmed that we have solid accounting practices, that we follow all public laws and that all of our funds are accounted for," wrote Jerry Nesland, NWSC executive director, in a letter to NWSC members. "Nonetheless, the state auditor's staff made a few recommendations that we intend to work with them to implement."

The major findings of the investigation follow.

Consulting Contracts: Seven of the eight cooperatives contract with a consultant (Creative Benefits Consultants) whose list of services includes developing bid specifications to implement the healthcare program. Under these contracts, the CBC has received on average $600,000 per year for each of the past five years. Since 2003, CBC also has a consultant contract with BlueCross/BlueShield. Under this contract, CBC receives almost $250,000 per year; however, the Blues can reduce the amount if the Blues stop doing business with the cooperatives or if business with the cooperatives declines more than 50 percent.

"I have serious doubts as to whether Creative Benefits

Construction begins

Construction began last week on Barzen Avenue near Digi-Key and Arctic Cat. In that section of Barzen Avenue, the roadway was gravel. Once improved, it will have 16 inches of gravel and pavement to aid car traffic. Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said 14,000 cubic yards of clay material excavated from Barzen Avenue will be used for a bird-viewing area at the Thief River Falls wastewater ponds. City construction projects are expected to be finished by Sept. 23.

Lifeguards add to the splash and flash at FMS pool

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

If Christmas was celebrated in July, Jill Buck would likely ask for an outdoor community pool for Thief River Falls. She knows that it would be popular and safe summer destination for the community's youth. She would also ask for a movie projector and pool slide to enhance the existing pool at Franklin Middle School.

Unfortunately, Christmas isn't celebrated in July and the debate for and against an outdoor public swimming pool remains cold and action is unlikely. As far as Buck's other wishes go...there's hope.

Buck, the pool director for Thief River Falls Community Education, along with other FMS pool employees have undertaken a fundraising effort to bring a movie projector and later, a slide to the pool.

Buck hopes the projector, which will cost the fundraising employees an estimated $800, can be purchased this summer. The employees signed up for two dunk tank shifts at the Thief River Falls West Fest and an additional shift at the Pennington County Fair.

Once purchased, the projector will offer a unique setting for watching movies – in the pool. Buck said plans are for movies to be shown on Wednesday fun nights at FMS. Also available to FMS fun night participants are an open gym and concessions.

Buck said the idea for showing movies in the pool came from an experience in her youth, when the movie Jaws was screened within a pool. Buck said the lights were

Franklin Middle School summer swimming lesson students, Spencer Hron, Riley Bakken and Alexis Reuter, spent free-time climbing the cargo net during their June 22 swimming lesson. This cargo net and adjacent climbing rope (not pictured) have quickly become popular attractions at the Franklin Middle School pool. If fundraising efforts are successful, the pool may feature a movie projector and a slide in the near future.

Pioneer families honored in TRF

Torkelson and Wennberg families are honored during Family Day event

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Third generation members of the Ole and Mathea Torkelson family, and second generation members of the Carl and Hilda Wennberg family were honored and granted lifetime membership to the Pennington County Historical Society during the historical society's Family Day, held Saturday, June 25.

The two families, each having played a significant role in the settling of Thief River Falls area communities, have joined nine other families that have been recognized as Pioneer Families. Past Pioneer Families include Noper, Muzzy, Mostue, Christensen, Asp, Beito, Lee, Engelstad and Narverud.

Saturday's ceremony began with an introduction by master of ceremonies David Strong, a member of the Pennington County Historical Society Board. Strong introduced Rachel Mathson, a great-great granddaughter of Ole and Mathea Torkelson, who sang the national anthem.

Don Wennberg, the youngest son of Carl and Hilda Wennberg, presented a historical perspective of the Wennberg Family, starting with Carl Wennberg's birth near Fertile, continuing to a present day look at each of Carl and Hilda's three sons, Jon,

Ashes, ashes, they all fall down

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

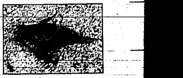
It's not that time of year, but leaves are falling off of ash trees.

The trees have become infected with anthracnose. "Anthracnose is a very common springtime fungus affecting many different shade trees," said Howard Person, technical adviser in agricultural production systems with the University of Minnesota Extension Service, in a press release. "Ash, oak and maple are among the most severely affected."

Residents shouldn't worry too much about the fungal disease affecting their ash trees. "It should drop this first batch and re-leaf," said Thief River Falls City Forester Myles Olson. "It shouldn't be a big problem."



Person does not recommend applying fungicide to the trees affected by the disease. "To help reduce the severity of disease next spring, rake and dispose of leaves that may drop from trees now and rake off leaves this fall as well," said Person. "For smaller trees or trees that appear more stressed,

Three are AAUW Women of Honor

AAUW honors Jane Anderson, Elvera Cullen and Sharon Fugleberg

Jane Anderson

Elvera Cullen

Sharon Fugleberg

This year's American Association of University Women (AAUW) come from a wide range of knowledge, expertise and experience. They are being recognized not only for the contributions they have made in the past, but also for those they continue to make toward improving the quality of life residents enjoy in Thief River Falls. The women being honored this year include Jane Anderson, Elvera Cullen and Sharon Fugleberg.

Jane Anderson

If you're looking for someone to organize, manage and successfully carry out a major event or want to connect with any musical group or activity, call on Jane Olson Anderson. This Thief River Falls native shares her enthusiasm, leadership and talents with the community, greatly contributing to the quality of life here in northwestern Minnesota.

Music has been a major thread throughout Anderson's life. A gifted singer and actress, she actively pursued this career path for six years, but (in her words) it was a "don't quit your day job" profession. Nevertheless, it continues to be an important activity as she is a sought-after soloist for community groups, the Masterworks Chorale, the United Methodist Church and National Day of Prayer observance.

Anderson has directed numerous musicals for the community theater; this summer's offering is "Carousel," and she and Vanessa Martell are planning a "Night of Opera" at the Swenson House in August.

Anderson served 10 years as a board member of the Thief River Falls Community Arts Council and was also president of that group. Whether performing, directing, organizing or working behind the scenes, Anderson's talents have been a major piece of the musical community in Thief River Falls. It is not surprising that she is a former Miss Thief River Falls – one who has continued to share her own talents and also mentor young performers in the area.

In 2004, Pennington County held its first Relay for Life – a major fundraising event on behalf of the American Cancer Society. Anderson stepped forward as the chairperson of this event, contributing hundreds of volunteer hours with committees, team leaders, media and community organizations to promote sponsorship and participation. Hundreds of luminaries encircled the walking track, honoring cancer survivors and memorializing those who had lost their battles with cancer. Teams of walkers continued through the night, cheered on by Anderson, and raising thousands of dollars for the cause. Anderson continues to chair this event in its second year, 2005.

Anderson's "paid employment" is as an instructor at Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) since 1990, where she teaches developmental education courses in reading, writing and study skills, and tutors students in the Learning Center. Anderson is the adviser for Phi Theta Kappa, the honor society for two-year colleges, and serves on the graduation, assessment and disabilities committees for NCTC. In 2001, she was recognized as Educator of

Three TRF residents sentenced for separate felony offenses

Three Thief River Falls residents were sentenced June 20 in Pennington County District Court for separate felony offenses.

Denise Marie Belgarde, 45, pled guilty to a felony offense of fifth degree controlled substance crime. A five-year stay of imposition was granted. Belgarde was sentenced to 60 days in jail. She may serve her time in jail or on electronic home monitoring. Belgarde was also ordered to serve five years of supervised probation. She was ordered to submit a DNA sample as well. Belgarde was ordered to pay $270 in fees and fines. A confidential, reliable informant provided information to police that Belgarde possessed marijuana. On Dec. 16, a search warrant was executed at Belgarde's home in the 600 block of Tonder St. E. Officers found 78.1 grams or 2.75 ounces of marijuana there.

Steven Ray Carlson, 46, pled guilty to a felony offense of first degree driving while intoxicated. He was sentenced to 36 months in jail with all but one year stayed for seven years. Carlson was ordered to serve seven years of supervised probation. An alcohol assessment was ordered. He is also ordered to attend a victim impact panel and submit a DNA sample as well. Except for probation programs, he cannot have Sentence to Serve or Huber privileges until the last 90 days of his sentence. Carlson was also ordered to pay $598 in fees and fines. On April 15, a Petro Pumper employee smelled a strong odor of alcohol on Carlson. He showed her an ID, but he did not show her a driver's license even though he eventually drove away. A police officer eventually stopped Carlson's vehicle. According to the criminal complaint, Carlson had three driving while intoxicated offenses within the past 10 years – in 1998, 2001 and 2002. The criminal complaint also indicated Carlson has had eight driving while intoxicated offenses since 1978.

Craig Allen Lindahl, 32, pled guilty to fifth degree controlled substance crime. In a plea agreement, a charge of domestic assault was dismissed. A five-year stay of imposition was granted. He was ordered to serve five years of supervised probation. Lindahl was ordered to submit a DNA sample and follow Rule 25 recommendations. He was also ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines. On Feb. 24, police were called to the 100 block of Willow Rd. after an altercation between Lindahl and a woman. Lindahl threw a phone, breaking it. He also chased the woman. Police found methamphetamine in mittens next to Lindahl.

Numerous traffic offenses and other misdemeanors are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

Goodridge youth dies in drowning accident

A 15-year-old Goodridge youth died in a drowning accident near Fourtown Thursday afternoon.

Chief Deputy Tom Lyons of Beltrami County Sheriff's Department reported that his department received a report of the accident at 2:11 p.m. on June 23. According to the accident report, Cole Dahlen, 15, and three friends were swimming in a gravel pit, which is located about three miles northwest of Fourtown, and near Highway 89. According to the report, witnesses stated that Dahlen was swimming and had turned around as if to come back to shore when he went under and did not resurface. The three witnesses began searching for Dahlen and calling for help. A man and a child in another nearby gravel pit responded to their cries for help. Dahlen's body was found in five to 10 minutes by individuals at the scene, and in about 10-feet of water. He could not be revived.

Dahlen was the son of Brenda and Kelly Dahlen of Goodridge.

No injuries reported after collision with RLF bridge

No injuries were reported after a vehicle collided with a bridge in Red Lake Falls on Friday afternoon.

At the time of the accident, John Alan Proulx of Red Lake Falls was driving a 1997 Chevy Cavalier southbound on Highway 32. According to the Minnesota State Patrol report, Proulx fell asleep and the vehicle drifted to the right, striking the bridge. The vehicle sustained extensive damage. The report did not indicate if the bridge sustained any damage.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 3:54 p.m. Friday.

Tips to keep children safe during the summer heat

With summer here and temperatures heating up across the country, SAFE KIDS Grand Forks, N.D., reminds parents to never leave children unattended in motor vehicles.

Since 1996, over 200 children have died due to being trapped in hot vehicles. The results of a new study indicate that in humid heat, a child in a closed vehicle can suffer serious injury or death in half the time that it takes in dry heat. However, in both situations, extreme heat can prove dangerous in a matter of minutes.

The following are some tips to keep children safe during the summer heat:

- Never leave a child unattended in a motor vehicle even with a window open.
- Teach children not to play in, on or around cars.
- Always lock car doors and trucks – even at home – and keep keys out of the reach of children.
- Watch children closely around cars, particularly when loading and unloading items.
- Ensure that all children exit the vehicle at the destination.
- Don't overlook sleeping infants.
- If a child gets locked inside a car, get the child out and dial 911 or a local emergency number immediately if needed.
- Check the temperature of child safety seats and seat belt buckles before restraining a child.
- Use a light covering to shade the seat of a parked car. Consider using windshield shades in front and back windows.

Pennington County Motor Vehicle Office to remain open

Minnesota Deputy Registrar Offices, including the Pennington County Motor Vehicle Office, will remain open if the state of Minnesota government offices shut down.

"All the deputy registrar offices in the state are either run by a county, city or privately owned entities," said Gary Spooner, president of the Minnesota Deputy Registrars Association. "The public will still be able to purchase license tabs, submit title transfers, renew drivers' licenses or apply for duplicate drivers' licenses at their local deputy registrar office. Department of Natural Resources business such as new or renewal boat, snowmobile or ATV registrations, will also be available at the deputy registrar offices."

He added, "We realize that the state will be behind in updating the records for titles and some transfers if the state shuts down. The Minnesota Department of Public Safety is not certain if there will be computer system support. The governor's petition to the court on behalf of the state to expand 'critical' services will determine if computer support is a critical service. Records of title transfers and registrations will be recorded through each office and kept in a transaction look-up file in the state program."

TRF woman faces forgery charge

Forgery: Ronda Ellen Brodeur, 44, Thief River Falls, has been charged with forgery. From Feb. 19 to March 15 in Thief River Falls, she allegedly forged checks for groceries and received cash.

Theft and possession of stolen property: After an investigation into a May report of a bike theft, four juveniles have charges pending. Two 13-year-old Thief River Falls males have charges pending for theft. Two other 13-year-old Thief River Falls males have charges pending for possession of stolen property. According to the report, a $250 bike was reported stolen from Greendale Trailer Court. Restitution has been requested.

Fifth degree assault and underage consumption: On June 5 at 4:59 a.m., police received a report of two assaults – one in the 1600 block of Greenwood St. E. and one in the 300 block of Atlantic Ave. N. Nikki Lynn Olson, 19, Holt, was allegedly asked to leave a Greenwood Street East residence. After being asked to leave, she allegedly struck a female individual, causing her to suffer from a swollen eye. Olson was cited for fifth degree assault and underage consumption for that alleged incident. Later, individuals confronted Olson along Atlantic Avenue North about the earlier incident. Olson then allegedly attempted to strike a female individual, but missed and struck another female. Olson was cited for fifth degree assault for that alleged incident.

Underage consumption: On June 11 at 1:19 a.m., the sheriff's department received a report of a possible alcohol overdose in the 600 block of Vaughn St. in Goodridge. Trace Joseph Hegel, 19, Thief River Falls, was transported to Northwest Medical Center (NWMC). Hegel was treated and released from the hospital, according to the NWMC nursing director. Hegel was cited for underage consumption. Nickolas Alan Ball, 20, Goodridge, was also cited for underage consumption. A 16-year-old male and a 14-year-old male, both from Goodridge, have charges pending for underage consumption.

Disorderly conduct: On June 13 at 5:45 p.m., police received a report of disorderly conduct at Soo Select Credit Union. Daniel Eric Dahlin, 40, Thief River Falls, allegedly left a threatening message on an answering machine after being denied money. Dahlin was cited for disorderly conduct.

Fifth degree domestic assault and disorderly conduct: On June 16 at 4:39 p.m., police received a report of an assault at Café Rhombus. Reuben Jay Wappula, 36, Middle River, allegedly struck Lorrie Aljean Prickett, 36, Thief River Falls, across the face after Prickett called Wappula's wife a name. Wappula was cited for fifth degree domestic assault, and Prickett was cited for disorderly conduct.

Theft: On June 16 at 10:32 p.m., police received a report of a theft from the 700 block of Greenwood St. E. Two 13-year-old Thief River Falls males have charges pending for theft. They allegedly stole a bicycle. All of the bike parts have been recovered.

A 15-year-old Middle River male has charges pending for underage consumption and a curfew violation. No charges are pending in connection with the fight.

Possession of alcohol and furnishing alcohol to a person under the age of 21: On June 20 at 10:06 p.m., police received a report of loud music in the 900 block of Reserve Ave. Daren Michael Moen, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for possession of alcohol after beer was allegedly found in a vehicle. Randi Lee Hesse, 23, Thief River Falls, has been charged with furnishing alcohol to a person under the age of 21.

Theft: On June 21 at 9:30 a.m., police received a report of a theft at Northern Pride. An employee's wallet was stolen. The theft loss is estimated at $400. The incident remains under investigation.

Burglary: On June 22 at 2:47 a.m., police received a report of a burglary in the 300 block of Oak Ave. A money order, cash, a watch and DVDs were taken. The incident remains under investigation.

Accident and failure to yield: On June 22 at 12:13 p.m., police received a report of an accident on Highway 59 South. A 1996 Pontiac Bonneville driven by Lynnet Jean Solberg of Thief River Falls and a 1995 Chevy Lumina driven by Kristen Joy Hagge of Brooks collided. At the time of the accident, both vehicles were northbound on Highway 59 South. Solberg was cited for failure to yield. Solberg's vehicle sustained $1,200 in damage, and Hagge's vehicle sustained $1,000 in damage.

Property damage: On June 22 at 4:19 p.m., police received a report of property damage in the 900 block of Reserve Ave. An air conditioner, three window blinds and a door frame were damaged. Damage was estimated at $985. The incident remains under investigation.

Fourth degree driving while intoxicated and stop sign violations: While on patrol June 23 at 1:25 a.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle fail to stop for a stop sign at the intersection of Third Street and Horace Avenue. Jeremy Robert Hurd, 22, Thief River Falls, has charges pending for fourth degree driving while intoxicated and two stop sign violations.

Accident, failure to drive with due care and failure to provide proof of insurance: On June 24 at 2:35 p.m., police received a report of an accident in the 500 block of Nora St. E. A 1989 Chevy Caprice driven by Amber Michelle Ortiz of Thief River Falls collided with a 1999 Chevy Ventura driven by Kimberly Jo Kalinoski of Thief River Falls. Kalinoski's vehicle then collided with a 1986 Jeep driven by Mark Harold Swanson of Thief River Falls. At the time of the accident, all three drivers were eastbound on Nora Street. Swanson was attempting to turn north. Ortiz was cited for failure to drive with due care and failure to provide proof of insurance. Her vehicle sustained $2,500 in damage. Kalinoski's vehicle sustained $5,000 in damage, and Swanson's vehicle sustained $200 in damage.

Driving while intoxicated: While on patrol June 25 at 2:08 a.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle without its headlights in operation near the intersection of Sixth Street and State Avenue. Patrick Cory Sherman, 41, Thief River Falls, has charges pending for driving while intoxicated.

Fourth degree driving while intoxicated and open container: While on patrol June 26 at 1:35 a.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle weaving near the intersection of Highway 59 and Sixth Street. Kari Ann Tydlacka, 26, Viking, has charges pending for fourth degree driving while intoxicated and open container.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Fireworks claimed nearly 8,000 victims in the U.S. last year

The flyers and billboards beckon the public to buy fireworks for their Fourth of July celebrations, but the Sight & Hearing Association (SHA) reminds Minnesota that explosive, aerial consumer fireworks – such as bottle rockets and firecrackers – are still illegal and dangerous.

According to an annual survey of Minnesota hospitals by the state fire marshal, 20 fireworks injuries were reported in 2001. In 2002, when certain types of fireworks became legal in Minnesota, that number jumped to 92. Last year, in 2004, that number climbed to 111 injuries because of fireworks.

Overall, approximately 8,000 fireworks-related injuries occur each year in the United States. Of those, 2,000 are eye injuries caused by consumer fireworks. One-third of those eye injuries result in permanent blindness.

Permanent blindness is something Jody Eder-Zdechlik of Lakeland knows all about. Forty years ago, at the age of 2, she was blinded in her right eye when a bottle rocket struck her.

"I was in the wrong place at the wrong time," she said. "Just an innocent bystander, but in the direct path of the bottle rocket."

Like Eder-Zdechlik, not all victims happen to the person setting off the fireworks. In fact, 40 percent of fireworks injuries are to innocent bystanders. Bottle rockets, which can move as fast as 200 miles per hour, account for nearly 75 percent of injuries.

"One of the reasons fireworks injuries continue to occur is because people don't think about how dangerous these devices can be," said Jeffrey Stephens, M.D., an ophthalmologist with Eye Physicians & Surgeons and a board member of the SHA. "I've seen several people injured from fireworks over the years. The risk of losing an eye is not worth the excitement of watching fireworks explode."

The SHA says the safest and most spectacular way to view fireworks is through professionally conducted, community-sponsored fireworks displays.

Charges filed in assault of TRF man

Two men have been charged in connection with the assault of a Thief River Falls man May 1 in Minneapolis.

John Wade Arthurs, 21, Spring Lake Park, and Ryan Michael Goth, 21, Minneapolis, were charged in Hennepin County District Court Thursday with felony first degree assault.

The criminal complaint alleges Arthurs and Goth punched Brady Anderson, 23, Thief River Falls, in the face. After Goth allegedly punched Anderson, Anderson hit the back of his head on cement. The maximum penalty for the charge is 20 years in prison and/or a $30,000 fine.

Anderson is no longer a patient at Hennepin County Medical Center, a hospital spokesperson said Monday.

The incident allegedly occurred after a bouncer escorted Anderson out of Lonetree Bar along South Hennepin Avenue in Minneapolis. Arthurs allegedly told police that Anderson badmouthed the bouncer, who is a friend of Arthurs. "Arthurs told Anderson the bouncer was a friend of his," the complaint stated. "He also told Anderson that he should leave the area before he did something to him."

Arthurs went back into the bar and later went back outside. Anderson was still outside the bar. Arthurs told police Anderson said he was waiting for friends. Arthurs then allegedly punched Anderson in the face. Goth also allegedly punched Anderson in the face, causing Anderson to fall backwards and hit the back of his head on cement.

The criminal complaint stated that Anderson suffered facial fractures, brain hemorrhaging and brain swelling. Anderson also had a bone fracture that extended into the base of his skull. He underwent a craniotomy, meaning a bone flap was removed from his skull to reduce pressure on his brain.

Baseball dugout strikes out chainlink fences

An early Monday morning thunderstorm caused some damage in Warren.

A baseball dugout became airborne, striking out chain-link fences, according to Public Works Superintendent Todd Hanson. He noted there wasn't much damage to the fences or dugout.

NW Research to host Soils Field Day July 13

The 2005 edition of the Northwest Research and Outreach Center's Crops and Soils Field Day is scheduled for Wednesday, July 13. Visitors are asked to come to the Northwest Research and Outreach Center (NWROC) North Agronomy Farm, approximately 1.0 mile north of the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) campus on Highway 75. Parking areas will be clearly marked.

There will be three morning field tours covering small grains, soybean, and corn production topics. Speakers will include State Extension Specialists, Drs. Beverly Durgan, George Rehm, Dale Hicks and Seth Naeve; University of Minnesota plant breeders, Drs. Jim Orf, Jim Anderson, and Kevin Smith, and NWROC's scientists, Drs. Albert Sims, Charla Hollingsworth, Ian MacRae and Jochum Wiersma.

A new event featured this year will be the UMC horticultural tours. Sessions will include topics such as turf and lawn care, wildlife and butterfly gardening, bonsai construction, and perennial plant demonstrations. A short tour of a small scale soybean pasta operation will also be available in Owen Annex. Those interested in the horticultural program are asked to park in Lot A located by Owen Hall on the northeast corner of the UMC campus. Registration will be across the street in the Horticulture building.

Registration and refreshments for both events begin at 8 a.m. A complimentary lunch will be served beginning at about noon at the North Farm. In case of rain, a modified program will be presented and the speakers will be available for consultation.

Additional details and a complete schedule are available. For further information, contact Dr. Jochum Wiersma, small grains specialist, NWROC, Crookston, MN 56716; or call 218-281-8629.

FSA County Committees member nominations sought

Marshall County Committee Chairperson Gary Satre recently announced the Farm Service Agency (FSA) has begun accepting nomination forms for eligible candidates to serve on the local FSA County Committees. The nomination period is June 15 through Aug. 1.

"I encourage local producers to become members of the local FSA County Committee and make a difference," said Satre. "FSA County Committees have an important role in the decision-making process for commodity price support loans and payments, conservation and disaster programs, and other important agricultural issues in their farming community."

Almost anyone participating or cooperating in a local FSA program – and of legal voting age – may be a candidate. Individuals may nominate themselves or others.

All nomination forms must be received in the County FSA Office or postmarked by Aug. 1. Voting takes place between Nov. 4 and Dec. 5.

To hold office as an FSA County Committee member, a person must meet the basic eligibility requirements described below:

- Participate or cooperate in a program administered by FSA
- Be eligible to vote in a county committee election
- Reside in LAA #3 (Como, Thief Lake, Moose River, Linsell, Cedar, Whiteford, Rollis, Veldt, East Valley, Mud Lake, Eckvoll, Valley, Agder, Grand Plain, Moylan, Espelie, Excel Strip, Agder Strip, Grand Plain Strip, Moylan Strip, Espelie Strip) in which the person is a candidate

A person must not have been:

- Removed or disqualified from the office of FSA County Committee member, alternate or employee;
- Removed for cause from any public office or have been convicted of fraud, larceny, embezzlement or any other felony; or
- Dishonorably discharged from any branch of the armed services.

People uncertain about their eligibility to vote in the FSA County Committee election should contact the local FSA office. Affirmation of eligibility to vote must be determined in order for a vote to count in an election.

More information on the elections, including the nomination forms, is available at local FSA County Offices or United States Department of Agriculture Service Centers, or online at www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/publications/elections/Default.asp.

Proud grandparents include Steve and Kathy Mercil of rural Strandquist; LeAnn and Tellis Belisle of Houlton, Wis.; and George and Tammy Clausen of Cumberland, Wis. Great-grandparents include Virgil and Muriel Mercil of Thief River Falls and Norman "Butch" and Goldie Krantz of Karlstad.

NWMC expectant parent classes begin July 5

The summer session of Expectant Parent Classes will begin at Northwest Medical Center (NWMC) on Tuesday, July 5 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at NWMC. Registrations are being received now. Topics covered are Labor and Delivery, Comfort Techniques, Nutrition, Risk Factors, etc. There is also a tour of the Obstetrics Department and birthing suites.

Parents-to-be are provided with information that promotes healthy babies and healthy mothers and gives new families a good beginning. The classes will be held on Tuesday evenings for five consecutive weeks and are free.

The instructor for all of the classes is Sheri Schoon, RN, and several of the other obstetrics nurses at Northwest Medical Center. For more information or to register, call the OB Department at 683-4226.

Highlanding 4-H Club holds June meeting

The Highlanding 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on June 21, beginning at 7 p.m., at the Senior Center. The meeting was called to order by President Brittany Hanson. Secretary's report was given by Sabine Frederick. Roll call was taken with the response of "Name a Tree." The treasurer's report was given by Marie Dahlen.

Upcoming Events: Interstate Exchange to Kansas – June 23-30 – Brittany, Tiffany and Rachel Hanson, and Sabine Frederick will be attending. Dale and Dawn Hanson will chaperone. Michael Swanson will be attending Citizenship Washington Focus in Washington D.C., the first week in July.

Chocolate lovers invited to enter in baking contest

Are you a chocolate lover? Do you love to bake?

This year, the Pennington County Fair is providing you with an opportunity to share your home-baked chocolate goodies in a special "Hershey's Baking Contest."

Hershey's is providing prizes for the adult class of $25 and a Hershey's baking product basket for first place, $20 for second place, and $15 for third place. The adult contest is a chocolate dessert contest. Entrants must be a Minnesota resident and bake their dessert from "scratch." A minimum of one-quarter cup of Hershey's cocoa must be used and listed as "Hershey's Cocoa" in the recipe. If frosting is used and it's chocolate, Hershey's cocoa must be used and listed as "Hershey's Cocoa" in the recipe. Dessert entries must be submitted on cardboard for judging (no doily required). The recipe listing the ingredients, preparation instructions and recipe author, must be submitted with the entry. Print on one side of the page.

The Children's contest includes cookies, brownies and bars. The prizes are $20 and a Hershey's gift basket, $15 for second place, and $10 for third place. The children's contest is open to any individual, ages 8 through 18, who is a Minnesota resident. The entry - cookies, brownies or bars - must be made from "scratch." A minimum of one-quarter cup of hershey's baking chips must be used and listed as "Hershey's" with the name of the specific chip variety in the recipe. If the entry has chocolate icing/drizzle, Hershey's Cocoa must be used and listed as "Hershey's Cocoa" in the recipe. The entry must be submitted as a plate of six on a doily-covered cardboard. The recipe listing the ingredients, preparation instructions and recipe author must be submitted with the entry, and printed on one side of the page.

Entries will be accepted in the food's department in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center arena on entry day, July 14, Thursday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Entries will be judged on Friday, and entrants will pick up their prizes on Sunday at 5 p.m.

Remember, there will be a Red Star Yeast Baking Contest this year, too.

For more information, call Sherry at 681-7703.

Nesheim named as Minnesota's Outstanding Older Worker

Margaret "Maggie" Nesheim, a 39-year employee of Marvin Windows and Doors, was named as Minnesota's Outstanding Older Worker last week during a celebration held at the company's headquarters in Warroad.

The Outstanding Older Worker award is part of the Experience Prime Time Awards Program, a national program designed to recognize the contributions of older workers around the country.

"We're proud that Maggie has received this well deserved recognition," said Susan Marvin, president of Marvin Windows and Doors. "Maggie represents the dedication to high standards, phenomenal work ethic, and mentorship that is integral to the success of our business. We're very fortunate to have her as part of our team."

Paul Anderson of Experience Works presented Maggie with a certificate and invited her to a ceremony with Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty and an awards gala held in Washington, D.C., both held later this year.

Maggie began working for Marvin Windows and Doors in 1966 and over the last 39 years has trained hundreds of employees with her high-quality standards, positive work ethic and self-motivation. She currently works with products in Marvin's custom capabilities department and serves as a model of resourcefulness and dependability for her fellow employees. Maggie has received a number of awards from Marvin including the Employee of the Month award in May of 1978 and the company's Award of Excellence in December of 2003.

Nominator Mary Grund, Marvin's employee relations manager, said that Maggie takes great pride in knowing that her customers will receive their order on time and with exceptional quality. "She's quick to help others and takes the initiative to help them succeed."

Marvin Windows and Doors is a premier manufacturer of made-to-order wood and clad wood windows and doors. The company's Made for you® philosophy enables Marvin to offer the industry's most extensive selection of shapes, styles, sizes and options. The privately-held, family-owned company is headquartered in Warroad, a small northern Minnesota town just six miles from the Canadian border.

Congratulations Maggie

Walter Brothers Farm tops DHIA list for May

Walter Brothers Farm was the top dairy herd producer for the month of May, according to the supervisor of the Red Lake-Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA).

Supervisor Randy Rasmussen put the following herds in the top 15 for the association for the month of May:

1. Walter Brothers Farm – 276 cows, 89 percent in milk, 70 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 106 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
2. Wayra Dairy 3x – 182 cows, 90 percent in milk, 68 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of fat, 2 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 105 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
3. Northwest Research & Outreach Center – 114 cows, 87 percent in milk, 68 pounds of milk, 2.5 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
4. Gary and Polly Bakken – 24 cows, 92 percent in milk, 67 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat, 2.1 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 107 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
5. Todd and Kathy Johnston – 60 cows, 88 percent in milk, 66 pounds of milk, 2.7 pounds of fat, 2 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 102 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
6. Greg Zak – 24 cows, 100 percent in milk, 64 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, 2 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 107 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
7. Kevin and Beth Roppe – 39 cows, 97 percent in milk, 64 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 108 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
8. E. Duane and Faith Knott – 88 cows, 91 percent in milk, 63 pounds of milk, 2.6 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in unsupervised testing with 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
9. Beyer Brothers Farm – 70 cows, 91 percent in milk, 63 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat, 1.9 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 100 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
10. Leonard and Marge Geske – 44 cows, 91 percent in milk, 62 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, 1.8 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
11. Tom and Diane Kolstoe – 38 cows, 97 percent in milk, 62 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat, 1.8 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
12. Lehmann Dairy – 49 cows, 86 percent in milk, 59 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat, 1.7 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 100 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
13. Morlyn and Debbie Ornquist – 40 cows, 85 percent in milk, 56 pounds of milk, 1.8 pounds of fat, 1.7 pounds of protein, in unsupervised testing with 102 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
14. Goodvue Ayr. Farm II – 55 cows, 93 percent in milk, 55 pounds of milk, 2 pounds of fat, 1.7 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.
15. Kevin and Sheila Tharaldson – 49 cows, 86 percent in milk, 52 pounds of milk, 1.8 pounds of fat, 1.5 pounds of protein, in supervised testing with 113 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If too many cows are included in the herd, then the average for the month may be low even though the cow that is milking produces a lot of milk.

Scholarships funded for Teach ME!

Teach ME!, a Learning Club located in Thief River Falls, recently announced it has received funding for two scholarships to its program. Teach ME! provides individualized remedial and challenging learning services to area school children in kindergarten through eighth grade. It is located in the education wing of the United Methodist church in downtown Thief River Falls.

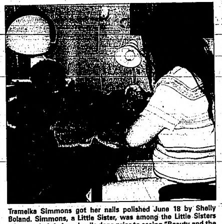
"Research has proven the tremendous power of working one-on-one with children. These scholarships come at a time when education is becoming more important than ever, yet we see school system budget cuts and teacher layoffs. Our children face competition in the work force from around the world, not just from the next town," said Mark DaParma, founder of Teach ME!

He went on to say, "We are extremely grateful for the opportunity these scholarships provide. Our goal is to help as many children as possible realize their academic potential. Our search for funding to help children whose parents could not afford the tuition has not been easy and additional funding will be sought after. Our children are our most important resource. They should be equipped to function and thrive in today's complex world. Not having the proper language and math skills is a high wall for our young people to scale. Lifelong learning is joy in life."

The donors of the scholarship funding have asked the funds be distributed in the following ways:

- The combined family income is at or under $30,000.
- The child needs help in language areas and math, and not be a special education student.
- The parents will be required to pay a nominal fee to ensure parent commitment. For example, the Teach ME! individualized four-hour assessment process costs $165. The scholarship recipient would be required to pay $40. The cost for a two hour one-on-one coaching session is $76. The recipient would be required to pay $22.
- The parents agree to a 36-hour coaching schedule to maximize the learning experience for their child.
- Investment of time, by the parents, to this program is mandatory to optimize results. Parents who can't make this commitment are not eligible to be considered.

Anyone interested in receiving the benefits of this donation should send inquiry requests via the company's Web site (www.wiktel.net/mdaparma).



Tramelka Simmons got her nails polished June 18 by Shelly Boland. Simmons, a Little Sister, was among the Little Sisters who got their hair and nails done prior to seeing "Beauty and the Beast." The play was performed by the Thief River Falls Community Arts Council, and local clubs donated tickets so Little Brothers and Little Sisters could attend the play.

Little Brothers and Little Sisters were given tickets funded by local clubs to attend Disney's "Beauty and the Beast," which was performed this month by the Thief River Falls Community Arts Council. A backstage tour was also provided by Director Heidi Hoks, and several Big Sisters watched the Little Sisters take turns trying on a spinning plate costume. Prior to the play, Little Sisters had their hair and nails done at Styles By Amy. Pizza from Pizza Hut and drinks were also served.

Farm Management Minute

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

In honor of agricultural educators

by Jon Christensen
FBM Instructor, Fertile

The Farm Management Minute column is generally devoted to matters of farming or farm management but this time I would like to change the focus to people, namely agriculture teachers. Northwestern and North Central Minnesota have some very talented and hard working instructors. Two of them have been recognized by their peers for their invaluable contributions to agriculture. We also have some valuable instructors who will be retiring from the profession with expertise that will be sorely missed by their agriculture families and fellow instructors alike.

Betsy Jensen, farm management instructor for Northland Community and Technical College was recently honored with the Outstanding Young Ag Instructor award. If you have heard Jensen talk about marketing or have read her column, "Betsy's Bulls and Bears," you know she is gifted when it comes to communicating. She has the ability to get her point across using fewer words and better statements than anyone I know. Marketing is not an easy subject to explain, but Jensen has helped many ag producers put a plan on paper to help that farmer run his/her business better. Not only does she teach marketing to others, she also does the marketing for her family's operation. You can always count on her to be current on what is happening on the agriculture front. Congratulations on this very deserving award!

Anyone around the Perham area knows that Perham has a great high school Ag Department and FFA. That is due in a large part to Arnold Rethemeier, Perham High School's ag instructor. He is a 24-7 type of guy who gets people fired up and moving. He has run a banner FFA chapter for nearly 35 years and positively influenced many, many young individuals along the way. He will be retiring at the top of his long career by receiving Minnesota's Outstanding Ag Instructor of the Year award. Congratulations on the award and the retirement!

Dennis Olsen is another well-known figure in northwest Minnesota and agricultural education. He has great expertise on computers, particularly farm management programs. He not only knows how to run the program but how to set it up as well. There have been many instances when Olsen is one of the people credited with setting up the initial part of a program that is used by farm business management instructors. He has helped many farmers in and around the Hawley area get started and going on farm accounting and has also helped them with computer concerns in general. He will be retiring after 35 years of teaching both high school agriculture and Farm Business Management. Thanks to Olsen for all the help given to farmers, ag bankers and fellow ag instructors.

The Roseau area has a well-known person that will be leaving this year. Duane Jaenicke is retiring after 27 years as a Farm Business Management instructor, in addition to a few years as a high school ag instructor. Jaenicke has seen a lot of changes in agriculture through both profitable and hard times. He has worked closely with ag bankers and farmers to help support farm families through many tough years that the area has endured. He has helped write marketing plans to build better prices and been a big part of the marketing club that meets in Roseau. Jaenicke has also taught farm computer and farm accounting in the Roseau area. I watched as he stood in the back of the classroom on his last workshop day. As he looked over the area, it reminded me of a farmer who had just combined the last field of his farming career…a mixture of feelings of pride and closure. Thank you for all your years of outstanding service to everyone who has had the privilege to know and work with you!

I am proud to say that I am part of this wonderful group of people who many of you have come to know as not only a teacher of agriculture but also as a personal friend. We will miss the expertise of our retirees but wish them all the best as they "combine their last field" as agriculture instructors.

ELCA Synodical Women meet in Crookston

The 18th annual convention of the Northwest Minnesota Minnesota Synodical Women's Organization of the Evangelical Church in America, titled "Ordinary Women, Extraordinary Spirit," met Friday, June 17 at the University of Minnesota, Crookston and again on Saturday, June 18 at Trinity Lutheran Church, also in Crookston, with president Wenda Sang of Karlstad presiding.

Registration began at 3 p.m. Friday and was followed by a banquet at the UMC Student Center. Beth Parnow, president of Trinity Women of the ELCA, Crookston, welcomed the group. The speaker for the evening was Jo Gast of Crookston. Special entertainment was by the Praise Singers from Trinity.

A business meeting was held following the banquet, attended by 69 delegates. Delegates from Thief River Falls were Kristy Huseth, Redeemer, Idella Samuelson, Trinity, and Patty Schob, Zion; Janice Peterson, Faith, Goodridge, Eunice Schulz, Grace, Grygla and Janice Saetre, Viking.

Sang called the meeting to order at 9 a.m. on Saturday, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Crookston. Bishop Rolf Wangberg of the NWMN-Synod brought a message to the group. A communion service was held, followed by Bible study led by Pastor Jill Steichen, assistant to the bishop of the NWMN Synod.

The main speaker for the afternoon session was Roxanne Henke, author of several books including "Finding Ruth," a story about the search for contentment in small-town North Dakota. Also, "After Anne," which deals with the power of friendship during medical and family crises and "Becoming Olivia," a story about clinical depression and her latest book, "Always Jan," that makes the reader understand that there are unexpected gifts that come with growing older. Henke was named 2003 Writer of the Year at a Christian's writer's conference in California.

Elizabeth Gaskins, church-wide board representative from Atlanta, Ga., installed Sang as president for another two-year term. Carolyn Engebretson, Rochert, was installed as treasurer for another two-year term.

Reports from the various committees were heard, including committee appointments, scholarships and the Mission Action report of 16,645 quilts, 688 sewing kits, 2,023 health kits, 2,417 layette kits, 3,610 school kits, 605 pounds of soap, 1,588 midwife kits and 1,563 boxes, clothing and miscellaneous items.

Also, known to attend from the area were, Yvonne Rahn, Jan Milender, Renae Dalen, Helene Peterson, Susan Haukaas (young woman grant recipient), Virginia Anderson (Cluster Two treasurer), and Janet Lian (Boar Member), Grygla; Marjorie Iverson and Sandy Henrickson, Goodridge.

Swim lessons offered

Through Community Education, swim lessons will be offered this summer.

The following remaining sessions will be held this summer:

- Session III – July 11-22 – 9 a.m. for Levels 1, 2, 3 and 4; 10 a.m. for Grygla; 11 a.m. for Levels 1, 3, 4 and 5; and 12 p.m. for Levels 1, 2, 4 and 5.
- Session IV – July 25 to Aug. 5 – 9 a.m. for Goodridge, 10 a.m. for Latch Key, 11 a.m. for Levels 1, 3, 4 and 5, and 12 p.m. for Goodridge.
- Session V – Aug. 8-19 – 9 a.m. for Discovery Place, 10 a.m. for Grygla, 11 a.m. for Discovery Place, and 12 p.m. for Levels 1, 2, 3 and 4.

The cost is $35 and includes 10 40-minute lessons Monday through Friday.

Parents may observe the first day and each Friday during their child's session. Information on each level will be available at sign-up sessions and at the Franklin Pool and Community Education office after the registration evenings. Registration will be taken to fill any remaining vacancies during open swimming hours for the remainder of the summer. Open swimming is scheduled Mondays through Fridays, June 1 to Aug 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m., and Saturdays and Sundays, June 1 to Aug. 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.

Christian Fellowship Tent to host program of gospel music

The Christian Fellowship Tent that has been a place of relaxation, inspiration and fellowship going on 33 years, has again put together a full program of gospel music for the Polk County Fair in Fertile, from July 6-10. The program begins on Wednesday night, July 6, at 6:30 p.m. with the Gloryland Gospel Team of Gully, who have for over 30 years been a part of the program as they sing, play and provide all the necessary sound equipment and emcee the programs. Without their commitment to this ministry, it could not go on. The program will continue Thursday and Friday evenings and on Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

Infant and Preschool Aquatic Program offered

Session II of the Infant and Preschool Aquatic Program will be offered this summer through Community Education.

Participants must be 6 months to 5 years, and must be accompanied in the water by an adult. Session II is scheduled Tuesdays, July 12 to Aug. 16. Infant classes are scheduled 5 to 5:30 p.m., and preschool classes are scheduled from 5:30 to 6 p.m. The cost is $25.

For more information, call 681-8065.

Community Education hosts youth fun nights

Community Education will host youth fun nights this summer at Franklin Middle School. Both the pool and multi-purpose gym will be open. Concessions will be available.

The fun nights are scheduled Wednesdays now through July 27 (except July 13, fair week). They will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. The cost is $5 per person. Pool passes do not apply.

For more information, call Community Education at 681-8711, extension 243.

Swim laps this summer at the Franklin Pool

Lap swimming will be offered this summer at the Franklin Pool.

It is available Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 to 7:30 a.m.; and Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 7 p.m. The cost is a family/individual pass or $3 for adults and $2 for those 18 and under.

For more information, call 681-8065.

Rent the Franklin Pool

The Franklin Pool may be rented by the public for any type of occasion, such as a family get-together, a birthday party, an organization's gathering or a get-together with friends. Two lifeguards are provided during rentals.

Remember the following policy will be implemented as needed: In the advent of a visible discharge of a body waste, the pool must be closed for super chlorination. This closure is done for the safety of patrons and to comply with Minnesota state codes. The super chlorination (sanitizing) procedure effectively eliminates any bacteria present in the pool. The pool is closed for 12 hours after super chlorination to allow the pool water to reach a safe chemical level for public use.

Rentals may be scheduled with Jill Buck by calling 681-4811 (home) or 681-8065 (pool). The cost is $40 per hour.

Swim this summer with Community Education

Open swimming will be offered again this summer through Community Education.

The schedule is Mondays through Fridays, June 1 to Aug. 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.; and Saturdays and Sundays, June 1 to Aug. 31 from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. The cost is a Franklin Pool pass or $3 for adults and $2 for children.

For more information, call 681-8065.

Helgeland earns degree from Johnson and Wales University

Chelsey Helgeland of Thief River Falls received an associate degree from the College of Business at the Denver campus of Johnson and Wales University, during the school's May commencement ceremonies. Nationwide, a total of 8,238 undergraduate degrees, 634 graduate degrees and 15 honorary doctorate degrees were awarded.

Be thankful for our violent weather

About the time the humidity rises to the point where your 100 percent cotton t-shirt sticks to you like a garbage bag, or about the time a mosquito nails you on the ankle bone and you scratch the welt with the toenails on the other foot until it bleeds, or you get a little patch of poison ivy that itches so bad you attack your skin with a stubby old whisk broom and it actually feels good, or you're about to fall asleep and you feel a tickle in your armpit and discover it is a well-attached tick about to start a family, or you go in the kitchen and find the counter crawling with sugar ants, or you go to the lake and fry your ivory Scandinavian skin to the shade of a maraschino cherry - about that time, a person starts to wonder just what it was we were complaining about last winter.

Of course, last winter we were complaining about winter problems. I don't remember what they were right now. From the vantage point of a soggy June, winter seems like all sleigh bells, candlelight and hot chocolate, but I do remember complaining about something.

The fact of the matter is we live in a climate of constant complaint. No matter what the time of year, our weather gives us something to grouse about. This spring, it took all of two days for us to move from "Is it ever going to warm up?" to "Hot enough for ya?"

Most importantly, our climate always gives us reason to look forward to the next season, which we conveniently forget was about as miserable as the one we're in right now. Why do people up here live so blame long? Because they want to be around when the weather improves, and it never does.

It would be tempting to say we live in a land of seven plagues, except it seems like there's a lot more than seven. And I think people up here prefer it that way.

Bad weather gives our lives a much-needed sense of drama. We need to have bad weather because if we didn't, all those people down south we see on TV who fight off kidnappers and the mafia and highway shooters would have all the excitement and our daily struggles wouldn't seem that important.

People gear up for bad weather. It brings out the fight in them. But when nice weather lingers too long, people get nervous. It's like when romantic music starts too early in a movie - you know they're just setting you up for a psycho axe murder.

Four hours of nice weather and people start saying, "We'll pay for this next winter," or, "I suppose now the mosquitoes will really go crazy."

Fortunately, we have an average of only 16 beautiful days each year. Those are merely the days when the weather can't make up its mind or is in the midst of a swing from one extreme to the other.

Nice days seem indecisive, even unnatural. A nice day in our climate is sort of like finding out that your colonoscopy has been postponed for two hours. Part of you is relieved, but the other part of you knows that it'll just be double bad when the nurse finally yells your name. Let's get the misery over with. Now!

Don't downgrade that blizzard to a winter storm - bring it on! Tornado watch? Make it a warning and don't let it expire until 7:20 a.m! Possible hail and damaging winds in portions of northeast North Dakota? Forget the "possible" part, we want softball-sized hail and funnel clouds flattening corn, barns and grain bins in Barnes, Stutsman and Trail counties, headed east northeast at 40 miles per hour!

In a land where we still leave our doors unlocked and where most county seats are lucky if they have one stoplight, we need a violent climate to make us feel like we exist at all.

We should be thankful for our weather - we'd be comatose without it.

…Those Who are Defending our Country

What better day to remember our soldiers in Iraq than on the birthday of our nation? It is a good time to learn a little bit about these military people who are defending our country and sometimes dying to keep us safe. (As of June 26, 2005, the U.S. military reports there have been 1,738 American soldiers killed and 13,074 wounded in the War on Terror.)

The average age of the military man (we will use "man" for brevity, but "woman" is, naturally, included) is 19 years. Not yet dry behind the ears, not old enough to buy a beer, but old enough to die for his country. He never really cared much for work and he would rather wax his own car than wash his father's, but he has never collected unemployment either.

He's a recent high school graduate; he was probably an average student, pursued some form of sport activities, drives a 10-year-old jalopy, and has a steady girlfriend who either broke up with him when he left, or swears to be waiting when he returns from a world away. He is 10 or 15 pounds lighter now than when he was at home because he is working or fighting from before dawn to well after dusk.

He has trouble spelling, thus letter writing is a pain for him, but he can field strip a rifle in 30 seconds and reassemble it in less time - in the dark. He digs foxholes and latrines and can apply first aid like a professional. He can march until he is told to stop or stop until he is told to march.

He obeys orders instantly and without hesitation, but he is not without spirit or individual dignity. He has two sets of fatigues; he washes one and wears the other. He keeps his canteens full and his feet dry. He sometimes forgets to brush his teeth, but never to clean his rifle. He can cook his own meals, mend his own clothes and fix his own hurts. If you're thirsty, he'll share his water with you; if you are hungry, his food.

He has learned to use his hands like weapons and weapons like they were his hands. He can save your life - or take it, because that is his job. He will often do twice the work of a civilian, draw half the pay and still find ironic humor in it all. He has seen more suffering and death than he should have in his short lifetime.

He has stood atop mountains of dead bodies, and helped to create them. He has wept in public and in private for friends who have fallen in combat, and is unashamed. He feels every note of the national anthem vibrate through his body while at rigid attention.

Just as did his father, grandfather and great-grandfather, he is paying the price for our freedom. Beardless or not, he is not a boy. He is the American fighting man who has kept this country free for over 200 years.

He has asked nothing in return except for our friendship and understanding. Remember him always, for he has earned our respect and admiration with his blood.

LSS adoption information meeting held July 14

Without loving homes, without caring homes, without permanent homes to call their own...this is the way that millions of children in the U.S. and the world live every minute of the day. The likelihood of these children's lives improving is minimal because not enough people are stepping forth to provide for them. Indeed, there is an urgent need, but there is also something that can be done.

Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota celebrates the joy that adoption can bring to families to live in the community with dignity, safety and hope, the agency offers international and domestic adoption services to families wanting to love and nurture children. Anyone interested in receiving information about adoption should attend an LSS adoption information meeting on Thursday, July 14, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Family Service Center of Clay County, 715 11th St. North, Meeting Room No. 4, Moorhead.

Families will meet with adoption staff to talk about the children who are waiting for families and explore adoption processes and procedures. Please call Carly or Vicki at 218-236-1494 ext. 207 or 215 to register or for more information.

PARENTING TIPS
Warm Weather Activities

If the warm weather is making tempers short at your house, try a change of activities. Anyone of any age can become bored doing the same things. Add to that the warm weather and you can develop some "touchy" personalities. Don't misunderstand: Young children still need a daily routine. Try to keep mealtime, snack time and sleep times the same each day. But playtime activities can and should be varied. Try some of these warm weather activities for a change of pace.

•Let the children draw on the sidewalk with colored chalk.

•Fill a flour or salt shaker with cornstarch and let the children sprinkle everything in sight outdoors. The first rain will clean things up.

•Attach a special baby swing to the older children's swing set, so that they all can swing together.

•Put a plastic swimming pool at the bottom of the slide on a hot day and let the children slide down into the water. (Don't buy a pool bigger than one adult can empty alone!)

•Let children "paint" the house or sidewalk with water and paint brushes.

•Make a very small hole in the bottom of a tin can, attach it to your child's tricycle or bicycle and fill it with water. The child then rides until the "gas" is gone.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about the descriptive words of the summer outdoors when you play outside, such as: the hot sunshine, the cool shade under the trees, the cold popsicle, the wet water in the wading pool, the dry sidewalk, as well as all the colors of nature.

Nona Mackenroth, 84

Thief River Falls - Nona Mackenroth, 84, died on Thursday, June 23, 2005 at Innovis Hospital in Fargo, N.D.

Funeral services were held on Monday, June 27, at Johnson Funeral Service in Thief River Falls, with Ole Martin Wasstrand officiating. Casket bearers included all of Nona's Grandchildren. Interment was held at Ft. Snelling National Cemetery in Minneapolis.

Nona E. Nelson was born on May 18, 1921 in Thief River Falls, the daughter of Robert (Bob) and Anna (Wasstrand) Nelson. She was baptized and confirmed at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. She grew up and attended Knox Elementary School, Central Junior High and graduated from Lincoln High School in 1939, all in Thief River Falls.

Nona was united in marriage to George O. Mackenroth. She was employed at NuWay Café, Ben Franklin, Bostwick's, Arctic Cat and Penney's.

Nona enjoyed crafts, fishing, reading, bird watching, going to the casino and was an avid Minnesota Twins fan. She loved spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Nona held membership with the American Legion and VFW Auxiliary.

Nona is survived by her children, Mary (Bob) Bandur of Williams, Ariz., Keith of New Hope, N.M., Karen Grim of Clovis, N.M., and Vicky (Steve) Breiland, Thief River Falls; one cousin, 10 grandchildren; and 18 great- grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, George; her parents; brothers, Miloy, Donald and Gerald (Gerry) and son-in-law, John Grim.

Cole Dahlen, 15

Goodridge - Cole Dahlen, 15, died on Thursday, June 23, 2005, due to a swimming accident, near Grygla.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 28, at the Goodridge School in Goodridge, with Rev. Bob Dahlen officiating. Honorary casket bearers included the Goodridge basketball team, Goodridge/Grygla football team, Matt Rindahl, Kent Johnsrud, Elroy Johnsrud, Trent Nerhus, and Tyler Johnsrud. Casket bearers included Cody Halvorson, Brent Halvorson, Shane Vraa, Robby Dahlen, Bryan Pahlen, Nicky Kotrba, Kyle Wikert, Nate Peters, David Lovly and Cole Scheef. Interment was held at Ekelund Cemetery, Highlanding Township, Pennington County

Cole Erling Dahlen was born on October 27, 1989 in Bemidji, the son of Kelly and Brenda (Halvorson) Dahlen. He was baptized at Ekelund Lutheran Church and confirmed at Ekelund Lutheran Church on April 10, 2005 by Rev. Bob Dahlen.

"Bully" was a nickname given to Cole by his sister, Kasey. He attended school in Goodridge, and just finished the ninth grade. Bully had just received his farm permit to drive. He had been driving the farm machinery and equipment including their backhoe and caterpillar for the last several years. He wasn't afraid to try anything or do anything. Bully learned how to dance with his mom and sisters in the kitchen.

Bully was idolized by his cousins and little kids in the area. He treated everyone with respect and could talk to adults and little kids, just the same. He always had a smile on his face.

He loved basketball and started on the varsity basketball team this year. Bully also loved playing football as wide receiver, punter, and defensive back. He enjoyed hunting, spending time with his family at the cabin, riding motorcycles, all sports, working with cattle and especially farming with his dad and Uncle Dave. He lived every day to the fullest, liked to go ice fishing and ride his Arctic Cat snowmobile.

Cole is survived by his parents, Kelly and Brenda Dahlen of Goodridge; brother and sisters, Kristin Halvorson, Cody Halvorson and special friend, Andrea Marquis and Kasey Dahlen, all of Goodridge; grandmothers, Ella Englund of Thief River Falls and Marilyn Halvorson of Trail; great grandmother, Bergit Sordahl of Fosston; several uncles and aunts, cousins, second cousins and also many great aunts, uncles, family and many friends.

He was preceded in death by his grandfathers, Dennis Halvorson; Erling Dahlen and Gene Englund; and one aunt, Cheryl Dahlen in infancy.

Scott Kalbakdalen, 39

Red Lake Falls - Scott Kalbakdalen, 39, died on Saturday, June 18, 2005 in a car accident in Isanti County, near Cambridge.

Funeral services were held on Friday, June 24 at St. John Lutheran Church in Red Lake Falls, with Rev. Arthur Ohlwine officiating. Casket bearers included Tim Kalbakdalen, Jeff Kalbakdalen, Danny Kalbakdalen, Steve Seng, Robin Beyer, Mitch Zehringer, Greg Rossman and John Goule. Interment was be held at Oak Grove Cemetery, Red Lake Falls.

Scott Kalbakdalen was born May 13, 1966 in Red Lake Falls, the son of Lowell and Margaret "Margie" (French) Kalbakdalen. Following the death of his parents, the young family was raised by their grandparents, Gladys and Melvin Kalbakdalen.

After graduation from Lafayette, Scott attended UND where he became a huge fan of the Fighting Sioux and remained so his entire life. When he was 20, he moved to the Twin Cities and worked a variety of jobs including security at Target and construction jobs. He worked at Scales Advertising for many years where he mastered printing and advertising layouts and worked as a model for home improvements magazines.

He bought an old home near his sister in South Minneapolis where he lived with his brother and renovated the house. This was a busy time for Scott as he was building his cabin on his favorite place to be, his lake property. Scott loved the weekends spent at the cabin, and shared it with everybody.

The light of his life, was his beloved son, Garrett. The sun rose and set on "his boy", and he loved nothing more than spending time with him.

In 2002, he bought a 10 acre farm where he painstakingly built a new three bedroom home for he and Garret. It was his pride and joy and he enjoyed fixing his old cars and puttering around with his projects.

Scott was a great friend to people and extended his home to many. He will be greatly missed by his son Garrett of North Branch; his sisters, Janelle (Paul) Fischer of Lakeville and Kim (Greg) Rossman of Eagan and his brothers, David of Las Vegas, Nev., and Matt Lichtenberger of Aurora, Ill., Grandma Gladys of Red Lake Falls and many aunts, uncles and cousins. He was especially close to David with whom he lived many years, and spoke to nearly every day.

Scott was a shining star blazing across the sky. His true potential will never be known in a life cut all too short.

He was preceded in death by his parents [illegible] aunts and uncles.

LeRoy Rucinski, 43

Ada - LeRoy Rucinski, 43, of Ada and formerly of Thief River Falls, died suddenly on Thursday, June 16, 2005 in his home.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 18, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Ada. Interment was held at Ada Municipal Cemetery.

LeRoy Eugene Rucinski was born on November 17, 1961, to Ralph and Frances (Wettschreck) Rucinski in Bemidji. He grew up and attended school in Warren, graduating from Warren High School in 1980. After graduation LeRoy entered the Minnesota National Guard and served four years. In 1984, he furthered his education at Thief River Technical College in Thief River Falls.

On October 11, 1986, LeRoy was united in marriage to Connie Rutz in Thief River Falls. They made their home in Moorhead, where LeRoy began working for Special Systems. In 1988, he began working for the Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton School system as a bus driver. In 2001, due to his health, he was forced to retire and in 2002, they moved to Ada.

LeRoy loved people, especially kids. He had quite a sense of humor and you could often find him telling a joke or playing a prank on someone. He enjoyed being outdoors; fishing, hunting and gardening were some of his favorite pastimes. He enjoyed military history, reading, gardening, and his dart league. He also enjoyed tinkering and working on the computer, and was a tremendous cook.

LeRoy is survived by his wife, Connie of Ada; father, Ralph of Warren; mother-in-law, Margie Rutz of Thief River Falls; sister-in-law, Anita and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Frances. A00003B2005JN29

Nathan Holmvik, 27

Bejou - Nathan Holmvik, 27, of Bejou, formerly of Holt, died on Friday, June 24, 2005 at his home under the care of Hospice.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 28, at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Bejou, with Pastor Clem Wagstrom officiating. The organist was Mary Preisler. Serving as pallbearers were Michael Thieling, Michael Miller, Lee Ludwig, Dale Bendickson, Rodney McCollum, Larry McCollum and Jim Ireland. Honorary bearers were all of his counsins.

Interment was held at the Bejou Cemetery in Bejou, with arrangements entrusted to Anderson Funeral Home in Mahnomen.

Nathan Alan Holmvik was born June 12, 1978, in Thief River Falls, to Peter and Sandra (McCollum) Holmvik. He lived with his family in Holt, until the age of 4 years when they moved to Bejou.

Nathan attended school in Mahnomen and graduated from Mahnomen High School with the class of 1996. He then attended Minnesota State Community and Technical College in Moorhead for a year.

He was employed by MN CEP for two summers and then, for a year, at Cenex in Bejou. For the next seven years, he worked at the Shooting Star Casino in Mahnomen, until last August when his health no longer allowed him to work. He was proud of his work and his perfect attendance record.

He was a kind and loving person who liked to visit and play cards and shake dice with friends and family and he also liked to play bingo. Nathan always enjoyed a good joke and his steadfast determination served him well as he struggled with his illness in his life. He also liked to sing, which was evident when performing karaoke, and he loved to do puzzles and plastic canvas art work. Nathan, and his good friend and co-worker, Curtis Thielen enjoyed going to movies and hanging out together.

Nathen is survived by his parents, Peter and Sandra, Bejou; three brothers, Jeremy (Cindy) Holmvik of Ramsey, Christopher and Dustin Holmvik of Bejou; his sister, Erica Holmvik of Bejou; a niece, Candice Holmvik of Ramsey; stepniece and step-nephews, Christopher and Camille Smeby of MacIntosh and Corey Smeby of Ramsey; and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents, John and Bernice McCollum, Herman and Ethel Holmvik and his uncle, Owen Holmvik. A00003B2005JN29

Norma Pederson, 81

Eugene, Ore. - Norma Pederson, 82, formerly of Thief River Falls, died on February 25, 2005 in Eugene, Ore.

Graveside services were held on March 3, at West Lawn Memorial Gardens in Eugene, Ore.

Norma Pederson (Blomberg) was born in 1923 to Emil and Christine Blomberg in Rosewood. She attended school there and later went to Minneapolis to beauty school and received her degree and worked for LeMoine's beauty shop and in the early 60's had her own shop in her home.

She married Raymond Pederson in 1944 in Thief River Falls. They had three children Mark, Lana, and Mike. They lived in T.R.F. until the fall of 1963, when they moved to Eugene, Ore. Norma worked for K mart until she retired at the age of 65.

Norma is survived by three children, Mark of Veneta Ore., Lana of Eugene Ore., and Mike of Keizer, Ore.; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Ray preceded her in death in 1975. A00003B2005JN29

Andrew J. Bates, 72

Baytown, Texas - Andrew Jefferson Bates Jr., 72, of Baytown Texas and formerly of Thief River Falls died on June 23, 2005. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force. He worked for Missouri Pacific Railroad for 27 years, as a locomotive engineer. Bates was a member of Missouri St. Church of Christ. He loved to farm and ranch.

Funeral services were held on Monday, June 27, at Earthman Funeral Home in Baytown, Texas, with David Smith and Jim Gentry officiating. Interment was held at Hill of Rest Cemetery in Baytown.

His parents, Andrew J. and Betty Thompson Bates, sisters and brother, Juanita Smith, Eunice Slot, Immelda Bailey, Andrea Abernathy, Ihalene Williams, Irene Jeter Verla Bates and Earnest Bates, preceded him in death.

He is survived by his loving wife, Wanda Mae Bates of Dayton, Texas; children, Charles Andrew Bates of Baytown, Texas, Randall Jefferson (Ruth) Bates of Pasadena, Texas, Carl "Buddy" (Jacqie) Barnett of Corpus Christi, Texas, Betty Jean Olson of Thief River Falls, Teresa Deanne (Wyman) Christianson of Mentor, Andy Dale "Stormy" Bates of Baytown, Emma Webb of Baytown, Darlene Lawson of Tyler and Judy Hendry of Blaine, Wash.

Dean A. Bergland, 65

Maple Plain - Dean A. Bergland, 65, of Maple Plain, died unexpectedly on June 13, 2005, while courageously battling colon cancer.

A memorial service was held at the Christ Lutheran Church in Maple Plain on June 17, at 11 a.m.

Dean was born January 30, 1940, in Thief River Falls to Clarence and Lorraine Bergland.

Dean attended Northrup Elementary School and he graduated from Lincoln High School in 1958. He also graduated from the Minnesota School of Business in 1960. In 1956, he began working for Western Oil and Fuel in Thief River Falls and transferred to Western Oil and Fuel in Minneapolis in 1958. Dean later worked for Shaver and McCarthy in Wayzata. Dean was a co-owner of Johnson and Sons Chevrolet Dealership in Waverly and then became the general sales manager of Star West Chevrolet dealership in Delano for 23 years. He was active in the Maple Plain Lions Club and was also a member of the Maple Plain Planning Commission.

Dean had a lifelong love of golfing, sign painting and spending time with his family and dogs at their lake home in Kandiyohi County. Dean had an amazing ability to make connections with strangers and to remember everyone's name and personal story. He had countless wonderful customers and friends.

Dean is survived by Toni, loving wife of 42 years; children, Cathy, Beth (Christian) Johnson and Brent (Raina) Bergland; three grandsons; brother, Dale (Eleanor) Bergland; and many wonderful family and friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents and grandparents.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: I plan to retire in a few years at age 62 and start my Social Security. If I change my mind and return to work can I then withdraw my application to get higher benefits later?

A: If you start SSA retirement and your benefits later stop because of work they will be recomputed at your full retirement age, which might be after you finally lessen or stop working. Benefits are increased to credit you for months that you did not actually receive them because of the work. That is a short answer to a more complicated topic.

In general, withdrawing an application is not a good idea. To do so you must return all SSA monthly benefits received to that point. You might also miss out on any benefits still payable. The usual, and very commonplace, course is to report the return to work and to have your estimated earnings amount for the year put on your record. Depending on annual earnings test figures, your estimated earnings and your age at the time, a return to work might not impact benefits payable at all, might lower the Social Security retirement amount payable but not stop all benefits, or might stop them for the year.

For now, follow your plans. If they change, keep your local office informed at the time. As always, ask questions.

Q: Is it true that I can get Medicare coverage for dialysis even if I'm working and not getting Social Security benefits?

A: Yes. Medicare coverage usually begins the fourth month of dialysis treatment but can begin as early as the first month in specific situations. In July 2004, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) issued a revised version of "Medicare Coverage of Kidney Dialysis and Kidney Transplant Services", Publication CMS-10128. Included there is information about coverage of immunosuppressive drugs for kidney transplant recipients under Medicare. You can order a paper copy or download this publication from www.medicare.gov (go to searchtools, then publications).

Deaf or hard of hearing? Use a TTY? You can call Social Security through the national toll-free TTY number 800-325-0778. Available 24 hours a day, the line is staffed 7:00am-7:00pm business days with automated service other hours.

Three are AAUW Women of Honor

the Year by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce – evidence that her teaching and advising work is highly respected.

When not singing, teaching, organizing or mentoring, Anderson DOES have a few hobbies that she enjoys in her "spare" time. She likes sewing or quilting, cooking, and reading biographies and autobiographies. And perhaps you didn't know, but Anderson is an avid collector of Mattel dolls from the 1960s – especially "Liddle Kiddles" – she owns all 24 of the originals. Talking models like Chatty Cathy and a talking Barbie are among her collectibles.

But the most rewarding interest and accomplishment Anderson listed was her family. Anderson and her husband, Murray, have three children: sons Maxwell (8) and William (6) and daughter, Emma (4). In her words, "Giving birth to and the continuous job of parenting three marvelous children, watching them grow, marveling at their accomplishments, and being given the chance to join them in play" are at the top of her list. That interest goes beyond the home as she volunteers at Challenger Elementary School, which her children attend.

Thief River Falls is indeed fortunate to have Anderson as a parent, teacher, mentor and role model as she serves the community in education, music and civic leadership.

Elvera Cullen

Elvera Cullen is the president of AAUW, and its members are proud to have selected her as one of its Women of Honor recipients. She is well qualified in many areas, and she seems to do all her "tasks" with ease and grace.

Cullen grew up with three sisters and one brother on a farm in Jeffers, located in the southwestern part of the state. She graduated from high school in Jeffers and then completed her degree, majoring in English and minoring in social studies and education at the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul.

She and her husband, Richard, had six children, three boys and three girls. Now, she is a grandmother to 14 grandchildren with twins due in June.

Cullen has been a teacher of English and social studies in Windom; Bloomington; Medford, Ore.; Goodridge; and Thief River Falls. She has also worked for 15 years in real estate and has been a Thief River Falls City Council member for six years.

Besides her jobs, she has been involved in Girl Scouts, including being a neighborhood chairperson for Girl Scouts; president of St. Bernard Catholic Church's Women's Guild; Parish Guild; and a religious education teacher. She is president of the AAUW branch and belongs to the Alpha Phi branch of Delta Kappa Gamma. Cullen also serves as a hospital auxiliary board member.

In what spare time she has left, she loves to play bridge, even tackling opponents on the Internet and teaching bridge for Community Education. Cullen enjoys being with her grandchildren and continues her interest in education.

Cullen values her family and friendships she has made, and she has found that serving on City Council has been very rewarding and interesting. She is a woman who has been successful in so many different areas and seems to want to continue to expand her horizons. Cullen is truly qualified to be one of AAUW's and Thief River Falls' Women of Honor.

Sharon Fugleberg

Sharon Fugleberg, a 2005 Woman of Honor, is modest when asked about her accomplishments. She is a native of Roseau and graduated from Roseau High School in 1958. Upon graduation, she was approached by the school superintendent and asked to work in his office. She took that job, one she was in need of, and worked for him for five years. During those years, Fugleberg stated, "I learned more than any other institution of higher learning could ever teach."

Fugleberg married her husband, Don, on July 27, 1963. She worked for the Beltrami County Welfare Department for two years while her husband finished his art education degree. In 1965, they moved to Olivia, where he taught art and she became a stay-at-home mom after their daughter, Shawn, was born. Three years later, they moved to Thief River Falls, where they have lived since 1968. Their son, Dean, was born shortly after the move.

The years that her children were small were years that Fugleberg spent volunteering for many of their activities – Sunday school teacher, Wednesday school teacher, Brownie leader and countless chaperone duties for church activities, band trips and choir trips. She was sought after as a chaperone because of her rapport with the children and young adults who she was with. Her sense of humor and ready smile stood her well with these young charges, but they knew that she meant business if they crossed the line.

In 1988, Fugleberg began full-time employment again as the Lincoln High School (LHS) Counseling Office secretary. This is her 17th and final year in that position as she will retire June 30. Many have witness first-hand the expertise that Fugleberg has brought to this position. Some parents have thanked her for putting order to an application that made no sense to parent or student, or for re-typing an award application that just didn't look good enough (especially after that student received the state award), or the prodding that seemed to be taken to heart by the student to get this or that in on time, often reminding them to use please, thank you and excuse me as appropriate. Fugleberg does it all with a smile on her face, chiding them with humor; letting them know that she means business, but loves them for who they are; and occasionally bribing them with M & Ms in the jar that sits on her desk. Staff, parents, students and visitors all occasionally have to stop and visit that jar of candy. Sometimes this position has found Fugleberg listening, comforting and even holding a baby every now and then when daycare fell through for a young mother who needed to be in class or had an appointment with a teacher. Fugleberg has been thanked, some seriously and some in jest, for insuring that a student has made it through LHS by her willingness to help in any way that she can.

Fugleberg enjoys traveling and has three girlfriends, known as The Golden Girls, whose times together are very special. She believes that being a grandmother is one of the highest awards that a person will ever have.

Fugleberg tells AAUW that after she retires, she plans to continue her life by helping her husband regain his health, enjoy time with her family, travel whenever possible and spend time with her Golden Girls friends.

AAUW congratulates Fugleberg as a most deserving AAUW 2005 Woman of Honor.

About AAUW

AAUW was founded 124 years ago in 1881. The local branch was organized in 1976 and is open to all graduates of accredited colleges or universities. AAUW is a leading advocate for education and equity for women and girls to ensure that they get an equal chance in the classroom and in their professions, to give them brighter futures.

Women of Honor evolved from a club belief that women should be recognized for their service in the community, whether it be in education, art, business, community service, religion, politics or medicine.

Thief River Falls Kiwanis Club members worked on a short assembly line June 21 at their club's fundraiser for Northrop Park. Together, the club and Pennington County 4-H clubs raised $2,273 during the event for park playground equipment.

Co-op responds to investigation

Consultants can represent the interests of the cooperatives in finding the best insurance carrier for their needs, while being paid $250,000 a year by the carrier interested in maintaining the cooperative's business," said Anderson. "This consultant has an apparent conflict of interest."

According to the report, NWSC informed the auditor's office that it had 6,332 contracts in fiscal year 2004, generating approximately $748,442 in fees for the cooperative. It informed the auditor's office that most of the fees are used to pay Consultant Hammerstad/CBC and Employee Benefits and Insurance Services Inc. The balance is used for general NWSC operations and to subsidize programs and services offered to NWSC members. NWSC's auditor has noted that the cooperative's main source of revenue was the insurance pool, and several programs offered by NWSC were not self-supporting.

Nesland noted there are "firewalls" in place between CBC and the Blues. However, he said NWSC will have to work on that.

Administrative Fees: The cooperatives are required to spend program funds on healthcare activities. During 2004, the cooperatives spent approximately $1 million on activities unrelated to health insurance, including community training, employee banquets and extracurricular activities.

"Money contributed by employees and their employers for health insurance should not be diverted by the cooperatives to other programs," said Anderson. "The diversion of employee health insurance funds to other projects disguises the true costs of health insurance."

Nesland noted NWSC has lower administrative fees than the state plans.

Research and Development (R&D) Fees: The Blues have agreed to pay seven of the eight cooperatives a "research and development fee" through the cooperatives' membership in a limited liability company. During 2003, $442,798 was placed into the R&D account. During 2004 and 2005, over $435,000 was placed in the account. The cooperatives have used funds from this account for legal and lobbying services. The limited liability company was created by CBC and donated to the service cooperatives. The cooperatives created the Minnesota Multi-Regional Service Agency (MRSA) in 2001, and this organization entered into lobbying contracts using the R&D account as a source of funds. MRSA also created a political action fund. Individuals that have lobbied on behalf of the cooperatives include former Commerce Commissioner Bert McKasy and former Senate Majority Leader Roger Moe.

"Under the research and development fee arrangement, the lobbyists who seemingly represent the service cooperatives have the appearance of being funded by BlueCross/BlueShield," said Anderson. "This raises questions about entanglement. One has to wonder who these lobbyists are actually representing."

Public Access to Information: The investigation found that the cooperatives have contractually agreed with the Blues that they would not reveal the terms of the agreement without the written consent of the Blues. This is in violation of the Minnesota Data Practices Act, according to Anderson. At least one cooperative has taken the position that most of the numbers in the audit are not public data. Keeping this data private prevents other insurance providers from bidding for the service cooperatives' business. Allowing other insurance providers to bid would likely lower the cost of health insurance.

"The cooperatives must increase the transparency of their operations," said Anderson. "These are public dollars and should be subjected to the same scrutiny that would be given to other governmental agencies. The state and the public are entitled to gain financial information from the cooperatives."

Competitive Concerns: The Blues have consistently been the health provider contracting with cooperatives. Despite representation to the contrary by the cooperatives, according to their own minutes, CBC was involved in the request for proposals process in 2002, which resulted in the current self-insured contracts with the Blues.

CBC also donated a network to the cooperatives. The Blues then began paying the cooperatives to maintain and develop the network, and incentives were built into the arrangement promoting the service cooperatives ongoing contracting with the Blues.

In the past two years, however, several large school districts have left the cooperatives and obtained fully insured coverage for their employees at rates less than the amounts they were paying for self-insurance under the current Blues contract.

"The monopolistic nature of these agreements is good business for BlueCross/BlueShield, however, due to economies of scale, the service cooperatives should be able to get a much better deal for taxpayers and public employees," said Anderson. "Other large school districts have demonstrated that lower rates are available if market forces are allowed to work. Service cooperatives must find ways to allow insurance companies to compete for their business."

dimmed, adding a chilling effect to the movie.

Using an FMS projector, the pool hosted one movie night earlier this year, Buck said, noting that subsequent showings weren't held because of the possible damage pool humidity may have on school owned equipment. Nonetheless, that night was a hit amongst fun night participants.

During her reign as pool director, Buck has seen a significant drop in use of the FMS pool, much of which could be attributed to the removal of diving boards, first in 2003 and permanently in 2004.

"They come here and there's absolutely nothing for them to do," Buck said of the recreational swimming options facing casual youth swimmers.

In an attempt to entice more participation from the community, the FMS pool now offers a cargo net and rope for climbing, and a poolside basketball hoop for water basketball. Buck is hopeful that the new equipment will return open swimming participation to the levels experienced when the diving boards were present.

some fertilizer spikes driven in at the drip line of the trees may help improve tree growth and vigor."

How do residents know if their trees have become infected with anthracnose? "Anthracnose typically appears on the leaves as dead, brown angular spots. The shape and size of these spots vary greatly, but they all tend to cause the leaves to cup and curl," said Person. "If severe enough, anthracnose can cause the leaves to drop. Green ash are especially prone to dropping leaves with this disease."

Olson noted that the fungus is caused by cold, wet weather. Despite the fungus' appearance in this area, Olson reminded residents, "It's nothing to get too alarmed about."

Though they hold significant elected positions, this handshake between Charles Naplin, chairman of the Pennington County Board and Dale Wennberg, Thief River Falls mayor, had little to do with politics. Naplin, a member of the Pennington County Historical Society (PCHS) Board, presented Wennberg with a certificate recognizing the historical accomplishments of the Carl and Hilda Wennberg family. Both the Torkelson and Wennberg families were recognized during the PCHS Family Day Celebration on June 25.

Pennington County Historical Society (PCHS) Board member Charles Naplin presents a plaque to Pat Swanson, who accepted on behalf of the descendants of Ole and Mathea Torkelson. The Torkelson and Wennberg families were recognized as Pioneer Families during the PCHS Family Day Celebration, held on June 25.

Local students to receive BSU Presidential Scholarship

Nicole Haugen of Goodridge has accepted a $7,000 Presidential Scholarship from Bemidji State University for the 2005-06 academic year.

Haugen, a freshman majoring in biology, was active during high school in volleyball, Knowledge Bowl, band, choir, and the National Honor Society. She also received the state ExCel Award, the Outstanding Computer Science Student Award, and the Outstanding Music Student Award.

Amanda Schmitz of Plummer also accepted a $7,000 Presidential Scholarship from Bemidji State University for the 2005-06 academic year.

Schmitz is a freshman whose academic interests at BSU include mathematics and music. During high school she was active in band, choir, student government, basketball, and the National Honor Society.

Students ranking in the top 15 percent of their high school class are eligible to apply for this highly competitive award of $7,000. The selection of students is based on academic achievement and extracurricular leadership in school and community. If selected, $2500 is provided the first year and $1500 for three subsequent years, provided the student maintains a 3.25 GPA.

BSU will present more than $1.1 million in academic, talent and leadership scholarships this year. Over 30 percent of new entering students receive scholarships, most of which are based on outstanding achievement. The awards are made possible by donations to the BSU Foundation, the Alumni Association and other organizations that specify funds for such causes.

Pioneer families honored in TRF

Dale and Don.

Brad Swanson and Kari Torkelson, great-grandchildren of Ole and Mathea Torkelson, introduced a family history DVD. The DVD traced the family's paternal history back to the mid-1600s and continued through the family's second Thief River Falls generation. The video including a personal look at each of Ole and Mathea's nine children, Sophie, Bessie, Thelda, Pauline, Melvin, Ruth, Anton, Bert and Thelma.

Charles Naplin, chairman of the Pennington County Board and member of the Pennington County Historical Society Board, presented commemorative certificates to Jon, Dale and Don Wennberg, sons of Carl and Hilda Wennberg. Each certificate read: "The Pennington County Historical Society honors the Carl and Hilda Wennberg family as pioneers on this day, June 25, 2004."

Naplin next presented a plaque to Pat Swanson, granddaughter of Ole and Mathea Torkelson. Similar to the certificates, it stated: "The Pennington County Historical Society honors the Ole and Mathea Torkelson family as pioneers on this day, June 25, 2004."

Rustan named to UMM dean's list

Gustav Rustan of Oklee was recently named to the University of Minnesota, Morris dean's list for spring semester 2005. To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must have earned a grade point average of 3:67 or higher for the semester, while taking a minimum of 12 credits, two-thirds of which must be graded on an A-F system.

Zak competes in Miss Minnesota Pageant

Miss Thief River Falls Sarah Zak competed in the Miss Minnesota Pageant on June 17-18.

Zak, who did not place in the Top 5, said she was a little disappointed about her ranking in the pageant. Yet, she added, "It was a great experience that I wouldn't take back."

Zak wishes that other Thief River Falls girls would have the opportunity she had. However, that might not happen. The Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has decided it will not sponsor the pageant any longer, and no other organization or individual has stepped forward to sponsor the pageant.

If an organization or individual would be willing to sponsor the pageant, call the Chamber at 681-3720.

Trisha Holen selected as Girls State representative

Trisha Holen, daughter of Mike and Julie Holen of Barnesville and granddaughter of Colleen Holen and Myron Svean of Thief River Falls, has been selected as a 2005 Girls State representative for Maurice E. Masterson Auxiliary Unit 153 of Barnesville.

Holen is an American Legion junior auxiliary member. In her high school career, she has been on the Student Council for two years, yearbook staff, vice president of her class and has played the flute in band since sixth grade. She served on the prom committee, volunteered for the school blood drive and volunteers with young children in the community. Also, she is an active member of the Atonement Lutheran Church.

Condon named to Mayville State dean's list

Michelle Lynn Condon, Thief River Falls, has been named to the dean's list for spring semester 2005 at Mayville State University. In order to be named to the dean's list, each student must have attained a grade point average of 3.5 or higher and have successfully completed a minimum of 12 credit hours of regular academic credit.

TRF wins title at Perham tourney

Thief River Falls won an 11-inning first round game and overcame an early five-run championship game deficit in a title-winning performance at the Perham Invitational American Legion baseball tournament over the weekend.

Post 117 edged Frazee 6-5 in the Saturday extra-inning quarterfinal contest played at Dent and posted a 7-0 semifinal win at the same site later that day against Enderlin, N.D.

It was a come-from-behind 9-7 effort against host Perham in the Sunday finals.

Thief River Falls coach Courtney Skjerven had to use four pitchers – Daniel Kaushagen, Tomas Heaton, Alex Carlson and Craig Johnston – to secure the first round win, so a route-going three-hitter by Justin Brooks in the semifinals was a major milestone for a team that could have run out of pitching in a hurry if the bullpen would have gotten another extensive workout. Brooks improved his record to 5-0.

"The first game was not one of our best efforts, but we survived," said Skjerven. "The Enderlin game was the best all-round game from start to finish we've played all year. Justin really came through for us."

Post 117 was the home team on the scoreboard, even though Perham was playing on its home diamond in the final. Thief River Falls gave up three runs in both the first two innings and trailed 6-1 before coming up with a seven-run at-bat in the bottom of the second.

"The championship game was pretty ugly," admitted Skjerven. "The field was wet and there were lots of walks (16). But it says something about your team if you can play ugly and still win."

Thief River Falls, 10-6, will host East Grand Forks Thursday in a 6 p.m. doubleheader at the Multi-Events Center.

Sports Boosters tournament draws 26 teams

Twenty-six five-player teams – 130 golfers – took part in the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational fund-raiser Friday at the Thief River Golf Club.

First place team featured Myron Jesme, John Peterson, Chuck Narlock, Wade Jorde and Darin Stanley, whose handicap-based 18-hole total was 49.10.

Second place team included Lynn Dyer, Tom Hunt, Jeff Hendrickson, Jeff Loe and Tim Olson with a 48.85.

Proceeds from the event are used by the sponsoring Sports Boosters to enhance programs for School District 564 and Northland Community and Technical College.

Two Pioneers hit .400 to lead 2005 softball numbers

A pair of Northland Community and Technical College softball players carried .400 batting averages in 2005.

Rochelle Nelk, a freshman from Wheaton who pitched and played shortstop, hit .427 with 53 hits in 124 at-bats.

Katie Walseth, a sophomore third baseman from Thief River Falls, hit .400 (46/115).

Pioneers carrying .300 batting averages included Bobbi Cummings and Angie Van Maasdem, freshmen from Frazee; Shannon Olson, a freshman from Bagley; and Steph Hoard, a freshman from Thief River Falls.

Olson was also the Pioneers' No. pitcher with a 17-7 record.

The Kathy Huschle-coached Pioneers were 24-15 this spring, 14-10 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division. They had a 1-2 MCCC state tournament with a 6-4 eight-inning win over Minnesota West that was followed by an 11-7 eight-inning loss to Fergus Falls and a 7-0 setback at the hands of Itasca.

As the head coach of the winning team in the 32nd annual Minnesota High School All-Star Football Game, Thief River Falls' Jeff Mumm has possession of the All-Star Memorial Trophy for 2005. The traveling trophy was introduced in 1981 by family members and friends of Mike Johnson as a tribute to the Bemidji High School graduate, a participant in the 1979 all-star game who lost his life in an automobile accident in March 1980.

Under TRF coach Jeff Mumm...

Outstate team wins all-star game 39-25

Jeff Mumm knew it was a "once-in-a-lifetime" opportunity when he was selected as a head coach for the 2005 Minnesota High School All-Star Football Game, and he wanted to make it a memorable experience.

Mission accomplished. Mumm, Thief River Falls' head football coach since 1985, directed the Outstate team to a 39-0 lead and a 39-25 win over the Metro squad Saturday night at Husky Stadium on the St. Cloud State University campus.

The only reason the 32nd edition of the Minnesota State High School Football Coaches Association-produced game ended up with just a two-touchdown difference at the end was the all-star contest rule that says a team that scores and is behind by 10 or more points in the second half may receive the ensuing kickoff instead of giving up the ball.

Under that rule – designed to prevent a blowout – the Metro team scored on four consecutive possessions as the Outstate offense went almost 20 minutes without touching the ball.

Mumm relished the opportunity to coach in the game, and certainly liked the way his team responded. "We dominated the first half," he said. "The kids were so focused, so motivated."

Despite just a week's worth of practice as a team, the Outstate played nearly flawless football, especially in the first half before the even-up rule kicked in. "They're the cream of he crop," he explained. "They picked things up so fast. We had no turnovers and no penalties."

Jim Sims, Director of Student Activities for School District 564, was on hand for the game, and he, too, was impressed with the Outstate performance. "Jeff and his staff did an outstanding job," he said with more than just a tinge of pride.

With back-to-back wins and three victories in the last four meetings, the Outstate has produced a 14-12 edge in the series since the current selection format was introduced in 1980, replacing the North-South set-up that had metro and outstate players mixed together.

A crowd of 2,500 was announced for the game, played for the first time outside of the Minneapolis-St. Paul metro area. It originated in 1974 at Memorial Stadium on the University of Minnesota campus, went to Metropolitan Stadium and Parade Stadium, then to Macalester College.

Both teams practiced at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter.

"St. Cloud and Gustavus both did a nice job, making sure that things were first-class all the way," mentioned Mumm.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

from Bob Hultgren

Pits were pleasantly full Saturday night as the Greenbush Race Park welcomed the NLRA Late Model Tour. Twenty-four Late Models were among the 82 cars that made the trip for what turned into a very eventful evening at the 'Bush'.

Mini-Sprints led out the feature races and produced the first three-time winner of the season. Dan Wiskow (Roseau) jumped out from his second row starting spot, took and early lead and never gave it up for his third win of the season. Dennis Rantanen (Thief River Falls) finished a solid second with pole sitter Jeremy Swenson (Badger) third. The feature was highlighted when John Wightman drifted his car high out of Turn 4 and slammed it into the water-filed safety barrels at the end of the front straightaway. Wightman was uninjured; the car wasn't as lucky.

Bryce Cornelieson must have liked the taste of victory. The Pure Stock racer picked up his first-ever feature win a week ago, and returned to best the field Saturday, despite almost being taken out by lap traffic. Cornelieson bounced off a lap car and actually took out one of the infield billboards before returning to the track and holding off a hard charging Mike Peterson (Lancaster) for the win. Peterson started tenth, but worked himself up to challenge for the lead over the final few laps. Ed Lehrke (Hallock) had one of his best races of the season with a third place finish.

Jamen Foss (Greenbush) was in line to become the second three-time winner of the season, but his fortunes changed quickly. Foss started tenth and took the lead away from Roger Bernstrom (Hallock) on Lap 7. On the next round, Foss got high out of Turn 4 and skidded his car down the front retaining fence, coming to a stop in front of the grandstand, with the front fender wedged between the guard rails. He was able to stay in the race, but restarted at the tail end. Bernstrom would hold the lead for just one more lap before Steffan Snare would drive by and lead the final six laps for the win. Bernstrom finished second with Jeremy Gust (Warren) third.

Troy Schill traveled to the Race Park on Saturday night primarily to race his Late Model. Schill also brought along his Super Stock and posted a feature win. Schill led flag-to-flag for the win. The big battle for most of the race was between Paul Veert and Rod Peterson who jockeyed for second and third for most of the first ten laps, before getting together on Lap 10 and falling off the chase. George Balcaen (Winnipeg, Man.) and Scott Ripplinger (Warroad) would avoid the trouble and finish second and third, respectively.

NLRA Late Model feature was a caution-plagued affair. With 24 cars starting the feature and a dry track, the formula was right for a yellow flag night. The caution flew five times in the first ten laps of racing. The second restart after a caution on Lap 3 was a key point in the race, especially for Dale Skytland (Edmore, N.D). The veteran driver passed Matt Auckland at that point, and took the lead – a lead he would hold for the final 15 laps and through eight laps of lap traffic, to pick-up the win. It was Skytland's first main feature win in about four years. Troy Olson and Mitch Johnson finished second and third.

The NLRA Late Model tour will return to the Greenbush Race Park on August 6th.

NOPA 4-Cylinder Stock class wrapped up the evening with a bang. Just two laps into the final, Jon Brandt (Roseau) rolled his car off the top of Turn 1. The car rolled and flipped several times before coming to a rest. Brandt crawled from the car and was later transported to an area health facility to be checked over. Kurt Smith (Greenbush) led the first ten laps

Tom Dostal makes his mark in 2005

A year ago, the only place Tom Dostal's name appeared in the final Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division stats was in fielding percentage. In 2005, the Northland Community and Technical College sophomore first baseman from East Grand Forks put his name in the offensive columns.

A .433 batting average and 38 runs batted in ranked Dostal No. 4 and No. 2, respectively in the Northern Division statistics. He had 38 hits in 104 at-bats.

Dostal helped the Pioneers hit .315 as a team this year, a considerable improvement over a .277 Northland hit in division play in 2004.

Fourteen Pioneers were used as pitchers. Josh Remer, a sophomore from Red Lake Falls, worked the most innings, finishing with a 3-3 record and a 3.83 ERA in 42 innings.

First-year Northland head coach Steve Gust directed the Pioneers to a 20-17 record season record, which included a second place 11-5 finish in the Northern Division.

Northland was a state tournament qualifier, but it was a short post-season as the Pioneers lost to Itasca 8-3 and Dakota County 3-2.

Strandquist Community News

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota has taken it upon itself to determine if I am privileged to work outdoors or go inside before I'm soaked by a stray shower. Conditions for painting or gardening can't be planned ahead and often the work has to be abandoned until a later time. Therefore, double trouble. Per chance, as I grow older, I wait to go back to my work when I feel I will have plenty of time to finish it rather than get with the program. I had a good start on painting the foundation, and that cranberry color does improve the project, but it was too wet by the corners to paint. The water had collected there enough to drown my clematis. Someone told me the root could be taken up and dried and it might live, but I have the area drained now and I'll put in another one. I will miss all those blue flowers that were there several years.

Elsie Lefrooth's 94th birthday came around on Saturday. Happy birthday, Elsie!! It began the day before when she received a huge bouquet of alstroemerieas flown from Ecuador, South America from Darwin and Pat Lindstrom. Early on Saturday, friends and relatives began coming to wish her happiness and it went until evening. Betsy and Pearl Thompson assisted her until 4 or 5 o'clock. We all had a good time visiting and eating. Elsie is already thinking about next year this time when she will have her big 95.

Father's Day afternoon, Eva Bernard visited at Paul and Shirley Anderson's with the Janssens. Supper guests were Morris and Hazel Anderson, Buzz and Dorothy Chaffee of Wiboux, Mont., Chana Christenson of Fargo and Jim and Cindy Wetterlund of East Grand Forks. Keith and Kathy Britten and Ellen Johnson joined the group for dessert. Peter and Paul Knapp visited later in the evening.

Judy Kleinvachter attended the birthday party for baby Paulina Berggren who was 1 year old at Jerome and Pauline Berggren's. June, Karl and Marcus Kasprowicz were there. Other visitors were Brian, Tammy and Bailey Kasprowicz, who were up from the Cities for the weekend, and Kelly and Sara Clinton.

Star

Mayme Johnson • 378-4333

Harlen Iverson of Hallock and Vernon and Clara Iverson were visitors and dinner guests at Aaron Chervestad home in rural Oklee on Saturday.

Mayme Johnson was a visitor and supper guest at Jean Johnson's home on Friday evening.

Randy and Erica Johnsrud visited at Clayton and Marlys Johnsrud's home on Thursday evening.

Sunday, Vernon and Clara Iverson were dinner guests in honor of Father's Day at Time and Sandra Radniecki home in Oklee.

Merle Naeseth did some work for Jean Johnson on her door and Mayme Johnson helped him.

Sunday on Father's Day, those who spent the afternoon at Merle Naeseth's home were Dennis and Denise Schulz, Jacob and Nicholas of Euclid, Dave Naeseth, Brea and Cameron, Jason Naeseth, Jean Johnson and Jessica and Mayme Johnson. A big meal was served to all with a Father's Day cake. Merle also received gifts and cards. Everybody enjoyed a very good time.

Minnesota Waste Wise spearheads mercury recycling program

More than 180 salvage yards throughout the state are voluntarily recycling mercury switches from vehicles through the newest initiative of Minnesota Waste Wise, an affiliate of the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce.

Minnesota Mercury Recovery addresses the recovery and recycling of mercury switches in end-of-life vehicles. The program, which kicked off last fall, forges a partnership with salvage yards, car manufacturers and vehicle processors to provide education and free recycling of switches.

"Salvage yards have been very receptive," said Andy Haus, Minnesota Mercury Recovery coordinator. "Many yards have been removing switches for years and have been looking for an outlet."

Mercury, if not properly managed at time of disposal, can pollute the environment and endanger people's health. The program is free to participating salvage yards. Technical assistance, the collection equipment, shipping and recycling all are provided by Waste Wise.

To date, more than 300 salvage yards are recycling mercury switches. About 185 directly or indirectly use recycling buckets provided through Waste Wise. More than 21,000 mercury switches have been recycled, which equates to between 46 and 55 pounds of mercury recovered.

"People want to do the right thing but are not always sure how. We're helping by providing an easy way to recycle the switches," Haus said. "The easier it is, the more switches we'll collect for recycling."

The success of the mercury recovery program follows in the footsteps of another successful Waste Wise initiative – "It's in the Bag," a plastic recycling program. It recently marked a milestone by recycling its millionth pound of plastic after 19 months of operation. The program is being used as a model in other cities of how plastics can be recycled without enacting mandates or other "bag taxes," said Ellen Telander, executive director of Minnesota Waste Wise. Twin Cities businesses that have small or large quantities of shrink wrap or clean plastic bags should visit www.itsinthebagmn.org to learn how to recycle this material.

Both of these initiatives mirror the credo of the Minnesota Chamber affiliate, Telander said. "Waste Wise was, and is, a simple philosophy – less waste is smart business for a better environment."

The results speak for themselves. More than 450 businesses have invited Waste Wise staff to help identify ways to reduce waste in their operations. Those members in turn have combined to reduce waste by more than 322 million pounds annually.

For more information on Minnesota Waste Wise, visit the Web site at www.mnwastewise.org. For specific information on the mercury recovery program, contact Haus at (651) 292-4663 or ahaus@mnchamber.com.

Norwegian stevne in Fargo set for Aug. 3-6

Descendants and friends of Trøndelag, Gudbrandsdal, and northern Hedmark regions of Norway are invited to learn more about the Norwegian culture and spirit at the Tre Lag Stevne from August 3-6. The stevne (gathering) will be at The Ramada Plaza Suites and Convention Center, Fargo, N.D. The event is open to the public.

Complete program details are available from stevne registrar Dixie Hansen, in the lag newsletters, or on the lag Web sites listed below.

For stevne reservations, please contact Hansen at dx@dxhansen.com, 651-690-0872 (evenings). Information and the registration forms will also be posted on the lag Web sites: www.nhohlag.org/ and www.tranderlag.org/ and www.gudbrandlag.org/. Reservations are required for the tour, dinner and banquet, by July 15. Walk-in registrations will be permitted if space is available.

Contact the Ramada Plaza Suites and Convention Center in Fargo directly for room reservations at 701-277-9000. Be sure to ask for the "Tre Lag Stevne rate." The cut-off date for the special stevne room rate is July 15.

Family physicians encourages parents to help kids maintain a healthy weight

With childhood obesity now being called an epidemic, Minnesota family physicians want parents to know they can influence the nutrition and fitness habits of their children. Studies show that parents play a key role in determining whether children become overweight. A report published in the "Journal of Pediatrics" showed that children with overweight parents were much more likely to become overweight. While this is in part due to genetics, researchers believe the primary causes of childhood obesity are poor eating habits and low levels of physical activity.

"Kids form habits at an early age," said Leslie Ahlers, M.D., a family physician at the Waseca Medical Center. "Do they see their moms and dads making healthy food choices? Are moms and dads exercising? If not, it is unlikely these kids will have a strong desire to eat well or stay fit."

The latest statistics indicate that one child in five is overweight. This means more kids than ever before are at risk for weight-related health problems and diseases like diabetes.

"While parents aren't the end-all for obesity, they can make family lifestyle changes that will help their kids maintain a healthy weight as they grow," Ahlers said.

Here are some tips to help keep your child at a healthy weight:

1. Be a good role model. If your kids see you reach for a daily candy bar, instead of an apple, they will likely do the same. You can help form habits that will last a lifetime.

2. Encourage them to be active. Plan family outings that involve exercise. Take a walk or go for a bike ride. Go swimming instead of going to a movie.

3. Set guidelines for the amount of time your children can watch TV, play video games or spend on the computer. Many experts recommend less than two hours a day.

4. Think before you bring it home from the grocery store. Cut back on sugary or high-fat foods. Encourage your child to eat fruits, vegetables, low-fat dairy foods and whole grains while permitting occasional treats. Don't use dessert as a reward. This just teaches your child to value sweets more than other foods.

5. Keep healthy snacks on hand. Examples include low-fat cheese, pretzels, yogurt, graham crackers, baby carrots, apples, bananas or grapes. Children should be encouraged to avoid soft drinks and other high-calorie, low nutrient beverages.

6. Work on serving smaller portions. Many people eat much more than they need.

7. Limit your trips through the drive-thru. Don't eat at fast food restaurants more than once a week.

8. Eat meals together as a family. Turn off the TV.

If you're concerned that your child may be overweight, you should talk to your family doctor. He or she can calculate your child's body mass index (BMI) to see if it falls within a healthy range and then discuss options for weight loss if needed.

"While there are plenty of societal factors working against us," Ahlers added. "We as parents can lead our kids in the right direction by teaching them that eating right and staying active is not simply a chore, but rather a way of life."

Minnesota Department of Health releases 2004 HIV/AIDS data

The number of people diagnosed with HIV infections in 2004 rose again after a one year drop in 2003. During 2004, 307 cases of HIV were diagnosed in the state compared to 266 in 2003, according to a new report from the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH), "HIV/AIDS Surveillance Report – 2004."

Health officials have recognized certain patterns in the reported cases in recent years. "We have seen around 300 new cases reported each year to us during the last 9 years in Minnesota," said Dr. Harry Hull, state epidemiologist and director of the Division of Infectious Disease Epidemiology, Prevention and Control at MDH.

Gay and bisexual men of all races, women of color, and African-born communities continue to be disproportionately affected by HIV in Minnesota. During the last three years, gay and bisexual men accounted for an estimated 50 percent of all HIV diagnoses in Minnesota although they represent less than 5 percent of the general population. "Over time, we have noticed that certain communities bear the greatest burdens of the disease," said Hull.

African-born, African Americans and Latino populations continued to have higher rates of infection compared to whites. Statewide rates for African Americans and Latinos were 10 and seven times greater, respectively, than Caucasians. Rates for African-born communities were over 30 times greater than for whites.

"Among our African-born and Latino communities, we have seen people testing at a late stage of disease," said Hull. "This means that they have missed the health benefits of early treatment and may have unknowingly spread the disease to others." Health officials reported that of those that tested positive at the time of their first HIV test, 59 percent of Latinos and 46 percent of Africa-born persons were diagnosed with AIDS, which is late-stage HIV infection.

"One other concern we have seen recently is the high percentage of women of color that have been infected," said Hull. " Women of color make up only 10 percent of the total female population in the state yet they represent a vast majority of the cases among females." This disparity is particularly notable among young women 13 to 24 years of age.

The STD and HIV Section of the MDH currently funds 21 community-based agencies designed to provide 31 culturally specific HIV prevention efforts within communities that have the highest rates of infection. An additional 18 HIV prevention contracts were awarded beginning in 2004 to reach Minnesota's African-born communities. The Office of Minority and Multicultural Health of the MDH also funds community-based organizations through its health disparities initiative to provide HIV prevention programs.

Health officials emphasize that the spread of HIV remains highly preventable. Latex condoms, when used consistently and correctly, are highly effective in preventing HIV transmission. Avoiding the sharing of needles or equipment to tattoo, body pierce or inject drugs will prevent the spread of HIV as well. Testing for HIV and early treatment of infected persons will help them to live longer and healthier lives.

Since the MDH began tracking HIV and AIDS in 1982, 7,547 cases have been reported, including 2,697 people who have died. The MDH received a new reported HIV case every 29 hours in 2004. There are an estimated 5,000 people who are aware of their HIV status and are currently living in Minnesota.

The complete HIV/AIDS Surveillance Report – 2004 can be found on the MDH Web site (www.health.state.mn.us).

Information about HIV is also available from the Minnesota AIDS Project (MAP) AIDSLine, 1-800-248-2437. MAP AIDSLine offers statewide information and referral services, including prevention education, HIV risk assessments, HIV testing and referrals to HIV testing sites, as well as community resources and prevention programs.

Enjoy the Fourth of July weekend

We wish you a happy and safe Fourth of July weekend.

There are many events and activities taking place in the area over the long weekend, and we encourage you to participate in and enjoy these activities. Many of these events serve to remind us of the very serious nature and purpose of the holiday -recognizing the birth of this nation. It's also an opportunity, in this region of the state, to celebrate many centennials.

In addition to the many serious activities in our region, Minnesota - especially northwest Minnesota - offers an abundance of activities in nature, such as camping, fishing, boating, waterskiing, biking, hiking and more.

As always, while encouraging our readers to have fun this Fourth of July, we also urge you to enjoy these activities safely and responsibly.

Improvements to Northrop Park are justified

Thief River Falls offers abundant opportunities for recreation. Few may know that there are over 20 parks in the community. Examination of a map showing the location of the parks in the community, however, clearly shows that one area has been neglected - the northwest corner of the community.

I suspect that Northrop Elementary School and its playground served as a park for that portion of the community for many years. In fact, even after Northrop Elementary School was demolished in 1995, outdoor skating continued to be made available at the site during the winter, and children and families continue to play in the area during summers. Is it the best location for a park in that area? There has been no public opposition to the plan, and it seems to have the support of the Kiwanis, but a Northrop Park raises a number of questions.

Numerous improvements have been made to community parks during the past several years. A recent letter to the editor, which didn't make it to print because of our policy to print only signed letters, lauded the community's dedication to its parks. The former resident, who had returned for a visit with her child, was especially pleased with improvements to the L.B. Hartz Park area. It made her proud to see how much her child enjoyed playing in a park she had enjoyed as a child: "I spent many afternoons in that park as a child and was thrilled to give my daughter an even better experience." Further, she stated, "I have always been proud to say that I grew up in TRF - now, it's really nice to come back and see the many positive changes that have been made throughout the city."

Several editorials appearing on this page also have remarked on the improvements to the parks, commending the city's leadership for its attitude toward recreation and improving the overall appearance of the community. We have also commended civic organizations for adopting various parks and providing funds for numerous improvements.

Can we afford another park is a question that city leaders should be considering. Maintaining the city's 20-plus parks is certainly a drain on the Park and Recreation Department's resources and the community pocketbook. It may be such a drain that it may be time for the city to look at each city park and ask whether it is utilized, whether it serves a purpose or is just another vacant lot to keep maintained. City leaders may come to the conclusion that some parks are better suited for private development and the resources used for maintaining it, better directed to other parks.

Parks are necessary in every community. They provide green space, gathering places and recreational opportunities for all citizens - parks meet the social and physical needs of our communities. And without saying a word, parks articulate a community's values toward its environment and the health of its citizens.

For many people, like our recent letter writer, our parks are a source of great pride. For visitors or individuals considering a move to the community, our parks may provide the kind of "quality of life" incentive that encourages them to move to our community.

There is no question that a park in the northwest section of the community is needed, and the former site of Northrop Elementary School seems to be an ideal location for a park in that area of the city. It also has the support of the local Kiwanis Club, and the community and local residents seem supportive. We commend the Kiwanis Club for taking a leadership role in developing Northrop Park.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Acknowledging those who have helped us

To the Editor:

There are people in this town who are liars and cowards. These individuals will stop at nothing to try and cover up something that may cause them personal damage. These individuals are looking out only for themselves and never take the needs of others into consideration. These people know who they are, and they are not worth wasting my words on.

At this time, I would like to thank and acknowledge all the fine people of our community (and others) who have given of themselves selflessly, even to the point of hurting. They are loyal, brave souls who will stand by you no matter what the circumstances. These are our true friends and neighbors. They include school teachers who care so much about their students that they leave a positive impression on them that will surely last a lifetime. They include pastors and mentors who will help you try to understand the mysterious ways of God. They include former co-workers who listen and understand. They include good Samaritans, who, when you are kicked and beaten down, pick you up and encourage you. They include doctors and other professionals who listen, diagnose and give helpful advice.

Three years ago, my wife was diagnosed with breast cancer. Last summer, I herniated two discs in my back, and last fall, I had open heart surgery. Three months ago, I lost my job after 19 years of faithful service.

Again, I would like to say thank you to all the incredible people in this community who have helped and encouraged my family in so many ways. Your prayers, visits, phone calls and financial help have been appreciated more than you'll ever know.

You know who you are - thank you!

Sincerely,
Russell Holmaas

Praising staff of Community Arts Theater

To the Editor:

Last week's Thief River Falls Arts Council production of Disney's Beauty and the Beast was a wonderful experience for all of us involved and, I dare say, for the audience that attended the show. It leads one to say, "This is why we have community theater - for great productions like this."

There is truth in this statement. The thrill of a great show is a strong reason for maintaining a community theater; however, I'm led to believe there is a deeper reason. That reason can be found within this very production, and can be summed up in six words (or rather, three names): Dane Jenson, Cole Bylander and Philip Hoks. These young men have grown up through Arts Council productions. Dane's first show was 1999's "The King and I." He was 11 years old. Cole's first production was "Annie," and he was 12. In these shows, they experienced the thrill of being on stage and working with a larger body of actors. They also were able to see how older, more experienced performers conducted themselves in rehearsal and during the performance. This obviously had an effect as we are now able to enjoy what these young men, at ages 16 and 17, bring to a performance while performing leading roles. Cole played Cogsworth, the clock and head of the Beast's castle. Dane was Lefou, the admiring sidekick to Gaston. These are roles that they earned, and it showed. Here were two men portraying characters beautifully and with a command of the stage. Great work!

What can't be said about Philip Hoks? Philip was the technical director of the show and if you saw it, you know what a terrific job he did. The set, the lighting, the physical style were all brilliant. Philip's first work with an Arts Council production occurred in 1996 in "The Sound of Music." He volunteered as a stage manager. He was 13 years old. Just a few years later, he was hired at the technical assistant on "Greater Tuna" and has been hired as the technical director for several Arts Council productions since then. Philip's work has been professional caliber, and at times, just plain awesome to see. To Philip, we must say thank you.

All of these young men's early, if not first experiences, were in Thief River Falls Arts Council community theater productions. I don't want to take away from their work in high school theater, or Philip's work at Northland Community and Technical College. Those experiences have been great for them. Yet, community theater was there from the start. How different would they be today if community theater had not been there? How much would we be lacking if they hadn't been there to learn. This is the reason we have and need community theater.

Protecting our kids online should be a priority

by Rep. Mark Kennedy

As the father of four young adult children, I know that kids know much more than their parents about the Internet. The Internet is a great information tool, and can be a place where kids learn, but we must remember that when kids are online, they are in public. Just like we safeguard them when they are walking to or from school, so too must we protect them online.

There are some scary statistics out there: one in five kids ages 10-17 have received a sexual solicitation or approach via the Internet. These statistics might surprise some parents, which is why it's so important that we as parents do what we can to protect them from what they might see.

June is National Internet Safety Month. Many groups are working hard to raise public awareness about what we can do to keep our kids safe online. I was pleased to take part in this national campaign this week, and will continue to all year round.

There are [illegible] ways to protect our kids from what they might come across [illegible]. The most important way is to talk to your kids about it. Make them aware of what's out there, so they understand why it's important to safeguard them against it. This [illegible] to establish a set of online rules for your family.

Sixty-five percent of parents and 64 percent of teenagers say that teens do things online that they wouldn't want their parents to know about. It may seem safe when your child is online in their bedroom, but the truth is, others out there who mean to do your child harm may be preying on them. If you locate your computer in a more open place in your home, like a kitchen, you can better monitor your kids' online behavior.

But not all of what they come up against online is a result of their behavior. A great example of this is the White House Web site. In trying to show one of my kids the White House Web site, I typed in the address that was close, but not exactly right. Instead of showing them a resource of information about our first family, it took me to an adult Web site. It's an easy mistake, and one that kids can make on their own.

So, in talking to your kids about Internet safety, encourage them to come to you if they see something inappropriate. Remind them that people on the Internet may not be who they say they are. The important part is that they come to you if they see anything that makes them uncomfortable, scared or confused. The communication between the two of you could make the difference in keeping them safe, and allowing them to use the Internet for their learning enjoyment.

Part of this week's activities to observe Internet Safety Month was an open house to see hands-on ways to protect our kids. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children showed us www.netsmartz.org. It's a great resource for parental information, and has a listing of terms you can learn, to speak your kids' Internet language. As parents, we may not be as Internet savvy as our kids, but there is information we should know, including the terms they use.

You can also take the Parents Safety-Net Test, offered on www.incredibleinternet.com. It includes questions that show you how much you already know about your kids' online habits, and suggestions about how to keep better track of them, such as knowing how many friends are on their buddy lists, or where else they access the Internet, outside the home.

It's up to us in Congress to continue to support legislation that makes it easier for parents to protect our kids online. And as parents, it's up to us to know what our kids are doing online, who they are talking to, and how they can get the full benefit of this wonderful tool.

Hatch's ruling could cost rural Minn. many jobs

by Rep. Maxine Penas

One of rural Minnesota's greatest economic development programs is facing extinction, thanks to a disappointing ruling by Attorney General Mike Hatch. And the impacts of this decision are affecting communities, schools and working families looking to create a better life for themselves in Greater Minnesota.

During the 2003 legislative session, lawmakers approved the Job Opportunity Building Zones (JOBZ) legislation with broad, bipartisan support. The program established job zones in designated locations, which benefited employers who wanted to start up, expand, or relocate their businesses in rural Minnesota. Businesses operating in the zones would be exempt from paying property, state income, sales and corporate taxes for 12 years.

The goal of the program is to entice employers to rural Minnesota rather than losing that business, and those potential employment opportunities, to other states. It has been an overwhelming success, as nearly 125 businesses are operating in the JOB Zones, and nearly 2,000 new jobs have been created.

Unfortunately, the JOBZ program has run into a roadblock thanks to Hatch. He has stated that businesses benefiting from JOBZ tax incentives would be subject to Minnesota's prevailing wage law. This law sets a minimum for wages, health and retirement benefit levels intended to represent the market rate for state projects.

This move has undoubtedly led employers to ignore Greater Minnesota when choosing where to relocate their business. JOBZ provides the tax incentive needed to attract businesses to the area; forcing that company to pay prevailing wages to each employee substantially increases costs, and has made business owners look elsewhere.

Further complicating matters, Wisconsin has seen the light. It modeled its JOBZ program after Minnesota's legislation. There are a few differences though: Wisconsin's JOB Zones bill does not have a sunset date, and does not include prevailing wages. If you were a business owner, where would you relocate?

Not surprisingly, this action by Hatch is devastating rural Minnesota's economy. It is forcing businesses to move to bordering states. It is costing our worker's employment opportunities, and forcing them to move to other communities. This leads to a decline in business taxes, and a decline in enrollment at the local school. In short, the attorney general's ruling is sucking the life out of communities hoping to attract new companies to the area, and out of families who want to enjoy the benefits of living in rural Minnesota.

Minnesota needs the JOBZ program. For too long, we lost businesses to North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa because of their more favorable business tax climate. This ruling means that trend will continue.

If it seems strange to you that JOB Zones are unconstitutional in Minnesota, yet perfectly legal in Wisconsin, I urge you to let Hatch know. If the establishment of a JOB Zone has led a business to relocate to your area, call Hatch at 1-800-657-3787 and tell him to work on issues that will protect rural Minnesota residents rather than put them out of work.

St. Hilaire Spectator

St. Hilaire, Red Lake County, Minnesota · July 1, 1905

News Items

"Crops are looking fine, say all who have been out in the country hereabouts.

"The band boys were out last Tuesday evening and gave a concert on the street.

"The heavy rain and hail storm which we had here last Wednesday afternoon did little or no damage in this vicinity but was very severe at Grand Forks, where several thousand dollars' worth of damage was done.

"The work of installing the new heating and ventilating plant at the school house was finished this week and accepted by the school board. It is said to be a very neat piece of work and the members of the school board are very well pleased with it.

"Four of our young men concluded to take in the circus at Thief River Falls last Monday evening and hired a couple of rigs and each took a young lady. A late start and bad roads made them rather late and they got into the big tent just in time to invest in concert tickets. It was on the homeward trip, however, that the trouble commenced. The country may have looked different by moonlight, or the driver might have been otherwise engaged, or it might have been the horses, anyway, both rigs got lost. One party found themselves along the river bank and had to wake up a farmer and inquire the way. It is told, on the quiet of course, that they made the trip in the excellent time of three hours and 85 minutes. The other party went too far west and the first gray streaks of dawn found them out in the township of Sanders. There was a guideboard on the side of a ditch and Fred said he would jump over and see where they were. He made it, in two jumps either way, but the last jump was where the real trouble commenced, as he got stuck on the country and it took the combined efforts of both of the ladies to keep him from settling there. He was finally induced to come out and tell them that the guideboard said, 'St. Hilaire, 3 miles.'"

To Have a Big Time
At St. Hilaire on July Fourth
All Kinds of Fun. Come Early.

"Arrangements are about completed for the big Fourth of July celebration next Tuesday. It will be noisy in the early morning hours and you might as well get up early and commence to celebrate. The firemen will have one of the largest boweries ever built here. It will be used for the exercises in the morning and Hon. Ira C. Richardson's oration will be delivered there.

"The celebrated Red Lake Falls band, twenty-seven strong, will come early and have sent word that there will be plenty of music of the right kind. Besides this our own boys can play some and they are preparing to surprise their friends on that day.

"The big baseball game is going to be the feature of the day. The White Earth Indians have served notice on their Thief River Falls opponents that some of their best ball players have just returned from school and that there will surely be something doing in the ball playing line. It is going to be a great game and you can't afford to miss it.

"As soon as the ball game is over, we will have the races. The committee on sports has prepared for horse races, all kinds of foot races, potato, sack and wheelbarrow races, fireman's flag race and other amusements.

"The bowery dance will start early and continue until the dawn of another day at least.

"In the evening the committee on fireworks promise a rare treat as they claim the biggest and best assortment of fireworks on hand that ever came this way.

"All of our friends are cordially invited to come and have a good time with us. It will be the business of every citizen of St. Hilaire to do everything in their power to make the day a pleasant one for the visitors."

Petition Is Denied

"Thief River Falls has lost out again in the Red Lake county seat removal fight, says Wednesday's Crookston Times: Last evening in this city Attorneys Richardson of Thief River Falls and Grady and Boughton of Red Lake Falls appeared before Judge Watts in an action in intervention which Thief River Falls petitioned for. Some time ago Wm. Erb, a resident of Red Lake county, secured a writ of mandamus compelling the action of the county board in regard to the Thief River removal petition or a showing of cause why action should not be taken in the matter. Thief River Falls people claim that Erb is plugging for Red Lake Falls and that his only intention in securing the mandamus was to prevent them from applying for the writ.

"In proof of this contention, residents of the Upper Falls insist that the Red Lake Falls people bought up the telephone line from Red Lake Falls to Judge Watts' chambers in this city so as to prevent their rivals from getting to the judge with an application in advance of them. Immediately after the county board of commissioners adjourned, without considering the petition of the Thief River removalists, Erb who had his telephonic communications ready, applied for and obtained a mandamus, thus forestalling Thief Riverites who had the same notion but reached the judge's ear two minutes too late. Now Thief River comes forward and insists that she be made a party to the Erb mandamus and petitions for the right of an intervention. At court last evening, Judge Watts refused such rights and the mandamus as now issued will have to stand with Erb the principal party to it.

"As a result it is confidently stated by Red Lake Falls people that the board of county commissioners will refuse to act upon the Thief River petition and will upon July 11th, the date the writ was made returnable, show cause why such action is not taken. What Thief River Falls will do next is a matter of speculation, but unusual developments are expected. The fight so far has been a bitter legal battle between attorneys of this city, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls."

To Store the Logs

"This has been Manager Pettibone's busy week. Pat Sullivan is at the upper sorting works with a large drive for the Grand Forks Lumber company. In this drive there is also three or four million for this place and the booms are nearly full. Every available space is being filled and Mr. Pettibone now hopes to be able to take care of all the logs and let Sullivan's pass. He was afraid the first of the week that he would be compelled to let several million go down to Crookston but it looks now as if all could be cared for here."

Exit Wylie

"For the first time since 1883 the people of Wylie will today be without mail service by train, the Great Northern surrendering their mail contract and a star route commencing from Red Lake Falls. The railroad company has as yet made no announcement as to whether they will continue to run the freight train down there but it is thought that the service will be irregular, if at all. The property owners of Wylie have taken the matter up with the Great Northern officials, but no agreement has been reached. Legal authorities have been consulted and unless the company comes forward with damages the chances for a big legal fight are excellent. The railroad company seems determined to wipe Wylie off the map. They will no longer sell through tickets to that point and their new folders do not name it as a station.

Turning Back The Times...

Ten Years At A Time

Odd Fellows Honor Veteran Members

"Veteran members were honored at Past Grands' Nite of Young Pine Lodge of the Odd Fellows held Tuesday evening, June 21. Thomas O. Maanum of Thief River Falls was the honored guest of the evening when he was presented with the fifty-year jewel in recognition of his long membership in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

"Rev. E. C. Mead, as master of ceremonies, made the presentation with appropriate remarks. Maanum responded with a brief review of the past years. Rev. Mead presented 25-year buttons to John S. Groff of Goodridge and Elmer R. Johnson and Andrew Grendahl of this city. Rev. Mead also presented the lodge with a picture of C. Herb Jung, past grand master.

"Past Grand V. F. Robarge conducted the meeting, with past grands of the lodge filling all of the officers' chairs, including Carl Hovie, C. Herb Jung, Herman A. Kjos, Rene Werner, Elmer Johnson, Andrew Grendahl, A. G. Gabrielson, J. W. Ruane, Willie Rondorf, Christ Bang, Morris Odegaard and Millard Nelson.

"A memorial service was held paying tribute to the members now deceased."

Legion Municipal Band To Present Concert Friday

"The Thief River Falls Legion municipal band will present its first outdoor concert of the summer season Friday evening, July 1, at 9 o'clock in the Westside park, it was announced today by Alvin Anderson, director. He added that a varied program of overtures, marches and popular selections will be offered."

Former Owner Of Pennington Hotel Shoots At Bandit

"Allan R. Burrill, president of the Citizens state bank of St. Louis Park, Minnesota, and former owner of the Pennington Hotel in Thief River Falls, late Monday morning fired rifle shots at a bandit who had just held up a teller in the bank, but none of the shots apparently took effect and the man made his get-away with more than $10,000.

"After gathering his loot from the tellers' cages, the bandit made his way toward the rear door, but Burrill had other plans. Burrill had been notified by his son, Dan, a loan officer, that a robbery was taking place. He rushed from his office with a loaded 30-30 rifle.

"As a customer in Burrill's office, Eugene H. Cooper, Robbinsdale, phoned police, Burrill shouted at the fifteen persons in the bank to take cover and opened fire on the bandit.

"He believes he fired four shots and that the third caught the bandit in the shoulder. Burrill said he is a 'former deer hunter.' The bandit, however, made his escape, speeding away in a car which had been stolen in Minneapolis last Thursday."

Mayor Israelson Wins Third Place In Milking Contest

"Mayor Agnes Israelson demonstrated her proficiency at milking cows last week when she participated in a mayors' milking contest held as a feature of a dairy day festival at Greenbush. She won third place in the contest, first honors going to Mayor Phillip Erickson of Badger and second to Mayor Loyal Ostad of Karlstad."

Bitten By a Mad Dog
Sam Johnson, a Farmer Living Near St. Hilaire, Taken to Chicago

"Sam Johnson, a farmer living near St. Hilaire, received a severe bite from his dog last Saturday.

"The dog for the last few days had been acting in a very peculiar manner. It frothed about the mouth and gave various other indications of madness.

"Mr. Johnson noticed that nearly all his animals, horses, pigs and chickens had been bitten.

"Saturday the dog sprang at him and bit his hand. The farmer immediately ran for a wagon, from which he was able to defend himself from the infuriated animal. Later on in the day, he borrowed a gun from his neighbor and shot the dog. But the dog had done its work. Johnson's hand commenced to swell in an alarming manner. Dr. Pleth was telephoned for and arrived at the farm house Sunday morning. The doctor advised him to prepare immediately to go to Chicago.

"Mr. Johnson left Sunday evening for that city, where he will attend the Lagolio Institute. He will be given the Pasteur treatment to avert the development of hydrophobia, but it is doubtful whether, the disease can be checked or not."

Was All Right
Gollmar Brothers Circus a Very Creditable Show

"Gollmar Brothers circus gave a very creditable performance in this city Monday and all who attended were well pleased with the show. While it was not as large as some of the circuses upon the road, they have some excellent performers, well trained horses and all that goes to make up a first class show. Their employes were all courteous and no grafting was allowed upon the grounds. At the afternoon performance some over 3,500 admission tickets were sold and about half as many attended the evening performance."

Circus Men Paid Off Here

"Sunday was pay day with the men employed by Gollmar Brothers show, and, as a result, the men left a large amount of cash with the merchants of this city. Some of the clothing dealers opened up their stores Sunday afternoon to accommodate the circus people.

"Pay day with the circus usually disrupts things for a few days, but the fact that the saloons were closed on Sunday and that most of the men had to spend their money for clothing, made it an uneventful day here. The Messrs. Gollmar were pleased to see it pass off so quietly."

Pertinent Pointer

"C. J. Knox: One of my neighbor homesteaders south of the Red Lake river was in town recently and informed the people that there was not a single mosquito in our neighborhood. He was right. They are all married and have large families."

Picnic Supper

"A picnic supper was given by a group of B Sharp Music club members at the Tourist Park Thursday evening. Miss Norma Batchelder, treasurer of the club for the past year, who is leaving soon for St. Paul to make her home, was the guest of honor. Those participating were Mrs. Thelma Holm Erickson, the Misses Margaret Fabrick, Norma Batchelder, Lois Oden, Virginia Quale, Palma Langseth, Violet Rhodegaard, Karen Langseth and Ruth Bessler, and Kenneth Pope and Luverne Rolland."

Birthday Party

"Complimenting her daughter, Kathleen, who was four years old Monday, Mrs. P. D. Scanlan entertained a group of little boys and girls at a birthday party at her home Saturday afternoon, between the hours of three and six. At 5 o'clock a delightful luncheon was served at an attractively decorated table on the lawn. The guests included Kathleen and Jackie Scanlan, Ione Newberry, Ruth and Robert Paulson, Joan Evenson, Jewel Warner, Bernita Falk, Ardith and Marilyn Ostby, Adrian and James Magnuson, Barbara Fast, Janet Mickelson, Dale Larson and Joyce Bennes."

4-H Club Enjoys Outing

"Members of the local 4-H club accompanied by their leader, Miss Edna Hovie, motored Saturday to the Red Lake Narrows where they enjoyed an outing, returning the following day. Those who attended were: Rufus, Amos and Iona Olson, Johan, Mary and George Biskey, Edna, Vera and Alton Almquist, Woodrow, Glen and Helen Wilson, Robert, Alice and Hubert Huff, Mrs. W. Ewing and son, Dean, James Norman, Ronald Nelson, Arlo Jacobson, Vernon Lindquist, Manford Dahle, Verle Durbin, Pearl Ortloff, Stella Peterson, Eva Harder and Clarence Hovie."

Goodridge Parish
O. O. Bjorgan, Pastor

"Goodridge Lutheran church: services at the Torgus Hegtvet home at 11 a.m.

"The Luther League will meet at the same place in the afternoon. Talk by Theo. Quale of Thief River Falls.

"Bethania: the parochial school will give a program Sunday evening at 8 o'clock."

Mavie Lutheran Church
E. O. Sabo, Pastor

"Sunday, June 29, services in the Silverton church at 11 a.m.

"The confirmands will meet after services.

"The Telemarken YP [Young People's] Society will be entertained Sunday afternoon June 29 by Mrs. Torjus Hemmestvedt Jr., and Mrs. Aanun Haugen at the Hemmestvedt home.

"The Zion Ladies Aid at Germantown will be entertained Sunday afternoon June 29 by Mrs. Amanda Nelson at the Nelson home.

"The Telemarken confirmation class will meet Monday, June 30 at 10 a.m."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

THE RIGHT TO VERIFICATION OF THE DEBT AND IDENTIFICATION OF THE ORIGINAL CREDITOR WITHIN THE TIME PROVIDED BY LAW IS NOT AFFECTED BY THIS ACTION.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN: That default has occurred in the conditions of the mortgage dated June 1, 2001, executed by Brandeis J. Ohlberg and Deah A. Ohlberg, husband and wife, as mortgagors, to Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, a corporation, as mortgagee, recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Pennington County, on June 1,2001 as Document No. 162894, which mortgage conveyed and mortgaged the following described property, situated in the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota:

That part of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section Twenty-four (24), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North of Range Forty-two (42) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian described as follows:

Commencing at the Southeast corner of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4); thence in a westerly direction along the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 1,290 feet to the point of beginning; thence in a northerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 1,000 feet; thence in an easterly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 160 feet; thence in a northerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 600 feet; thence in a westerly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 560 feet; thence in a southerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 600 feet; thence in an easterly direction along a line parallel with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) a distance of 300 feet; thence in a southerly direction along a line parallel with the East line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) to the point of intersection with the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4); thence in an easterly direction along the South line of said Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) to the point of beginning.

That said mortgage was assigned, by written assignment, recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Pennington County, Minnesota as follows: Assignor: Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, Assignee: Minnesota Housing Finance Agency.

That the original principal amount secured by said mortgage was $57,000.00; that there has been compliance with any condition precedent to acceleration of the debt secured by said mortgage and foreclosure of said mortgage required by said mortgage, any note secured thereby, or any regulation or statute; that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; that there is claimed to be due upon said mortgage and is due thereon at the date of this notice, the sum of $55,698.00.

That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the above described premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which said sale will be made by the Sheriff of Pennington County, Minnesota, in the lobby of the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center, 102 First St. West, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County on August 9, 2005,at 10:00 AM, at public auction to the highest bidder, to pay the amount then due on said mortgage, together with the costs of foreclosure, including attorneys' fees as allowed by law, in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage. The time allowed by law for redemption by the mortgagors or the personal representatives or assigns of the mortgagors is 6 months from the date of said sale.

THIS COMMUNICATION IS FROM A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT. ANY INFORMATION WILL BE USED FOR THIS PURPOSE.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

MARCH 22nd, 2005 – 5:00 P.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, March 22nd, 2005 at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Oliver "Skip" Swanson, Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Donald Jensen and Arden "Bud" Comstock. Members absent: none.

Ken Yutrzenka, Human Services Director, presented the recommendations from the March 15th, 2005 meeting of the Pennington County Human Services Committee.

On motion by Commissioner Jensen, and seconded by Commissioner Comstock, the following recommendations of the Pennington County Human Service Committee for March 15, 2005 (detailed minutes on record at Pennington County Human Services) are hereby adopted: Motion unanimously carried.

SECTION A

I. Approval of the minutes from the February 15, 2005 Human Service Committee meeting.

II. Approval of the Personnel Action as presented.

III. A. Approval to forward an Application for Need Determination submitted by the Habilitation and Training Center to the Minnesota Department of Human Services supporting an increase in license capacity from thirty-nine (39) to forty-eight (48).

B. To approve a revised Purchase of Service Agreement between Pennington County Human Services and Northwest Medical Center for the provision of Mental Health Services.

C. To adopt the Department of Human Services CDCS Lead Agency Operations Manual as the County's procedures and policies for provision of Consumer Directed Community Supports.

D. To approve the purchase of floor mats for the Human Service building from Lystads, Inc. per quoted price.

SECTION B

I. Approval of the Agency's Agenda of Social Service, Income Maintenance and special case activities as presented.

II. Approval for payment of Agency's bills.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the following licenses for the Thief River Falls Golf Club. Liquor, Sunday Liquor, 3.2 On & Off sale. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appoint Commissioner Swanson to the Northwest Regional Development Commission Board for a four year term ending December 31, 2008. Motion unanimously carried.

A quote for replacement of the doors on the southwest corner of the courthouse and replacement of bathroom faucets in the courthouse were discussed. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to have the Building Committee review both items. Motion unanimously carried.

Steve Stone, County Veterans Service Officer requested a review of the Veterans Service Officer pay schedule, using a comparison of other Veteran's Service Officers in comparable positions. Moved by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to have the County Comparable Worth Committee review this request. Motion unanimously carried. The County Board asked Mr. Stone to provide comparable pay schedules from surrounding counties.

Howard Person, Solid Waste Officer and Kent Hudson, Lee's Sanitation discussed repairs to exit signs and emergency lighting. Moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to replace or repair exit signs and emergency lighting in the transfer station in an amount up to $500. Motion unanimously carried. The County Board also discussed the problem with the roof over the office area and the problems with the load out area.

The County Board then opened the meeting for a discussion on improvements to Barzen Avenue. Mark Larson, President of Digi-Key, Ron Lindberg, City of Thief River Falls, County Engineer, Mike Flaagan and Assistant Engineer, George Broadwell were in attendance. Mark Larson presented a petition signed by 739 employees requesting improvements to Barzen Avenue from the Digi-Key property north to First Street.

Digi-Key has offered to pay $75,000 towards the project which is estimated as half the cost of the project. There is also a petition at the Country Side Mobile Home Park that will be coming in soon. Ron Lindberg added that the City of Thief River Falls has approved bidding this project subject to review of the Engineering firm hired by Arctic Cat Inc. to determine any flooding potential if the road is lowered. The report is due by April 4th, 2005 from JOR Engineering. The request is that the County reconsider their decision to appropriate $15,000 to this project and increase that amount to $25,000. The County Board then discussed where the additional $10,000 for this project could come from. Commissioner Carlson suggested we transfer the appropriation of $10,000 to Job's Inc. to this project. The decision of where the funds would come from would be decided at a later date. Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to appropriate an additional $10,000 for a total of $25,000 toward the Barzen Avenue Improvement project. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer noted that the bid for paving Mark Boulevard in Rocksbury Township was included in the City of Thief River Falls Street Improvement bid package.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to authorize the County Engineer and County Auditor to advertise for bids for S.P. 57-627-10 to be opened at 10:00 a.m., May 10th, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Jensen to authorize the County Engineer to advertise for seasonal employees. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer then reviewed the Co-Tenancy Agreement with MNDOT, MNDNR and Pennington County as currently drafted. This was only a draft and the Engineer would return with a final draft at a future meeting.

The County Board asked the County Engineer to contact the Marshall County Engineer to see if there was any way Pennington County could connect into the proposed ATV trail.

Moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the agreement between the State of Minnesota Commissioner of Correction and Pennington County to house the Institution Community Work Crew (ICWC) inmates in the Pennington County Jail Facility from July 1, 2005 to June 30, 2007. Motion unanimously carried.

Angela Malone, Oakland Park Home Administrator met with the County Board to request authority to sheet rock the storage building and get quotes for the electrical wiring. The sheet rock could be installed in-house or with the STS work crew. The County Board approved obtaining quotes for electrical wiring of the storage facility.

Bryan Malone, Pennington County Soil & Water Conservation District Administrator discussed a plan to restore 48.5 acres in native vegetation to qualify for a wetland back. The County Board requested that Mr. Malone proceed with this plan and have it submitted to the Corps of Engineers.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the minutes of March 8th, 2005 as written. Motion carried.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to appropriate $1,000 to the Pennington County Historical Society for any expenses incurred with the Barn Again Project. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Comstock, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve payment of the following Commissioner Warrants. Motion unanimously carried.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS

APRIL 26, 2005, 5:00 PM

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Board Room in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday April 26, 2005 at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Arden "Bud" Comstock, Donald Jensen (5:15 p.m.), and Oliver "Skip" Swanson. Members absent: Charles Naplin.

Ken Yutrzenka, Human Services Director, presented the recommendations for the April 19, 2005 Human Services Committee meeting. On a motion by Commissioner Swanson and seconded by Commissioner Carlson, the following recommendations for the Pennington County Human Service Committee for April 19, 2005. (detailed minutes on record at Pennington County Human Services) are hereby adopted: Motion unanimously carried.

SECTION A

I. Approval of the minutes from the March 15, 2005 Human Service Committee meeting.

II. A. Approval to forward Redetermination of Need outcomes to the Minnesota Department of Human Services recommending continuation of DT & H Services as currently licensed and provided for both Falls DAC and the Occupational Development Center's (ODC) Habilitation and Training Center.

B. Approval to acquire cellular telephone service (2 phones and accompanying service) from Unicel in accordance with Agency specifications.

SECTION B

I. Approval of the Agency's Social Service and Income Maintenance case activity as presented.

II. Approval for payment of the Agency's bills as listed.

Ken Yutrzenka also presented a request from Valley Home for a letter of support for construction of 24 assisted living units for clients with dementia. Moved by Commissioner Carlson and seconded by Commissioner Swanson to send a letter of support for Valley Home's expansion plans. Motion unanimously carried.

Ray Safranski, representing the Pennington County Fair Association, presented the 2004 Financial Report and 2005 Budget. A request was made to continue the subsidy at $10,000 which is the amount included in the County's 2005 budget. Mr. Safranski also asked if it was possible to get some gravel on the parking lot west of the Ralph Engelstad Arena. The County Engineer was asked to look at this area to see what is needed to improve parking in that lot.

Howard Person informed the County Board he had received one quote to fix the roof over the office area of the transfer station and will attempt to secure at least one more quote. Mr. Person noted that there is interest in recycling glass and the County Engineer has indicated they could use the glass in road beds when being rebuilt. Howard has located a glass crusher that could be purchased at an approximate cost of $2,500. SCORE grant funds could be used for this purchase. Commissioner Jensen moved and Commissioner Swanson seconded to purchase a glass crusher at an approximate cost of $2,500 with SCORE grant funds. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board discussed a request by Mr. Person to purchase up to three (3) recycling roll offs from SCORE funds at a cost of $6,000 each. The recycling containers will be placed in locations similar to the newspaper recycling containers to promote additional recycling. The County Board agreed to purchase two recycling containers to be placed in the City of Thief River Falls if the City of Thief River Falls agreed to pay the tipping fee.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, second by Commissioner Jensen, to give approval to Lee's Sanitation to place a sign on the County's property with the understanding that if the County sells the property it may need to be removed. Motion unanimously carried.

At 6:10 p.m. Commissioner Swanson left the meeting to attend the Northwest Regional Development Commission meeting.

County Engineer, Mike Flaagan, and County Attorney, Dave Olin, discussed the Joint Use Facility Management Contract. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the Joint Use Facility Management Contract as written. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board then took up the issue of the crack sealing bids that were tabled at the last County Board meeting. The County Attorney recommends that the bids be rejected and that the project be rebid. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to reject all crack sealing bids and to rebid for crack sealing with the bids to be opened June 1, 2005, 8:00 a.m. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board denied the Transportation Alliance request for an additional contribution.

The Road, Bridge and Culvert Inspection schedule for April 15, 2005 was cancelled. May 9, 2005, 8:00 a.m. was selected as the date for the Road, Bridge and Culvert inspection meeting.

The County Board discussed the County Engineer salary that would be effective May 1, 2005. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to set the County Engineer salary at $68,500 effective May 1, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Jensen moved, second by Commissioner Carlson to authorize the planting of trees in the buffer area of the Welfare parking lot in an amount not to exceed $700. Motion unanimously carried. To be paid by Auditor's Warrant.

County Assessor, Adeline Olson, presented three applications for abatements using the local option to disaster. All three were due to fires in 2005 and result in reduction of value in 2005 for taxes payable in 2006. Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the local option to disaster abatement for Jared Vettleson, parcel #09.018.044.00, reducing the value of the property by $7,400 due to a fire that destroyed the mobile home on March 9, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, second by Commissioner Jensen to approve the local option disaster abatement for Raymond and Tammy Swick, parcel #16.006.091.00, reducing the value of the property by $4,500 due to a fire that destroyed a pole garage on January 5, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jenson, second by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the local option to disaster abatement for Allan Holmgren, parcel #15.006.37.00, reducing the value of the property by $38,700 due to a fire that destroyed the house on March 24, 2005. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the issuance of a satisfaction of mortgage document for Oleen Kriel and Anthony and Laura Rubischko and authorize the County Board Chairman to sign both. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Jensen, second by Commissioner Carlson, to approve the minutes from the March 22, 2005 as written. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Carlson, second by Commissioner Jensen, to make the following letter from William F. Clump Jr., Assistant Attorney General to the County Attorney is part of the County Board proceedings. Motion unanimously carried.

"Thanks very much for the referral in this tragic and challenging case. I hope that the citizens of Pennington County are satisfied that we have done everything possible to bring justice for the murder of the little Rose Heden.

I would also like to thank you for your support of the litigation in this case and for Al Rogalla's involvement. I truly enjoyed working with Al and found him to be a hard-working and talented attorney. He is a great asset to your office."

Governor Tim Pawlenty comments on Grand Forks and Duluth base proposals

June 23, 2005, submitted testimony regarding Grand Forks

Commissioners, thank you for coming to our part of the country to listen to our concerns.

When the Congress created the Base Realignment And Closure (BRAC) process, they created a powerful tool for getting the most out of our defense dollars. But like any powerful tool, it must be used carefully or unforeseen damage can occur. That is your responsibility.

We appreciate the Air Force's recommendation to keep the Grand Forks Air Force base open and to find alternative missions. As future missions are considered for Grand Forks, we urge you maintain this base as a core facility.

The Grand Forks Air Force base has played an important role in protecting our national security and it has an enormous economic impact on the surrounding area, both in North Dakota and Minnesota. This area has already endured difficult economic times. Unfortunately, new job opportunities are often limited. The Air Force receives outstanding value from the Minnesotans and North Dakotans who work on the base because they are extremely motivated. We would hope that as the Commission reviews the Air Force's data, that you would consider productivity and work ethic as part of your analysis.

Skilled, trained and hardworking people are an important asset to our military. As you consider the Air Force's recommendation, I hope you will consider these factors. Keeping the base at strong staffing levels is important not just to North Dakota, but to Minnesota as well.

Thank you for your attention.

Submitted testimony regarding Duluth

Commissioners, thank you for coming to our part of the country to listen to our concerns.

When the Congress created the Base Realignment and Closure process, they created a powerful tool for getting the most out of our defense dollars. But like any powerful tool, it must be used carefully or unforeseen damage can occur. That is your responsibility.

I want to make two points.

First, while we are pleased that the Department of Defense has recommended that the Duluth air base remain open, we are very concerned about related recommendations that encourage an accelerated retirement of the 15 F-16s which make up the 148th Fighter Wing.

There have essentially been two processes going on at the same time – the BRAC process and the Air Force's Future Total Force (FTF) decisions.

For the Air Force to include an FTF decision like retiring the F-16s as part of their BRAC recommendation violates the purpose and intent of Congress when it set up BRAC. We believe the role of BRAC is to look at facilities, not evaluate or change missions. An F-16 is not a facility.

I am appreciative of the Commission's desire to further explore this issue during a hearing currently scheduled on June 30, 2005 in Atlanta, Georgia.

Second, as a Governor, I am concerned about Homeland Security and Homeland Defense in my state. Maintaining a viable Air National Guard force in Northern Minnesota is essential. Additionally, with Duluth's proximity to the growing Twin Cities metropolitan area, I strongly agree with the Air Force's recommendation to maintain an air sovereignty alert site in Duluth.

We also need to have capabilities to respond to the state mission. We have the best National Guard in the country and some of the highest rates of recruitment and retention in the Air National Guard. If we are going to continue to recruit and retain Guard members, we need aircraft for them to operate.

We know that eventually the F-16s will be retired. We are having fruitful discussions with the Air Force about follow-on missions.

But you should not allow the BRAC process to be used in a manner in which it was never intended, or accept recommendations without fully appreciating the assets Duluth represents.

Thank you for the opportunity to appear before you.

County hears complaints about Watershed

Pennington County Board supports public hearing on actions of Middle-Tamarac-Snake Rivers Watershed Board

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

At its June 28 meeting, the Pennington County Board of Commissioners approved a resolution offering full support and cooperation to the Marshall County Board of Commissioners, as [Marshall County] determines whether to hold a public hearing to determine if cause exists to remove members of the Middle-Tamarac-Snake Rivers Watershed.

Based on a ruling from the Minnesota attorney general, county boards have the authority to remove members that it appointed to a board, provided there is just cause, a notice and a hearing.

Cited by citizens who live within the watershed's boundaries, Jim Stengrim, Wally Diedrich and John Omdahl, believe the MTSRWD board members have committed or condoned statutory violations, obstructed public participation and shirked their fiscal and administrative duties. Also alarming to residents who live within the watershed's boundaries, is the fact that the watershed bounds through five counties, (Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Roseau and Kittson) but its seven member board includes six representatives from Marshall County and one from Polk, leaving Pennington, Roseau and Kittson without representation.

Watersheds have the ability to levy taxes, so This according to Stengrim, is taxation without representation.

Stengrim also cited examples of the MTSRWD board: closing its meetings without adequate statutory cause and without notice; and failing to comply with Minnesota Statute Chapter 103D by establishing a project that requires condemnation of privately owned property for purposes not permitted under Chapter 103D.

Stengrim also stated that the MTSRWD failed to comply with Minnesota Statute 103D.355, which requires the watershed to conduct an annual audit by a public accountant or the state auditor. According to a document provided by Stengrim, MTSRWD Engineer Ron Adrian admitted under oath that the MTSRWD did not conduct annual audits as required by statute until 2003. Also cited: The MTSRWD improperly disbursed grant funds and was required to repay $850,000; and The MTSRWD failed to comply with Minnesota Statute 103D.341 in establishing new rules to restrict public participation in its meetings.

According to Lindquist & Vennum, legal representation for the group who is asking for the removal of board members, "the MTSRWD distributed to board members a proposed rule that prohibits oral public comment unless the board invites comment. The proposed rule allows a person to appear before the board only if he or she provides a written form, five days prior to the meeting, identifying the topic to be discussed."

Solid Waste items

• Pennington County Solid Waste Officer Howard Person reported that the load out area of the county solid waste transfer station had been repaired. The load out area wall, which was caving in due to settling, was straightened out and anchored to concrete peers. Person said he would contact Robert Finstad to start on the roof repair portion of the project.

• Discussion on a potential road to divert cars away from buried concrete anchors was introduced. The plan would include sloping dirt away from the existing walls on the southeast side of the transfer station. The dirt area would be landscaped and a gravel road would be installed away from the anchors.

The possibility of adding a new ditch crossing and driveway was introduced. It would essentially be a straight driveway from the household hazardous waste drop off garage door to 130th Ave. NE.

Person said he received a bid from Breiland Landscaping totalling

Area Watershed board responds to complaints

by Scott DCamp

Several complaints about the meeting practices of the Middle-Tamarac-Snake River Watershed District Board of Managers were presented to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners by three residents who live within the boundaries of the MTSRWD, Jim Stengrim, Wally Diedrich and John Omdahl, during the June 28 meeting of the Pennington County Board of Commissioners. A document listing complaints against the watershed board was compiled by Eric A. Bartsch of the law firm Lindquist & Vennum. Two MTSWD board members, Manager Tracy Anderson and President Doug Sorenson, responded to complaints made in the Lindquist & Vennum document.

Anderson responded to complaints that the MTSWD Board failed to comply with Minnesota Data Practices Act, Open Meeting Law and failed to comply with Minnesota Statute 103D.355 in conducting annual audits, saying, "The watershed is operating within the framework of the law." "The state auditor sent a letter and found nothing wrong. Open meeting laws are being complied with according to all the information we have received from the Minnesota Counties Insurance Trust and our attorneys."

Anderson also responded to a complaint listed in the Lindquist & Vennum document, that stated the MTSRWD failed to comply with Minnesota Statute 103D.341 in establishing new rules to restrict public participation in its meetings. According to the complaint, "A watershed district board may adopt only those rules that accomplish the statutory purposes of the district and implement the powers of the

TRF City Council approves improvements for Wal-Mart

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Two items related to the construction of a Wal-Mart store were approved by the Thief River Falls City Council at its June 28 meeting. Among the items were street and utilities improvements, and a Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) agreement for a traffic control signal system.

Those items were approved subject to the city's receipt of the Wal-Mart developer's agreement, which will stipulate the city and Wal-Mart's responsibilities regarding the project.

Among those items was the approval of Mark II's low bid for the Sherwood Avenue and Nelson Drive improvements near the future Wal-Mart site. The Fosston firm bid $403,914.15 for the project. A change order in the amount of an additional $248,339.10 was also approved for that project as Mark II has already received the low bid for the remainder of the 2005 Street and Utilities Improvement Project.

That $248,339.10 change order includes $214,299.10 for improvements related to Wal-Mart, which will reimburse the city. The change order resulted from the delay of the city's receipt of the Wal-Mart developer's agreement.

Wal-Mart is expected to close on its intended site along Highway 59 Southeast sometime in the near future. After that time, it is expected to sign the developer's agreement with the city.

The remaining $34,040 of the change order covers the bituminous paving of Mark Boulevard, east of Highway 32. That money will be paid by Rocksbury Township.

Public Works Director Ron Lindberg said Mark Boulevard was originally one of this year's construction projects. Rocksbury Township requested the paving, but was not sure if it had the money for that project.

However, it now has the money for the project. "We'd be helping out the township because the bid prices we got were very reasonable," Lindberg said.

City Attorney Paul Ihle noted the $34,040 for Mark Boulevard is in escrow.

Council members also approved

Colorful Reflection

Red fireworks reflected over the water Monday at Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Waterpark's fireworks display. Despite the cool weather many area residents chose to finish their long holiday weekend by watching the fireworks display.

Dr. Don and Ruth Goodrich will soon leave Thief River Falls for Mora. Don, who has served as a dentist here for the past 42 years, is retiring. Ruth has helped at the dental office over the years. They are moving to Mora to be closer to their grandchildren. Don has not found anyone to take over his dental practice.

Crowns and bridges are a thing of the past for Dr. Goodrich

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

There will be no more crowns, bridges or fillings for Dr. Don Goodrich. That is unless he needs some of his own.

For the past 42 years, Don has worked as a dentist in Thief River Falls. On Thursday, he retired and closed his dental office for the last time.

"I hope to enjoy some retirement time and be closer to my grandchildren," said Don, who will be moving to Mora.

Ever since he turned 65, Don has been trying to find someone to buy his practice. He couldn't find anyone to take it over, but he's retiring anyway.

"I'm 67 years old, and it's time," Don said.

It's past time, said his wife, Ruth, about Don's upcoming retirement. For the past few years, they have been making plans for the moment when Don would say adieu to his dentistry practice.

"We plan to travel and do more golfing and fishing," Ruth said.

"We hope to take more than a week off," said Don, who noted they seldom took more than 10 days off.

However, they will miss the people they have met here. At the time of his retirement, Don had more than 1,200 active patients. One of his patients was with him practically from the beginning, he noted.

"There's a lot of patients to say goodbye to," said Don. "They're so appreciative."

They're not the only people who are appreciative. "He's a good boss, and I will miss the job," said Valarie Torstveit, who worked as Don's office manager and has worked with him for at least 15 years. "We tried to talk him into staying longer."

Don almost worked in a different field – architecture. He had thought about becoming an architect prior to entering dental school. His new bride, who he married shortly after their 1956 Warren High School graduation, wanted him to become an architect. Instead, he was accepted into the University of Minnesota Dental School.

After Don completed his dentistry studies in 1963, he and Ruth returned to this area with their

Four juveniles have theft charges pending

Theft: On June 16 at 6:53 p.m., police received a report of a theft in the 600 block of Markley Ave. S. A $760 bike was stolen. After an investigation, four 13-year-old Thief River Falls males have charges pending for theft. Restitution has been requested.

Burglary: On June 25 at 11:05 a.m., police received a report of a burglary in the 100 block of Willow Rd. Someone stole a Canon ZR285 digital camcorder and a Mustek PL207 portable DVD player from a residence. The theft loss is estimated at $1,016. On June 26, the resident called police to report that corn dogs and five pizzas were stolen from the resident's freezer as well. The incident remains under investigation.

Malicious punishment of a child: On June 25 at 7:30 p.m., the sheriff's department received a report of malicious punishment of a child in Northside Trailer Court in St. Hilaire. Cheryl Lynn Peterson, 35, unknown address, allegedly grabbed a girl under the age of 13 by the hair and dragged her. Peterson then allegedly grabbed the girl by the arm and slapped her, causing the girl to bleed and suffer from abrasions. Peterson has charges pending for gross misdemeanor malicious punishment of a child.

Third degree driving while intoxicated: While on patrol June 27 at 11:06 p.m., police allegedly observed a vehicle speeding near the intersection of Eighth Street and Reserve Avenue. Michael Jon Loiland, 19, Thief River Falls, was cited for third degree driving while intoxicated.

Theft: On June 27, the sheriff's department received a report of a theft from the 17000 block of 130th Ave. N.E. A 444-watt Sony Exploid 10-inch amplifier and a Sony Exploid subwoofer were stolen from a vehicle. The theft loss is valued at $525. The incident remains under investigation.

Public nuisance: On June 28 at 11:44 p.m., police received a loud noise complaint regarding an apartment at Northland Village. Sharon Elaine Perkins, 37, Thief River Falls, allegedly had loud music playing at her apartment. She was cited for public nuisance.

Theft: On June 29 at 4 p.m., police received a report of theft at Kmart. An employee allegedly stole approximately $152 worth of items through the month of June, including DVDs, a dash globe plug, a laser pointer, soda, a cassette recorder and miscellaneous items. The 16-year-old Thief River Falls male has charges pending for theft. Restitution has been requested.

Underage consumption: On June 30 at 11:43 p.m., police received a report of a fight in the Country Acres Apartments parking lot. Sonny Allen Peltier, 19, Thief River Falls, and Nikki Lynn Olson, 19, Newfolden, were cited for underage consumption. A 17-year-old Thief River Falls male has charges pending for underage consumption. The report indicated more charges may be possible.

If readers have any information about the aforementioned crimes or offenses, they are urged to contact the Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Thief River Falls man receives sentence for terroristic threats

A Thief River Falls man was sentenced June 20 in Pennington County District Court on a felony charge of terroristic threats.

Joshua Caleb Crocker, 24, pled guilty to making terroristic threats. In a plea agreement, a charge of fifth degree assault was dismissed. A five-year stay of imposition was granted. Crocker was given credit for time served. He was placed on supervised probation for five years. Crocker was ordered to submit a DNA sample. An alcohol assessment was ordered. Crocker was also ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines. According to the criminal complaint, on Feb. 5, Crocker kicked and hit a female individual at Northland Village. The complaint indicated she had blacked out. Crocker also allegedly threatened to kill the woman.

Numerous traffic offenses and other misdemeanors are included in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

Thief River Falls Police Department cases: Beth Ann Limesand, 25, Oklee, theft, $170; Vicky Dawn Moman, 36, Thief River Falls, third degree driving while intoxicated, $828, one year in jail with all but 30 days stayed for two years, that sentence is to be served concurrently with other charges, unsupervised probation for two years, alcohol assessment; Ryan Lee Sorenson, 20, Warren, underage consumption, open bottle, $390, 40 days with all but 10 days stayed for one year.

Mattila named to Wisconsin-Madison dean's list

Nicholas Ronald Mattila, Thief River Falls, has been named to the University of Wisconsin-Madison dean's list for the spring semester 2005. To be eligible for the dean's list, students must complete a minimum of 12 graded degree credits in that semester. Schools or colleges typically require students to rank in the top 10 percent of their class or achieve a grade point average of 3.75 or higher in order to receive this honor.

Residents warned about fraud

Local residents are being warned about fraudulent checks some residents have received from the Royal Trust Fund Sweepstakes. A letter with the check tells residents to cash the check to pay for processing and insurance fees related to a sweepstakes they have supposedly won.

Blandin Foundation grants more than $9 million in June

The Blandin Foundation Board of Trustees approved $9,697,700 in new grants at its June board meeting.

The June 9 and 10 board meeting was held in Mahnomen and hosted by board member Helen Klassen and the White Earth Band of Chippewa.

The board approved seven statewide Community Economic Advantage grants, including $6.25 million to The Nature Conservancy to acquire forest conservation easements and up to $250,000 for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa.

The Red Lake Band of Chippewa was awarded a special grant in the wake of the March 21 tragedy on the reservation.

"The tragedy is so compelling to the foundation that we are working on an expedited basis to assist the tribe with emergency funding for youth activities as they requested," said Wade Fauth, grants director for the foundation.

According to a tribal outline submitted in May, the tribe "will use the Blandin grant to focus on the needs of our youth. In the outline, Floyd Jourdain, Jr., the tribal chairman, wrote, "The road to recovery will be long and difficult...We will use the Blandin grant to focus on the needs of our youth...We have experienced several suicide attempts, one completed, among our teenagers. We know from experience that the most successful ways of dealing with these problems is to connect or re-connect the young people, and their parents if necessary, to the strengths of our culture."

Local students participate in NDSCS commencement

The North Dakota State College of Science awarded degrees, diplomas and certificates to 658 graduates during its commencement ceremony on May 13, at the Clair T. Blikre Activities Center on the NDSCS campus.

Local students earning degrees included Clayton Brobst of Grygla, HVAC systems and technology; Matthew Thoreson of Hallock, electrical technology; Corinne Lunos of Roseau, computer information systems; Stephanie Haverland of Thief River Falls, liberal arts; and Danny Smsky of Thief River Falls, machinist and toolmaker.

Families sought to host exchange students

World Heritage, a public benefit organization, is seeking local families to host high school students from France, Germany, Thailand, Korea, Japan, Norway, Brazil, Russia, China, Switzerland, Denmark and Italy. Students are already awaiting word on their host families for the 2005-06 academic school year.

Host families provide room, board and guidance for a teenager living thousands of miles from home. Students are well screened and are selected based on academic performance, English proficiency, teacher recommendations and personal interviews. Couples, single parents, and families with or without children at home, who are adventurous, fun loving, responsible and most of all, caring, are all encouraged to apply.

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins in the fall. Each student is fully insured, brings their own personal spending money and expects to bear their share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyles.

For more information, call Karla Grimes at 1-800-888-9040 or visit the World Heritage Web site at www.world-heritage.org.

Former Goodridge resident earns doctor of dental surgery degree

Erica J. Nelson, formerly of Goodridge, was conferred the degree of doctor of dental surgery form the University of Minnesota School of Dentistry. Commencement ceremonies were held at Northrop Auditorium in Minneapolis on Friday, May 20.

Dr. Nelson will begin her career in the U.S. Navy serving as a lieutenant in the Dental Corps. She and her husband, Luke, will be moving to the Washington, D.C., area, where she will complete a year residency at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Nelson graduated from Fosston High School in 1996 and is the daughter of Mitchell and Mary Marquis of Fosston.

Minnesota Department of Commerce to investigate BlueCross BlueShield

Based on the findings of Minnesota State Auditor Pat Anderson, Commissioner Glenn Wilson has announced that the Minnesota Department of Commerce will investigate BlueCross BlueShield of Minnesota (BCBSM).

The auditor's special investigation found that the use of consulting contracts, diversion of administrative fees, and entanglement with BCBSM may be resulting in higher healthcare costs for school districts, employees, and taxpayers.

"School districts can't afford to waste money and they certainly can't afford to waste money on health insurance," said Commissioner Wilson. "I am very concerned about what the auditor's report says concerning the flow of money between the insurer, the consultant, and the cooperatives."

The matter was referred to the Department of Commerce - the primary regulator of BCBSM. The department will contact BCBSM to initiate an investigation into several issues identified in the auditor's report, including but not limited to:

- How premium prices were established for employees of the member school districts. The auditor reported that "in the past two years, three large school districts left one of the service cooperatives and obtained complete medical insurance for their employees at rates less than the amounts they were paying for self-insurance under the current cooperative - Blues contract."
- Who was responsible for the reserve account and how was it maintained. The auditor reported that "as self-insured entities, the service cooperatives are required to create and maintain reserve accounts. Once these reserve accounts are fully funded, they act as cushions against unexpected claims. It appears that some of the cooperatives are not monitoring reserves, but are relying almost exclusively on information provided to them by the Blues."
- What was the purpose of payments made by BCBSM to the cooperatives. The auditor reported that "the Blues pay seven of the cooperatives a 'research and development fee' (R&D). The payments appear to be paid due to the cooperatives' membership in a limited liability company. During 2003, $442,798 was placed into the R&D account by the Blues. During 2004, $427,583 was placed in the R&D account by the Blues and the service cooperatives."

The department's investigation will focus on determining whether BCBSM was violated any Minnesota insurance law. If violations are identified, sanctions could include administrative action and/or civil penalties.

TRF triathletes complete Ironman

Dr. Jim Langland and his son, Mike Langland, Thief River Falls, recently completed the Ford Ironman Coeur d'Alene Triathlon on Sunday, June 26 in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Mike Langland, a 2001 Lincoln High School graduate, completed the 2.4 mile swim, 112 mile bike ride and 26.2 mile marathon in 12:09:06. Jim finished the Ironman, which is his second Ironman event, in a time of 13:44:11 - 50 minutes faster than his 2002 Ironman Wisconsin time.

There were over 2000 entrants and 1657 finishers. The winner, Victor Zyemtsev of the Ukraine, finished in a time of 8 hours 23 minutes and 29 seconds.

Gjovik and Simmons announce July 8 wedding

Bert and Sandi Gjovik of Park Rapids, formerly of Strathcona, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Bobbi Gjovik, to Timothy Simmons, son of Rev. Thomas and Lynn Simmons of Cavalier, N.D.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Wadena Technical College in cosmetology and Trinity Bible College in Ellendale, N.D., with a two-year degree in business. She also graduated from the Skin and Body Institute in Grand Forks, N.D. Currently, she is working as a stylist at the JC Penney Salon in Grand Forks, N.D.

Her fiancée is a Cavalier high school graduate and attended Trinity Bible College. He is currently serving in Iraq with the North Dakota Army National Guard.

The wedding will be July 8, 2005 at the Gjovik family lake home near Park Rapids. An open house for the couple will be held at a later date.

Dokken and Leader announce wedding plans

Crystal Dokken and Jason Leader are pleased to announce their engagement and upcoming marriage.

Crystal is the daughter of Mark and Lynette Dokken of Roseau. She is a 1997 graduate of Roseau High School and is currently employed by Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls.

Jason is the son of John and Donna Mezeski of Newfolden and Larry and Sue Leader of Arlington, S.D. He is a 1992 graduate of Marshall County Central High School and is currently employed by Digi-Key Corp. in Thief River Falls.

Crystal and Jason will be married during a ceremony at the Floyd B. Olson Park in Thief River Falls at 4:30 p.m. on July 23, with a reception and dance to follow.

Corey and Dyer announce Aug. 6 wedding plans

Lynn and Tami Dyer are pleased to announce the engagement of their son, Matthew, to Kristin Corey, the daughter of Ron and Clarice Corey of Bowbells, N.D.

Kristin is a 2000 graduate of Bowbells High School in Bowbells, N.D., and a 2004 graduate of the University of North Dakota. She is employed by the Mayo Clinic in Rochester.

Matthew is a 1999 graduate of Lincoln High School and a 2004 graduate of the University of North Dakota. He is currently employed by the May Clinic in Rochester.

The couple will be married on Aug. 6, 2005 at St. Bernard's Church in Thief River Falls.

Glenice Johnson promoted to full professor

Glenice Johnson

Glenice Johnson, regional Extension educator at the Crookston Regional Center, has been promoted from associate professor to full professor with the University of Minnesota Extension Service, effective July 1, 2005.

She has been an Extension educator for 13 years and holds BS, MED, and MA degrees from the University of Minnesota, University of Maryland, and University of Northern Colorado.

Glenice Johnson served as a full-time faculty member at the University of Minnesota, Crookston, for 22 years prior to rejoining the Extension Service as Pennington County Extension Educator in 1997. Following Extension's reorganization in 2003, she began serving as a regional educator in northwestern Minnesota with expertise in family resource management.

"Providing practical, needed education on topics such as wise use of credit, family budgeting, identity theft, financial security in later life, or home buying is most rewarding", states Johnson. "Extension's wide variety of formats – workshops, web sites, information lines, learning circles, or public media – help us meet consumers' ever-changing needs and lifestyles."

Glenice's promotion recognizes her professional growth and achievement as an extension educator in the University of Minnesota Extension Service, according to Chuck Casey, Dean and Director.

"I am delighted to announce this promotion," Casey said. "While it does not change Glenice's responsibilities or assignment, it is a mark of distinction for her as a University of Minnesota faculty member."

Extension educators, who are all University of Minnesota Extension Service faculty members, provide educational programs and information to Minnesotans in support of the mission: connecting community needs and University resources.

Elliot M. Philipp shower July 10

When submitting an announcement, please be advised of our policy regarding weddings and engagements:

- Engagement announcements should be submitted at least 30 days prior to the wedding date.

Wedding write-ups will be published as follows:

- If the wedding took place within six weeks from date of receipt at The Times office, a detailed write-up will be published from information provided, along with a picture, if submitted.
- If the wedding took place from six to 12 weeks before submission to The Times, we will run a brief social announcement or a picture with a short caption stating names of the bride and groom, names and addresses of parents, date and place of wedding and where the couple is residing.
- If the wedding took place from three to six months before submission to The Times, we will run a brief story or short caption under a picture announcing when the wedding took place.
- There will be no publication of weddings after six months have elapsed.

Every effort will be made to publish the wedding write-up within two issues of receipt. Forms are available at The Times office to help in organizing information regarding weddings and engagements.

Local man named Minnesota's TOP weight loss winner

David Larson was tired of dealing with health issues and living life on the sidelines because of being overweight. He decided to take action and joined TOPS Club Inc.

This year, Larson, Thief River Falls, is the top weight-losing TOPS member in Minnesota. He lost a total of 151 pounds to his goal weight. Larson has been involved with TOPS for six years. He received his state crown at a ceremony held May 21 in Bloomington. He will be recognized in July at the TOPS Club Inc. International Recognition Days in Rapid City, S.D. Dave is excited about the win and the opportunity to represent Minnesota with all the other state royalty winners.

Barbara Cady, TOPS Club Inc. board president applauds the winners. "For decades our success numbers have proven the power of combining caring, concern and support with eating healthy and activity," Cady said.

Minnesota TOPS members lost a total of 27,562.25 pounds in 2004. Tops MN88, Thief River Falls, meets at 6 p.m. on Mondays at Northwest Medical Center.

Melbye receives Regional Outstanding Educator honors

The Northwest Minnesota Service Cooperative and the Center for Academic Excellence have announced that ADawn Melbye, a Lincoln High School teacher, has been named as a regional honoree in the WEM Foundation's 2005 Outstanding Educators Awards program.

Melbye is being honored in the Teacher Achievement Award category, which recognizes teachers who support, inspire and assist students to achieve despite barriers to learning.

Melbye, who teaches high school agriculture, was cited for her success in creating from scratch a hands-on, non-traditional agriculture program designed for students and their community. She used input from students and the community to define 10 areas of curriculum. As a result, she has helped less successful students find a learning interest in agriculture or FFA, and helping turn their academic careers around. She has also overseen the program's dramatic growth in participation by students of all levels of ability. Melbye also was cited for her use of student surveys to differentiate instruction for students participating in the program and for integrating the agricultural program with FFA program and career development activities.

To be educated for the WEM Foundation Outstanding Educator Awards program, educators must first be nominated by students, students' parents, community members, education officials or colleagues. Those who accept the nomination provide additional information for review and consideration by the Center for Academic Excellence and a blue ribbon selection panel, which reviews and ranks the nominees.

Six educators received statewide honors, and 18 educators were named as regional honorees for 2005 by the WEM Foundation.

Local man extricated after one-vehicle rollover

A local man was extricated from a vehicle with the Jaws of Life following a one-vehicle rollover Friday afternoon, according to the Thief River Falls Fire Department.

A Minnesota State Patrol report did not list whether David Ness, 70, Newfolden, was injured in the accident near the intersection of Highway 32 North and County Road 2, north of Thief River Falls.

At the time of the accident, Ness was driving a 1993 Pontiac Grand Prix on Highway 32. The State Patrol report did not indicate what caused the accident. It also did not indicate how much damage the vehicle incurred.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 4:33 p.m. Friday

Crowns and bridges are a thing of the past for Dr. Goodrich

children. At that time, Ruth recalled, there were six mouths to feed, including her's and Don's. When they moved here, Ruth said, most of their possessions were desks, cribs and bunk beds. While here, their family grew to include five children (one of whom died in 1964) and 17 grandchildren.

Once their kids got a little older, they decided to add to their family and serve as foster parents. "Since I was a child, I wanted my mom to take foster babies," said Ruth, who also occasionally helped at the dental office.

Over a 27-year period, the Goodrichs were foster parents to 32 foster children. One of them was Becky Whipps, who now resides in Fergus Falls.

"They made you feel like their house was yours and everything," said Becky, who was their foster daughter about 36 years ago. "They didn't make you feel left out."

Becky lived with the Goodrich family while she was 15 to 17 years old. She still stays in contact with the Goodrichs.

"They were very good foster parents to all the kids they took in when I was there," she said.

East Grand Forks resident Shelly Sutonen also stays in contact with the Goodrichs. She was the Goodrichs' foster daughter for about nine months until she turned 18. "They're just wonderful people," Shelly said about the Goodrichs.

In some instances, Ruth and Don don't know if they helped their foster children. Yet, Ruth said, they like to think they've made a difference in the lives of those children.

"We always instill in them the right values to pursue life so that they could make their way in life better," Don said.

Even though he was busy with his family and practice, Don also found time to serve the community. He joked that he served the community in order to get away from screaming kids.

All kidding aside, one of the mottos he tried to live by, he said, is the motto of the Jaycees, "Service to humanity is the best work in life."

Don was a member of the Jaycees, including serving as the vice chairman of one of its festivities – Aquacade. "I was very active in Jaycees," he said. Don also received the Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award.

Ruth served as a member of the Mrs. Jaycees, which is now known as the Thief River Falls Women of Today.

Don is a member of the Thief River Falls Lions Club. He served as the club's treasurer.

Moreover, Don has served as president of the Northwest District Board of Dentistry. He is a member of the Northwest District Dental Association.

In addition to that work, Don has served his church community. He has served the Evangelical Covenant Church (ECC) as its chairman, deacon, trustee, treasurer, Sunday School superintendent and youth director. He has also served as the ECC's Northwest Conference Board member. Don has served as the Bluewater Covenant Bible Camp Board chairperson as well.

Ruth has been involved as a Sunday school teacher and has served on the church's governing board. She has played organ and piano, and sang for the church as well.

"They've both given very faithfully and actively to the ministry of the church," said Rev. Merrill Kindall.

Don's other community service activities included serving on the Pennington County Fair Board and the state committee for economic development. He noted he helped Thief River Falls get its "Star City" designation through his work on the latter committee.

Besides his work at the state level of government, Don has also served as a Pennington County political party chairman. He served as a party delegate to state and county/district. In 1982, he ran for the Minnesota Senate.

From 1978 to 1985, Don also served as an alderman-at-large on the Thief River Falls City Council. Bob Carlson, who is now a Pennington County commissioner, served as the mayor of Thief River Falls while Don was in office as a city alderman. Bob said Don was "very concerned" with how the council spent taxpayer money.

Even though they sometimes had different political views, Bob said, "Dr. Goodrich was a very easy man to work with, a very dedicated councilman."

Don, along with Ruth, will miss the community he has served. He and Ruth said they will miss the people here the most when they move to Mora. Don added, "It's always been a wonderful place to live and raise a family."

TRF City Council approves improvements for Wal-Mart

a Mn/DOT agreement for a traffic control signal system at Highway 59 Southeast and Anthony Avenue, the future road leading to Wal-Mart. The agreement is estimated to cost $25,118.47. Wal-Mart will reimburse the city for that money.

City Council sent a rezoning request regarding the eastside of Atlantic Avenue, from Third to Eighth streets, back to the Planning Commission. The Planning Commission had recommended rezoning that area from General Industrial (I-2) to General Business (C-2).

The recommendation stemmed from a review of that area following Rich Anderson's request for a conditional use permit. Anderson had requested the permit in order to have a consignment sale lot at the old Hutchinson Transfer building, 604 Atlantic Ave. N.

Community Development Director Mike Moore noted the property is currently zoned I-2. In a memorandum to council members, Moore wrote, "Under the definition of I-2, a consignment lot is not a permitted use, and the likelihood that the conditional use permit would have been approved is small."

While reviewing the request for the permit, Moore noted it was determined that "virtually every business along the eastside of the street would be defined as a commercial establishment."

The matter was sent back to the Planning Commission for further discussion.

The council approved an ordinance amending the city code relating to Neighborhood Business District (C-1). That zoning designation has now been amended to include the term "offices."

As a result, offices, barber or beauty shops, and grocery stores without gas pumps are permitted uses under C-1 zoning. Permitted uses should not be more than 3,000 square feet in gross floor area. Conditional uses include the above listed uses as well as grocery stores with gas pumps. Under conditional uses, all uses should not be more than 5,000 square feet in gross floor area.

The amendment stems from the sale of a former grocery store near the intersection of Dewey Avenue and Eighth Street, Moore noted.

No action was taken regarding the management of Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA). Conversations still need to happen about the position description of the general manager, said City Administrator Jodie Torkelson.

"I think we've come a long way in coming up with a job description," said council member Harriet Worker.

Just how far the Parks and Recreation Committee has come in determining that job description has yet to be discussed at a council meeting.

Council members may discuss the management position at their next council meeting July 12.

Mayor Dale Wennberg has been working as the interim REA general manager since the resignation of Tom Goddard. Wennberg is currently not able to work more than 1,000 hours in that capacity.

The council approved a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) agreement for the installation of Precision Apparatus Path Indicators (PAPI) at the Thief River Falls Regional Airport. PAPI are guidance lights for the main runway, Lindberg said. The FAA is paying all costs associated with the installation.

The next council meeting is scheduled July 12 at 5 p.m. at City Hall.

Bill reclassifies state forests north of Highway 2

The Minnesota Legislature recently granted greater public access to state forests, and area lawmakers are thrilled about the opportunity.

"This legislation does not mean the destruction of wetlands and scenic areas, said Maxine Penas (R-Badger).

"Current law requires the (Minnesota Department of Natural Resources) DNR to reclassify all state forests from 'managed' to either 'limited' or 'closed' to motor vehicles," Senator LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) said.

The bill that passed rejects that kind of one-size-fits-all approach and allows the opportunity for our northern forests to be treated differently than those in the central and southern parts of the state. Rep. Penas stated that "this is a response to limited access under 'managed' status."

Rep. Penas and Senator Stumpf sponsored the legislation in response to a tremendous outpouring from OHV users, many of whom attended a DNR public meeting in February to object to a DNR proposal that would limit the use in Beltrami Island State Forest. About 3,000 people attended that meeting, and an overwhelming majority of those who spoke felt that the DNR plan would close too many miles of trails and would deprive local citizens of recreational opportunities.

There was a great cooperative effort among northern legislators and it looks like that work paid off. However, Rep. Penas stressed the need for strong access provisions in law. Environmental groups have already pledged to undo these important changes.

The bill was signed by Governor Pawlenty on June 30 and has become law.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Memories of strawberry fields

Fresh strawberry pie! As I was sitting in my office this morning, a piece landed on my desk, covered in whipped cream, ready to eat. Yowza. People who bring fresh goodies to others are angels only thinly disguised.

Strawberries have been my favorite fruit since I was learning to walk. I love everything about them, from their luminescent color, to their lantern shape, to their tender, slightly rubbery skin, to their nostalgia-laden scent, to their explosive flavor.

One of my earliest memories is of Grandma Bergeson's old strawberry apron. I had to have been only three years old, but the picture of her making breakfast in her old kitchen with the early morning rays of a July sun streaming in the window illuminating the bright red strawberries on her apron - that Rockwellian picture is a permanent feature of my mental slide show.

Grandma preferred not to have little children and cats "underfoot," as she called it, when she was busy cooking, but if my memory is correct, she leaned down that morning and let me stare at those strawberries for long enough for the image to sink in.

Grandpa got his start by going door-to-door during the Depression selling strawberries. To the end of his days, a dollar earned by selling a pint of strawberries was more sweet to him than hundreds of dollars earned any other way.

Grandpa made sure that we always had a big strawberry patch on the farm. Too big, in fact. He couldn't let any go to waste, so Grandma spent days each year picking strawberries and putting them up in Ball jars.

When Grandma and Grandpa moved off the farm into the nursing home in 1987, we were still working on jars of strawberry sauce made in 1974. Grandma insisted that we use the jars sequentially. No skipping ahead.

My mother married into the Bergeson family with a city background and a college degree and thought she might be of some help with bookwork, but within minutes of showing up for her first day of work at the nursery, she was swatting mosquitoes and staining her knees red in the strawberry patch. Honeymoon over.

As a kid, I gravitated towards the strawberry patch. I picked and ate, never gathering enough to bring home. My knees would be stained red, and sometimes I ate so many that my skin would break out in hives, but nothing was more fun than finding those stoplight-red fruits nestled beneath the dark green leaves.

Most holidays are in the winter, but my memories of holiday gatherings are tied tightly to my Aunt Ede's strawberry jam. It literally sparkles, as if she mixed some sort of glitter into it. Fresh buns spread thick with butter, slathered up with glittering jelly - you don't get any better than that.

One of the traumas of junior high was gym class, or phy-ed, as we called it, which involved changing into gym clothes, running around the gym a few times, getting bonked on the head with a dodgeball or two, and then being forced to take a shower in the middle of the day whether you needed it or not.

Well, I was lucky enough to have a bottle of strawberry Suave shampoo in my locker. The overpowering strawberry scent calmed me considerably. It was a taste of home in the midst of the cruel, Darwinian world of junior high phy-ed. I'll never forget it.

For a true summer treat, I take fresh strawberries and put them on my Cherrios and then add too much milk. When the Cherrios run out, you still have that pink, sugary strawberry-flavored milk-to-guzzle down. There is nothing more satisfying.

Ogallala strawberries are my favorite. You won't find them in stores. They're too small. But they are red all the way through, and their flavor is the true flavor of childhood. Hearing the firm little Ogallala strawberries thump on the bottom of an ice cream pail means summer is in full swing.

You can sure get a lot of memories out of one piece of strawberry pie!

Duffy receives legal services advocacy award

Kevin Duffy of Thief River Falls has been awarded an Advocacy Achievement Award by Legal Services of Minnesota for his work as a Judicare attorney. The award was presented to Duffy at the annual District Bar meeting in Crookston on April 22.

Legal Services serves low income and elderly residents of 22 northwestern Minnesota counties using offices in Moorhead, Alexandria and Bemidji and the Judicare Panel, a group of 230 private attorneys throughout the region.

One attorney/firm is selected annually from each of four Bar Association districts in the 22 counties to receive the award. The award is given "in recognition of outstanding legal work making a difference to the disadvantaged."

Duffy graduated from Hamline University School of Law. He has been a member of the local Judicare Panel since 1982.

...The Fair is Coming

Just in case you forgot, the Pennington County Fair is coming to town next Tuesday. There'll be hooting and hollering and lots of fun until Sunday, the 17th. Are you planning to go?

Fairs are for families. When I was a kid, we waited for the fair to come all summer. By the time it got here, we were so excited about it that there was no holding us back. And there was no question of when it hit town. When we made one of our several trips to the corner store on Main Street, we could see them driving in. Besides, we lived close enough to the fairgrounds that we could hear the fair the minute it started. Our parents couldn't keep us away.

Kids in my day went to the fair in the daytime; parents went at night. Once in a while we kids were allowed to go to the fair at night for a little while and then we were sent home with the sitter while the adults had a night of fair fun. The fair was a whole different glittering, somewhat frightening, wild world at night!

But we kids had great daytimes at the fair. I would go with my mother and aunts and cousins, and we always walked there because we lived close and it was much easier than trying to find a parking place. We could smell the wonderful mixture of all the good stuff cooking when we were blocks away, and we heard the shouting and music and clatter of the rides all the while we were trekking over there. Nothing like getting wound up even before we got to the fairgrounds, huh?

First there was the walk around the midway to check things out. My cousins and I all kept a list in our heads of which rides we wanted to go on and where the rides were. Since I am directionally challenged, I could never figure out where my favorite rides were and had to have one of the cousins keep track for me.

For the little kids, there were the regular rides, like the airplanes, the little cars and the trains that all just went round and round and never even hit a bump. For the little bigger kids, there were the bumper cars, the Ferris wheel (where did it get its name?), the merry-go-round and the real ponies. I loved the real ponies. I wanted a pony. The big kids rode on anything they were allowed to go on until they got sick to their stomachs. Then they quit. Some kids quit riding those rides for the rest of their lives after they got sick to their stomachs on them a few times.

It was no wonder we got sick to our stomachs, because the midway was filled with things to eat and we ate as much of it as we could while we were walking around. It hurts to think about it. We drank icy cold drinks by the quart, ate peanuts, buttered popcorn and candy corn, caramel apples, foot long hot dogs or hamburgers covered with onions or sauerkraut and other stuff, consumed unlimited quantities of deep fried anything, and then topped it off with cotton candy and a variety of ice cream concoctions eaten quickly before they melted into soup. Then if we got hungry again later, there were all of those local food stands waiting for us with homemade goodies in the 4-H pavilion.

Pavilion, what a wonderful name. It was where all the pretty stuff was kept. It was usually a few degrees cooler than the midway, so it was a nice place to meander around and look at displays and flowers and let our poor stomachs and ours and our moms' overdone nerves take a rest.

After all this resting, it was inevitable that we would finally get around to another major part of the fair and go visit the animals. We had to see every single animal that was there, too. No little chicken or bunny was too lowly for us to admire. The pigs were always tired and lazy, the cows looked contented no matter what, the horses looked sly, and the sheep looked bewildered. Goats were fun to look at - they looked wise, witty and a little wild with those yellow eyes. The poultry was always running around like "chickens without heads," except for the roosters. They were being "cocky." I loved the rabbits - I wished I could have stuck one in my pocket and taken it home.

Before leaving the fair, it was necessary to do one more thing if we had any money left to do it. We needed to check out all the goodies we could get. There were monkeys on sticks, balloons on sticks, ducks on sticks, kewpie dolls on sticks. I wanted one of everything. I wanted a whip. I always wanted a cowboy (girl) hat with my name on it. I wanted anything with my name on it. I wanted it so bad I forgot my name.

I wanted to play the games. I wanted to win the biggest stuffed animal. I wanted the gold fish in plastic bags. I wanted the biggest prize of all, no matter what I had to do to get it. I wanted the puppies. Yes, puppies. Remember, this was a long time ago, before the cruelty to animals people caught on, and the fairs would come with crates of real, live pets, some of the cutest things I've ever seen. Frankly, I don't think they gave away too many of those cute little things. The games were probably too hard. Heaven knows how long the poor things lived, either, being toted around like that.

But right about the time I wanted to buy everything or play every game on the midway, we seemed to run out of money, and a good thing it was too. We were all too tired to play games and it was time to mosey on home, hopefully carrying something on a stick, a big stuffed animal and wearing a cowgirl hat.

Local public health promotes healthy behaviors

The public health departments in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties continue to promote an eight-week contest to encourage healthy behaviors among children. The contest ends Aug. 5.

Christian Hanestad

For the contest, each school-aged child will receive a scorecard with 24 squares on it. Each time they complete a qualifying activity, their parents or personnel at scorecard sites can initial a square and specify the activity. Scorecard sites include summer recreation programs, pools, childcare centers, camps or schools. Once all the squares are filled, students can bring their scorecards into one of the prize pickup locations and pick out a prize. Here in Pennington County, the prize pickup location is Inter-County Nursing Service in Thief River Falls.

Their scorecards will then be entered into a weekly drawing for a bigger prize. In Pennington County, the first week's winner was Christian Hanestad. Briana Jorde won the second week's drawing.

Briana Jorde

At the end of eight weeks, students from each of the five counties with the most completed scorecards will receive a grand prize.

It's a small world after all

In early 1950s, I decided to leave the Heartland and head for California, the Land of Eternal Sunshine, to seek fame and fortune. I had a job waiting for me in Fair Oaks, which was a small community just outside of Sacramento.

For some reason, I decided to keep a log of my expenses on the trip west. What else did I have to do while sitting around a motel room at the end of each day? I had a 1948 Plymouth sedan that wasn't that economical on gas consumption or oil consumption.

My first gas stop was Detroit Lakes, where I paid the lowest price per gallon on the whole trip. I paid 25.9 cents per gallon. I averaged only 19.8 miles per gallon with that little six-cylinder engine. It's a mystery to me why I drove down to Detroit Lakes before heading west. As I drove across North Dakota, I had a tire problem in Bismarck. I purchased a new tube and tire for a total cost of $16.78, mounted.

I continued across Montana and turned south at West Yellowstone, Idaho. I stayed overnight at Pocatello, Idaho. I had a food bill of 55 cents for the day and a motel bill of $4. I wonder what kind of meals I got for a total of 55 cents – probably enough to fill me up!

My next stop was Lovelock, Nev. My food bill for the day was 90 cents, and my motel room cost $6. On my final day's travel before arriving at Chico, Calif., I spent $1.20 for food and another $4 for a motel. You'll note the price of eating goes up as you get farther west. The next day I motored down to Fair Oaks to take a job at the lumberyard of the Diamond Match Company.

> "In view of all that, I can only say 'Det er en liten verden.'"

On the whole trip west, I put on 2,225 miles and averaged 19.91 miles per gallon of gas. I averaged 202.27 miles per quart of oil! That Plymouth wasn't easy on oil!

I arrived in Fair Oaks on June 1. From June 1 until some time in September, we did not have a drop of rain – just warm sunshine for weeks on end. After working in Fair Oaks for the better part of a year, I received a call from the Lampert Lumber Company offering me a job at the Thief River Falls yard. I hadn't been cutting too wide a swath in the Land of Eternal Sunshine, so I accepted its offer and shortly thereafter was on my way back to the Land of Eternal Frost.

But let's return to Lovelock, Nev., where I stopped overnight on my way to California several months earlier. There's an interesting story that came out of that stop. At Lovelock, I decided to have my car serviced, so after eating supper, I drove over to a service station to have it done.

While waiting for my car to be serviced, I struck up a conversation with another fellow who was also waiting in the office. I asked him where he was from. He said he was from Idaho. When I told him I was from Thief River Falls, Minn., he expressed surprise. He said, "I used to live in Thief River Falls." He said he lived in a house just behind the hospital. Now, I really perked up. I told him I lived kitty-corner across the street from that hospital, which at that time was called the Physician's Hospital – now the Masonic Lodge building. I was further amazed when he mentioned there was a Harry Ness family nearby. Well, the Harry Nesses lived a door or two down from our corner house on Duluth Avenue. What a coincidence! Here I am in a little town in Nevada, and I run into a fellow who lived within a long stone's throw of us some 25 years earlier, probably at the same time!

It seems that I had a tendency to bump into people from Thief River Falls in the USA and around the world. While stationed at Sheppard Field, Texas, in 1943, I recall crossing paths with Palmer Roos.

I visited him in his barracks. I especially recall him proudly showing me the wooden rifle they were issued for training purposes. They call them "Splinterfields." I also met Phil Hess, who was enrolled at Sheppard in the cadet training program.

In 1943, while I was enrolled in radio operator school at Scott Field, Ill., I went on a pass into St. Louis one day. I rode a bus into town from a bus stop in East St. Louis. There also waiting for a bus I recognized Rueben Mickelson from Thief River Falls. He was a member of the Prowler 1938 state champion basketball team.

While stationed down at Clovis, N.M., in 1944, I happened to run across John Jaranson from Thief River Falls. I had been assigned to a B-29 crew in preparation for an overseas assignment. Jaranson was assigned to a B-17 outfit that was training some of the B-29 personnel.

After I arrived in Guam in early 1945, I was standing in line one day. GIs spend a lot of time standing in lines. I believe it was a post office line and I was going to get a money order to send money home. As I stood there, I looked ahead and saw the back of a fellow who looked very familiar. He had a long neck and stood well over 6 feet tall. From that view, I guessed it just had to be John Lindenmeyer from Thief River Falls. Lindenmeyer came to Lincoln High School (LHS) in about 1943 as a football coach. Upon taking a closer look, I determined it was indeed Lindenmeyer. However, since he sported bars on his epaulets and I had only stripes on my sleeves, I felt no compulsion to introduce myself and strike up a conversation. I just left it at that.

One time our family was in New Orleans on vacation. While walking around the waterfront, I bumped into Howard Nellis. He was from LHS Class of 1941. It was really crowded, and before we could exchange greetings, we were swept away with the crowd.

A few years later, my wife and I were doing the Chicago scene. One evening we were making our way along Michigan Avenue back to our hotel when we decided we needed a cup of coffee. We passed by another hotel that had a coffee shop, so we went inside. Since it was crowded with no seats available, we took a place behind the counter stools to wait for an opening. I looked at the fellow sitting on the stool right in front of us. He looked familiar. After taking a closer look, I discovered the fellow was Pastor Keith Prekker from Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, right in our backyard!

Fast forward a few years – my wife and I and the Glenn Petersons were down in San Antonio at a senior golf tournament. We were making our way along, finding a favorite player to watch when somebody close by said, "Hello." We turned and, lo and behold, there stood the former Janet Peterson from Thief River Falls. Peterson had been married to the late Duane "Swede" Peterson. They were almost our neighbors, having lived just around the corner from us for several years.

In view of all that, I can only say, "Det er en liten verden." In case you're not lucky enough to be Norwegian and understand that, it says, "It's a small world." And so it is.

The Center for Women's Health

For women in all of life's roles.

If you're a woman reading this, most likely you handle much more than simply getting yourself to the doctor.

You are the decision-maker for your family's health care.

Like bringing your mother to a hearing exam. Your daughter to a "teenage growing-up" class. Or bringing your son to a sports physical.

Those three examples are precisely what The Center for Women's Health is all about. It's for all of the roles you play in life. In fact, we've incorporated the Center into virtually every part of Dakota Clinic.

It's everywhere here. You can be assured there is a team of healthcare providers to take care of you. And just as important, a resource to refer you to the specialists you may need... for everyone you love.

A mother.
A nurturer.
A wife.
A decision maker.
A role model.

ACTIVITIES

Paper Plate Fish

Give each of your children a paper plate. Show them how to cut a triangle shape out of one side of the paper plate. Then let each child cut a triangle out of his/her plate. Have the children glue their triangles to the plate straight across from the place where they cut out the triangles to make tail fins. Let them decorate their plates with felt-tip markers.

Five Little Fish

Five little fish
Swimming by the shore.
One got caught,
And then there were four.
Four little fish
Swimming in the sea.
One got caught,
And then there were three.
Three little fish
Swimming in the blue.
One got caught,
And then there were two.
Two little fish
Swimming in the sun.
One got caught,
And then there was one.
One little fish
Swimming for home.
Decided it was best
Never to roam.

SCAVENGER HUNT

PARENTING TIPS

Family Travel

There is nothing like planning to make a nice vacation GREAT. Once you have decided where you are going, you want to make traveling there as much fun as being there. Here are a few ways to make this happen.

Do not make driving there a marathon event. Plan to stop at least every two hours. The stops should be at areas that allow children to use up some of their energy, so rest areas with a picnic lunch are better than sit down restaurants. It is best to avoid rush hours near large cities. Reservations for each night's lodging are a must to avoid having to go further because motels are filled.

Activities that allow your children to use their imagination and problem-solve will hold their interest. Some games that you remember from childhood still work the best, such as; counting games using different types of animals, road signs, colored cars or license plates. I SPY - Object in distance, ask questions till guess correctly; STORYTELLING - Start with one sentence and everyone builds on it and see how many different directions it can go; and SAY THE SECRET WORD - Each person writes down a word and listens for it to come on the radio.

A toy bag should include washable markers, plain paper, tablet, sticker book, magic slate, playing cards, books (unless a person tends to get car sick). Also a tape recorder with earphone and story tapes can provide many moments of peaceful pleasure for the driver as well.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about what you see out the window as you travel: colors, sizes, shapes, numbers, etc.

Farm Management Minute

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

Is my farm on budget?

by Greg Kalinoski
FBM Instructor, Red Lake Falls

How have the increases in fuel, fertilizer and other costs affected your farm operating budget this year? Did you spend more than what was budgeted on a per acre basis? Without proper planning and monitoring, it can be easy for key expenses to escalate and be much higher than planned, especially this year.

At this time of the year, with the majority of the key inputs known, it is the time to monitor your actual expenses for the year, looking at actual versus budgeted. Hopefully, a good job of projecting expenses was done when preparing the annual plan for the coming year. If a line of credit is being used for operating, now is also the time to update your lender if major operational changes have occurred or if you have situations such as prevented planting or failed acreage. This becomes even more important if there are overruns in operating expenses or anticipated shortfalls in income. Keeping your lender aware of your situation is important as he or she plays a key role in your farming operation.

Many farmers update their cash-flow projections and review their cost of production at this time. Knowing your break-even becomes a great tool for making and implementing marketing plans, and may give you the opportunity to be able to capture pricing opportunities as we all know they come and go.

In summary, just knowing where you are is important so that sound business decisions can be made at the time for the balance of the year. For more information on budgeting and monitoring, contact a Farm Business Management instructor at 1-800-959-6282.

Holthusen graduates from AIT course

Army National Guard Pfc. Ashley J. Holthusen has graduated from the Light-wheeled Vehicle Mechanic advanced individual training (AIT) course at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

The course is designed to train soldiers to perform maintenance, troubleshoot, and repair wheeled vehicles and related mechanical components, including suspension systems, internal combustion engines and power trains, spark- and compression-ignition engines, wheel-hub assemblies, hydraulic brake and steering systems, and operate a wheeled vehicle crane, hoist, and winch assemblies.

Holthusen is the daughter of Scott Blankenfeld and Teresa G. Holthusen, both of Thief River Falls.

She is a 2004 graduate of Lincoln High School, Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls resident Kay Nelson recently received the Doris Anderson Memorial Secretary of the Year award for her work as the secretary of the Thief River Falls Eagles Auxiliary. ## Nelson receives State Eagles Auxiliary award

Kay Nelson of Thief River Falls recently received the Doris Anderson Memorial Secretary of the Year award at the 52nd annual Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary State Convention held June 15-18 in Alexandria. Over 300 Auxiliary members from around the state attended the conference.

Nelson has been an Auxiliary member for 27 years, joining in New Brighton and serving as the secretary of the Thief River Falls Eagles Auxiliary since moving here in 1989. She is employed full-time at the Pennington County Sheriff's Department and is the wife of Buzz Nelson. They have three children, Tammy Nelson of Moorhead, Michelle Hunt of Thief River Falls and Shane Nelson of Morris.

The Eagles Aeries and Auxiliaries from around the state have a joint banquet where awards for Hall of Fame, Eagle of the Year and Secretary of the Year for each Aerie and Auxiliary are chosen. Strict qualifications must be met to receive these honors. All letters submitted are then given to the committee, who then chooses the most qualified person.

This award was started four years ago after the death of Doris Anderson, who served the state of Minnesota as a secretary for 30 years.

VFW seeks graphic art design for state bantam hockey

Veterans of Wars (VFW) Post 2793 of Thief River Falls will host the 51st annual State Bantam Hockey Tournament in March 2006. It will conduct a contest for a graphic art design to be used on the players' jerseys and the official correspondence for this event. The theme is Minnesota.

VFW Hockey and the graphic should be no larger than six inches in diameter and must contain the letters VFW in uppercase and Thief River Falls Post 2793. Colors to be used are red, white and blue. Two additional colors may be used.

For more information and a copy of the official rules and entry form, contact Gary Klemetson at 681-5339 or Dale Comstock at 681-1211. The contest deadline is Aug. 15. Prizes will be listed in the official rules.

Howard Hawkinson, 55

Thief River Falls - Howard Hawkinson, 55, of Thief River Falls, died on Friday, July 1, 2005 near Sterling, N.D. as a result of a motorcycle accident.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, July 6, at the Black River Lutheran Church in rural St. Hilaire, with Rev. Mark Helgeland officiating. Casket bearers included Shaun Hawkinson, Seth Hawkinson, Curtis Swanson, Lyle Swanson, Paul Hager, Steve Panek and Mike Hamm. Honorary casket bearers included Guy Kruse and Craig Folkedahl. Interment will follow in the Black River Cemetery.

Visitation will be held for one hour prior to the service at the church.

Howard Wesley Hawkinson was born on February 16, 1950 to Lowell Harry and Vernice Helen (Priebe) Hawkinson in Thief River Falls. He was baptized and confirmed at Black River Lutheran Church. He grew up and was raised in Bray Township, Pennington County and attended school in St. Hilaire, graduating from Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls in 1968.

In Howard's younger years, he worked at Arctic Cat and as a farm hand for St. Hilaire area farmers. He was united in marriage to Candy Dial and to this union two sons were born, Shaun and Seth. Howard started his own construction business called Hawk Builders, which he has operated for the past 25 years. He has built many garages, shingled many roofs, and remodeled many homes around Thief River Falls. In November of 1991 Howard and Marlene Johnson began dating and have been together ever since.

Howard in his younger years played softball with the St. Hilaire Bears, played guitar, and later went on to enjoy motorcycling, watching the Minnesota Vikings and movies. Howard was dedicated to his business and spent many evenings and weekends working on his construction projects. Howard was a skilled mechanic who could build and repair machinery.

Howard is survived by his beloved partner Marlene Johnson of Thief River Falls; two sons, Shaun and Seth Hawkinson of Thief River Falls; one sister, Kathy Panek of Goodridge; two nieces; one nephew; two aunts and several cousins.

Jane Paulson, 52

Thief River Falls - Jane Paulson, 52, died on Monday, July 4, 2005 at her home in Thief River Falls.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Johnson Funeral Service in Thief River Falls.

A complete obituary will appear in the next edition of The Times.

Fredric L. Howick, 57

Thief River Falls - Fredric Lloyd Howick "Fred", 57, died on Sunday, July 3, 2005, at the CNC unit of the Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Memorial services were held on Monday, July 11, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls, with Rev. Arlen Hermodson officiating. Honorary casket bearers included nieces and nephews; Ericco friends and hunting friends. Burial of cremains will follow in the Park Ridge Cemetery, Norden Township, Pennington County.

Fred Lloyd Howick was born on May 29, 1948, to Lloyd Clifford and Elizabeth "Bunny" (Dahlen) Howick in Thief River Falls. Fred attended school in Thief River Falls and graduated from Lincoln High School in 1968. He completed the AVTI welding program in 1971. Fred farmed with his Dad until Dad's retirement in 1994. Fred worked one summer at Nelson Implements and has worked at Errico Tool in Viking since then.

He enjoyed going to work at Ericco and being part of the action and has many friends at Ericco Tool. He missed his work and friends when he was sick and looked forward to going back when he was strong enough. Fred was very sociable and friendly, making friends wherever he went. He loved to visit with people especially at Cenex and Petro Pumper. Many people recognized Fred coming down the road with his dog, Samantha, in his Chevy pickup.

Fred loved to deer, hunt and looked forward to that every year and had many good hunting party friends. He also enjoyed snowmobiling with friends and fishing, especially ice fishing.

Fred loved life and lived each day to its fullest. He worked hard every day, and enjoyed his evening drives around the countryside. He was always ready to lend a helping hand and to tell a story or two. He will be deeply missed by his family and friends.

Fred is survived by one brother Bruce (Claudette) Howick, Billings, Mont.; one sister, Sara (Jim) Blix of Thief River Falls; several Howick nieces and nephews and Blix nephews; and many aunts, uncles and cousins.

He was preceded in death by his parents, grandparents, several aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Anastasia Kroll, 71

Crookston - Anastasia "Nettie" Kroll, 71, of Crookston, died Thursday morning, June 30, 2005, at the Riverview Care Center in Crookston.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, July 6 (today), in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Crookston, with Rev. Bob Schreiner, presiding. A graveside service was held at St. Stephen's Cemetery in Stephen.

Nettie was born in Grafton, N.D. on November 23, 1933, the daughter of Roman and Bernice (Kaliszewski) Kroll. She was baptized and confirmed in the Catholic faith and moved with her family to Stephen, in the early 1940's. After graduating from Stephen High School Nettie went on to receive her teacher's certificate from the Normal School in Warren.

She then taught for three years in a one-room country school near Stephen. In order to further her education Nettie enrolled at Moorhead (MN) State Teachers' College and received a Bachelor's Degree in Elementary Education in 1956. She then moved to Crookston and taught third grade in the Crookston Public School System for 25 years. In 1981, because of ill health, she reluctantly retired from the career she enjoyed so much. Nettie had always shared a home with her sister, Delores, who very lovingly took care of her until Nettie moved to the Riverview Nursing Home on March 21, 2001.

She was a longtime member of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, and professionally held membership in the National Education Association, the Minnesota Education Association, and the Crookston Education Association.

She enjoyed crafting, and examples of her cross-stitching and crewel-work can be found in the homes of many acquaintances. Nettie will be dearly missed by her family and friends.

Survivors include her sister, Delores Kroll of Crookston; five nieces and one nephew; along with many great-nieces, great-nephews, cousins, and other relatives.

Nettie was preceded in death by her parents; and a sister and brother-in-law, Helen and Roman Kostrzewski. A00003B2005JL06

LaVerne Israelson, 83

Minneapolis - LaVerne Israelson, 83, died Thursday, June 30, 2005 at Minneapolis Veterans Home, Minneapolis.

Funeral service will be at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, July 7, at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls, with Rev. Mark Helgeland officiating. Interment will be held Greenwood Cemetery, Thief River Falls.

Visitation will be 5 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, July 6, at Johnson Funeral Service with a 5:30 p.m. prayer service on Wednesday evening and for one hour prior to services at the church on Thursday.

Emmett LaVerne Israelson was born August 21, 1921 in Lake Bronson, the son of Emmett and Agnes (Berg) Israelson. He graduated from High School in Thief River Falls. LaVerne enlisted in the United States Air Force during World War II and spent four years as flight engineer. After the war he attended school and became a master plumber.

On June 6, 1966, LaVerne was united in marriage to Beatrice Magner. The couple made their home in Thief River Falls and a son was born to this union. The couple owned and operated Northwoods Trapping and Hunting Supply for over 25 years. They built a home in Smiley Township. He has written four books on wildlife, their habits, how they live, and also how to trap them. Also, he has invented 34 kinds of traps and lures which call the animals to the hunter.

Survivors include one son, Brian Israelson of Port Charlotte, Fla.; step-sons, Gaylan (Tracy) Melvie of Newfolden and Rick Melvie of Florida; three grandchildren; two sisters, Burnell Netteland of Broomfield, Colo., and Janet Jensen Broomfield, Colo., and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Beatrice on May 9, 2001; his parents; brother and sisters, Doris Seefeldt, Anna Grace Gillespie, Darleen Biddle and Hardy Israelson. A00003B2005JL06

Stanley Hofstad, 74

Fergus Falls - Stanley Hofstad, 74, died on Monday, July 4, 2005 at Lake Region Hospital in Fergus Falls.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Johnson Funeral Service in Thief River Falls.

A complete obituary will appear in the next edition of The Times.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q: My husband gets SSA retirement and we are going to have a child. Will the baby be eligible for a child's benefit on his record when born? If so, will my husbands check go down?

A: Yes, the child should be eligible for SSA benefits. When the child is born you will need to file a benefit application for him or her. Unless born on the first of the month, the child's first month of eligibility to benefits will be the following month. It is possible that you can also receive monthly benefits on your husband's record because you will have the child in your care. Your husbands check will not go down.

Q: I receive Social Security on behalf of our children because my wife has been on disability. She just died. Now what do I need to do? What happens to the children's checks?

A: First, condolences to you all. SSA will change the record from "life" to "survivor" benefits without additional paperwork and benefits to your children will increase effective with the month of their mother's death. They will also share a one-time payment of $255. The check to your wife for the month of her death must be returned if received.

A person is either eligible or not eligible for an entire month so checks are not pro-rated. Funeral homes are very helpful in notifying SSA about a person's death but it is always good for the family to contact SSA directly about possible survivor benefits also.

Q: A client of mine is almost age 65 and just received his Medicare card. He expects to keep medical coverage through his employer and does not want Medicare Part B. Unfortunately he lost the instructions sent with the Medicare card. How does he turn down Part B?

A: First, although having employer medical coverage is the usual reason for refusing Medicare Part B, he should contact his employer's health insurance provider to be absolutely sure that refusing Medicare Part B is good for him to do. Then he can return the card to his local SSA office with a note as to why he does not want Part B, including "how to contact him" information would be a good idea. The local office can computer input his Part B refusal to Medicare. More information about Medicare coverage is at www.medicare.gov.

Anne Erickson, 97

Hallock - Anne Erickson, 97, of Hallock, died at the Kittson Memorial Healthcare Center in Hallock on Wednesday, June 29, 2005.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, July 5, at the Sion Lutheran Church in Lancaster. Interment was held at the Riverview Memorial Garden Cemetery in Lancaster.

Anne Caroline was born on the family farm in Richardville Township to August and Karolina Swenson on June 1, 1908. She was baptized in Sikar Lutheran Church and was confirmed at Sion Lutheran Church, Lancaster on May 20, 1923. She attended the North Star School near Lancaster.

On October 27, 1937, she was united in marriage to Arthur Erickson of Thompson Township, Hallock. The couple farmed until Art's death in 1962. They were members of Saron Lutheran Church and later Sion Lutheran Church. In 1961, Anne began work as a nurses aid in the Kittson Memorial Nursing Home, Hallock. She worked until 1973 and continued to work part time until 1978.

In 1976, Anne moved to the town of Hallock and resided there until entering the nursing home in 2001.

Survivors included two daughters, Janice Younggren of Hallock and Eleanor Erickson of Thief River Falls; two grandsons; and two great-granddaughters.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her brothers, Algot, Carl,Martin, Oscar, Emil and sister, Nora in December 2004. She was also preceded in death by her son-in-law, Harley Younggren. A00003B2005JL06

Selecting roses for Minnesota gardens

by Nancy Rose
University of Minnesota Extension Service

Roses are very popular flowering shrubs in gardens throughout the country. But in cold northern climates like Minnesota's, it's important to consider several factors when selecting roses. To get the most enjoyment from roses, first determine how you want to use the plants in the landscape, how much maintenance you're willing to provide, and which ornamental features are most important to you.

For landscape use, roses can be divided into garden roses and shrub roses. Garden roses include hybrid teas and grandifloras, noted for their beautiful large flowers and continuous blooming habit. They're often grown in separate rose gardens where their cultural needs can be met.

Single specimens of a number of different cultivars are often grown together in the garden. While the flowers are spectacular, many garden roses lack winter hardiness and are susceptible to leaf diseases such as black spot and powdery mildew. They may require extensive winter protection, such as the Minnesota Tip method, which is detailed online at www.extension.umn.edu/projects/yardandgarden/ygbriefs/h112rosemntip.html, and often require regular spraying during the summer to look their best.

The increasingly popular shrub roses are typically used like other shrubs in the landscape. Multiple plants of a single cultivar are often planted together to form a shrub mass. They can also be planted with other types of shrubs or be mixed into perennial gardens. Many different rose species have been used in the breeding of shrub roses, so they vary in appearance, hardiness and disease resistance.

There are many shrub rose cultivars that have excellent cold hardiness and require no special winter protection. Blooming habits range from once yearly (in some species roses such as redleaf rose, Rosa glauca), to recurrent (a period of heavy bloom followed by intermittent blooming through the summer), to everblooming (flowers all summer). Flowers range from single to fully double and range in color from white to pink, red, orange and yellow.

Since there are so many rose cultivars to choose from, you may find it helpful to ask gardening friends and neighbors or local nurseries for their recommendations. Visiting a public rose garden is another good way to view many different roses and select your favorites. See http://horticulture.coafes.umn.edu/gardens/rose.htm for a list of public rose gardens in Minnesota.

Don't kill your calves with kindness

by Jim Salfer
University of Minnesota Extension Service

Are you killing your calves by trying to be kind to your cows? Many dairy producers are. It's estimated that the loss to the dairy industry due to stillborn calves (calves born dead or that die within 48 hours of birth) is over $125 million dollars per year. The average stillbirth rate on Holstein heifers is over 13 percent, and is increasing.

A common belief is that when a calf is stillborn, intervention was not taken early enough in the calving process. This is sometimes true. However, many times calves are stillborn because we intervene by trying to assist with the birth too early and too aggressively, or this may result in newborn calves with fractured ribs and vertebra.

These calves are weak at birth, have difficult time breathing and standing, and many die in the first days of life. It is not being suggested that we should never assist with a calving. Rather we should be patient and intervene only when necessary.

It's important that all people who work with cows at calving time know how and when to assist with calving. And if there is any doubt about what you are doing, call your veterinarian for help.

With close observation as calving approaches and by proper intervention when necessary, the number of stillborn calves can be kept to a minimum. If there are too many occurrences on your dairy farm, work with your herd veterinarian and other agriculture professionals to investigate the cause.

Properly train all personnel. Large numbers of high quality replacements are the key to your future. Let's not be killing our calves by trying to be too kind to our cows.

New laws took effect July 1, 2005

Editor's note: The following is a listing of selected new laws passed during the 2005 Legislative Session that take effect July 1, 2005. Five new laws in whole take effect on that date, together with provisions from about a dozen others. The most high profile among them is an omnibus public safety law designed to get tough on sex offenders and methamphetamine manufacturers. House Public Information Services presents complete overviews of the omnibus crime and state government finance laws, as well as highlights from the other select categories. A complete summary of all laws passed by the 2005 Legislature is expected to be available online soon from the House Public Information Services Office.

Crime

Crime bill 'one of strongest in state's history' Focused on life sentences with no possibility of release for the "worst of the worst" sex offenders and efforts to curtail the state's methamphetamine epidemic, the omnibus public safety law is "one of the strongest anti-crime bills in Minnesota's history," according to Gov. Tim Pawlenty.

Financial provisions of the law are effective July 1, 2005. Other provisions are effective Aug. 1, 2005, unless otherwise noted.

Nearly half of the omnibus law involves sex offenders and meth users, reflecting the priority that both parties placed on these public safety threats.

Focus on sex offenders

Legislators want dangerous sex offenders, like the one who allegedly abducted and killed college student Dru Sjodin, in prison forever.

First- and second-degree criminal sexual offenders will face life in prison without the possibility of release when their crimes involve force, violence or a dangerous weapon, and either two or more heinous elements exists or the offender has a previous sex offence conviction and one heinous element exists. (Art. 2, Sec. 21)

Also, the law creates a new crime known as "criminal sexual predatory conduct" that applies when an offender commits a predatory crime motivated by sexual impulses, or as part of a predatory pattern of behavior with criminal sexual conduct as its goal. The statutory maximum sentence for this offense is 25 percent longer than for the underlying predatory crime. (Art. 2, Sec. 20)

Other sex offenders could be given indeterminate sentences with the possibility of being on supervised release after serving the minimum sentence. Several factors must be considered when placing an offender on supervised release, including the possible risk to the community, progress in treatment, behavior while in prison, psychological evaluations, past criminal history and other relevant conduct of the offender. (Art. 2, Sec. 5)

The law gives the Department of Human Services access to the predatory offender registry, and requires that administrators of health care facilities be notified if a sex offender is going to live in their facility. Effective July 1, 2005, communication about sex offenders who come from other states to live in Minnesota is also strengthened. (Art. 3, Sec. 2)

Sex offenders are barred from attending their own community notification meetings, which are required when Level III offenders leave prison to serve out the remaining one-third of their sentences under supervision in the community. (Art. 3, Sec. 14)

A conference committee dropped House provisions for chemical castration of some sex offenders and special license plates and driver's licenses that would have publicly identified sex offenders.

Methamphetamine crackdown

Legislators agreed that one way to attack the meth problem is to limit access to ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, key ingredients used to manufacture meth.

Beginning July 1, 2005, it will be harder for methamphetamine manufacturers (and everyone else) to purchase cold and allergy medications in pill form that contains ephedrine or pseudoephedrine. Products like Sudafed® will be located behind the pharmacy counter and buyers will have to ask for them, be at least 18 years old, show identification and sign a logbook. Buyers will also be limited to two packages per transaction, not to exceed six grams. (Art. 7, Sec. 3)

Medications with ephedrine or pseudoephedrine in gel capsule or liquid form are not restricted at this time but if meth manufacturers switch to using those forms, then the state Board of Pharmacy could put the same restrictions on them. (Art. 7, Sec. 4)

A felony crime is established for stealing, purchasing or possessing anhydrous ammonia to be used in the manufacturing of meth (Art. 7, Sec. 11)

A written prescription from a veterinarian will be needed to purchase any products with ephedrine or pseudoephedrine for use for animals. (Art. 7, Sec. 1)

Meth is added to the definition of narcotic drug, which gives law enforcement more options for charging defendants. (Art. 7, Sec. 2)

The law criminalizes meth-related activities that impact children and vulnerable adults and establishes a penalty of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. (Art. 7, Sec. 12)

Effective July1, 2005, a revolving fund will be established so that city and county governments can borrow funds to clean up mini toxic waste dumps left behind from the manufacture of meth. (Art. 7, Sec. 15)

Ten new agents, at a cost of $1 million each year, will be added to the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension to work exclusively on statewide meth enforcement and investigation. (Art. 1, Sec. 9)

New crimes

The law creates several new crimes and establishes their penalties. For example, a crime of domestic assault by strangulation is added to the list of qualified domestic violence-related offenses. Enhanced penalties will apply to those who commit more than one qualified domestic assault within a certain time frame. (Art. 17, Sec. 8)

It will be a crime to knowingly provide false information to a police officer. The law also establishes a crime for falsely reporting police misconduct when a person knows the allegations are not true. (Art. 17, Sec. 30)

Anyone who interferes with ambulance service personnel providing emergency care will face the same penalties as those who obstruct peace officers and firefighters performing their duties. (Art. 17, Sec. 29)

People convicted of gasoline theft will face a 30-day suspension of their driver's license. (Art. 17, Sec. 3)

It's already a crime to flee from a police officer in a motor vehicle, it will also be a crime to flee in other ways to avoid arrest, detention, investigation, or to conceal or destroy potential evidence. (Art. 17, Sec. 28)

The definition of "public place" is expanded for purposes of the prostitution statutes to include a motor vehicle on a public street, alley, parking lot or driveway that connects a parking lot with a street or highway. (Art. 17, Sec. 23)

Identity theft is a growing concern and one way the Legislature responded was by establishing new crime of "phishing," which is the electronic use of false pretense to obtain identities through e-mail, Web sites or any other Internet communication. The crime carries a penalty of up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. (Art. 17, Sec. 35)

The harassment and stalking crime is expanded to include monitoring with the use of technology. (Art. 17, Sec. 46)

Tougher penalties

In addition to increased penalties for sex offenders and meth manufacturers, the bill ramps up penalties for other crimes as well.

For example, to keep penalties proportional, people convicted of premeditated first-degree murder will face life in prison without the possibility of parole just as the "worst of the worst" sex offenders. (Art. 17, Sec. 9)

Gang members who commit crimes against children will have 10 years added to the maximum sentences they receive. The new provision, called "Benny's Law," was inspired by Ben Doran, a 15-year-old St. Paul boy who was killed in 2003 by gang members in a case of mistaken identity. (Art. 17, Sec. 14)

Penalties are increased for selling steroids, specifically to minors. An exception is made for those who properly and legally use steroids in raising animals. (Art. 17, Sec. 1)

Anyone who promotes, trains or is involved in animal fighting now faces a felony penalty. Those who purchase tickets or attend a fight are subject to a misdemeanor penalty. (Art. 17, Sec. 4)

Some prison space will be freed up by a conditional early release provision for some nonviolent drug offenders whose crimes were committed because of drug addiction and not to make money. (Art. 13, Sec. 6)

Other areas of interest

• The bill establishes an all felon predatory DNA database in Minnesota and requires all convicted felons to submit a DNA sample. The new law also requires those arrested for certain violent and predatory offenses to submit a DNA sample after a probable cause determination.

The samples would be destroyed if charges are later dismissed or a person is found not guilty. Parents or guardians of juveniles must be contacted before DNA is taken from their child. (Art. 12, Sec. 1)

• Employees are protected against retaliation when they want to take reasonable time off from work, with advanced notice, to be involved in court proceedings because of domestic violence or because a close family member was the victim of a heinous crime (Art. 9, Sec. 23)

• Peace officers can be reimbursed every five years for up to $1,200 for new bulletproof vests. The costs would be split between the state and the government unit that employs the officer. (Art. 11, Sec. 1)

• The Department of Public Safety is required to research and develop a plan to address human trafficking and assist victims of the crime. (Art. 11, Sec. 6)

Dollars and cents

The law includes $1.65 billion in spending for the biennium, about a 16 percent increase over current year spending for corrections, courts, law enforcement and public safety.

A monthly 25-cent fee increase for 911 service will be charged to each telephone number, effective July 1, 2006. Previously, charges were applied to phone lines. Funds will be used to improve emergency communications. (Art. 10, Sec. 10)

Real estate recording fees will increase to pay for maintaining and updating technology for county recording services. (Art. 14, Sec. 10)

The law includes a 1.5 percent increase for judges, but Mary Pawlenty will decline her salary increase so there is no question of a conflict of interest on the part of her husband, Gov. Tim Pawlenty, said the governor at the bill signing ceremony. (Art. 1, Sec. 2)

Government

State government law has broad scope

From funding some state offices, laying out election guidelines to recognition of the military, the state government finance law covers a lot of ground.

Included is nearly $597 million in General Fund spending for state agencies and the Legislature. When special funds are included the law's total reaches $635.1 million.

Appropriations

The law represents a 2.5 percent reduction from the 2004-05 biennium for most state departments and constitutional offices, compared to 10 percent to 15 percent in the previous biennium.

Among the reductions is the elimination of the Legislative Commission on the Economic Status of Women with its duties transferred to the Legislative Coordination Commission. (Art. 1, Sec. 2)

Some areas will see funding increases: Department of Veterans Affairs for special programs, Department of Revenue for additional tax compliance, Office of the State Auditor for the restoration of audit practice staff and the Gambling Control Board for additional staffing. (Art. 1, Secs. 4, 11, 15-18)

New policies

Along with the appropriations, the law contains a number of policy provisions.

The Legislative Coordinating Commission must coordinate efforts between the House and the Senate to provide wireless Internet service in the Capitol and State Office Building. (Art. 1, Sec. 2)

Local governments can file a written resolution in protest of state mandates to the state auditor. The auditor's Web site is to list the mandates with the names of the entity filing the resolution.

The law establishes an application procedure for local governments to request a waiver or exemption from state mandates. School districts "may not seek a waiver of rules under this section if the commissioner of education has authority to grant a variance."

Applications can be dismissed if they violate federal law, the federal or state constitution or the loss of services to people who are entitled to them. (Art. 2, Secs. 3, 4)

The State Board of Investment is responsible for administering and directing the investment of state funds and the pension assets of the statewide public pension systems. Certain information monitored by the State Board of Investment is made "nonpublic" including all financial, business, or proprietary data collected, created, received, or maintained by the state board in connection with its venture capital and real estate investments. (Art. 2, Sec. 7)

Public employers are prohibited from preventing a peace officer or firefighter from wearing a United States of America flag patch or pin that does not exceed 3 inches by 5 inches in size. If an employer does not comply, the state's attorney general can bring an action in district court. (Art. 2, Sec. 12)

State contracts of $50 million or greater must get approval under a "cost-benefit analysis" to be done by the administration commissioner or other executive agency official. An analysis must show benefit to the public and applies to contracts for goods or services expected to have a useful life of more than three years. (Art. 2, Sec. 22)

The law authorizes the Administration Department to use forward pricing mechanisms to buy energy for state facilities up to two years in advance. (Art. 2, Sec. 23)

The law calls for the sale of at least $6.1 million worth of state lands by June 30, 2007. The governor is instructed to reduce the Administration Department's General Fund budget by the amount of the difference, if the target is not reached. (Art. 2, Sec. 45)

A city or county with a population of more than 15,000 must annually notify residents of the base salaries and positions of the three highest paid employees. The information can be placed on the entity's Web site for at least 90 consecutive days, in a publication that is distributed to all residents or as part of the yearly notice of proposed property taxes. (Art. 2, Sec. 39)

An Office of Enterprise Technology is established to replace the current technology office under the Administration Department. As part of the governor's Drive to Excellence campaign to create efficiencies in government, the office will be independent and be overseen by a chief information officer appointed by the governor. The officer will have oversight of the direction for information and telecommunications technology policy, and the management, delivery, and security of information and telecommunications technology systems and services in the state. (Art. 5)

Public information and media

The House may receive sponsorships for broadcast and print media in an effort to help pay the costs of legislative television and publications. (Art. 1, Sec. 3)

Another provision defines public Web sites and publications, in addition to prescribing what information can be included. The law applies to counties, cities, towns, school districts, municipalities, the Metropolitan Council and metropolitan or regional agencies.

The purpose of the Web site or publication is to provide information about the duties or jurisdictions of a state agency, or to help with access to services and information.

Prohibited from display are pictures and material that could be attributed to an individual or group instead of the public office, state agency, or political subdivision. The publication cannot use words "with the compliance of" or have letters of personal greeting that promote an elected or appointed official of a state agency or political subdivision.

A Web site cannot contain a link to a Weblog or site maintained by the candidate, a political campaign committee, a political party or party unit, a principal campaign committee, or a state committee. (Art. 2, Sec. 6)

Military

"Support Our Troops" license plates are established, at a cost of $40 to an applicant, with $10 for handling and manufacturing the plate and $30 dedicated to the "Support Our Troops" account. The funds would be used to support grants for eligible individuals, grants to foundations and veterans' services. (Art. 2, Secs. 30-31)

Military personnel will receive added benefits, including 100 percent tuition reimbursement for National Guard and reserve soldiers and re-enlistment incentives for retired members would be paid at a higher rank than when they retired based on special skills or experience of a person called back to duty. (Art. 4, Secs. 2, 4)

The Minnesota National Guard Youth Camp at Camp Ripley is appropriated $60,000 to help maintain the campgrounds and continue the program. The camp serves children between the ages of 10 to 15 and supports activities such as soccer, biking, rifle safety, flag history and etiquette. The program attempts to help children cope with the stress and separation caused by the military duty or a parent, sibling or guardian. (Art. 1, Sec. 16)

The Department of Veterans Affairs will receive increased funding for grants to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Military Order of the Purple Heart, Disabled American Veterans, Vietnam Veterans of America and Underserved Veterans Outreach Assistance. (Art. 1, Sec. 17)

A memorial plaque to honor Minnesota veterans who served in the Persian Gulf War is to be placed in the Court of Honor on the Capitol grounds. Rep. Judy Soderstrom (R-Mora), who sponsored the House provision, said the plaque is "to recognize the valiant service to our nation by thousands of brave men and women who served honorably as members of the United States armed forces during the Persian Gulf War." (Art. 4, Sec. 11)

Elections and Campaign Finance

A bill that was Gov. Tim Pawlenty's first veto of the session was reworked and is part of this law. It specifies that if, in a municipality or county, there are no partisan or nonpartisan offices for which nominees must be selected, the governing body may decide that no primary will be held.

The vetoed language was not clear in defining a nominee. It referred only to a situation where one person was seeking the elected position. In his veto message, Pawlenty said that the need for a primary is not based on the number of people seeking an office, but whether the elective office requires the conducting of a primary to select nominees of the party (Art. 6, Sec. 51)

The law adds a new alternative for how a political party can achieve and retain major party status in the state.

A party may put forward a slate of candidates for all constitutional offices, the four congressional offices, 23 Senate seats and 46 House seats. In the past, the only way to achieve major party status was for a candidate running for state or federal office to receive a certain percentage of the vote. (Art. 6, Sec. 11)

Voters with an ongoing reason for keeping them from going to the polls on Election Day can apply for status as an ongoing absentee voter. This status would continue until the voter's death, the voter requests in writing to have the status changed, the absentee ballot is undeliverable or the voter loses eligibility. (Art. 6, Sec. 23)

Changes to the state's Electoral College are also addressed in the law. When presidential electors are selected at party delegate conventions, eight alternative members to the Electoral College must be named as well. If an elector does not vote for the appropriate candidate or abstains, the vote would be invalidated and an alternate elector would be chosen. Electors are required to speak loudly and publicly affirm their choice of a candidate in a way that can be heard and not mistaken. (Art. 6, Sec. 57)

Consumers

Omnibus liquor bill approved

Included in a new omnibus liquor law is a provision regarding license fee conformity that takes effect July 1, 2005.

Rep. Joe Hoppe (R-Chaska) and Sen. Sandra L. Pappas (DFL-St. Paul) sponsored the legislation that conforms license fees and production levels for brewpubs and small brewers, authorizes temporary licenses to small brewers and modifies other municipal licenses. HF286/SF171*/CH25

Education

Prinsburg receives approval

Prinsburg School District 815 can use voter-approved levy referendum money to pay off a debt to a neighboring school district, under a new law.

Funds will also be used to provide special education services for school district residents who attend a private religious school in the district.

Prinsburg owes about $280,000 to the neighboring MacCray School District for tuition of Prinsburg residents who attended the district through an informal arrangement a few years ago.

Prinsburg has no students and is one of only two remaining common school districts in the state. Because of its unique situation, state approval was required for levy recertification and authority.

A provision effective July 1, 2005, exempts Prinsburg from offering a comprehensive elementary and secondary education program by a current law that exempts a district where at least 75 percent of the pupils attend an existing private school. The provision lowers for Prinsburg the minimum percentage of students that attend an existing private school to 50 percent of the district's total eligible pupils. HF248*/SF485/CH8

Employment

Some employees put under new compensation plan

A new law will put unclassified employees of the State Board of Investment under a new compensation plan as of July 1, 2005.

Once the board establishes a compensation plan, it must be submitted to the Department of Employee Relations for review within 14 days. Under the law, the Legislature and the Legislative Coordinating Commission must also approve the plan.

Another provision exempts the executive director from the salary cap placed on commissioners that maximized their compensation at 95 percent of the governor's salary.

An end put to dumping by employers

Changes to the state's unemployment law are designed to end "dumping," which occurs when employers use mergers, acquisitions or restructuring schemes to try to lower their unemployment experience ratings.

Sponsored by Rep. Anthony "Tony" Sertich (DFL-Chisholm) and Sen. Ellen Anderson (DFL-St. Paul), the new law will change the unemployment law to curb state unemployment tax act (SUTA) avoidance and make Minnesota law consistent with the federal SUTA Dumping Prevention Act of 2004. Many provisions are effective July 1, 2005.

Minnesota, like other states, distributes unemployment insurance costs among employers through an unemployment experience rating based on the number of former employees who have received unemployment benefits.

Some employers try to "dump" their poor ratings by changing or merging companies or shifting employees between companies. The "dumping" compromises the rating system by shifting the cost of one employer's unemployment experience to other employers.

A number of technical and housekeeping changes to Minnesota's unemployment insurance law, also included in the new law, are effective July 1, 2005. HF898*/SF944/CH112

Energy

Routing high-voltage lines

Authority to route and site high-voltage electric lines and large energy facilities will be transferred from the Environmental Quality Board to the Public Utilities Commission (PUC), effective July 1, 2005. The transfer is part of an omnibus energy law that includes a wind energy tariff, and specifies conditions under which the PUC can approve tariffs that would allow utilities to automatically recover certain transmission costs.

Another provision in the new law will allocate $150,000 in fiscal year 2006 from available funds in the renewable development account to the Agricultural Utilization Research Institute for disbursement over three years as grants for a project that uses soy diesel generators as backup power for wind energy conversion systems. HF1344/SF1368*/CH97

Environment

State timber management addressed

A new law should help the Department of Natural Resources manage timber sales more efficiently.

Effective July 1, 2005, the new law addresses public notice and input on the state timber management plan, rewards for state timber trespassing informants and sales procedures.

The new law will require the department to conduct annual public meetings in the forested areas of the state to discuss the way in which its timber sales and management plan will shake out for the upcoming fiscal year.

Rep. Greg Blaine (R-Little Falls) and Sen. Thomas M. Bakk (DFL-Cook) sponsored the legislation. HF823*/SF802/CH141

Cleaning up after dry cleaners

A new law makes permanent the flexibility given to the Pollution Control Agency in 2001 to maintain a minimum balance in a state account that helps Minnesota dry cleaners clean up after themselves.

The Dry Cleaner Environmental Response and Reimbursement Account was established in 1995 to help the dry cleaning industry pay for investigation and cleanup of deal leaks or spills of dry cleaning chemicals that have contaminated land or water. Annual registration fees paid by dry cleaning facilities and solvent fees collected by retailers of certain dry cleaning chemicals support the fund.

Effective July 1, 2005, the new law will allow the Pollution Control Agency to adjust the fees as necessary to maintain a balance of $650,000 in the account. HF1470*/SF1424/CH157

Family

Child support/custody changes approved

For the first time in more than two decades, the state's child support and custody laws have received an overhaul. The legislation's sponsors herald the new provisions as more reflective of today's family circumstances.

The new law focuses primarily on how child support will be calculated using the parents' combined gross income and a presumption of joint, legal custody by the court if parents can't decide on their own parenting plan.

To help cover the costs of implementing the new law, $860,000 is appropriated for fiscal year 2006 and $450,000 in fiscal year 2007 from the General Fund to the human services commissioner. The state will be able to recoup some of the money through some new fees, effective July 1, 2005, and modifications to ones already being charged. For example, a $50 fee will be added on to the fee already charged to those filing for divorce. (Secs. 2-6, 30)

Additionally, the law modifies numerous other fees relating to child support. For example, $20 from each fee collected for modifications to child support agreements will go into the county's general fund to help pay for county child support enforcement efforts and $35 will be credited to the state general fund. (Secs. 1-3) HF1321/SF630*/CH164

Government

Claims against the state to be paid

A new law will authorize the payment of $45,142 to the Department of Corrections in various claims against the state.

A claim against the state is filed when someone cannot otherwise take legal action against state agencies, under Minnesota's tort law.

Most claims included in the new law stem from injuries suffered by inmates and people performing community service and sentence-to-service work. One claim will reimburse a corrections employee for eyeglasses damaged by an inmate.

Effective July 1, 2005, the new law will increase from $250 to $500

Health

'Positive Alternatives Act' enacted

The so-called "Positive Alternatives Act," will award millions of dollars in grant money to programs that encourage and assist women in carrying their pregnancies to full term.

The law is intended to reduce the number of abortions by giving money to organizations that provide information, referrals and services to women to help them carry their pregnancies to term and care for their babies after birth.

The health commissioner is responsible for administering and monitoring the grants. A $2.5 million appropriation from the General Fund will be made available for the program for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2007. The base funding for fiscal years 2008 and 2009 is $2.5 million per year. HF952/SF917*/CH124

Omnibus health licensing law

A new law makes changes to health occupations licensing and regulation provisions.

Rep. Thomas Huntley (DFL-Duluth) and Sen. Sheila M. Kiscaden (IP-Rochester) sponsored the law, which has various effective dates.

Effective July 1, 2005, provisions relating to licensed professional counselors will be modified and the voluntary licensure of alcohol and drug counselors will be allowed, under the law.

Individuals applying for professional counseling licensure will be allowed to complete certain requirements postdegree if certain requirements are met. The law will also extend from two years to four years the timetable for a licensee to provide evidence to the Board of Behavioral Therapy and Health of completion of 12 additional postgraduate semester credit hours in counseling.

Applicants for licensure will be exempt from meeting some requirements if they can document five years of full-time postdegree work experience within the practice of professional counseling. (Art. 5, Secs. 3-5)

The list of activities for which an applicant or licensee may be disciplined by the board or face temporary licensure suspension will be modified, according to the law. (Art. 5, Secs. 7-8)

The definition of mental health services will be expanded to include behavioral health care, spiritual counseling and hypnosis when not used for entertainment. (Art. 8, Sec. 1)

The Office of Mental Health Practice will be transferred from the Health Department to the mental health-related licensing boards. The law will also create the Mental Health Practices Committee and outlines its duties and responsibilities. (Art. 8, Sec. 2) HF1161/SF1204*/CH147

Human Services

Forecast adjustments made

A new law makes forecast adjustments for human services and prekindergarten through grade 12 education programs.

Sponsored by Rep. Fran Bradley (R-Rochester) and Sen. Richard J. Cohen (DFL-St. Paul), the legislation adjusts forecast numbers and provides for human services savings. The mostly technical bill will update appropriations to match the February forecast numbers. The education provisions are effective June 4, 2005; the human services provisions are effective July 1, 2005. (Arts. 1-2) HF2448*/SFnone/CH155

Insurance

Insurance regulation changes

A series of changes to insurance regulations, most of them technical, are part of the 2005 omnibus insurance law.

The law will increase from $75 to $90 the fee for filing insurance forms and premium rates that insurance companies pay to the department. A $250 filing fee for a worker's compensation large risk alternative rating option plan that meets a $250,000 threshold in annual premiums from a single employer will be eliminated. (Sec. 1)

Former law required these option plans to be filed with the commerce commissioner, but did not require certification by the insurer. The new law will allow an insurer to charge a premium without filing it with the commissioner if the insurer files a certification that the premium rate is being used only with a specified employer that generates at least $250,000 in annual workers' compensation premiums. Violations could result in a fine of up to $100 for each day the failure to file continues. (Secs. 26-27)

The initial and annual renewal licensing fee charged to data service organizations that develop workers' compensation premium rates will increase from $50 to $1,000. Third party administrators' licensure will be changed from a $1,000 fee for two years to $1,500 for three years. (Secs. 3, 28)

Self-insurance policies will also change. State law allows the mandatory auto insurance requirement to be satisfied through self-insurance under certain conditions. The new law changes the initial application fee for motor vehicle self-insurance from $1,500 to $2,500 and the renewal period from annual to three years. The renewal fee for political subdivisions changes from $400 per year to $1,200 for three years, and for nongovernmental entities from $500 annually to $1,500 for three years. (Sec. 21) HF1809*/SF1783/CH132

Taxes

Tax recodification enacted

A new law makes minor changes to the tax code and includes some common elements of the omnibus tax bills that passed the House and Senate.

The omnibus bills failed to clear a conference committee before the regular legislative session ended, but the Senate took some elements of the omnibus bills and amended them into the recodification bill, sponsored by Rep. Ron Abrams (RMinnetonka) and Sen. Lawrence J. Pogemiller (DFL-Mpls).

According to an analysis from the Department of Revenue, the changes will make it easier for everyone to use the tax code.

Effective dates vary, but one aspect of the new law that is effective July 1, 2005, authorizes the commissioner of revenue to inspect the place of business of a linked bingo game provider and the book and records required to be maintained under law.

Another change effective July 1 makes tax-forfeited land suitable for agriculture in a reforestation area taxable in the assessment year in which it is sold. HF2228*/SF1675/CH151

Elaine Thompson • 874-7945

Hello, everyone, hope you all had a good week. It was a pretty good week as far as the weather was. We had a veryll busy week.

Thursday, June 9th, Gwen Hjelle, Richard Moen, Diane Nelson and Gerald Nelson all stopped to have coffee with Hanna.

I wish to say Happy Anniversary to Merle & Beaulh Bjornrud who had their 53rd anniversary on the 20th of June. God's blessing to you. Steve and Bonnie Hanson and Matthew and Jill Hanson and son Judah, all of Bemidji, came up to surprise Merle and Beualh and to help them celebrate. They were evening luncheon guests. They also received gifts and many cards from family and friends. I wish you much happiness on your many years and for many more.

Dorothy Watkin, Kathy Rokke and Viola Moen went to Argyle on Saturday, the 18th of June for the "Meet Your Neighbor Days". Viola's three granddaughters Mercedes, Jules and Lexus were in the parade. Afterwards, they celebrated the birthdays of the three girls in the "Island Park" there. They had a very nice time and enjoyed seeing the granddaughters in the parade.

Wanda Dudly of Warren, Kennie and Gwenie, Gerald and Elona came to help Hanna with some work on Saturday, the 11th.

Tuesday evening, June 21st, Harvey Skyberg visited at Merle and Beualh's home and watched Rev John Haggee on TV. The also enjoyed coffee and goodies.

Robbin Mattsen and Reanne and Kathy Mattson of Alvarado, Lisa Sparhawk and McKenzie of Shevlin stopped by Curt and Elaine Thompson's so we could see the three girls before they went to Galalie Bible Camp at Lake Bronson where they will spend the week.

Tuesday, Anita Skadsem, Richard Moen, Gwen Hjelle and Diane Nelson stopped in for coffee with Hanna.

Burlin and Clara Jacobson of Cottage Grove, MN attended teh Evangelical Free Church in Newfolden on Sunday, the 26th. They were later dinner guests of Beuahl and Merle. Clara and Beuahl are sisters.

I want to wish John and Bonnie Bjorsness a Happy 19 years of marraige on the 28th of June. May God bless you with many more happy years.

Wednesday, Anita Skadsem, Gwen Hjelle and Diane Nelson stopped in and enjoyed coffee with Hanna Moen.

Sunday the 12th, Kathy and Kameron Harstad of Alvarado came had dinner with Hanna Moen. Diane and Gerald Nelson and grandson Tucker Nelson stopped on the way home from fishing. Pat and Dick Nelson stopped over after fishing and Marvin Moen stopped by in the afternoon with Hanna.

Curt Thompson stopped by and visited Harvey Skyberg awhile on Tuesday this past Week.

Thursday, June 16th, Gwen Hjelle, Richard Moen, Natalie Nelson, Diane Nelson, Anita Skadsem had all stopped by to say hi to Hanna and have coffee.

The 17th of June, Wanda Dudby and Gwen Hjelle sopped in and had coffee with Hanna Moen.

On Monday, Anita Skadsem had coffee with Hanna Moen.

Marvin Moen came and cut the grass for Hanna Moen and had coffee. Gwen Hjelle, Gerald Moen also stopped by and had coffee with Hanna on Saturday.

Curt and Elaine Thompson stopped by Marvin and Rose Nelson's last week after Elaine had her doctor's appointment. They enjoyed coffee and a nice visit.

On Tuesday, Gwen Hjelle and Richard Moen took Hanna Moen down for her doctor's appointment.

On Sunday, June 26th, Roger and Robbin Matthsen and Lisa Sparhawk and Curt and Elaine Thompson went down to Galalie Bible Camp for the morning worship service and also a very good dinner by the cooks. Lisa picked up Curt and Elaine. It was a very nice day. The girls came home also. They said they enjoyed bible camp very much. They also plan to go next year. It was good to see such a good turnout.

June 19th, Gwennie Hjelle, Lisa Johnson, Gaylene Anderson, Kim Fanfutik and Wanda Dudly all came over with some supper for Hanna Moen. Kathy Harsad came in the forenoon and had the dinner with Nathan and Nalu and boys also came over. They all had a very nice day.

St. Hilaire Spectator

St. Hilaire, Red Lake County, Minnesota July 8, 1905

News Items

"Michael Fricker is rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl at his place last Thursday.

"Put a muzzle on your dog at once or the marshal will get him. Farmers should see that their dogs do not follow them to town. The people don't like the looks of dogs these days. [This was following a local man being bitten by a rabid dog.]

"There will be confirmation in the Swedish Lutheran Clara church of River Falls next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The members of the class are: Frank Peterson, Edwin Anderson, Anton Peterson, Oscar Johnson, Sigfrid Johnson, Albert Sandberg, Fred Sandberg, Anna Ahlberg, Hildur Konikson, Oscar Peterson, Elias Peterson, Annie Peterson and Emma Sandberg. -- Alex Sand, Pastor.

"The last of the Grand Forks drive went over the dam yesterday and the wannigan followed suit in the afternoon. Foreman Sullivan has been here for the past ten days sorting and sluicing the logs. He has about nine million in the drive and about a million of the logs intended for this mill will go down to the Crookston mill on account of lack of room. Manager Pettibone expected to care for them all but could not find a vacant space for the last million."

A Bowery Dance

"The St. Hilaire Fire Department will give a dance at the bowery on Saturday evening, July 15th. The Red Lake Falls orchestra has been secured and the firemen promise that it will be conducted in the best manner possible. Everybody cordially invited."

Social and Concert

"The band boys will give a concert and ice cream social at the bowery next Wednesday evening. All are cordially invited to attend. Professor Onstad will be present to act as leader."

Over 900

"Census Enumerator Lang has completed his work and forwarded his returns to St. Paul. It is not known just what the count was in the village but that it will exceed nine hundred is certain. This is not a very flattering showing in one way. The census in 1900 was taken when the mill was at its largest capacity and there were nearly twice as many men employed here then as at present. The 1900 census gave us a population of 840 and while the present census will show only a slight gain, we are on a much better and sounder footing than before."

The Celebration

St. Hilaire Entertains a Large Crowd Between Showers on the Fourth

Our Usual Luck

It Always Rains When We Celebrate the Fourth at Home

"For the past fifteen years, whenever St. Hilaire has decided to celebrate the Fourth of July it has rained, and last Tuesday was no exception to the rule. It rained in a dismal sort of way all the morning and the exercises at the bowery were postponed until one o'clock, when the Honorable Ira C. Richardson delivered an interesting oration which was well received by his large audience.

"The Red Lake Falls Band accompanied by Mayor Duffy and two hundred and fifty citizens came up on the morning train and were met at the depot by the local Boys' Band. The ball game in the afternoon between the Thief River Falls nine and the White Earth Indians was a close and interesting performance but was not a particularly brilliant game. Errors were numerous on both sides but they evened up and the score was 9 to 10 in favor of the Thief River Falls nine. After the ball game followed the races and sports on the street, but after one horse race and the fireman's flag race it decided to rain again and the streets were unfit for a continuation of the program. The rain made dancing at the bowery out of the question so the firemen adjourned to the Imperial Hall where about seventy people enjoyed themselves until about daybreak. The fireworks were seen by a large crowd and the day passed off without serious accident.

"The Red Lake Falls band had many nice things said about them and they deserve them all. They furnish a very high grade of music and are a gentlemanly lot of fellows.

"A number of our citizens wish us to thank the people of Red Lake Falls for the large crowd that visited us. We are all very grateful and will surely return the visit upon the first opportunity.

"Our own band made a good impression and was well received. They came out in a bunting uniform representing 'Uncle Sam' and presented a very neat appearance.

"Some day in the distant future when we are having a dry summer we may try it again, but it would be hard to make the people believe that it would not rain."

Lambert Post Office Robbed

"Red Lake Courier: Last Thursday night the Lambert post office was robbed of about $150. The burglars forced an entrance to the building and blew open the safe in a manner that plainly indicated the job was done by professional cracksmen. No definite clue has been discovered as to who did the deed; but the officers are working on the case and the guilty parties may be landed in the near future.

"Three strangers were arrested in this city last week, two of them proving conclusively that they were in St. Hilaire the night of the robbery, so were discharged. The other suspect is still in jail in this city and will have his hearing today or tomorrow. It is the opinion of the authorities that the fellow knows something of the affair, as he was seen in the neighborhood of the robbery the day before it was committed. Some are of the opinion that he belonged to the gang that did the deed, acting as a 'spotter' and giving the men who did the job the lay of the land.

"Two men were in Brooks the morning following the robbery and passed a coin that was marked by acid, several of which were taken from the Lambert post office. No further clue to these men has been found. The government officials are working on the case and may be able to locate the perpetrators of the deed at a later date."
